NOTES TO THE INTERIM CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Unaudited – prepared by management

(Expressed in U.S. Dollars)

April 30, 2007

1. NATURE AND CONTINUANCE OF OPERATIONS

The Company was incorporated in British Columbia, Canada on December 12, 2005 under the name Advanced Proteome Therapeutics (Canada) Inc., as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Thrilltime Entertainment International, Inc. (“Thrilltime”). As at July 31, 2006 the Company had no principal business activity. The Company was specifically incorporated for the purpose of completing an acquisition of Advanced Proteome Therapeutics, Inc. (“APTI”), a bio-tech company located in the United States (Note 4). The Company subsequently changed its name, on August 15, 2006, to Advanced Proteome Therapeutics Corporation and completed the acquisition of APTI effective on October 25, 2006 and a plan of arrangement with Thrilltime. The result was the Company acquired a 56% interest in APTI for consideration of $2,045,254 USD ($2,300,000 Cdn) and concurrently exchanged all of the shares of Thrilltime for shares of the Company. As a result the Company was identified as the acquirer pursuant to the business combination, and Thrilltime became the wholly owned subsidiary of the Company. These financial statements have been accounted for as a continuity of interests with Thrilltime.

APTI is a biotechnology company founded to develop and commercialize a platform that is intended to use advanced protein modification technologies to create proprietary human protein pharmaceuticals with enhanced therapeutic properties.

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis which assumes that the Company will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business for the foreseeable future. The continuing operations of the Company are dependent upon its ability to continue to raise adequate financing and to develop profitable operations in the future. The Company generated operating losses in the nine months ended April 30, 2007 and fiscal year ended July 31, 2006. The application of the going concern concept is dependent on the Company’s ability to obtain a viable operation and receive continued financial support from its shareholder and from external financing. Management is of the opinion that sufficient working capital will be obtained from external financing to meet the Company’s liabilities and commitments.

There can be no assurances that the Company will be successful in raising additional cash to finance operations or that the continued support of creditors and shareholders will be available. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability of assets and classification of assets and liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of presentation and consolidation

These consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Thrilltime Entertainment International, Inc. a Canadian company incorporated under the laws of British Columbia., and Superstar Dragsters, Inc. and Skycoaster, Inc., both incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada, U.S.A.. The accounts of the Company's 56% owned subsidiary, Advanced Proteome Therapeutics, Inc., incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware, has been consolidated effective the date of its acquisition on October 25, 2006.

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("Canadian GAAP") which are substantially in accordance with United States generally accepted accounting principles ("U.S. GAAP"), except as disclosed in Note 14. All significant inter-company transactions have been eliminated on consolidation.

Use of estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of the assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, demand deposits and short term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash within ninety days of deposit.

Comparative figures

Certain of the prior periods comparative figures have been restated to conform to the presentation adopted for the current period.

Earnings (loss) per share

Basic earnings (loss) per share are computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the reporting period. Diluted earnings per share are computed similar to basic earnings per share except that the weighted average shares outstanding are increased to include additional shares from the assumed exercise of stock options and warrants, if dilutive. The number of additional shares is calculated by assuming that outstanding stock options were exercised and that the proceeds from such exercises were used to acquire shares of common stock at the average market price during the reporting period.

Equipment

Equipment is recorded at cost and is amortized over their remaining estimated useful economic life as follows:

Office and computer equipment

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (cont'd...)

Deferred costs and share issue costs

Deferred costs consist primarily of corporate finance fees, legal fees and sponsorship fees directly identifiable with raising capital or acquiring a business or assets. These costs are deferred until the issuance of the shares or a completion of a business acquisition to which the costs relate, at which time the costs will be charged against the related capital stock or asset or charged to operations if the transactions are not completed.

Income taxes

The Company follows the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes whereby future income taxes are recognized for the future income tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying values and their respective income tax bases (temporary differences). Future income tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted or substantively enacted income tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on future income tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is included in income in the period in which the change occurs. The amount of future income tax assets recognized is limited to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

Patent applications and technology

The costs incurred to acquire options and/or rights to technologies and also the costs to register patents on these technologies have been capitalized and will be amortized over the estimated useful lives of the technology commencing upon its commercial release.

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development costs are expensed as incurred except when the costs associated with the process are clearly identifiable, the Company has indicated its intention to use the process and funding for continued development is available. In these circumstances, the costs are deferred and amortized on a systematic basis.

Management continuously assesses the recoverability of the Company's technology. When management believes that the Company will no longer pursue an option, patent or right, or if management concludes that it is recorded at an amount in excess of its net recoverable amount, the cost associated with the option, patent or right is written off or written down

Stock-based compensation

Stock options and direct awards of stock granted to employees and non-employees are recorded at fair value on the date of grant and the associated expense is amortized over the vesting period. The Company issues shares and share options under its share-based compensations plans. Any consideration paid upon exercise of the share options or purchase of shares is credited to share capital.

The Company has adopted the fair value based method of accounting for all stock-based compensation.

3. SHARE EXCHANGE AGREEMENT

Effective October 25, 2006 the Company acquired 100% of the outstanding common shares of Thrilltime and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Superstar Dragsters, Inc. and Skycoaster, Inc.. The Company exchanged 52,007,297 common shares of the Company for all of the issued and outstanding common shares of Thrilltime.

For accounting purposes, the share exchange is accounted for by combining the net book value of the assets, liabilities and shareholders' equity of the Company and Thrilltime. The exchange of shares does not result in a revaluation of the net assets and liabilities of the companies since there is no change in the overall control of the companies involved. These interim consolidated financial statements are based on the assumption that the companies were combined for the prior and current accounting periods.

4. BUSINESS COMBINATION AND NON-CONTROLLING INTEREST

The Company received proceeds of $252,032 USD ($296,667 Cdn) from the exercise of warrants at a price of $0.10 Cdn per share.

Stock options

The Company has a stock option plan ("the Plan") that allows the directors to grant stock options to purchase up to 10% of issued and outstanding totalling 5,200,729 common shares, provided that stock options in favour of any one individual may not exceed 5% of the issued and outstanding shares. No stock option granted under the Plan is transferable by the optionee other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution, and each stock option is exercisable during the lifetime of the optionee only by such optionee.

The exercise price of all stock options granted under the Plan must not be less than the Discounted Market Price (the last closing price of the listed shares before the date of the grant, less the applicable discounts), subject to a minimum price of $0.10 Cdn per share, and the maximum term of each stock option may not exceed five years. Vesting is provided at the discretion of the directors and once vested, options are exercisable at any time. Any shares issued on the exercise of stock options must be legended with a four-month holding period commencing on the date the stock options were granted.

12. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash, receivables, demand promissory note, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, the carrying values of which approximate fair value due to the immediate or short-term maturity of these financial instruments. Unless otherwise noted, it is management's opinion that the Company is not exposed to significant interest or credit risks arising from these financial instruments. The fair value of these financial instruments approximates their carrying value, unless otherwise noted.

The Company is exposed to financial risk arising from fluctuations in foreign exchange rates and the degree of volatility in those rates. The Company does not use derivative instruments to reduce its exposure to foreign currency risk.

13. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company entered into the following transactions with related parties:

During the nine month period ended April 30, 2007 the Company paid or accrued $32,848, (2006 - $18,554) to directors and officers for consulting.

Included within amounts due to related party, is $140,660 payable to an officer and director, secured by a promissory note bearing interest at a rate of 5% per annum, maturing on December 31, 2008. Annual interest in the amount of $7,076, due as of December 31, 2006, was accrued in the accounts and paid during the nine months ending April 30, 2007 (2006 - $nil).

These transactions were in the normal course of operations and were measured at the exchange amount, which is the amount of consideration established and agreed to by the related parties.

14. DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CANADIAN AND UNITED STATES GENERALLY ACCEPTED ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES

Accounting practices under Canadian and United States generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"), as they affect the Company are substantially the same except for the following:

Convertible securities

Under Canadian GAAP, convertible securities are split into their liability and equity components based on their fair values at the time of issuance. Subsequent to initial recognition, the implied debt discount is recognized as additional interest expense over the term to maturity. Under U.S. GAAP, the intrinsic value of the embedded beneficial conversion feature of convertible securities issued with a non-detachable conversion feature that are in-the-money at the date of issuance is allocated to additional paid-in capital. The amount allocated is to be accounted for as additional interest expense over the minimum period in which the holder can realize its return. The beneficial conversion option on previously issued convertible debt at the date of its issuance was $975,000. The deemed discount attributable to this beneficial conversion option was amortized to interest expense over the period to the first conversion date.

Overview

APT is a biotechnology company founded to develop and commercialize a new, promising technology platform that is intended for the chemical modification of protein therapeutics. The platform anticipates important practical applications in the field of protein therapeutics by producing novel protein conjugates (therapeutic proteins whose properties are modified and further enhanced by chemically attached entities). APT's technology involves a way of potentially using proprietary ensembles of molecules to site-selectively modify therapeutic proteins to improve critical properties, i.e., duration of action. Such a "chemoselective" methodology has heretofore been lacking in the fields of chemistry and biochemistry.

APT intends to use advanced protein modification technologies to create proprietary human protein pharmaceuticals with enhanced therapeutic properties. Most protein pharmaceuticals are rapidly eliminated by the body, which limit their effectiveness and require that they be administered by frequent, often daily, injection. By selectively attaching life-time enhancing entities to therapeutic proteins, APT products are expected to last longer in the body. This feature will allow them to be administered less frequently, such as once per week to once per month, and maximize their therapeutic benefits to patients. Historically, loss of biological activity and product heterogeneity have been the two most common problems encountered in the development of long-acting protein pharmaceuticals. The targeted protein modification technologies used by APT is intended to overcome these problems.

During this quarter the Company has established laboratories in Boston, Massachusetts at the Boston University Discovery and Innovation Center, 650 Albany Street, Boston, MA 02118. The business operations have been relocated to the Boston area and the Albany Street laboratory. The laboratory has been equipped, and contracts established with service providers. R&D activities have begun and APC's first proprietary ensembles of molecules using a combination of automation and organic chemical synthesis have been generated for the screening of protein targets.

To the extent possible, management endeavors to implement strategies aimed at reducing or mitigating the risks and uncertainties associated with the Company's business. Operating risks include (i) market acceptance of the Company's technology and products, (ii) the Company's ability to obtain and enforce timely patent protection of its technology and products, (iii) the Company's ability to manufacture its products cost effectively; (iv) the competitive environment and impact of technological change, and (v) the continued availability of capital to finance the Company's activities.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

The attached consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the basis that the Company will continue as a going concern, which assumes the realization of assets and the settlement of liabilities in the normal course of business. The appropriateness of the going concern assumption is dependent upon the Company's ability to generate future profitable operations and/or generate continued financial support in the form of share issuances. The Company plans to issue more securities at such time as it believes additional capital could be obtained on favorable terms; however, there can be no assurance that such funds can be available on favorable terms, if at all.

These consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Canada and include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned US subsidiary, Advanced Proteome Therapeutics Inc..

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from management's estimates.

Equipment

Equipment is recorded at cost and is amortized over their remaining estimated useful economic life as follows:

- Office, laboratory and computer equipment - Declining-balance basis at between 20% and 30% per annum

Patent application and technology

The costs incurred to acquire options and/or rights to medical technologies and also the costs to register patents on these technologies have been capitalized and will be amortized over the estimated useful lives of the technology commencing upon its commercial release.

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development costs are expensed as incurred except when the costs associated with the process are clearly identifiable, the Company has indicated its intention to use the process and funding for continued development as available. In these circumstances, the costs are deferred and amortized on a systematic basis.

Management continuously assesses the recoverability of the Company's technology. When management believes that the Company will no longer pursue an option, patent or right, or if management concludes that it is recorded at an amount in excess of its net recoverable amount, the cost associated with the option, patent or right is written off or written down.

Stock option plan

All The Company has a stock option plan ("the Plan") that allows the directors to grant stock options to purchase up to 10% of issued and outstanding totalling 5,550,896 common shares, provided that stock options in favour of any one individual may not exceed 5% of the issued and outstanding shares. No stock option granted under the Plan is transferable by the optionee other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution, and each stock option is exercisable during the lifetime of the optionee only by such optionee.

The exercise price of all stock options granted under the Plan must not be less than the Discounted Market Price (the last closing price of the listed shares before the date of the grant, less the applicable discounts), subject to a minimum price of Cdn. $0.10 per share, and the maximum term of each stock option may not exceed five years. Vesting is provided at the discretion of the directors and once vested, options are exercisable at any time. Any shares issued on the exercise of stock options must be legended with a four-month holding period commencing on the date the stock options were granted.

Share issue costs and deferred costs

Deferred costs consist primarily of corporate finance fees, legal fees and sponsorship fees directly identifiable with raising capital or acquiring a business or assets. These costs are deferred until the issuance of the shares or a completion of a business acquisition to which the costs relate, at which time the costs will be charged against the related capital stock or asset or charged to operations if the transactions are not completed.

Future income taxes

The Company follows the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes whereby future income taxes are recognized for the future income tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying values and their respective income tax bases (temporary differences). Future income tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted or substantively enacted income tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on future income tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is included in income in the period in which the change occurs. The amount of future income tax assets recognized is limited to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

Financial instruments

The Company has various financial instruments including cash, receivables, payables and accruals, interest bearing advances and capital leases. It was not practicable to determine the fair value of the advances as there are no specified terms of repayment. The carrying value of all other financial instruments approximates their fair value.

Earnings (loss) per share

Basic earnings (loss) per share are computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the reporting period. Diluted earnings per share are computed similar to basic earnings per share except that the weighted average shares outstanding are increased to include additional shares from the assumed exercise of stock options and warrants, if dilutive. The number of additional shares is calculated by assuming that outstanding stock options were exercised and that the proceeds from such exercises were used to acquire shares of common stock at the average market price during the reporting period.

Outstanding Share Data

The authorized share capital of Advanced Proteome Therapeutics Corporation is an unlimited number of common shares, without par value. At April 30, 2007 there were 55,508,964 shares outstanding (July 31, 2006: 26,507,297). There are 15,405,367 common shares allocable for issuance upon the exercise of common share purchase warrants (July 31, 2006: 3,000,000) and 4,300,000 common shares granted for issuance upon the exercise of stock options.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Advanced Proteome Therapeutics Corporation has financed activities, operations and capital expenditures primarily from public and private equity and repayable loans. Until the Company receives substantial revenue from product sales, it plans to issue more securities at such time as it believes additional capital could be obtained on favourable terms. However, there can be no assurance that such funds can be available on favourable terms, if at all.

As at April 30, 2007, the Company had cash and cash equivalents of $1,472,320 and working capital of $1,503,042. This compares with cash and cash equivalents of $101,315 and a working capital position of $29,539 at July 31, 2006.

During the nine months ending April 30, 2007 the Company received an additional $322,391 ($376,917 Cdn) pursuant to the exercise of outstanding warrants.

The Company believes that cash flows from operations and funds on hand will be sufficient to fund its cash requirements through 2007. However, the Company plans to issue more securities at such time as it believes additional capital could be obtained on favourable terms. There can be no assurance that such funds can be available on favourable terms, if at all. The Company has no material commitments.

The Company is committed to license premises at a monthly rent of $ 6,250 for a period of 1 year, commencing January 1, 2007, with an option to extend the license for 1 additional year.

Financing Risks

History of Losses - The Issuer has been in a cumulative net loss position throughout its operating history. The Issuer's limited operating history makes it difficult to evaluate the future financial prospects of its business. There is no assurance that the Issuer will grow or be profitable or that the Issuer will have earnings or significant improvement in its cash flow from operations in the future. The future earnings on and cash flow from operations are dependent on the Issuer's ability to further develop and sell its products and the Issuer's operational expenses. Management expects that the Issuer will continue to have high levels of operating expenses, since the Issuer needs to make significant up-front expenditures for product development, and corporate development activities. Management anticipates that the operating losses for the Issuer may continue until such time as the Issuer consistently generates sufficient revenues to support operations.

Need for Additional Financing - The implementation of the Issuer's business plan requires significant capital outlays and operating expenditures over the next several years. There can be no assurance that additional financing will be available to the Issuer when needed, on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. Any inability to obtain additional financing when needed would have a material adverse effect on the Issuer. Further, any additional equity financing may involve substantial dilution to the Issuer's then existing shareholders. Debt financing, if available, may involve onerous obligations, monetary or otherwise. If adequate funds are not available, the Issuer may obtain funds through arrangements with strategic partners or others who may require the Issuer to relinquish rights to certain technologies, any of which could adversely affect its business, financial condition and results of operations.

Product Risks

Uncertain Demand for Products - Demand for pharmaceutical products is dependent on a number of social, political and economic factors that are beyond the control of the Issuer. The healthcare industry is likely to continue to change as the public, government, medical practitioners, and the pharmaceutical industries focus on ways to expand medical coverage while controlling the growth in healthcare costs. While the Issuer believes that demand for pharmaceutical products will continue to grow, there is no assurance that such demand will exist or that the Companies products will be purchased to satisfy that demand.

Dependence on Development of New Products - New technological or product developments in the pharmaceutical industry may render the Issuer's products obsolete or reduce their value. The Issuer's future prospects are highly dependent on its ability to develop new products - from new technologies and achieve market acceptance. There can be no assurance that the Issuer will be successful in these efforts.
