

Our insureds, producers and employees count on our long-term economic sustainability.

They also rely on AFG to keep its promises. We know the decisions we make today will influence our business and our shareholders for years to come.

To our Shareholders

We have all heard the expression “a tough act to follow”—and it certainly rang true as AFG began 2022 after the remarkable, transformative year that we had in 2021.

We entered this past year focused exclusively on our Specialty Property and Casualty (P&C) operations, and we were energized by AFG’s track record of industry leadership and strong results.

The bar was set high—and we cleared it! Our compelling mix of specialty insurance businesses, an entrepreneurial culture, a disciplined operating philosophy, and an astute team of in-house investment professionals contributed to our success.

Throughout 2022, our P&C insurance businesses continued to thrive in a favorable P&C market, producing record profitability and premiums. Our investment team positioned us well and earned record P&C net investment income. Our core return on equity was an impressive 21.2%.

Co-Chief Executive Officers

We also continued to execute effective capital management and returned $1.23 billion to shareholders during the year, including just over $1 billion—or $12.00 per share—in special dividends.

We noted in last year's letter that we kicked off a year-long 150th anniversary celebration for Great American Insurance Group, whose roots in our flagship company, Great American Insurance Company, extend back to 1872. We marked this significant milestone with special events and historical reflections on an incredible legacy of GREAT. Some of these moments are captured in images you'll see within this report.

As an insurer intent on meeting the unique risk management needs of its insureds, we believe our longevity and success are the result of our long-standing commitment to specialization, innovation, and customer focus. We are proud to have achieved this milestone as a trusted provider of insurance solutions that enable businesses, non-profits, and other commercial entities to thrive and grow.

Our Specialty P&C businesses are leaders in the markets they serve. Our mix of diverse P&C businesses has a measure of non-correlation that enables us to successfully navigate various economic cycles, produce consistently strong financial results, and return capital to our shareholders over time. Our portfolio of 35 Specialty P&C businesses offers a wide range of coverage in niche industries, backed by our specialized industry knowledge and experienced claims handling.

Over half of our P&C gross written premiums are produced by businesses with top 10 market rankings (based on premiums). We are proud of our track record of producing consistently strong operating results and achieving healthy underwriting margins. Over the past 10 years, the statutory combined operating ratio of AFG's property and casualty operations has outperformed the industry by an average of 7.4 points.

We continually evaluate the performance of our businesses and the allocation of capital to achieve targeted returns, and we regularly act on opportunities to grow our specialty insurance businesses organically and through acquisition. Strong pricing and a recovering economy enabled us to focus on organic growth in several of our Specialty P&C businesses—particularly our agricultural-related and commercial auto businesses—in 2022.

In December 2021, we acquired Verikai, Inc. for $120 million in cash. This transaction underscores how strongly we value innovation and the role it plays in building economically sustainable businesses. We are also pleased that Great American Insurance Group has benefited from Verikai's predictive risk tool and unique Marketplace solution since entering the medical stop loss market in 2022. Over the course of last year, we focused on ramping up our new medical stop loss product offerings, which target small insureds and underserved markets.

Reinsurance pricing and capacity has been an area of focus in our industry. As we closed out 2022, we, along with the rest of the industry, were preparing to renew a large portion of our major reinsurance treaties. We are pleased to report that we successfully renewed our 2023 property catastrophe and property per risk treaties within a very challenging reinsurance market. Other divisional January 1, 2023, renewals were executed with terms similar to 2022. Having long-standing, trusted relationships with reinsurance partners who understand our underwriting discipline and risk appetite—and an existing catastrophe bond attaching at $125 million—provided a solid foundation as we entered renewal discussions.

Our new property cat structure provides for an increase in our per occurrence retention. We remain vigilant about monitoring higher reinsurance costs and retentions to ensure that these factors are reflected in the pricing of our primary property coverages. We continue to have a relatively low catastrophe risk profile when compared with peers, and we seek to minimize coastal and known fault-line exposure. As a result, AFG's exposure to a catastrophic earthquake or windstorm that industry models indicate should statistically occur once every 500 years is expected to be approximately 2% of AFG's shareholders' equity.

2022 RESULTS

Our commitment to building long-term shareholder value starts with maintaining strong and consistent core operating businesses. Our success depends on disciplined underwriting, prudent pricing, and careful expense management. Through our entrepreneurial business model and effective alignment of incentives with business objectives, we foster a culture of empowerment and accountability that creates a strong foundation for success.

In 2022, AFG achieved net earnings of nearly $900 million or $10.53 per diluted share, generating a strong return on equity of 19.2%. AFG produced record core net operating earnings per share (EPS) of $11.63 during 2022, generating a core operating return on equity of 21.2%. The earnings power of our operations, coupled with efficient capital management, allows AFG to produce returns on equity in excess of most of our peer property and casualty insurers.

AFG's new high benchmark for core EPS reflects record pre-tax core operating earnings in our P&C insurance operations, which is the result of strong underwriting profitability and extraordinary investment performance. Our in-house team of investment professionals positioned us well as we entered 2022 amid an uncertain economic environment and an expected uptick in interest rates.

Our adjusted book value per share was $53.73 at the end of 2022. Total value creation, measured as the change in adjusted book value per share plus dividends, was $10.62 per share, or approximately 18.5% in 2022.

10 YEAR VIEW OF TOTAL VALUE CREATION (Growth in Adjusted BVPS + Dividends)
As of December 31 (excluding net unrealized gains (losses) related to fixed maturities)

SPECIALTY P&C INSURANCE

Our Specialty P&C operations produced a very strong calendar year GAAP combined ratio of 87.2%, with each of our Specialty P&C groups reporting combined ratios of 92% or better. During 2022, our P&C Segment's statutory combined operating ratio outperformed the composite commercial P&C insurance industry by more than 11 points.

Gross written premiums grew 14% year-over-year to $9.06 billion, and net written premiums grew 11% to $6.21 billion in 2022, establishing new company records for premium production. These results reflect growth in each of the Specialty P&C groups—due primarily to new business opportunities, strong renewal rates and increased exposures. Although drivers of growth vary considerably across our differentiated book of Specialty P&C businesses, the aggregate, year-over-year growth in gross written premiums for 2022—excluding crop insurance—was about half attributable to new business opportunities and change in exposures, and half attributable to rate increases.

Overall average renewal rates increased approximately 5% in 2022. Excluding our workers' compensation business, renewal pricing increased approximately 6%. We have focused on attaining adequate pricing for some time. As of December 31, 2022, we reported overall rate increases across our entire specialty book for 26 straight quarters. We feel very good about the level of rate increases that we continue to achieve and, importantly, the impact of cumulative rate increases over time. These outcomes enable us to stay ahead of prospective loss ratio trends and provide added confidence in the adequacy of our reserves.

Loss cost trends across our P&C businesses remain stable overall. We continue to closely monitor loss activity as well as the impact of social inflation, economic inflation, elevated industry loss experience following heightened catastrophe levels, and rising interest rates. We expect these factors to play a significant role in maintaining firm market conditions throughout 2023, enabling us to create opportunities to grow our businesses where we can meet or exceed targeted returns. We remain prudently reserved based on the types of business we write and how we operate our Specialty P&C businesses.

INVESTMENTS

We view investment management as a core competency and have a highly skilled in-house team of investment professionals. Our $14.51 billion portfolio, which consists primarily of investment-grade fixed maturity securities, provides a relatively predictable, steady stream of income. By following a consistent, opportunistic strategy over many years and changing economic conditions, we have outperformed market indices over the long term and effectively managed portfolio risk.

Net investment income in our property and casualty operations grew 3% in 2022 compared with the previous year and included a return on alternative investments of 13.2% for the full year, compared to the remarkably strong 25.3% earned on alternative investments in 2021. Excluding alternative investments, net investment income in our P&C insurance operations for 2022 increased 29% year over year. The impact of rising interest rates, enhanced by the strategic positioning of our portfolio entering 2022, and higher balances of invested assets contributed to these strong results.

We are very pleased with the double-digit return in our alternative investment portfolio during 2022, particularly amid a challenging investment environment. Alternative investments with underlying real estate exposures have been a key contributor to the performance of this portfolio and have helped differentiate AFG's portfolio of alternative investments from those of our peers. Incorporating the exceptional performance of these investments in 2021 and 2022, the average annual return on alternative investments over the past five calendar years was approximately 14%.

We have remained patient and disciplined in a prolonged low interest rate environment, and we were well positioned as interest rates began to rise in early 2022. Over the course of the year, we extended the duration of our P&C fixed maturity portfolio, including cash and cash equivalents, from approximately two years at December 31, 2021 to approximately three years at December 31, 2022. As of March 2023, we can invest in high quality, medium-duration fixed maturity securities at yields that are significantly higher than the 4.15% yield earned on fixed maturities in our P&C portfolio during the fourth quarter of 2022 and 3.63% earned for the full year 2022. These higher interest rates will produce investment income that contributes meaningfully to our profitability.

08 Creating Long-term Value for Shareholders

We strive to ensure the best use of AFG's capital to create long-term value for our shareholders. We deploy capital intelligently through a combination of dividends, share repurchases, acquisitions and bolt-on or start-up businesses. We also look to grow organically when there is market dislocation or when we identify new markets or develop additional or enhanced products that align with our existing businesses.

We regularly evaluate opportunities that have the potential to produce desired long-term returns. Alignment with our existing businesses and cultural fit are important considerations when we evaluate prospects to expand our Specialty P&C insurance portfolio. We maintain financial leverage and capital adequacy at levels that are prudent for our business and consistent with our commitments to ratings agencies. We also maintain sufficient liquidity to respond to business needs and opportunities.

We are proud of our track record of value creation. Over the course of 2022, we returned $1.23 billion to shareholders in the form of regular and special dividends and share repurchases. Also, we announced a 12.5% increase in our regular quarterly dividend, to an annual rate of $2.52 per share, beginning in October 2022.

SHARE REPURCHASES AND COMMON STOCK DIVIDENDS (in millions)

This marks the 17th consecutive annual dividend increase for AFG. The five-year compounded annual growth in dividends paid to our shareholders was approximately 12.4%, excluding special dividends.

Dividend payments and share repurchases have enabled us to return $5.43 billion to our shareholders over the past five years. In addition to deploying excess capital created from the sale of our annuity business in 2021, we have continued to generate and deploy excess capital through AFG's P&C operations.

Total shareholder return on AFG's Common Stock, which includes the change in price plus dividends, totaled approximately 554% over the 10-year period ending December 31, 2022. This return far exceeded comparable indices, and it serves as a benchmark for evaluating our effectiveness in creating value.

The Lindner family continues to hold a sizable interest in AFG's Common Stock. We believe that our significant family investment, together with the shares held by our management team and employees, serves to align our interests with those of our shareholders.

Fulfilling our Purpose and Positioned for Success

It is both empowering and rewarding to be a market leader in the Specialty P&C industry. We understand the significant role that insurance plays in healthy economies. Providing commercial coverage in specialty niches allows business owners the ability to manage risk so they can operate and grow their businesses—and recover if things don't go as planned.

We have experienced a tremendous amount of change in our business over the past two years as we have focused our efforts exclusively on the Specialty P&C market, emerged from a pandemic, and navigated an uncertain economy. What has remained constant is our remarkable culture, which is grounded in our corporate values that shape how we conduct our business, serve our customers, interact with each other, and support our communities.

Our insureds, producers and employees count on our long-term economic sustainability. They also rely on AFG to keep its promises. We know the decisions we make today will influence our business and our shareholders for years to come. We remain committed to helping build a sustainable future for our customers, agents, investors, and employees.

Our employees are at the core of everything we do. We have worked tirelessly to create an environment where talented people want to work, stay, and build a career. Our 2022 employee survey results indicate that 92% of respondents would recommend AFG as a good place to work, and 95% of respondents said that they understand how their jobs contribute to AFG's strategy and goals.

Conducting organizational talent reviews is just as important to our success as regular strategic business reviews. Effective succession planning has allowed us to fill numerous key leadership positions throughout 2021 and 2022 in response to planned retirements. Our ultimate goal is for everyone at AFG to feel included, respected, safe and empowered to perform at their best. We understand the importance of cultivating specialized knowledge, providing leadership development opportunities, and exemplifying a service-oriented culture. We continue to promote the compelling benefits of a career in insurance as part of our efforts to attract and retain the brightest talent.

We thank God, our talented management team, and our employees for a highly successful 2022. We also thank you, our shareholders, for your investment and confidence.

This autonomous approach allows our P&C businesses to respond to local and specialty market conditions while also benefiting from centralized investment and administrative support.

RATINGS

The ratings assigned by independent agencies such as AM Best and Standard & Poor's are an important competitive factor. Agents and brokers who distribute our Specialty P&C insurance products often use a company's rating as an initial screening measure when considering their clients' needs. Ratings of financial strength or claims-paying ability apply to individual insurance companies. The ratings criteria and designations vary for each agency. The Company's favorable ratings contribute significantly to our strong competitive position in the marketplace.
