

David D. Aufhauser

David Aufhauser is a Managing Director of UBS AG, and serves as General Counsel of the Investment Bank and as a member of the Group Managing Board of the company. Mr. Aufhauser also currently serves as a Fellow at the Center for Strategic & International Studies (CSIS). He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and a director of the Atlantic Council.

Prior to joining UBS, David was the General Counsel of the U.S. Department of Treasury, supervising the Department's legal functions in International Affairs, Banking and Finance, and Enforcement. In addition to his responsibilities as General Counsel of the Department, Mr. Aufhauser served as the Treasury Department's representative on the Department of Justice Corporate Fraud Task Force, the chairman of the National Security Council's (NSC) policy coordinating committee on terrorist financing, counsel to the President's working group on financial markets, and as a board member and general counsel of the Federal Financing Bank. Mr. Aufhauser also had direct supervision over Treasury's economic sanctions program, financial crime investigations, enforcement of the Bank Secrecy Act, and implementation of the Patriot Act. While at Treasury, he worked on a wide range of issues, including Iraq and Afghanistan reconstruction, sovereign debt restructuring, tax reform, money laundering, China trade and reform of international financial institutions.

For his public service, David was awarded the Treasury Department's highest honor, the Alexander Hamilton Award, and has been cited for his public service with awards for leadership and distinction in diplomacy, intelligence and law enforcement by the U.S. Department of State, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Central Intelligence Agency, and the U.S. Secret Service.

Mr. Aufhauser has testified frequently before Congress and has been a guest lecturer at Harvard Law School, Georgetown University Law School, MIT Sloan School of Management, American University, and at Johns Hopkins University.

He received his MBA from Harvard Business School and his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Wesleyan University.