Dear Mr. Zugay:

We have reviewed your response to our letter dated December 31, 2007 in connection with the above referenced filing and have the following comments. If indicated, we think you should revise your document in response to these comments. If you disagree, we will consider your explanation as to why our comment is inapplicable or a revision is unnecessary. Please be as detailed as necessary in your explanation. In our comments, we may ask you to provide us with supplemental information so we may better understand your disclosure. After reviewing this information, we may raise additional comments. Unless otherwise noted, where prior comments are referred to they refer to our letter dated December 31, 2007.

Form 10-K for the Fiscal Year Ended December 31, 2006

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Results of Operations, page 20

1. Please explain further why you believe that the distinction between new customers and new engagements for existing customers is not meaningful disclosure. Although both of these revenue sources may be a result of similar marketing programs, it is unclear to us why it would not be useful to understand the extent to which you are acquiring new revenue sources as compared to selling to your current customer base.

2. We have read your response to prior comment number 2 and note that you do not believe that the onsite/offshore ratio is a direct indicator of revenue, however, based on your response it appears that the onsite/offshore ratio is meaningful to understanding your profitability. Please tell us what consideration you have given to quantifying the onsite/offshore ratio in connection with your discussion of gross margin.

Liquidity and Capital Resources, page 29

3. Your response to prior comment number 4 appears to indicate that you will provide additional disclosures if there is a significant change in total operating cash flow. Please note that Section IV.B of SEC Release 33-8350 indicates that if the underlying sources of cash flows have materially varied, analysis of that variability should be provided even where reported amounts of cash provided and used by operations have been consistent. Please confirm to us that you will provide expanded disclosures in future filings.
