To whom it may concern:

I will be brief as I know your agency is very busy, but I am a concerned citizen that feels cheated. I am just a working class citizen and I work very very hard for my money.

I have invested in a small pink sheet company in hopes of having my money make a small profit. I did my research and felt that this company has a good chance of doing just that. I have spent hundreds of hours doing this research. This was not just a whim.

Unfortunately, I believe this company is experiencing market manipulation. Billions of shares have been bought and the PPS of this company has not moved. Quite the opposite. It has been pushed down to nothing.

Now you know that is not the way supply and demand work. Can you say "Naked Shorting" I would appreciate it if you could look into this illegal practice as I know there are over 60,000 share holders in this company wanting answers. The trading symbol is CMKX. I await any response you may be able to give me.

Sincerely,

Janet Bova-Wood
