1. We note that you changed your method for computing the volume of page views and searches and average revenue per page view and search during the second quarter of 2006. Address the following with respect to this change:
 - Identify any other offerings that are excluded from these metrics and explain the basis for exclusion;
 - Indicate whether you have a policy of excluding offerings for which internet traffic monetization occurs at a lower rate. If so, explain why;
 - Describe the "content match" offering to us and differentiate it from the offerings that remain part of the calculations;
 - Quantify the impact of excluding the content match data on these metrics; and
 - Tell us more about the purpose of these metrics and why you believe that it is more meaningful to exclude content match statistics entirely from your presentation.

In addition to providing the information above, consider expanding your disclosures to provide a more robust discussion of these metrics that allows readers to understand their purpose and your approach to presenting them.

2. We note that your costs capitalized in 2006 were over four times higher than in the previous years presented. Explain to us the nature of this significant fluctuation. In addition, tell us how you considered discussing the impact of your capitalization activities on your results of operations within MD&A. Finally, describe your future expectations regarding such capitalization and tell us why you have not disclosed those expectations.

3. We note your announcement, on December 5, 2006, that a reorganization of your structure and management would take place in 2007. Your announcement indicates that the reorganization is designed, in part, to “better align your operations with your key customer segments” and to “increase accountability.” Please tell us whether this reorganization is complete and, if so, why it has not affected your segment disclosures.
