

Intraware and Digital River Ink Joint Marketing Agreement

ORINDA, Calif. and MINNEAPOLIS, June 26, 2006 – Intraware[®], Inc. (NASDAQ:ITRA), a leading provider of electronic software and license delivery and management solutions, announced today that it has signed a joint marketing agreement with Digital River, Inc. (NASDAQ:DRIV), a global leader in e-commerce outsourcing. Through the marketing agreement, the companies are expanding their strategic business relationship to deliver integrated e-commerce services to enterprise software publishers.

Under terms of the agreement, the two companies will work collaboratively in joint marketing and co-selling initiatives. Through this collaboration, Intraware and Digital River will provide a best-in-class solution for enterprise software publishers to manage contracts, sales, distribution and fulfillment as well as licenses and renewal of digital goods.

“The relationship between Intraware and Digital River brings together the best of e-commerce and electronic software delivery and license management services,” said Peter Jackson, president and CEO at Intraware. “The joint marketing agreement enables us to more effectively sell a highly-customized e-commerce solution that will address digital goods and customer relationship management life cycle components. This new offering will help us better serve our client base by providing a robust solution for managing their digital goods.”

“By expanding our partnership with Intraware, we are able to cater to the increasingly complex demands of enterprise level clients,” said Joel Ronning, Digital River’s CEO. “We have established our expertise in providing end-to-end e-commerce services and software downloads in the consumer and SMB software markets while Intraware’s expertise lies in the enterprise space. Through our combined efforts, we can leverage our successes and complementary services to provide a highly sought-after integrated solution for the enterprise market.”

In November 2005, Digital River acquired an ownership stake of approximately 14 percent in Intraware for $6 million. The investment was the first step in building a strategic relationship that will include the development of integrated service offerings and the nomination of a representative of Digital River to Intraware's Board of Directors.
