Our Request to Shareholders:

Refresh share authorization for employee incentives

- The Board of Directors recommends approval of a request to authorize an additional 3,000,000 shares for the Company's Stock Award and Incentive Plan (the Stock Plan).
- Equity is a valued resource we use to retain top talent and drive strategic business objectives.
 - Use of equity-based incentives has contributed to our financial success.
 - Our growth plan will continue to increase the number of employees we include in our stock incentive programs.
- Two-thirds of the shares we are requesting will be used in a way that makes our program consistent with an employee stock purchase program. We will use only a minority of the shares for outright grants of stock.
 - This is an important market differentiator for us
- If the current request is not approved, the Company will be at a disadvantage compared to other companies in providing a competitive total compensation package necessary to attract, retain and motivate the talented employees who are critical to its future success.
 - We are a service business and our people are our biggest asset.

Previous Requests Have Been Well Received and Approved; Management has been disciplined in its use of share authorizations

- May 2001, approved 4.45 million additional shares for the Stock Plan
 - Firm replaced option grants with restricted stock units (RSUs) in 2003.
- May 2005, approved 3.0 million additional shares for the Stock Plan
 - Share reserve planned to be sufficient through December 31, 2008 for employee compensation programs, strategic hires and Board of Director compensation programs.
- Current shareholder request is similar in size and planned use
 - Given that the majority of stock utilization occurs in Q1, the 1.1 million projected share reserve at end of 2008 may not be sufficient to fund employee incentive arrangements through the time of our Annual Meeting in 2009.

JLL's Stock Ownership Plan (SOP) Consumes Most of the Shares: A market differentiator & key element of our compensation

- The SOP establishes stock ownership guidelines for circa 1,500 senior-level employees globally

- Promotes alignment with stock and long-term financial performance
- Provides a significant retention incentive for a broad group of employees

Employee Level	Ownership Guideline
International	4 x times salary
Regional	3 x times salary
National	2 x times salary

- Under SOP, 10-20% of employees' annual incentive is automatically paid as RSUs.
 - Annual cash payments are reduced to “purchase” restricted stock units that have a service-based vesting requirement.
 - 50% of RSUs vest after 18 months and remainder after 30 months.
 - Company contributes an additional 20% of value for amount of annual incentive paid as RSU.
 - Historically accounts for the majority of all Stock Plan awards (2005-2007 three-year average is 64%).
- Company growth has led to significant increase in SOP-eligible employees since 2005 share authorization:
 - 2007: 1,500
 - 2006: 1,200
 - 2005: 1,000
- Jones Lang LaSalle considers RSUs used in SOP to be more consistent with employee stock purchase programs since employees are required to forego current cash compensation for future stock ownership.

Employee Stock Ownership through the Stock Plan: Shareholder Benefits

- Use of stock provides balanced employee reward portfolio to manage annual and long-term performance results.
 - RSUs and SOP help focus employees and directors on long-term stock and financial performance.
- SOP Units put significant “skin in the game” for 1,500 key employees
 - Significant retention tool that has resulted in very low voluntary turnover.
- Our growth strategies have delivered outstanding financial performance.
 - Use of stock in our various compensation programs has been key to achieving this success.
 - Stock awards have been utilized in recent acquisitions to facilitate retention of key talent.
 - Compensation Committee has adopted changes to employee compensation programs to manage impact of growth on Stock Plan reserves.
- The Company has made a practice to buy back stock to offset dilution.
 - 3.5 million shares repurchased since 2005.

Competitive Comparisons:

Equity Usage in Multiple Industries – Median Burn Rate

The chart below compares equity usage with key competitors and other similarly-sized companies in multiple industries with which we can be compared. 2007 data is used for Jones Lang LaSalle and 2006 data is reported for comparator companies with revenues between 1/3 and 3 times Jones Lang LaSalle. (2007 not yet available)

Notes:

- Burn Rate for comparator companies reflect equity grants made during FY 2006 ÷ diluted common stock outstanding.
- Jones Lang LaSalle numbers reflect FY 2007 data.

Competitive Comparisons: Equity Usage in Multiple Industries – Median Overhang

The chart below summarizes the potential dilution to which shareholders are exposed due to the potential from stock-based compensation awarded to employees or directors. JLL's 2007 overhang is compared to the same group of key competitors and other similarly-sized companies as were used in the Burn Rate analysis.

Notes:

- Overhang = $\text{sum of stock options \& RSUs granted and outstanding} + \text{shares available for future grants} \div \text{diluted common stock outstanding}$
- Jones Lang LaSalle overhang as of FY2007; other companies as of FY2006
