Notes to Financial Statement

that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statement.

(b) Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company classifies all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash held primarily at JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. or one of its banking affiliates (JPMorgan Chase). The Company maintains its cash and cash equivalents in financial institutions the Company considers of high credit quality. Cash balances in these accounts may exceed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insured limits. To date, the Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts.

Based upon required regulatory calculations as of the last business day of the period, cash and cash equivalents balance may increase or decrease by the second business day subsequent to period-end. See Cash and Investments Segregated In Compliance With Federal Regulations for details.

(c) Cash and Investments Segregated in Compliance with Federal Regulations

The Company is obligated by rules mandated by two of its primary regulators, the SEC and the CFTC, to set aside cash or qualified securities to satisfy regulations promulgated to protect customer assets. Cash and investments segregated in compliance with federal regulations of $1.85 billion consists of $1.40 billion in cash and $453 million in United States Treasury securities. As of March 31, 2017, amounts segregated in special reserve accounts consist of $1.31 billion at Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation, $384 million at BMO Harris Bank, $75 million at JPMorgan Chase, $73 million at CME Group and ICE Clear US, collectively, and $5 million at Wedbush Securities. On April 3, 2017, cash and investments segregated in compliance with federal regulations increased by $7.7 million as a result of a transfer from cash and cash equivalents related to the 15c3-3 calculation as of March 31, 2017.

(d) Receivables from and Payables to Brokers, Dealers, Clearing Organizations and Clearing Agents

Receivables from brokers, dealers, clearing organizations and clearing agents consist primarily of cash advanced for securities borrowed from broker-dealers (see Securities Borrowed and Loaned). In addition the Company accrues revenues and related receivables for payments for order flow and securities lending revenues. Payables to brokers, dealers and clearing organizations include amounts for securities loaned from broker dealers, payables to clearing organizations and payables to brokers. See note 3 – Receivables from and Payables to Brokers, Dealers, Clearing Organizations and Clearing Agents.

TRADESTATION SECURITIES, INC.

Notes to Financial Statement

March 31, 2017

(e) Securities Borrowed and Loaned

Securities borrowed and securities loaned transactions are recorded at the amount of cash collateral advanced or received and are reflected in receivables from brokers, dealers, clearing organizations and clearing agents or payables to brokers, dealers and clearing organizations, respectively. Securities borrowed transactions require the Company to provide the counterparty with collateral in the form of cash. The Company receives collateral in the form of cash for securities loaned transactions. The related interest receivable is included within receivables from broker-dealers and clearing organizations on the accompanying statement of financial condition.

(f) Receivables from and Payable to Brokerage Customers

The Company performs periodic credit evaluations and provides allowances for potential credit losses, as considered necessary, based upon its assessment of specifically identified unsecured receivables and other factors. See note 4 – Receivables from Brokerage Customers.

Payable to brokerage customers primarily consists of client cash held in brokerage accounts and is carried at the amount of client cash on deposit. Payables to brokerage customers also include futures customers' gains and losses on open trades.

(g) Property and Equipment, net

Property and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Property and equipment are depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Maintenance and repairs are expensed when incurred; leasehold improvements are capitalized and amortized over the lesser of its useful life or the term of the lease. Upon the sale or retirement of assets, the cost and accumulated depreciation or amortization are removed from the accounts, and any gain or loss is recognized. See note 5 – Property and Equipment, Net.

(h) Exchange Memberships

Exchange memberships are recorded at cost and are evaluated for impairment as circumstances may warrant. (See Impairment of Long Lived Assets.) The Company's shares of ICE common stock are carried at fair value based on the closing stock price of ICE. As of March 31, 2017, the shares were valued at $0.9 million. The Company's exchange memberships and ICE shares are included within other assets in the accompanying statement of financial condition.

(i) Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

The Company evaluates long-lived assets, including property and equipment, net and exchange memberships, recorded at cost, for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. Impairment losses are recognized if the carrying amount exceeds the sum of the undiscounted cash flows estimated to be generated by those assets. The amount of impairment loss is calculated as the amount by which the carrying value exceeds fair value. No impairment occurred during the year ended March 31, 2017.

TRADESTATION SECURITIES, INC.

Notes to Financial Statement

(j) Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents; cash and investments segregated in compliance with federal regulations; deposits with clearing organizations, receivables from brokers, dealers, clearing organizations and clearing agents; receivables from brokerage customers; ICE common stock shares; payables to brokers, dealers and clearing organizations; payables to brokerage customers; and notes payable approximate fair value due to their short term nature as of March 31, 2017. See note 14 – Fair Value for further discussion on fair value methodology.

(k) Securities and Futures Transactions

Customer securities transactions are recorded on a settlement-date basis, with such transactions generally settling three business days after the trade date. Securities owned by equities and futures customers, including those that collateralize margin loans or similar transactions, are not included in the Company's financial statement.

Customer futures transactions are recorded on a trade-date basis.

(l) Operating Leases

Rental payments, free rent, and leasehold and other incentives are recognized on a straight-line basis over the life of a lease. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of their useful life or the lease term. See note 14 – Commitments and Contingencies – Operating Leases.

(m) Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under the asset and liability method. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on differences between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for periods in which the differences are expected to reverse. The effect of changes in tax rates on deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. A valuation allowance is established for deferred tax assets when management determines that it is more likely than not that some portion or all of a deferred tax asset will not be realized. The Company recognizes the effect of income tax positions only if those positions are more likely than not of being sustained. Recognized income tax positions are measured at the largest amount that is greater than 50% likely of being realized. Changes in recognition or measurement are reflected in the period in which the change in judgment occurs. It was determined that there were no material uncertain tax positions that are not considered more likely than not to be sustained as of March 31, 2017.

The Company's results are included in the consolidated federal and state income tax returns of the Parent Company. As required, the Company records any income tax expense and liability based upon its operations on a stand-alone basis, even though the Company is part of the consolidated income tax returns. See note 11 – Income Taxes.

The Company also has a third-party introduction agreement with TSIL, which is authorized to introduce brokerage customers in the United Kingdom and the European Union to the Company.

The Parent Company has an operating lease agreement, expiring in May 2022, for its corporate headquarters in Plantation, FL. The Company is allocated a portion of the cost of this lease, based on headcount.

The Company provides services to an affiliate for software development projects. The Company's revenue is based on a 15% mark-up on the salaries and benefits and other overhead expenses incurred by the Company in the performance of such services.

Deferred income tax assets:
State net operating loss carry forward	$ 1,962

Management considered whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The future benefit of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which these temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the projected future taxable income, the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities and tax planning strategies in making this assessment.

(Regulation 1.17 under the Commodity Exchange Act), which is administered by the CFTC and the NFA. Under these rules, the Company calculates its net capital requirements using the “alternative method,” which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital, as defined by the rules, equal to the highest of: (i) $1,500,000; (ii) 8.0% of domestic and foreign domiciled customer and noncustomer (excluding proprietary) risk maintenance margin/performance bond requirements for all domestic and foreign futures, options on futures contracts and cleared over-the-counter derivatives positions, excluding the risk margin associated with naked long option positions; or (iii) 2.0% of aggregate customer debit items. (13) Fair Value

The Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures Topic establishes a fair value hierarchy, which requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. In accordance with guidance under the Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures Topic, three levels of inputs may be used to measure fair value:

Level 1 – Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities. The Company’s Level 1 assets consist primarily of U.S. Treasuries which are included under cash and investments segregated in compliance with federal regulations and deposits with clearing organizations. As of March 31, 2017, the Company’s U.S. Treasuries had maturities through February 2019. In addition, the Company’s ICE common stock shares are valued based on closing price of the stock.

Level 2 – Valuations based on one or more quoted prices in markets that are not active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly. The Company’s only Level 2 measurement includes stock-based compensation awards, which are measured on a recurring basis. These awards are valued at $508,000 as of March 31, 2017.

Level 3 – Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement. The Company did not hold any Level 3 assets as of and during the year ended March 31, 2017.

The following table summarizes the fair value of securities measured on a recurring basis in the Company’s statement of financial condition as of March 31, 2017 (in thousands):

Investments segregated in compliance with federal regulations	$	452,688
Deposits with clearing organizations		30,897
ICE common stock shares		947
	$	484,532

For the Company’s investments in U.S. Treasuries, the fair value equals the quoted market price of each U.S. Treasury Bill. The carrying amounts of the Company’s financial assets and financial liabilities which include cash and cash equivalents, cash and investments segregated in compliance with federal regulations, receivables from and payable to brokers, dealers, and clearing organizations, receivables from and payables to brokerage customers, notes payable, and deposits with clearing organizations approximate fair value due to their short-term nature. There were no transfers between levels during the year ended March 31, 2017.

In February 2010, the Company and the Parent Company were named as defendants in a complaint filed in the United States District Court, Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, styled Trading Technologies International, Inc. v. TradeStation Securities, Inc. and TradeStation Group, Inc., Case No. 10-cv-884 (USDC, N.D. Ill.) (The Company and the Parent Company are collectively referred to in this description as "TradeStation"). Trading Technologies International (TT) alleges that TradeStation infringed and continues to infringe ten (10) patents held by TT. TT seeks a judgment enjoining the alleged infringement and awarding unspecified damages and costs. TradeStation answered the complaint in August 2010 generally denying the allegations and asserting a variety of affirmative defenses. On February 3, 2011, a federal judge granted TT's motion to consolidate 12 similar actions. From July 2015 through approximately April 2016 TradeStation filed Covered Business Method Petitions (CBM Petitions) with the Patent Trademark Office Trial and Appeal Board (PTAB) on all of the TT patents upon which TradeStation is being sued, seeking to invalidate them, all of which were instituted based on the PTAB's preliminary finding that it is more likely than not that the patents are invalid in whole or in part. The federal district court has stayed the case based upon the institutions by the PTAB of the CBM Petitions. To date, the PTAB has invalidated or substantially invalidated all but one of the five (5) patents on which it has thus far ruled, and all of such five (5) PTAB decisions are, or likely soon will be, on appeal. It is difficult to predict the outcome of this matter, however, the Company believes it has meritorious defenses to the allegations made in the complaint and intends to defend itself vigorously against them. However, litigation is inherently uncertain and there can be no assurance given that the Company will prevail or that this litigation can be settled on favorable terms.

On February 16, 2016, the Company's affiliate, TradeStation Technologies, Inc. (TTI), also a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Parent Company, filed a civil complaint in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida currently styled TradeStation Technologies, Inc., v. Trading Technologies International, Inc. v. TradeStation Technologies, Inc., TradeStation Securities, Inc., TradeStation Group, Inc. and IBFX, Inc., Case No. 0:16-cv-60296-WJZ (USDC, S.D. FL.) (The Company, the Parent Company, TTI and IBFX are collectively referred to in this description as "TradeStation"). TTI alleged infringement by TT of TTI's U.S. Patent 7,379,909 B1 ('909 Patent) and seeks injunctive relief and an undisclosed amount of money damages and royalties. On April 14, 2016, TT filed its answer and affirmative defenses, generally denying the allegations in the complaint, and also filed a counterclaim against TradeStation alleging infringement of eight (8) additional patents held by TT (which are different from the ten (10) patents asserted by TT in the Northern District of Illinois case described above, but generally relate to the same overall subject matter). TT seeks dismissal of TTI's complaint, denial of relief pursuant to the '909 patent, and injunctive relief and money damages for alleged infringement of the TT patents. TradeStation filed a motion to dismiss TT's counterclaim for failure to state a claim and to stay the case in its entirety based in part on the CBM Petitions filed against the patents asserted in the Northern District of Illinois case described above, as well as two additional CBM Petitions related to TTI patents in this case. TradeStation's motion for stay was granted on June 15, 2016. It is difficult to predict the outcome of the matter, however, the Company believes it has a meritorious claim against TT, as well as meritorious defenses to the allegations made in TT's counterclaim and the Company intends to defend itself vigorously against them. However, litigation is inherently uncertain and there can be no assurance given that the Company will prevail or that this litigation can be settled on favorable terms.

On December 3, 2015, the Company, the Parent Company and TradeStation Technologies, Inc. (collectively referred to in this description as "TradeStation") were named as defendants in a case filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas styled Chart Trading Development, LLC v. TradeStation Group, Inc., TradeStation Securities, Inc. and TradeStation Technologies, Inc. Chart Trading Development (CTD) alleges that TradeStation directly and indirectly infringed and continues to infringe three patents held by CTD. CTD seeks a judgment enjoining the alleged infringement and awarding unspecified damages and costs. On the same day CTD filed its complaint against TradeStation, CTD also filed virtually identical complaints against several other companies. TradeStation and the other defendants have filed CBM Petitions with the PTAB with respect to all three (3) patents. On February 23, 2016, TradeStation and the other defendants also filed a Motion to Stay or, Alternatively, Dismiss based in part on the filing of CBM Petitions. On March 30, 2016, the court granted the stay motion. The PTAB has instituted CBM review of all three patents based on the PTAB's preliminary finding that it is more likely than not that the patents are invalid in whole or in part. It is difficult to predict the outcome of the matter, however, the Company believes it has meritorious defenses to the allegations made in the complaint and intends to defend itself vigorously against them. However, litigation is inherently uncertain and there can be no assurance given that the Company will prevail or that this litigation can be settled on favorable terms.

The Company is also engaged in regulatory matters, including investigations and enforcement, as well as regulatory exams that could result in investigations and enforcement, and routine civil litigation, such as customer arbitrations and reparations proceedings and, from time to time, actions brought by former employees relating to termination of employment. Pending regulatory investigations and enforcement actions could ultimately result in a censure and/or fine, and such other civil litigation could result in judgments or settlements for damages and other relief. While no assurances can be given, the Company does not believe that the ultimate outcome of any such pending regulatory or civil matters will result in a material, adverse effect on the Company's business or financial condition.

(d) General Contingencies and Guarantees

In the ordinary course of business, there are various contingencies that are not reflected in the statement of financial condition. These include customer activities involving the execution, settlement and financing of various customer securities and futures transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance sheet credit risk in the event the customers are unable to fulfill their contractual obligations.

In margin transactions, the Company may be obligated for credit extended to its customers by the Company or its clearing agents that is collateralized by cash and securities in the customers' accounts. In connection with securities activities, the Company also executes customer transactions involving the sale of securities not yet purchased (short sales), all of which are transacted on a margin basis subject to federal, self-regulatory organization and individual exchange regulations and the Company's internal policies. Additionally, the Company may be obligated for credit extended to its customers by its clearing agents for futures transactions that the Company borrows securities temporarily from other broker-dealers in connection with its broker-dealer business. The Company deposits cash as collateral for the securities borrowed. Decreases in securities prices may cause the market value of the securities borrowed to fall below the amount of cash deposited as collateral. In the event the counterparty to these transactions does not return the cash deposited, the Company may be exposed to the risk of selling the securities at prevailing market prices. The Company seeks to manage this risk by requiring credit approvals for counterparties, by monitoring the collateral values on a daily basis, and by requiring cash to be returned as needed.

The Company loans securities temporarily to other broker-dealers in connection with its broker-dealer business. The Company receives cash as collateral for the securities loaned. Increases in securities prices may cause the market value of the securities loaned to exceed the amount of cash received as collateral. In the event the counterparty to these transactions does not return the loaned securities, the Company may be exposed to the risk of acquiring the securities at prevailing market prices in order to satisfy its client obligations. The Company mitigates this risk by requiring credit approvals for counterparties, by monitoring the market value of securities loaned on a daily basis and requiring additional cash as collateral when necessary.

The customers' financing and securities settlement activities may require the Company and its clearing agents to pledge customer securities as collateral in support of various secured financing sources, which may include bank loans. In the event the counterparty is unable to meet its contractual obligation to return customer securities pledged as collateral, the Company may be exposed to the risk of needing to acquire the securities at prevailing market prices in order to satisfy its obligations. The Company seeks to manage this risk by monitoring the market value of securities pledged on a daily basis. The Company provides guarantees to its clearing organization and exchanges under their standard membership agreements, which require members to guarantee the performance of other members. Under the agreements, if another member becomes unable to satisfy its obligations to clearing organization or exchange, other members would be required to meet shortfalls. The Company's liability under these arrangements is not quantifiable and may exceed the cash and securities it has posted as collateral. However, management believes that the possibility of the Company being required to make payments under these arrangements is remote. Accordingly, no liability has been recorded for these potential events.

(15) Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated events and transactions occurring subsequent to March 31, 2017 as of May 26, 2017. Management believes that no material events have occurred since March 31, 2017 that require recognition or disclosure in the financial statement.
