Re: Additional Security Camera (OIG-311)

During the course of a recent investigation at the Commission's Judiciary Plaza (JP) building (OIG-311), we identified a need for an additional security camera.

In our investigation, we learned that a significant amount of computer equipment that is not currently in use, most of which is waiting to be turned in for surplus, is being maintained in a locked storage cage on the 3C level of the JP building. Recently, two Commission-owned personal computers that had been brought down to the storage cage were reported missing. While there are currently 39 security cameras at the JP building, there is no security camera located in the vicinity of the storage cage.

Recommendation A

The Office of Administrative and Personnel Management should monitor activity in and out of the storage cage on the 3C level of the JP building by installing a security camera there.
