Therefore, the reader is advised that the following discussion should be considered in light of the discussion of risks and other factors contained in this Form 10-QSB and in the Company’s other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and that no statements contained in the following discussion or in this Form 10-QSB should be construed as a guarantee or assurance of future performance or future results.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company remains in the development stage. Since inception it has undergone two unsuccessful business combinations which have caused it to incur significant liabilities and have resulted in the accumulation of a substantial deficit during the development stage. As of November 30, 2001, the Company has total current assets of $83,585 and total current liabilities of $115,362, resulting in a current ratio of 0.725.

During the fiscal year ended February 28, 2001, the Company received cash proceeds of $325,000 as part payment of the purchase price for its sale of shares of common stock of Prologic. However, substantially all of those funds were used prior to the end of the fiscal year to pay various outstanding debts and obligations of the Company, primarily including debts and obligations related to its acquisition of HollywoodBroadcasting.com, Inc. As a result, those funds are not available to pay on-going operating expenses. The Company does not currently have the funds necessary to enable it to carry out its business plan. It will need to raise additional capital to pay expenses associated with compliance with its reporting obligations under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and to fund its planned efforts related to investigating the potential acquisition of or combination with an operating entity for which the Company’s status as a reporting company under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 is deemed valuable.

Plan of Operations

The Company’s plan of operations is to reduce its operating expenses to the lowest amount necessary to enable it to continue to comply with its reporting obligations under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and to engage in activities associated with locating and evaluating acquisition candidates. In the event the Company is able to locate a suitable acquisition candidate it plans to proceed with the acquisition as quickly as reasonably possible.

Unless and until a business combination is completed with an acquisition candidate, the Company does not expect to generate revenues. In fact, the Company may also continue to operate at a loss even after completing a business combination, depending upon the performance of the acquired business. Therefore, the Company anticipates that it will continue to incur losses for the current fiscal year.

As a result of the anticipated losses for the fiscal year, the Company will require additional capital in order to meet its cash needs including the costs of compliance with the continuing reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

The Company anticipates that some portion of the funds it will require for payment of on-going expenses may come from payments due under the promissory note it received from Prologic in conjunction with sale of Prologic shares. However, the $25,000 payments which were due on April 12, 2001, July 12, 2001 and October 12, 2001 pursuant to the terms of the promissory note have not yet been received by the Company. The Company is in discussions with Prologic regarding modification of the terms of payment under the promissory note but there is no assurance as to when or whether the Company is likely to receive any portion of the remaining $75,000 due from Prologic.

Another potential source of capital for the Company is the sale of all, or a portion, of its remaining 600,000 shares in Prologic. The market value of such shares is currently difficult to determine because the shares of Prologic are thinly traded and there is not a viable market for purchase and sale of any such shares. Thus, there is no assurance that the Company would be able to sell all, or any significant portion, of its Prologic shares if it elected to do so.

Other than the potential sources of funds described above, no specific commitments to provide additional funds have been made by management or other stockholders. During the second quarter the Company commenced a private placement offering of up to 3,000,000 shares at a price of $0.03 per share. A total of 2,210,000 of such shares were sold during the second and third quarters, resulting in receipt by the Company of a total of $66,300 of gross proceeds. The Company has used and intends to continue to use the offering proceeds both to pay current liabilities and as working capital to be applied to payment of on-going expenses.

On June 11, 2001, the management of the Los Angeles Film School (LAFS) notified the Company of LAFS' claim for reimbursement in the amount of $1,271,000 in expenses which LAFS asserts were incurred on behalf of the Company's consolidated subsidiary, HollywoodBroadcasting.com, Inc. (HBC). The claim consisted of reimbursement for office rent, equipment purchases, and computer lease obligations. As of the date of the claim, HBC had recorded approximately $741,000 for these amounts, which was reflected in the consolidated financial statements of Sunburst IV. HBC management disputes the validity of the additional $530,000 in charges related to HBC. Since June 11, 2001, there have been no additional demands for payment by LAFS.

On September 28, 2001, the Company sold its entire investment in the stock of HBC to WMDC Investments Ltd. for total proceeds of $1,000. The company recorded a gain from the disposition of the subsidiary of $845,150, which consisted primarily of the excess of HBC's liabilities, a substantial portion of which was the obligation to the LAFS, over its existing assets at the date of sale. The disposition has been accounted for as a discontinued operation.

PART II - OTHER INFORMATION

ITEM 2. CHANGES IN SECURITIES AND USE OF PROCEEDS.

During the third quarter, the Company sold a total of 680,000 shares of its common stock in a private placement offering pursuant to an exemption from registration provided by Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933 and Rule 506 of Regulation D promulgated thereunder. This was a continuation of the private placement offering which commenced in the second quarter of the fiscal year. The Company sold a total of 2,210,000 shares in the offering. The shares were offered and sold by the Company acting through its officers and directors, and the offering was limited solely to accredited investors.

The Company received $20,400 from sale of shares during the third quarter and total gross proceeds of $66,300 for the second and third quarters. No underwriting commissions or discounts were paid.

ITEM 6. EXHIBITS AND REPORTS ON FORM 8-K.

(b) No reports on Form 8-K were filed by the Company for the quarter ended November 30, 2001.
