Notes:

- (1) Under Canadian GAAP applicable to junior mining exploration companies, mineral exploration expenditures can be deferred on prospective properties until such time as it is determined that further exploration is not warranted, at which time the property costs are written off. The Registrant has expensed the exploration costs as incurred until December 31 2003, which is consistent with U.S. GAAP, whereby all exploration expenditures are expensed until an independent feasibility study has determined that the property is capable of economic commercial production. Such costs will be deferred from January 2004 until such time as the company determines it if it has economically recoverable resources or until the exploration and development ceases and/or the mineral claims are abandoned.
- (2) Under Canadian GAAP, management incentive shares held in escrow are included in the calculation of loss per share. Under U.S. GAAP, shares held in escrow are excluded from the weighted average number of shares outstanding until such shares are released for trading. 187,500 shares were released from escrow during 2003.

Additionally, Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No.128: Earnings per Share ("SFAS 128") replaces the presentation of primary earnings per share ("EPS") with a presentation of both basic and diluted EPS for all entities with complex capital structures, including a reconciliation of each numerator and denominator. Basic EPS excludes dilutive securities and is computed by dividing income available to common stockholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding for the year. Diluted EPS reflects the potential dilution that could occur if dilutive securities were converted into common stock and is computed similarly to fully diluted EPS pursuant to previous accounting pronouncements. SFAS 128 applies equally to loss per share presentations.

Stock options and warrants outstanding were not included in the computation of diluted loss per share as their inclusion would be antidilutive.

See Item 17 for accompanying consolidated financial statements prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles for further details.

Except as may be otherwise indicated, all dollar amounts are stated in Canadian dollars, the Registrant's functional and reporting currency. The following tables set out the exchange rates, based on the noon buying rates in New York City for cable transfers in foreign currencies as certified for customs purposes by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, for the conversion of Canadian dollars into one United States dollar. The average exchange rates are based on the average of the exchange rates on the last day of the month in such periods. Also included are the average exchange rates for each month during the previous six months.

B. Capitalization and Indebtedness

C. Reasons for the Offer and Use of Proceeds

Not applicable (this is an Annual Report only).

D. Risk Factors

Need for Additional Financing. Notwithstanding what has been raised from a private placement financing in May 2007 and in light of recent court settlements and ongoing legal expenses, further financing will be required to meet its planned commitments for the year ending December 31, 2007. The exploration and development of the Registrant's properties depend on the Registrant's ability to obtain additional financing through joint ventures, debt financing, equity financing or other means. The Registrant is currently pursuing financing opportunities to meet its administration costs. If the Registrant is unable to raise additional capital it will need to curtail its operations and the Registrant may be materially adversely affected.

The Registrant has No History of Earnings and No Foreseeable Earnings. None of the properties in which the Registrant has or may acquire an interest has been determined to be commercially feasible and hence none have any commercial production. The Registrant has no history of profits and has a substantial deficit. The Registrant receives no revenues from production or otherwise and is entirely dependent on raising additional equity and loan financing. The Registrant has paid no dividends on its shares since incorporation and does not anticipate doing so in the foreseeable future. While the Registrant may receive funds from the exercise of outstanding share purchase warrants and stock options there are no assurances that this will occur. While the Registrant may generate additional working capital through joint venture or sale of its properties in whole or in part, there is no assurance that this will be possible..

No Ore; The Registrant has no mineral producing properties, and the Registrant has not demonstrated that any mineralized material on its properties constitutes proven or probable reserves of ore on its properties. Although the mineralized material and mineralized deposit figures included herein have been carefully prepared by the Registrant, or, in some instances have been prepared, reviewed or verified by independent mining experts, these amounts are estimates only and no assurance can be given that any particular level of recovery of copper or other minerals from mineralized material will in fact be realized or that an identified mineralized deposit will ever qualify as a commercially mineable (or viable) reserve. Estimates of mineralized deposits and production costs can also be affected by such factors as metals prices, availability of capital for development, permitting regulations and requirements, weather, environmental factors, unforeseen technical difficulties, unusual or unexpected geological formations and work interruptions. In addition, the grade of mineralization ultimately mined (if any) may differ from that indicated by drilling results. Short term factors relating to mineralized material, such as the need for orderly development or the processing of new or different grades, may also have an adverse effect on mining operations and on the results of operations. There can be no assurance that copper and other minerals recovered in small scale laboratory tests will be duplicated in large scale tests under on-site conditions. Material changes in mineralized material, grades, stripping ratios or recovery rates may affect the economic viability of projects. Mineralized deposits are reported as general indicators of mine life and should not be interpreted as assurances of mine life or of the profitability of current or future operations.

Mineral Prices. Mineral prices are subject to fluctuation. The effect of these factors cannot accurately be predicted. The mining industry in general is intensely competitive and there is no assurance that, even if commercial quantities of mineral resource are discovered, a profitable market will exist for the sale of the same. Factors beyond the control of the Registrant may affect the marketability of any copper or any other materials discovered. The price of copper is affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Registrant, including international economic and political trends, expectations of inflation, currency exchange fluctuations (specifically, Canadian dollars relative to other currencies), interest rates and global or regional consumption patterns, speculative activities and increased production due to improved mining and production methods.

Risks of Development, Construction and Mining Operations. The Registrant's ability to meet production, timing and cost estimates for its properties cannot be assured. Technical considerations, delays in obtaining governmental approvals, inability to obtain financing and other factors could cause delays in developing properties. Such delays could materially adversely affect the Registrant's business, financial condition and results of operation. In addition, while time and cost estimates for exploration, development and construction required at the Registrant's properties in some cases may include contingency factors to allow for unanticipated increases in costs such as materials and labour costs, these estimates could be exceeded. See "Special Note Regarding Forward Looking Statements."

The business of mining is subject to a variety of risks such as cave-ins and other accidents, flooding, environmental hazards, the discharge of toxic chemicals and other hazards. Such occurrences may delay production, increase production costs or result in liability. The Registrant may become subject to liability for hazards which it cannot insure against or which it may elect not to insure against because of premium costs or other reasons. In particular, the Registrant is not insured for environmental liability or earthquake damage.

Environmental Risks. Existing and possible future environmental legislation, regulations and actions could give rise to additional expense, capital expenditures, restrictions and delays in the activities of the Registrant, the extent of which cannot be predicted. Regulatory requirements and environmental standards are subject to constant evaluation and may be significantly increased, which could materially and adversely affect the business of the Registrant or its ability to develop its properties on an economically feasible basis. Before development and production can commence on any of its properties, the Registrant must obtain regulatory and environmental approvals. There is no assurance that such approvals will be obtained on a timely basis or at all. The cost of compliance with changes in governmental regulations has the potential to reduce the profitability of operations or preclude entirely the economic development of a property.

The current or future operations of the Registrant, including development activities and commencement of production on its properties, require permits from various foreign, federal, state and local governmental authorities and such operations are and will be governed by laws and regulations governing prospecting, development, mining, production, exports, taxes, labour standards, occupational health, waste disposal, toxic substances, land use, environmental protection, mine safety and other matters. Companies engaged in the development and operation of mines and related facilities generally experience increased costs and delays in production and other schedules as a result of the need to comply with applicable laws, regulations and permits.

Additional permits and analyses, which may include environmental impact studies conducted before permits can be obtained, may be necessary prior to operation of the properties in which the Registrant has interests and there can be no assurance that the Registrant will be able to obtain or maintain all necessary permits that may be required to commence construction, development or operation of mining facilities at these properties on terms which enable operations to be conducted at economically justifiable costs. See "Description of Property — Regulatory Requirements."

The Registrant may generate potentially hazardous material in its planned mineral extraction process and must operate in accordance with government-imposed environmental standards and regulations. Failure to comply with applicable laws, regulations, and permitting requirements may result in enforcement actions thereunder, including orders issued by regulatory or judicial authorities causing operations to cease or be curtailed, and may include corrective measures requiring capital expenditures, installation of additional equipment, or remedial actions. Parties engaged in mining operations may be required to compensate those suffering loss or damage by reason of the mining activities and may have administrative, civil or criminal fines or penalties imposed for violations of applicable laws or regulations.

Existing or future amendments to laws, regulations and permits governing operations and activities of mining companies, or more stringent implementation thereof, could have a material adverse impact on the Registrant and cause increases in capital expenditures or production costs or reduction in levels of production at producing properties or require abandonment or delays in development of new mining properties.

To the best of the Registrant's knowledge, the Registrant is operating in compliance with all applicable environmental regulations. The Registrant currently is not insured against environmental liabilities. Management believes that, because the Registrant is still in the exploration stage, there is minimal risk of incurring significant environmental liabilities, and further believes that this is in accordance with industry practice. The Registrant intends to obtain insurance for environmental liabilities if and when it becomes engaged in significant mining operations.

The Registrant's Share Price is Volatile. Publicly quoted securities are subject to a relatively high degree of price volatility. It may be anticipated that the quoted market for the Common Shares of the Registrant will be subject to market trends generally, notwithstanding any potential success of the Registrant in creating sales and revenues.

The Registrant's Directors and Officers are Part-Time and Serve as Directors and Officers of Other Companies.

At May 31, 2006, Directors of the Registrant, Jean Jacques Treyvaud and Corby Anderson also serve as officers and/or directors of other resource exploration companies and are engaged and will continue to be engaged in the search for additional resource opportunities on their own behalf and on behalf of other companies, and situations may arise where these directors and officers will be in direct competition with the Registrant. Such potential conflicts, if any, will be dealt with in accordance with the relevant provisions of British Columbia corporate and common law. In order to avoid the possible conflict of interest which may arise between the directors' duties to the Registrant and their duties to the other companies on whose boards they serve, the directors and officers of the Registrant expect that participation in exploration prospects offered to the directors will be allocated between the various companies that they serve on the basis of prudent business judgment and the relative financial abilities and needs of the companies to participate. The success of the Registrant and its ability to continue to carry on operations is dependent upon its ability to retain the services of certain key employees and members of its board of directors.

Likely PFIC Status Has Consequences for U.S. Investors. Potential investors who are U.S. taxpayers should be aware that the Registrant expects to be a passive foreign investment company ("PFIC") for the current fiscal year, and may also have been a PFIC in prior and may also be a PFIC in subsequent years. If the Registrant is a PFIC for any year during a U.S. taxpayer's holding period, then such U.S. taxpayer generally will be required to treat any so-called "excess distribution" received on its common shares, or any gain realized upon a disposition of common shares, as ordinary income and to pay an interest charge on a portion of such distribution or gain, unless the taxpayer makes a qualified electing fund ("QEF") election or a mark-to-market election with respect to the shares of the Registrant. In certain circumstances, the sum of the tax and the interest charge may exceed the amount of the excess distribution received, or the amount of proceeds of disposition realized, by the taxpayer. A U.S. taxpayer who makes a QEF election generally must report on a current basis its share of the Registrant's net capital gain and ordinary earnings for any year in which the Registrant is a PFIC, whether or not the Registrant distributes any amounts to its shareholders. A U.S. taxpayer who makes the mark-to-market election generally must include as ordinary income each year the excess of the fair market value of the common shares over the taxpayer's tax basis therein.

Shares of the Registrant may be Affected Adversely by Penny Stock Rules. The Registrant's stock may be subject to U.S. "Penny Stock" rules which may make the stock more difficult to trade on the open market. The Registrant's common shares have traded on the Canadian Venture Exchange since April 25, 1988. For further details on the market performance of the Registrant's common stock, see "Item 5 Nature of Trading Market." Although the Registrant's common stock trades on the Canadian TSX Venture Exchange or "TSX V", the Registrant's stock may be subject to U.S. "penny stock" rules. A "penny stock" is defined by regulations of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") as an equity security with a market price of less than $5.00 per share. However, an equity security with a market price under $5.00 will not be considered a penny stock if it fits within any of the following exceptions:

- (i) the equity security is listed on NASDAQ or a national securities exchange;
- (ii) the issuer of the equity security has been in continuous operation for LESS than three years, and either has (a) net tangible assets of at least $5,000,000, or (b) average annual revenue of at least $6,000,000; or
- (iii) the issuer of the equity security has been in continuous operation for MORE than three years, and has net tangible assets of at least $2,000,000.

If an investor buys or sells a penny stock, SEC regulations require that the investor receive, prior to the transaction, a disclosure explaining the penny stock market and associated risks. Furthermore, trading in the Registrant's common stock is currently subject to Rule 15c-9 of the Exchange Act, which relates to non-NASDAQ and non-exchange listed securities. Under this rule, broker/dealers who recommend the Registrant's securities to persons other than established customers and accredited investors must make a special written suitability determination for the purchaser and receive the purchaser's written agreement to a transaction prior to sale. Securities are exempt from this rule if their market price is at least $5.00 per share.

Penny stock regulations will tend to reduce market liquidity of the Registrant's common stock, because they limit the broker/dealers' ability to trade, and a purchaser's ability to sell, the stock in the secondary market. The low price of the Registrant's common stock has a negative effect on the amount and percentage of transaction costs paid by individual shareholders. The low price of the Registrant's common stock also limits the Registrant's ability to raise additional capital by issuing additional shares. There are several reasons for these effects. First, the internal policies of certain institutional investors prohibit the purchase of low-priced stocks. Second, many brokerage houses do not permit low-priced stocks to be used as collateral for margin accounts or to be purchased on margin. Third, some brokerage house policies and practices tend to discourage individual brokers from dealing in low-priced stocks.

Finally, broker's commissions on low-priced stocks usually represent a higher percentage of the stock price than commissions on higher priced stocks. As a result, the Registrant's shareholders pay transaction costs that are a higher percentage of their total share value than if the Registrant's share price were substantially higher.

The rules described above concerning penny stocks may adversely affect the market liquidity of the Registrant's securities. The Registrant can provide no assurances concerning the market liquidity of its stock or that its stock will not be subject to "penny stock" rules. For more information about penny stocks, contact the Office of Filings, Information and Consumer Services of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20549, or by telephone at (202) 272-7440.

Legal Proceedings. The Registrant is subject to two legal actions in the Province of British Columbia, Canada. The Registrant believes its claims will succeed before the court. See Item 8 for information regarding current legal proceedings.

Possible Litigation. It is possible as a result of the board's review of the 2002 mineral property acquisition that negotiations may be necessary to resolve any disputes, which may arise between the Registrant and Robak. If these negotiations are not successful litigation could result which may impact the company's outstanding shares or the company's interest in the Getty South Mineral Properties. While litigation generally has an adverse effect on a company, management believes it is premature to suggest a likelihood of litigation or its possible outcome at this time. See Item 7B & 8A.

ITEM 4 INFORMATION ON THE REGISTRANT

A. History and Development of The Registrant

1. The legal name of the Registrant which is subject of the Annual Report on Form 20F is Getty Copper Inc.
2. The Registrant was incorporated on September 23, 1985 under the Canada Business Corporations Act.
3. The registered office of the Registrant in British Columbia is located at 4212 Prospect Road, North Vancouver, British Columbia, V7N 3L5. The head office and principal office of the Registrant in Canada is located at 1000 Austin Avenue, Coquitlam, British Columbia, V3K 3P1.

The Registrant's Common Shares are listed, for trading under the symbol "GTC" on the TSX V.

4. The Registrant was originally incorporated under the name Exxau Minerals Inc., pursuant to the Canada Business Corporations Act on September 23, 1985, with an authorized capital of an unlimited number of common shares without par value. The Registrant was organized for the purpose of engaging in the acquisition and exploration of natural resource properties. The Registrant became a reporting company in British Columbia on April 25, 1988. From 1985 through 1992, the Registrant concentrated its efforts on the acquisition and exploration of mineral resource properties. On September 3, 1992, the Registrant changed its name to Getty Copper Corp.

In early 1992, the Registrant had 8,088,111 Commons Shares issued and outstanding. 3,157,050 of such shares were held in escrow subject to certain restrictions and were initially issued in 1988 in exchange for common shares of Exxau, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Registrant at that time; in exchange for limited partnership units of Exxau, Ltd., Limited Partnership; and in settlement of Exxau, Ltd., Limited Partnership's indebtedness to the shareholders of Exxau, Inc. None of the Registrant's exploration projects undertaken prior to 1992 proved to be commercially viable. All of the Registrant's properties acquired prior to 1992 were written off.

At the end of December 31, 2002 the Registrant had 33,487,313 shares outstanding. Effective March 7, 2003, the Company consolidated its capital on a 1:2 basis. The name of the Registrant was changed from Getty Copper Corp. to Getty Copper Inc. of which 16,743,656 common shares were issued and outstanding at that time.

5. From 1993 to present the Registrant's mineral exploration has been focused on its mineral properties located in the Highland Valley, British Columbia, Canada.

6. The Registrant's principal capital expenditures (there have been no material divestitures) over the three fiscal years ended December 31, 2006 are as follows:

History of Getty North Property:

Robak Industries Ltd. ("Robak"), a company owned and controlled by John Lepinski, and Masco Capital Inc. ("Masco"), a company controlled by John Lepinski, began negotiations in 1992 to acquire control of the Registrant in an effort to access the capital markets to develop its Getty North Property. The Registrant had no properties under exploration or development at that time.

In May 1993, the Registrant, pursuant to an arm's length purchase and sale agreement to acquire the Getty North Property, issued 5,000,000 of its Common Shares to Robak and 5,000,000 of its Common Shares to Masco. See "Interests of Management in Certain Transactions." The issuance of the 10,000,000 Common Shares resulted in a change in control of the Registrant.

The Registrant acquired the Getty North Property from Robak and Masco pursuant to an Agreement of Purchase and Sale dated June 30, 1992, as amended September 30, 1992, subject to a 1.5% net smelter return royalty reserved in favour of Robak. The Registrant issued into escrow 5,000,000 Common Shares to Robak and 5,000,000 Common Shares to Masco as consideration for the property, subject to the Registrant obtaining an Economic Ore Valuation on the Getty North Property establishing a minimum value of Cdn $2,304,246 and approval by the Canadian Venture Exchange ("CDNX"). The shares were released to Robak and Masco from escrow after the Registrant obtained the required Economic Ore Valuation prepared by KHA Resource Modelling Inc. and approval from the CDNX on May 11, 1999. After the release of the escrow shares, title to the Getty North Property fully vested in the Company.

There are no old or existing mines on the Getty North Property.

History of Getty South Property, Getty Central Property, Getty Southwest, Getty Central Property:

In addition to the Getty Copper North Property, and all Getty Copper Highland Valley Claims, the Registrant subsequently acquired joint venture agreements to earn a 50% interest in the Getty South Property, the Getty Central Property, the Getty Southwest Property, and in the Transvaal Property (collectively, the "Getty Copper Project" or the "Getty Copper Highland Valley Project"). All of the Mineral Properties previously noted are subject to 1.5% net smelter royalties and the Getty South, Getty Central, Getty Southwest and the Transvaal properties were subject to certain minimum exploration and development requirements. As a consequence of a Mineral Property Interest Sale Agreement dated November 8, 2002 (See Item 7) the Registrant purchased 100% of the Getty Central and Getty Southwest claims and 50% of the Getty South claims See "Description of Property." Since 1992, the Registrant has focused its efforts and resources on the acquisition and the exploration of the Getty Copper Project. See "Description of Property - The Getty Highland Valley Project." The Registrant has no subsidiaries.

On March 7, 2003 the "TSX V" accepted for filing documentation a mineral property agreement dated effectively November 8, 2002 between the Registrant and Robak Industries Ltd. ("Robak"), by which Robak has agreed to sell 100% interest in each of the Getty Central and the Getty Southwest and a 50% interest in the Getty South properties (the "New Getty Properties") in consideration for 6 million Registrant shares (post-consolidation) plus the below noted NSR and carried interest obligation. The Registrant has also agreed to pay 100% of the cost to place the Getty South property into production, and is entitled to recover "all costs (incurred by Getty)," from 80% of production revenue (and thereafter the Registrant and Robak shall share net revenue 50:50) Robak will also retain a 1.5% NSR in all of the Getty Properties including the New Getty Properties. The New Getty Properties are subject of a Valuation and Fairness opinion prepared by Ross Glanville and Associates Ltd. In October 2002 and a Technical Report prepared by W.J. McMillan prepared in December 2002. The Valuation Report and the Technical Report have been filed on the Canadian securities regulatory website at www.SEDAR.com. (See also Item 7) Prior to the November 8, 2002 agreement described above, the Registrant was party to an option and joint venture agreement to earn a 50% interest in the Getty South Property from Robak and Masco pursuant to an Agreement dated November 8, 1995, as amended August 14, 1996 (the "Getty South Agreement"), subject to a 1.5% net smelter returns royalty reserved in favour of Robak. The consideration was $10; reimbursement of $63,300 for certain costs incurred by Robak in acquiring and maintaining the claims in good standing; and a commitment to (a) incur the first $5,100,000 of exploration and development work on the claims, (b) complete a feasibility report prepared by a reputable engineer in accordance with industry practice on the claims and (c) place the claims in commercial production on or before December 31, 2002. The Getty South Agreement was superseded by the November 8, 2002 agreement.

Until superseded by the November 8, 2002 agreement, the Registrant had an option agreement to earn a 50% interest in the Getty Central Property from Robak Industries Ltd. and Masco Capital Inc. pursuant to an Agreement dated November 8, 1995, as amended August 14, 1996 (the "Getty Central Agreement"), subject to a 1.5% net smelter returns royalty reserved in favour of Robak. The consideration was $10; reimbursement of $9,300 for certain costs incurred by Robak in acquiring and maintaining the claims in good standing; and a commitment to (a) incur the first $750,000 of exploration and development work on the claims, (b) complete a feasibility report prepared by a reputable engineer in accordance with industry practice on the claims and (c) to place the claims in commercial production on or before December 31, 2002.

Until superseded by the November 8, 2002 agreement, the Registrant also had a an option agreement to earn a 50% interest in the Getty Southwest Property from Robak Industries Ltd. and Masco Capital Inc. pursuant to an Agreement dated November 8, 1995, as amended August 14, 1996 (the "Getty Southwest Agreement"), subject to a 1.5% net smelter returns royalty reserved in favour of Robak. The consideration was $10; reimbursement of $13,300 for certain costs incurred by Robak in acquiring and maintaining the claims in good standing; and a commitment (a) to incur the first $1,100,000 of exploration and development work on the claims, (b) complete a feasibility report prepared by a reputable engineer in accordance with industry practice on the claims and (c) a commitment to place claims in commercial product on or before December 31, 2002.

In December 2004, Highland Valley Copper ("HVC") terminated its participation in a joint venture signed on December 19, 2003.

HVC spent $2.3 million dollars on line cutting, induced polarization surveys and diamond drilling. Only intrusive rocks and structures surrounding the Transvaal Occurrence returned significant copper mineralization and accompanying alteration. Here sub economic copper mineralization within hydrobrecciated Guichon and Bethlehem intrusive were encountered. The Cinder hill area contains a large tertiary volcanic center and is deeply overburdened covered. The Glossie Copper Occurrence was not tested during this program. Only weakly anomalous copper and zinc mineralization was encountered within silicified and metasomatized Nicola volcanics overlying weakly altered intrusives in the north Valley IP anomaly. However the drilling here was very wide spaced and the Registrant will carefully review this work in relation to earlier exploration results to determine if additional untested targets exist in this area. The Iron sulphide mineralized tertiary volcanics intersected in hole 2004-16 returned only very weakly anomalous copper.

B. Business Overview

The Registrant is a natural resource company engaged in the acquisition and exploration of natural resource properties. The Registrant has an interest in several resource properties in Highland Valley, British Columbia, Canada and intends to seek and acquire additional properties worthy of exploration and development. The Highland Valley area is a historic copper producing area, and the Registrant's principal properties are in this mineralized area. The Registrant's long term objective is to develop and place its Getty Copper Project properties into commercial production. The Registrant's properties cover approximately 210 sq. km. (84 sq. miles) of contiguous claims in the Kamloops Mining Division of British Columbia, Canada. The Registrant's properties are currently in the exploration stage of development, and the Registrant's short term plans are to continue exploration activities to determine if sufficient mineralization exists to justify a feasibility study in respect of establishing parameters for possible future commercial production. In 2005, the Registrant's commissioned a metallurgy test program of its copper sulphide and copper oxide samples at SGS Lakefield Research Limited in Lakefield, Ontario. The test program determined the leach parameters and optimum chemistry for leaching copper from the Registrant's resource samples which had been forwarded to Lakefield. The second part of the program, continuing into 2006 confirmed the solvent extraction electrowinning (SX-EW) parameters. This was a precondition of the express corporate goal of putting the Registrant's copper deposits into production.

C. Organizational Structure

The Registrant is based in British Columbia, Canada. The Registrant operates directly and has no material subsidiaries.

D. Property, Plants and Equipment

The registrant owns land and building in Logan Lake, British Columbia. This property is encumbered by a first mortgage in the amount of $91,987.24 as of May 1, 2007. These premises are used for core storage, field offices and vehicle storage. For details of the Registrant's mineral properties, see Getty Copper Project below.

The Getty Copper Project

The Getty Copper Highland Valley Project consists of certain mineral interests in the following contiguous claim groups (collectively, the “Properties”) each located in the Highland Valley, a historic copper producing area of the Kamloops Mining Division in British Columbia (the “Highland Valley”). A 1.5% NRS royalty interest payable to Robak Industries Ltd. (owned by a related party see item 7)

There are no existing mines on the Registrant's Properties, and the Registrant has no mineral producing properties at this time. All of the Registrant's properties are exploration projects, and there is no assurance that a commercially viable deposit exists in any such properties until further exploration work and a comprehensive evaluation based upon unit cost, grade, tonnage recoveries and other factors conclude economic feasibility.

The following disclosure regarding accessibility, climate, local resources, infrastructure and physiography, history, geological setting, sampling and security of samples is common to all of the Properties. Disclosure respecting exploration, drilling, mineral resource and exploration and development for each of the individual properties is included below.

Accessibility, Climate, Local Resources, Infrastructure and Physiography

The Properties are easily accessible by the Bose Lake road, which branches off 10 kilometres from the property from the paved Bethlehem Mine road. Forestry and drill roads provide access to the claims. Logan Lake, the closest support community, is about 15 kilometres east of the Getty Copper Highland Valley Project.

The nearest domestic airport is located in Kamloops about an hour drive from the south end of the Properties. The major city of Vancouver, B.C. situated approximately 330 kilometres to the southwest by the Coquihalla Highway, provides access to an international airport and seaport.

The Properties are located on and around Forge Mountain at an elevation between 1,450 to 1,900 metres. The topographic relief is moderate and the surface is covered by glacial deposits cut by recent stream channels. Small topographic highs are immediately underlain by glacial drift and Tertiary volcanic cover.

The climate is characteristic of the "dry belt" of the B.C. Interior Plateau and precipitation is about 23 cm. annually. The seasonal climate conditions are generally moderate. Severe weather conditions can occur for isolated periods in the winter, although the snowfall is usually moderate and the summer temperatures are cool to warm and mean temperatures are 14.1°C in July and -6.6°C in January, respectively. Mining activities are able to continue year round.

The Registrant believes that an established mining infrastructure and a skilled labour force are available in the Highland Valley area, as the region has a history of porphyry copper mining. The water supply in the region is limited; however, a previous operator in the Highland Valley area obtained a water supply for its mining operations from a subsurface basin. A 500 kva power line transverses the property and telephone service is available in Logan Lake and at nearby mines. The Registrant believes that all necessary mining infrastructure such as water, power and access will be available at the anticipated future mine sites.

The town of Logan Lake is the nearest municipality to the Properties and is the current location of the Registrant's site office. Logan Lake has a population of approximately 2,300. It is linked to Vancouver, 330 kilometres to the southwest, via the Coquihalla Highway.

History

The history of the Highland Valley copper district dates back to approximately 1896, when it was explored by prospecting, panning, trenching and drifting near high grade copper occurrences.

The following table is a breakdown of the Registrant's deferred exploration and development costs on the Getty Copper Project to the dates indicated:

Geological Setting

The Getty Highland Valley Project mineral tenure is comprised of 210 square kms of contiguous mineral claims located in the Highland Valley, British Columbia's premier copper producing area, approximately 200 km northeast of Vancouver (Figure 1). The local area contains excellent transportation and power infrastructure, a large pool of experienced mining and support personnel and a mining based economy.

The Registrant's mineral tenure contains favourable Guichon Creek Batholith geology and adjoins to the south the large Cu-Mo mining and milling operations of the Highland Valley Copper Partnership (HVC) owned by Teck Cominco (97.5%) and Highmont Mining (2.5%).

The Registrant's claims span the entire width of favourable Guichon Creek Batholith geology immediately to the north of HVC's holdings. The Registrant's most advanced projects, the Getty North deposit, the Getty South deposit are located in the eastern part of the property in the same geological and structural setting as the Bethlehem deposits located five to eight km to the south. The large Glossie zone and North Valley zone induced polarization anomalies discovered in the central and western portions of the property are in a different geological setting.

Sampling and Analysis

Drill core is mechanically split; one half of which is submitted for preparation and analysis. The other half is catalogued and stored on the site.

All Assays and analyses are performed by Eco-Tech Laboratories in Kamloops, British Columbia where they store the samples they test for future reference.

Security of Samples

Drill core samples are stored in the Registrant office-warehouse in a locked and alarmed warehouse.

Exploration

During 2004, Highland Valley Copper completed $2.3 million dollars on line cutting, induced polarization surveys and diamond drilling. The areas explored were the Transvaal, Glossie and Getty northwest targets. Only intrusive rocks and structures surrounding the Transvaal Occurrence returned significant copper mineralization and accompanying alteration. Here sub economic copper mineralization within hydrobrecciated Guichon and Bethlehem intrusive were encountered. The Cinder hill area contains a large tertiary volcanic center and is deeply overburdened covered. The Glossie Copper Occurrence was not tested during this program. Only weakly anomalous copper and zinc mineralization encountered within silicified and metasomatized Nicola volcanics overlying weakly altered intrusives in the north Valley IP anomaly were encountered. However the drilling here was very wide spaced and the Registrant will carefully review this work in relation to earlier exploration results to determine if additional untested targets exist in this area. The iron sulphide mineralized tertiary volcanics were intersected but returned only very weakly anomalous copper.

Planned exploration for 2007

An exploration program is planned, on the Getty properties. These programs will be conducted under the British Columbia “Best Practices Exploration Guidelines” under the direction of a suitable qualified Professional Geoscientist or Engineer registered with Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of British Columbia. The details of this program are still subject to board approval and financing.

Prior to the end of the year, the Registrant intends, subject to financing, to commission a preliminary feasibility study to investigate the viability of proceeding to the production phase.

(a) Getty North Property

Exploration

Prior to the acquisition of the Getty North Property by the Registrant from Robak and Masco, Robak held the Getty North Property for approximately two decades. During that period, in excess of $350,000 was spent on exploration work on the property consisting of silt and soil sampling, trenching and bulk sampling. Since the date of the Registrant’s acquisition of the Getty North Property to December 31, 2006, the Registrant has completed $8,589,803 of exploration work on the property, consisting of aerial photographic surveys and base map production, diamond drilling, geological mapping, assaying, induced polarization and magnetics geophysical surveys, soil geochemical surveys, metallurgical testing, and resource calculations.

The following table is a brief summary of documented drilling:

Also in 2004, the Registrant completed $979,963 of exploration in the Getty North area. A 980 metric tonne bulk sample of oxidized material was removed from the Getty North deposit and deposited near the Getty South deposit. A 10 hole diamond drill program tested areas southeast of the Getty North deposit with only locally anomalous copper results being obtained. A combined line cutting, induced polarization, multielement geochemical soil and drilling program was carried out on the Getty North Extension target immediately northeast of the Getty North deposit. The surveys produced weak copper, lead, gold, and molybdenum anomalies and weak to moderate IP anomalies that when drilled returned locally weakly anomalous copper in altered and sheared intrusive rocks.

In 1997, the Registrant undertook a $3 million program of drilling and sampling on the Getty North Property. As of December 31, 1997, the Registrant had completed 64 diamond drill holes totaling 17,444.5 metres (57,235.4 ft). These holes were systematically drilled on sections 30 metres apart to provide the density of data points required for an independent mineral deposit update. The Registrant has not defined or delineated any proven or probable reserves on the Getty North Property

Mr. A. Frye of KHA Resource Modelling Inc. independently performed a mineral deposit estimation using computerized 3D geological and block deposit models. The resource estimates generated from this block model are detailed in the following section on Mineralization. These 1997 calculations were made prior to implementation of National Instrument 43-101. They are historical estimates only and should not be relied upon, however they were made by experienced professionals using standard methods appropriate for the time.

In December 1997, the Registrant retained Bateman Engineering Inc. of Denver, Colorado ("Bateman") to perform a pre-feasibility study for the oxidized part of the Getty North Deposit and the proposed Getty North Copper Plant. Bateman, in May 1998, using the portions of the KHA database outlined an approximately 8.56 million tonne potentially economic surface exposed and near surface open pit mineralized body comprising 7.2 million tonnes rock grading 0.47% oxide copper and 1.36 million tonnes grading 0.50% of sulphide copper, at a strip ratio of 0.8 to 1 with a potential mine life of 7 years. These estimates are historical only and should not be relied upon as they do not meet current provisions of the Canadian Institute of Mining as referenced in Canadian Securities Administrators National Instrument 43-101. Bateman recommended that the Registrant conduct a full feasibility for the Getty North Oxide Deposit. Bateman also recommended that the Registrant conduct (prior to or during the full feasibility study) further leach and assay comparison tests that might increase the mineable mineral deposit estimates.

Mineral speciation studies and petrographic studies were carried out in 2001 by G& T Metallurgical Services Ltd. and R.C. Wells, P.Eng on five samples from the oxidized part of the Getty North Deposit. The principal objective of this work was to identify and quantify the various copper and gangue minerals present in the samples as part of the on-going metallurgical leach tests of the oxide deposit. These studies indicated that secondary (oxide) copper minerals account for the bulk of the copper present in the samples and that calcite contents are generally trace up to a maximum of 1% in one sample.

The Registrant, also commissioned an Interim Scoping Study by Innovat Limited under the supervision of D.A. Mackie, P.Eng to investigate alternatives to the proposed Heap Leach SX/EW Cathode Copper plant suggested by Bateman Engineering Inc., for the Getty North Oxide Deposit in their Feasibility Outlook report of 1998. The scoping study examined Continuous Vat Leach as an alternative to the SX/EW Heap Leach process and the production of Copper Sulphate Crystals and two different variations of Copper Powder Production Plants, in addition to Cathode Copper. Based on this preliminary study and cursory market information the production of Copper Powder appears to generate the best economics.

The Registrant concluded a program of hydrological baseline studies and data collection in the area of the proposed Getty North Oxide Mine and Processing Plant that had been carried out on a continuing basis since 1998 by M. Miles and Associates Ltd.

The Registrant commissioned W.J. McMillan, Ph.D., P.Eng. to complete a Canadian Securities Administrators National Instrument 43-101 compliant Report which was completed February 27, 2003 on the Getty Copper Property. He reviewed all pertinent documentation and described his observations where applicable and appropriate on all portions of the property including the Getty North and other deposits, including earlier resource calculations and economic evaluations completed by independent qualified professional engineers. Although accepted by the TSX Venture Exchange as a NI 43-101 compliant technical report, the BC Securities Commission has advised the Registrant that it does not consider the McMillan Report as NI 43-101 compliant. The Registrant has commissioned a NI 43-101 compliant resource estimate for Getty North and its completion is anticipated before the end of quarter three.

Mineralization

The Getty North deposit is situated in the north central portion of the Guichon Batholith, an area the Registrant believes has a favourable structural trend of copper deposits. The Registrant believes the deposit is predominantly hosted by quartz diorite of the Guichon variety cut by dykes and breccia zones. Sericite, chlorite and carbonate associated with copper mineralization overprint the protolith mineral assemblage.

Cross sections 30 meters apart based on extensive drilling (132 holes [1993 to 1997] used in the resource calculation, and over 200 holes used in geological interpretation) show that the mineralization occurs in a shape similar to an inverted “horseshoe” containing a central zone of lower grade mineralization. The Getty North deposit displays continuity in a north northwest direction for a distance of at least 300 metres, ranging from 50 to over 150 meters wide in an east northeast-west southwest direction. Intrusive contacts and faulting, as seen in drill core, both control and displace mineralization, and dip steeply to the southwest.

In the central and north portions of the deposit a well-developed zone of oxidation occurs to a depth of more than 100 metres. In this area, oxidation of the primary sulphides is generally complete. Copper mineralization in the oxidized zone consists of chrysocolla, malachite, azurite, cuprite, copper manganese oxides, native copper and chalcocite. Primary sulphides generally occur below the oxidized zone and consist of, in order of abundance, pyrite, chalcopyrite, bornite, chalcocite and molybdenite.

Approximately 15% of the Getty North deposit is covered by unmineralized tertiary volcanic rock, varying in thickness from 2 metres to 70 metres.

Reserves

There are no resources described as “mineral reserves” on the Getty North Deposit.

Non-Reserves (Resources)

The following “drill-indicated” and “drill-inferred” “mineral resource” for the Getty North Deposit was calculated by KHA Resource Modelling Inc. on December 17, 1997, and approved as valid by Bateman Engineering Inc. of Arizona (1998) and Innovat Ltd. (2001) of Ontario for their pre feasibility reports to the company. The KHA calculations are based on a computer generated block model without any allowance for pit design or mining dilution. The Registrant believes the deposit remains open to expansion at depth and possibly to the east where a large favourable anomaly has been identified and requires drill testing. These historical estimates should not be relied upon since these following resource calculations were made prior to the implementation of the Canadian National Instrument 43-101 requirements and guidelines. These resource calculations were made by credible and experienced independent consultants following standard practices of the time.

Note 1 Cautionary Note to U.S. Investors concerning estimates of Indicated Resources This section uses the terms “Indicated Resources”, we advise U.S. investors that while this term is recognized and required by Canadian Regulations, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not. U.S Investors are cautioned not to assume that any part or all of mineral deposits in this category will ever be converted into reserves.

Getty North Deposit – Indicated Resource
		Total Resource (Millions of tonnes)	Grade (% Cu)
Oxide Zone	0.2% copper cutoff	6.27	0.53
Sulphide Zone	0.2% copper cutoff	25.6 5	0.41

Mineralized material or deposit is a mineralized body which has been delineated by appropriate drilling and/or underground sampling to support a sufficient tonnage of average grade of metals. Such deposits do not qualify as a reserve until a comprehensive evaluation, based upon unit cost, grade, tonnage recoveries and other factors, concludes economic feasibility.

Note 2 Cautionary Note to U.S. Investors concerning estimates of Inferred Resources. This Section uses the terms “Inferred Resources”, we advise U.S. Investors that while this term is recognized in Canada and required by Canadian Regulations, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not recognize it. “Inferred Resources” have a great amount of uncertainty as to their existence, and great uncertainty as to their economic and legal feasibility. It cannot be assumed that all or any part of an inferred mineral resource will ever be upgraded to a higher category. Under Canadian rules, estimates of Inferred Mineral Resources may not form the basis of feasibility or pre-feasibility studies. U.S. investors are cautioned not to assume that part or all of an Inferred Resource exists, or is economically or legally mineable.

Getty North Deposit – Inferred Resources
		Total Resource (Millions of tonnes)	Grade (% Cu)
Oxide Zone	0.2% copper cutoff	4.29	0.514
Sulphide Zone	0.2% copper cutoff	7.82	0.332

The 0.2% copper cutoff is considered a realistic figure for the Highland Valley area of British Columbia where power and water costs are lower, and mechanical efficiencies are higher than global averages for mines of similar size, grade, copper speciation and economic situation. Bateman Engineering Inc. of Arizona, in 1998 was commissioned to complete a “Feasibility Outlook” report on the Getty north deposit. Bateman calculated (for the oxide resource only), using a 1 to 1 waste to ore open pit stripping ratio, copper price of $US 0.85, copper recovery of 75%, and a combined mining, processing and administration cost of $4.02 per tonne of ore processed an “incremental cutoff” of 0.18% copper. The Registrants’ estimate of the three year average price of copper is at least $US 1.50 per pound ($US 2.64 per kilogram), considerably higher than the figure used in Batemans’ economic evaluation.

2005 Exploration Expenditures

In 2005, the Registrant completed $749,562 of exploration and metallurgy in the Getty North area. A 980 metric tonne bulk sample of oxidized material was removed from the Getty North deposit and deposited near the Getty South deposit. A 10-hole diamond drill program initiated in 2004, tested areas southeast of the Getty North deposit with only locally anomalous copper results being obtained. A combined line cutting, induced polarization, multielement geochemical soil and drilling program was carried out on the Getty North Extension target immediately northeast of the Getty North deposit. The surveys produced weak copper, lead, gold, and molybdenum anomalies and weak to moderate IP anomalies that when drilled returned locally weakly anomalous copper in altered and sheared intrusive rocks.

The Registrant, in 2005, embarked on a metallurgy test program of its copper sulphide and copper oxide samples at SGS Lakefield Research Limited in Lakefield, Ontario. The test program determined the leach parameters and optimum chemistry for leaching copper from Getty’s resource samples which have been forwarded to Lakefield. Additionally the Registrant contracted with Innovat Limited of Ontario to test the viability of using Innovat’s proprietary continuous vat leaching system to extract copper from the samples provided to Lakefield.. The pilot plant testing confirmed the viability of the Innovat continuous vat leaching system and the Issuer has negotiated a non-exclusive licence to commercially exploit the technology.

(b) Getty South Property

The Getty South Property is in the early exploration stage and there is insufficient data to establish whether proven or probable reserves exist on the property. An extensive program of closely spaced definition drilling is required to test the property to the drill indicated level of confidence before a meaningful mineral resource estimate can be performed.

No operational mines exist on the Getty South Property, and any existing historical workings have been sealed as required under British Columbia law.

Exploration History

The property was acquired by Trojan Exploration Limited in 1955 and was explored by Trojan Consolidated Mines Limited by surface and underground methods. Recovery of copper values by diamond drilling at that time was poor. Approximately one million dollars was spent on exploration during the period 1955 to 1973. The following work was performed by previous operators before the Registrant acquired the property: Surface diamond drilling - 15,556 metres; Underground diamond drilling - 1,158 metres; Percussion drilling - 319 metres; Underground drifting - 1,719 metres; Two compartment shaft - 49.1 metres; and Surface trenching - 396 metres.

The Getty South Property is in the early stages of exploration, and based on the exploration to-date, the Registrant has not defined or delineated any proven or indicated reserves on the Getty South Property. In 1992, an independent consultant performed a mineral deposit estimate based on physical work completed on the Getty South Property prior to the Registrant's acquisition of the property. In 1996, the Registrant undertook a thirteen diamond drill-hole program aggregating 3236 meters of drilling that provided assay results that were lower than anticipated, and the Registrant has determined that the drilling completed to date is not reliable for determining grade.

There is no assurance that a commercially viable ore deposit (if any) exists on the Getty South Property until further exploration work and a comprehensive evaluation based upon unit cost, grade, tonnage recoveries and other factors conclude economic feasibility.

As part of a systematic assessment of the grade and extent of near-surface oxide/sulphide-copper mineralization at the Getty South deposit, a program of surface trenching consisting of 13 trenches totaling approximately 1,572 metres in aggregate length was completed as of December 31, 1997. The assay results to-date indicate that significant concentrations of copper, mostly as leachable, oxide copper, occur over an area measuring approximately 240 metres by 40 metres. Additionally, significant results were obtained approximately 200 metres to the south.

The Registrant has completed initial exploration work of its own on the Getty South Property, including aerial photographic surveys and base map production, drilling, trenching, assaying, geophysical, geochemical and geological work, at a cost of $920,130 to December 31, 2006.

On June 18, 2007 Vector Engineering of Sacramento, California delivered a NI 43-101 compliant technical report on the Getty South deposit. The report discloses an inferred resource estimate of 28.16 million tonnes, having a grade of 0.47% copper at a cut off grade of 0.20% copper.

Mineralization

The Getty South deposit is hosted within a breccia zone measuring approximately 600 metres from north to south, and 250 metres in width, which intrudes Guichon variety quartz diorite of the Guichon Creek Batholith. This breccia body is one of several which occur within a well-defined northerly trending structural zone of faulting and minor intrusions (dykes) that extends for 9 kilometres from the JA deposit through the Bethlehem orebodies and on through to the Getty North deposit. The breccia body consists of fragments of quartz diorite and dacite porphyry set in a matrix of finely broken and crushed rock and secondary minerals such as quartz and tourmaline. Mineralization in the form of specular hematite, chalcopyrite and secondary copper minerals, such as malachite, azurite, chrysocolla, cuprite and native copper occurs mostly between rock fragments and along structurally controlled veinlets and crush zones.

Drilling

The Getty South deposit has been less thoroughly drill tested than the Getty North deposit, but has been explored by one underground level comprising a 45 metre shaft, approximately 1,775 metres of drifting and crosscutting and approximately 1,477 metres of underground diamond and percussion drilling. Although 15,550 metres of surface drilling were completed by previous operators, it is reportedly of poor quality and thus is not a reliable base for calculating the copper mineral resource. During 1996, the Registrant completed an initial 13 hole reconnaissance large diameter diamond drilling program totaling 3,236.2 metres that returned copper results lower than anticipated. Previous engineering reports concluded that diamond drilling results based on poor recovery have proven unreliable when compared with underground development sampling, and that diamond and percussion drilling results to date do not match the overall grades returned from the currently interpreted areas of mineralization from the underground muck and bulk samples. Closely spaced large diameter diamond or reverse-circulation (RC) drilling has been recommended as a better method to determine the grade of near surface mineralization in the breccia deposit. Reopening the underground workings are being considered.

Underground development

The Getty South has been developed by a 45 meter (150 foot) vertical shaft and over 1500 meters of horizontal development and at least one raise. Development took place in at least four campaigns from 1957 to 1974. Development took place primarily to test the highest grade known mineralized zones. A resource estimate is being completed based primarily on the muck and bulk sample grades with additional data from mineralized and geological information derived from the drilling and 1997 trenching results.

Planned Exploration for 2007.

Subject to financing and board approval, a budget of $250,000 has been proposed to complete a recommended initial trenching and drilling program on the Getty South Deposit.

(c) Getty Central Property

The Registrant has completed initial exploration work of its own on the Getty Central, including aerial photographic surveys and base map production, geochemical soil sampling, prospecting, geophysical surveys and geological work, at costs to December 31, 2006 of $57,411 for the Getty Central Property.

Exploration

The Getty Central Property is in the early exploration stage, and there is insufficient data to establish whether proven or probable reserves exist on the property. There are no existing mines on the property. No exploration expenditures are planned in 2007

d) Getty Southwest Property

Exploration

The Registrant has completed initial exploration work of its own on the Southwest Property including aerial photographic surveys and base map production, geochemical soil sampling, prospecting, geophysical surveys and geological work, at costs to December 31, 2006 of $389,204.

The Getty Southwest Property is in the early exploration stage, and there is insufficient data to establish whether proven or probable reserves exist on the property. There are no existing mines on the property. No exploration expenditures are planned in 2007

Drilling

In 2004, HVC completed 6 diamond drill holes following up geological and IP targets. No potentially economic mineralization was encountered. Part of a large post mineral Eocene volcanic center was defined.

(e) Getty Northwest Property

The Getty Northwest Property is comprised of 142 mineral claims acquired by the Registrant by staking. These claims are subject to a 1.5% net smelter return royalty reserved in favour of Robak.

The Getty Northwest Property is in the early exploration stage, and there is insufficient data to establish whether proven or probable reserves exist on the property. There are no existing mines on the property. The Registrant has not planned any exploration on the property for 2007, and any plans to develop a new mine on the property would be based on a full-scale feasibility study, if any, to determine the commercial feasibility of a mining operation on the property.

Exploration History

The Registrant has completed initial exploration work of its own on the Getty Northwest Property, including aerial photographic surveys and base map production, drilling, geochemical soil sampling, prospecting, geophysical surveys and geological mapping, at a cost to December 31, 2006 of $1,753,950. HVC in 2004 completed a large line cutting and IP program over the area.

Drilling

During 1996, one exploratory diamond drill hole 254.4 metres (834 ft) was drilled, but no significant results were obtained. In 2004, HVC completed eight diamond drill holes following up the IP program. Only locally weakly anomalous copper and zinc results were obtained usually in hornfelsed volcanic rocks overlying the intrusive rocks. HVC also completed one drill hole 500 meters east of the Glossie mineral occurrence in which a thick sequence of Eocene volcanics was intersected. Pyritized sections returned only very weakly anomalous gold.

There is no assurance that a commercially viable ore deposit exists on the Getty Northwest Property until further exploration work and a comprehensive evaluation based upon unit cost, grade, recoveries and other factors conclude economic feasibility.

Planned Exploration for 2007

No exploration expenditures are planned in 2007

ITEM 5 Operating and financial review and prospects

Critical Accounting Policies

Under Canadian generally accepted accounting principles, corporate/administrative expenses are written off yearly and exploration and property acquisition expenses deferred (or capitalized). Such acquisition and exploration costs are written off where the Registrant seeks to abandon a property due to exploration program results which appear to warrant abandonment or when it appears the deferred costs may not be recoverable. Acquisition costs and exploration expenditures are financed through a combination of cash and common share issuances.

Overview

The Registrant is currently an expenditure-based organization whose business strategy is to acquire, explore and conduct detailed engineering and economic analysis of mineral deposits which have large tonnage and multi-year operation potential. None of the Registrant's currently held or to be acquired mineral deposits currently hosts a mineral resource that can be said to be economic at current metals prices.

The Registrant's financial statements are prepared on the basis that it will continue as a going concern. Given that the Registrant has no source of significant revenue this assumption is always subject to the further assumption that there will continue to be investment interest in funding large tonnage metal deposits which are not known to be economic in the current environment. The Registrant can give no assurance that it will continue to be able to raise sufficient funds and should it be unable to continue to do so, may be unable to realize on the carrying value of its resource project and the net realizable value could be materially less than the Registrant's liabilities with a potential for total loss to the Registrant shareholders.

The Registrant does not believe that it is significantly impacted by the effects of inflation and the Canadian dollar has fluctuated in a relatively narrow band to the United States dollar (US$1.00: Cdn$1.10 to $1.27) during these three years. The Registrant has not been significantly affected by government economic, fiscal, monetary or political policies and the outlook for the Registrant's assets primarily relate to the outlook for gold and copper. For information relating to the historical prices for copper and gold, see "Trend Information" below.

Operating Results – Fiscal 2006 Compared with Fiscal 2005

At December 31, 2006, the registrant had working capital deficit of $329,618 compared to working capital of $320,311 at December 31, 2005. The decrease in working capital can be attributed directly to expenditure paid during the year. The Registrant has no source of income other than interest earned on funds held in term deposits and rent received for a portion of the Logan Lake office. Current liabilities at December 31, 2006 increased to $871,256 from $536,885 at December 31, 2005, due to recognizing the mortgage payable of $92,921 as current liability as it was up for renewal on October 1, 2007. Subsequent to the year-end the registrant renewed the mortgage with the same terms (7.5% per annum, monthly payments of $756), and is repayable on October 1, 2012. Also two private placements were completed during the year 2006, whereby the company issued 15 million units for cash, 10 million at $0.11 and 5 million units at $0.10., resulting in gross proceeds of $1,600,001. Each unit is comprised of one common share and a half warrant, entitling the holder of each whole warrant to purchase an additional share. (See financial activities below). Legal fees and the metallurgy testing program carried out at SGS Lakefield absorbed a significant part of the capital during the year.

Net deferred exploration expenditures incurred during the year ended December 31, 2006, $367,916, compared to $847,805 spent during the year ended December 31, 2005.

Shareholder equity increased to $3,701,427 during the year ended December 31, 2006 from $3,257,546 December 31, 2005 due to private placements, the Registrant has no source of income other than interest earned on funds held in a term deposit and rent received for a portion of the Logan Lake office.

The Registrant earned $13,104 in interest income for the year ending December 31, 2006 compared to $10,528 at December 31, 2005.

During the year ended December 31, 2006 the Registrant earned $3,957 rental income for a portion of office space located in Logan Lake, British Columbia, compared to $748 during the previous year ending December 31, 2005. The tenants were only in the building for a portion of the year ending December 31, 2005.

Operating Results – Fiscal 2005 Compared with Fiscal 2004

At December 31, 2005, the registrant had working capital deficit of $320,311 compared to working capital of $952,672 at December 31, 2004. The decrease of $1,272,983 in working capital can be attributed directly to expenditures paid during the year. The Registrant has no source of income other than interest earned on funds held in term deposits and rent received for a portion of the Logan Lake office. Current liabilities at December 31, 2005 decreased to $536,885 from $615,360 at December 31, 2004. At December 31, 2004 the current payables included more invoices for drilling and other exploration expenditures than at December 31, 2005.

Net deferred exploration expenditures incurred during the year ended December 31, 2005, $847,805, compared to $979,963 spent during the year ended December 31, 2004.

During the year ended December 31, 2005 the Registrant began leasing a photo-copier with fax and scan features and disposed of it's old photo-copier to the leasing company for $500. The old copier was more than ten years old and would no longer be covered under any maintenance agreement.

Shareholder equity decrease to $3,257,546 during the year ended December 31, 2005, from $3,691,727 December 31, 2004, due to expenditures and the Registrant has no source of income other than interest earned on funds held in term deposits and rent received for a portion of the Logan Lake office.

The Registrant earned $10,528 in interest income for the year ending December 31, 2005 compared to $28,144 at December 31, 2004.

During the year ended December 31, 2005 the Registrant earned $748 rental income for a portion of office space located in Logan Lake, British Columbia, compared to $2,243 during the previous year ending December 31, 2004. The tenants were only in the building for a portion of the year ending December 31, 2005.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

On January 18, 2006, the registrant completed a private placement of 5,000,000 units. Each unit consisted of one share valued at $0.10 and one-half share purchase warrant certificates, exercisable for one year at a price of $0.125 in the first six months and $0.15 in the second six months. These warrants were extended to January 16, 2008 at a price of $0.15. During May 2007, 50,000 whole warrants were exercised at $0.15 per share, providing proceeds of $7,500.

On July 7, 2006, the Company completed a private placement and issued 10,000,000 units at $0.11 for gross proceeds of $1,100,000. Each unit is comprised of one common share and one common share half-warrant, entitling the holder of each whole share purchase warrant to purchase an additional one common share of the Company for a period of 6 months (expiry date was extended to July 7, 2008 from January 7, 2007) at a price of $0.15. No finder's fees or commissions were paid. Proceeds from the private placement were used to fund the Company's exploration and development programs, to pay ongoing legal expenses and for general working capital. As of May 31, 2007 no warrants were exercised.

On May 1, 2007, the TSX Venture Exchange accepted for filing the company's proposal to issued 4,937,500 shares at a deemed value of 10 cents per share to settle outstanding debt for $493,750.

On May 7, 2007 the TSX Venture Exchange accepted the Company's non-broker private placement of 13,000,000 units for gross proceeds of $1,300,000. Each unit, at a price of $0.10, is comprised of one common share and one half-share purchase warrant, each whole share purchase warrant entitles the holder to purchase one additional common share at an exercise price of $0.15 per share for a period of 12 months from closing of the private placement. All securities issued will be subject to a four-month hold period from the date of closing. The number of outstanding shares after this private placement is 67,016,157.

Possible Unavailability of Additional Financing.

The Registrant is currently pursuing financing opportunities to meet its administration costs. If the Registrant is unable to raise additional capital it will need to curtail its operations and the Registrant may be materially adversely affected.

Overview

Historically the Registrant's sole source of funding was the sale of equity securities for cash primarily through private placements to sophisticated investors and institutions.. The Registrant has no assurance of continued access to significant equity funding.

Fiscal 2006 Compared with Fiscal 2005

As at March 31, 2007, the Registrant's cash and short term investments was $317,369.

The Registrant's cash and short-term investments at December 31, 2006 were $498,055 compared to $156,074 at December 31, 2005. The decrease is due to exploration spending during the year and administrative and legal expenses, (see item 8, Legal Proceedings). Aside from cash and short-term investments, the Registrant has no material unused sources of liquidity.

Fiscal 2005 Compared with Fiscal 2004

As at March 31, 2006, the Registrant's cash and short term investments was $287,185.

The Registrant's cash and short-term investments at December 31, 2005 were $156,074 compared to $1,529,401 at December 31, 2004. The decrease is due to exploration spending during the year and administrative and legal expenses, (see item 8, Legal Proceedings). Aside from cash and short-term investments, the Registrant has no material unused sources of liquidity.

Financial Instruments

The Registrant financed its activities from 1985 through 2006 primarily through the issuance of equity shares through private and public distributions. Certain of these financings were structured as “flow through” to provide a Canadian income tax incentive to make the securities more attractive. The Income Tax Act (Canada) provides certain incentives to encourage exploration on Canadian resource properties including the deductibility of a defined class of “Canadian Exploration Expenses” and “Canadian Development Expenses” which provide deductible pools of resource expenditures deductible against other sources of income. The Registrant keeps its financial instruments denominated in Canadian dollars and does not engage in any hedging operations with respect to currency or in-situ minerals. Funds which are currently excess to the Registrant’s needs are invested in government of Canada or like debt obligations and other short term near cash investments pending the need for the funds.

The Registrant does not have any material commitments for capital expenditures and accordingly can remain relatively flexible in gearing its activities to the availability of funds. As of the fiscal 2006 year end, the Registrant estimates that the cost of maintaining its corporate administrative activities at approximately $30,000 exclusive of legal fees per month. Accordingly, the Registrant’s management estimate that a minimum of $360,000 will be needed to maintain its corporate status and assets over the ensuing two-year period and the Registrant has current working capital deficit at March 31, 2007 of $611,362 which is not adequate to ensure continued viability over this period of time.

Research Expenditures

The Registrant is a resource expenditure based corporation and accordingly does not have a program of intellectual property development or patenting or licensing issues.

Trend Information

In 2007 the Registrant’s planned exploration program and increased legal expenses will deplete funds generated from the May 2007 private placement. Increased legal expenses will result in higher general and administrative expenses during 2007 and will increase the loss to be reported for that fiscal period.

As a mineral exploration company, the Registrant’s activities are somewhat cyclical as metals prices have traditionally been cyclical in nature. The basic trend through the last few years for metal prices has been positive, and the recent gold price trend has continued to be positive. Copper is a commodity metal used extensively in the housing and automotive industries and accordingly, demand for copper varies directly with general economic conditions. Although the Registrant’s management is not in a position to forecast economic trends, it is aware that as of May 2007 widely read business periodicals continue to predict a variety of economic conditions which indicate that a the price of copper or gold will in all likelihood be tied to the economy.

The price of copper has significantly improved since 2004 as a result of increasing consumption and decreasing stocks. Recent widely read business journals predict that metal prices in 2007 should continue at current levels due to simple supply and demand dynamics.

All board committees are reviewed annually by the directors of the Registrant at the first meeting of the board held after the Registrant's annual general meeting.

Material Terms of the 2002 Plan

Eligible Optionees

Under the policies of TSX V, to be eligible for the issuance of a stock option under the 2002 Plan an Optionee must either be a director, officer, employee, consultant or an employee of a company providing management or other services to the Registrant at the time the option is granted.

Options may be granted only to an individual or to a company that is wholly-owned by individuals eligible for an option grant. If the option is granted to a company, that company must provide TSX V with an undertaking that it will not permit any transfer of its shares, nor issue further shares, to any other individual or entity as long as the incentive stock option remains in effect without the consent of TSX V.

Material Terms of the Plan

The following is a summary of the material terms of the 2002 Plan:

- (a) all options granted under the 2002 Plan are non-assignable and non-transferable and for a period of up to 10 years;
 - (b) for stock options granted to employees or service providers (inclusive of management company employees), the Registrant is required to represent that the proposed Optionee is a bona fide employee or service provider (inclusive of a management company employee), as the case may be, of the Registrant.;
 - (c) if an Optionee ceases to be employed by the Registrant or to provide services to the Registrant (other than as a result of termination with cause) or ceases to act as a director or officer of the Registrant or a subsidiary of the Registrant, any option held by such Optionee may be exercised within 90 days after the date such Optionee ceases to be employed as an officer or director or, as the case may be, or within 30 days if the Optionee is engaged in investor relations activities and ceases to be employed to provide investor relations activities;
 - (d) the minimum exercise price of an option granted under the 2002 Plan must not be less than the closing price for the Registrant's common shares as traded on the TSX V on the last trading day before the date that the option is granted less allowable discounts as permitted by TSX V of up to 25%; and
 - (e) no Optionee can be granted an option or options to purchase more than 5% of the outstanding listed shares of the Registrant in a one year period.
- 1. Vesting of options is at the discretion of the board of directors and will be subject to a) and b).
 - 2. Options granted to Consultants retained by the Registrant pursuant to a short term contract or for a specific projects with a finite term, will be subject to such vesting provisions determined by the board of directors of the Registrant at the time of the Option Commitment is made, subject to Regulatory Approval.

The Registrant will obtain "disinterested" shareholders' approval (described below) if:

- (a) the number of options granted to Insiders of the Registrant exceeds 10% of the Registrant's outstanding listed shares; or
- (b) the aggregate number of options granted to Insiders of the Registrant within a one year period exceeds 10% of the Registrant's outstanding listed shares; or

- (c) the number of options granted to any one Insider and such Insider's associates within a one year period exceeds 5% of the Registrant's outstanding listed shares; or
- (d) the Registrant is decreasing the exercise price of options previously granted to Insiders.

Disinterested Shareholder Approval

If options are granted by the Registrant under the 2002 Plan, which trigger the requirement for disinterested shareholder approval ("DSA Options"), the DSA Options need to be presented to shareholders of the Registrant for approval at an annual general or special meeting of the Registrant. No DSA Options can be exercised by the Optionee until disinterested shareholder approval has been obtained.

"Disinterested shareholder approval" means the approval by a majority of the votes cast by all shareholders of the Registrant at the shareholders' meeting excluding votes attached to listed shares beneficially owned by "Insiders" of the Registrant (generally officers and directors) to whom the DSA Options have been granted under the 2002 Plan and Associates of those Insiders.

At the June 25, 2007 annual general meeting shareholders approved a resolution increasing the number of shares in the Registrant's fixed share option plan to 6,700,000. The amendment to the Registrant's fixed share option plan had been previously approved by the TSX Venture Exchange.

ITEM 7 MAJOR SHAREHOLDERS AND RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

A. Major Shareholders

The Registrant's securities are recorded on the books of its transfer agent in registered form, however, the majority of such shares are registered in the name of intermediaries such as brokerage houses and clearing houses on behalf of their respective brokerage clients, and the Registrant does not have knowledge or access to information about of the beneficial owners thereof. To the best of its knowledge, the Registrant is not directly or indirectly owned or controlled by a corporation or foreign government. As of December 31, 2006, the Registrant had unlimited authorized common shares without par value of which 49,078,657 (May 25, 2007: 67,066,157)

"Beneficial owner - The term "beneficial owner" of securities refers to any person who, even if not the record owner of the securities, has or shares the underlying benefits of ownership. These benefits include the power to direct the voting or the disposition of the securities or to receive the economic benefit of ownership of the securities. A person also is considered to be the "beneficial owner" of securities that the person has the right to acquire within 60 days by option or other agreement. Beneficial owners include persons who hold their securities through one or more trustees, brokers, agents, legal representatives or other intermediaries, or through companies in which they have a "controlling interest," which means the direct or indirect power to direct the management and policies of the entity."

The Registrant's major shareholders do not have different voting rights from other holders of the Registrant's common shares.

Under the British Columbia Securities Act, insiders (generally officers, directors, holders of 10% or more of the Registrant's shares) are required to file insider reports of changes in their ownership in the first 10 days of the month following a trade in the Registrant's securities. Copies of such reports are available for public inspection at the offices of the British Columbia Securities Commission, Suite 200 - 865 Hornby Street, Vancouver, British Columbia V6Z 2H4 (phone (604) 899-6500) or at the British Columbia Securities Commission web site (www.bcsc.bc.ca).

As of May 30, 2007 there were 80 registered shareholders of record holding a total of 67,066,157 common shares of the Registrant. To the best of the Registrant's knowledge there were 64 registered shareholders of record with registered addresses in Canada, 9 shareholders of record with registered addresses in the United States and 7 shareholders of record with registered addresses in other countries holding approximately 66,327,610 (98.89%) - 235,422 (0.35%) and 503,125 (0.75%) of the outstanding common shares, respectively. Shares registered in intermediaries were assumed to be held by residents of the same country in which the clearing house was located.

B. Related Party Transactions

No director or senior officer, and no associate or affiliate of the foregoing persons, and no insider has or has had any material interest, direct or indirect, in any other transactions, or in any other proposed transaction, which in either such case has materially affected or will materially affect the Registrant or its predecessors during the year ended December 31, 2006, except on December 9, 2002, the Registrant held a Special Meeting whereby the shareholders approved an ordinary resolution of disinterested shareholders authorizing the directors to conclude a proposed agreement between the Registrant and Robak Industries Ltd., a holding company of director John Lepinski to acquire the Getty South property (as to 50%) and 100 % of the Southwest and Central mineral claims (each subject to a 1.5% NSR) for a total of 12.0 million (pre-reversed-split) fully paid common shares. The transaction received TSX V approval on March 7, 2003 and details of the transaction can be reviewed in the management proxy circular prepared for the December 9, 2002 meeting which is publicly accessible at www.sedar.com.

In 2004, the Board of Directors considered acquiring the remaining 50% of Getty South from Robak. The board commissioned a valuation of the Robak interest from the same party who carried out the 2002 valuation. The valuator presented information about his 2002 report that caused the board to re-examine the 2002 transaction. A committee of the whole of the directors, with the exception of John Lepinski, as an independent review committee, has initiated a thorough review of the historical geological data of the Getty South Property. To date the board has received nothing that would suggest that the Getty South acquisition should be rescinded.

On June 18, 2007 Vector Engineering of Sacramento, California delivered a NI 43-101 compliant technical report on the Getty South deposit. The report discloses an inferred resource estimate of 28.16 million tonnes, having a grade of 0.47% copper at a cut off grade of 0.20% copper.

On January 10, 2005, former director Robert Gardner and on May 27, 2005, former director Vittorio Preto, filed Third Party actions against the Registrant claiming indemnification from any costs and/or damages arising from a lawsuit brought November 24, 2004 against Gardner and Preto. The Registrant filed a Defence to the claim insisting that Gardner and Preto are not entitled to indemnification, asserting that Gardner and Preto did not act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Registrant and otherwise did not discharge the fiduciary and other duties they owed to the Registrant as directors. In late June, 2007 the Registrant settled this litigation and without any of the parties acknowledging liability, the lawsuit was discontinued and mutual releases exchanged.

On January 24, 2005 Vanguard Shareholder Solutions Inc. initiated a lawsuit against the Registrant claiming $23,041.27 for Investor Services allegedly performed between June 22 and September 30, 2004. On January 26, 2005, the Registrant caused its counsel, Stikeman Elliott, to initiate an action in the BC Supreme Court taxing the account of Blake Cassels & Graydon. The hearing for the taxation has been adjourned sine die.

On March 14, 2006, the Company filed for leave of the Supreme Court of British Columbia to issue a Counter Claim against former directors Robert Gardner and Vittorio Preto as well as Ross Glanville and Ross Granville & Associates claiming damages for negligence and breach of fiduciary duties owed to the Company. In late June, 2007 the Registrant settled this litigation and without any of the parties acknowledging liability, the lawsuit was discontinued and mutual releases exchanged.

On April 25, 2006, the Company initiated a lawsuit in the Supreme Court of British Columbia against the law firm of Blake Cassels & Graydon LLP. The lawsuit claims inter alia, negligence and damages for breach of duty owed to the Company.

On July 7, 2006, a number of Plaintiffs including Robert Gardner and Gordon Blankstein, initiated a lawsuit against the Registrant and a number of past and current directors claiming, inter alia, that the business or affairs of the Company is oppressive or unfairly prejudicial to or has unfairly disregarded the interests of the plaintiffs and those similarly situated. The Company believes the allegations are totally without foundation and has instructed counsel to vigorously defend the action.

ITEM 10 ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

A. Share Capital

The Registrant's share capital consists of one class only, namely common shares without par value, of which an unlimited number of shares are authorized and 67,066,157 common shares without par value are issued and outstanding as of May 31st, 2007. The previously filed audited financial statements provide details of all share issuance effected by the Registrant in the issue price per share for the four previous fiscal years. There are no shares of the Registrant which are held by or on behalf of the Registrant. There was a share consolidation on March 7, 2003, on a two old for one new basis. There were no other changes in the classification of common shares (reclassifications, consolidations, reverse splits or the like) within the previous five years. All common shares of the Registrant rank pari passu for the payment of any dividends and distributions in the event of a windup.

B. Memorandum and Articles of Association

The Registrant's Articles of Incorporation are registered with Industry Canada under Certificate No. 197635-1 under the Canada Business Corporations Act ("CBCA").

Objects and Purposes

The Registrant's Restated Articles of Incorporation do not specify objects or purposes.

Directors Powers and Limitations

The Registrant's By-laws specify that there will be a minimum of three and a maximum of seven directors. Directors automatically retire at the commencement of each annual meeting subject to being re-elected.

Although the Registrant's directors and officers have various fiduciary obligations to the Registrant, situations may arise where the interests of the directors and officers could conflict with those of the Registrant. The potential conflicts of interest arise as a result of common ownership and certain common directors, officers, and personnel of the Registrant and their associates and affiliates. These conflicts are normally resolved in accordance with the CBCA (in the case of the Registrant) which requires disclosures of conflicts at meetings of the directors held for the purposes, inter alia, of acquiring assets or dealing in assets in which directors have an interest. These directors are then prevented from voting on any resolution passed by the Board with respect to any such acquisition or dealing.

The CBCA, however, provides that directors who have an interest in the transaction or matter can vote on any resolution if the contract they are approving is an arrangement by way of security for money lent or obligations undertaken by the director for the benefit of the Registrant, relating to the remuneration of the director, relating to indemnities or insurance for directors or a contract with an affiliate.

The directors and officers of the Registrant are both by statute and at common law, required to act fairly and in the best interest of the Registrant and are not permitted to breach this fiduciary duty for their own benefit.

While the Registrant does not anticipate making any loans to directors, officers or affiliates, if such a need should arise, no future loans will be made to such persons absent a bona fide, and independent business purpose.

Shareholders' Meetings

Under the CBCA, the Registrant's directors must call an annual meeting of shareholders not later than 15 months after holding the last preceding annual meeting and may at any time call a special meeting of shareholders.

For the purpose of determining shareholders entitled to receive notice of a meeting of shareholders, the directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for such determination, but such record date shall not proceed by more than 50 days or by less than 21 days the date on which the meeting is to be held.

Under the CBCA, notice of the time and place of a meeting of shareholders shall be sent not less than 21 days nor more than 50 days before the meeting to each shareholder entitled to vote at the meeting. A National Policy Statement of the Canadian Securities Regulators extends the date by which notice must be given to shareholders. Under that National Policy Statement an advance notice of annual meeting must be published 60 days before the date of such annual meeting. As well, the National Policy Statement requires that meeting materials be sent to registered holders approximately 35 days before the meeting date, so that such registered holders can forward the materials to beneficial holders.

Common Shares

The holders of Common Shares are entitled to one vote for each share on all matters submitted to a vote of shareholders. There is no cumulative voting with respect to the election of directors. Accordingly, holders of a majority of the shares entitled to vote in any election of directors may elect all of the directors standing for election. Subject to preferences that may be applicable to any then outstanding Preferred Shares, the holders of Common Shares are entitled to receive such dividends, if any, as may be declared by the Board of Directors from time to time out of legally available funds. Upon liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Registrant, the holders of Common Shares are entitled to share rateably in all assets of the Registrant that are legally available for distribution, after payment of all debts and other liabilities. The holders of Common Shares have no redemption or conversion rights. The rights, preferences and privileges of holders of Common Shares are subject to the rights of the holders of shares of any series of Preferred Shares that the Registrant may issue in the future.

Redemption

The Registrant has no redeemable securities authorized or issued.

Pre-emptive Rights

There are no pre-emptive rights applicable to the Registrant which provide a right to any person to participate in offerings of the Registrant's securities

Liquidation

All common shares of the Registrant participate rateably in any available assets in the event of a winding up or other liquidation.

No Limitation on Foreign Ownership

There are no limitations under the Registrant's Articles or in the CBCA on the right of persons who are not citizens of Canada to hold or vote common shares. (See also "Exchange Controls" – below.)

Dividends

Dividends may be declared by the Board out of available assets and are paid rateably to holders of common shares. No dividend may be paid if the Registrant is, or would thereby become, insolvent.

Voting Rights

Each Registrant share is entitled to one vote on matters to which common shares ordinarily vote including the election of directors, appointment of auditors and approval of corporate changes and other matters requiring shareholder approval.

Change in Control

The Registrant has not implemented any shareholders' rights or other "poison pill" protection against possible take-overs. The Registrant does not have any agreements which are triggered by a take-over or other change of control. There are no provisions in its articles triggered by or affected by a change in outstanding shares which gives rise to a change in control.

Share Ownership Reporting

The articles of the Registrant do not require disclosure of share ownership. Share ownership of director nominees must be reported annually in proxy materials sent to the Registrant's shareholders. There are no requirements under British Columbia corporate law to report ownership of shares of the Registrant but the British Columbia Securities Act requires disclosure of trading by insiders including holders of 10% of voting shares within 10 days of the trade. Controlling shareholders (generally those in excess of 20% of outstanding shares) must provide seven days advance notice of share sales.

C. Material Contracts

(a) The Registrant's material contracts are as follows:

1. NSR Agreement
2. November 2002 agreement with Robak whereby the company acquired its interest in the New Getty Properties as described in Item 4 and Item 7; and

7. July 2006 Private Placement $1,100,000
8. May 2007 Share for Debt Settlement $493,750
9. May 2007 Private Placement $1,300,000

D. Exchange Controls

The Registrant is a Canadian Company. There is no law or governmental decree or regulation in Canada that restricts the export or import of capital, or affects the remittance of dividends, interest or other payments to a non-resident holder of Common Shares, other than withholding tax requirements. Any such remittances to United States residents are generally subject to withholding tax. See "Taxation", below.

There is no limitation imposed by the laws of Canada or by the charter or other constituent documents of the Registrant on the right of a non-resident to hold or vote the Common Shares, other than as provided in the Investment Canada Act (Canada) (the "Investment Act"). The following discussion summarizes the material features of the Investment Act for a non-resident who proposes to acquire a controlling number of Common Shares. It is general only, it is not a substitute for independent advice from an investor's own advisor, and it does not anticipate statutory or regulatory amendments. The Registrant does not believe the Investment Act will have any affect on it or on its non-Canadian shareholders due to a number of factors including the nature of its operations and the Registrant's relatively small capitalization.

The Investment Act generally prohibits implementation of a reviewable investment by an individual, government or agency thereof, corporation, partnership, trust or joint venture (each an “entity”) that is not a “Canadian” as defined in the Investment Act (a “non-Canadian”), unless after review the Director of Investments appointed by the minister responsible for the Investment Act is satisfied that the investment is likely to be of net benefit to Canada. The size and nature of a proposed transaction may give rise to an obligation to notify the Director to seek an advance ruling. An investment in the Common Shares by a non-Canadian other than a “WTO Investor” (as that term is defined in the Investment Act and which term includes entities which are nationals of or are controlled by nationals of member states of the World Trade Organization) when the Registrant was not controlled by a WTO Investor, would be reviewable under the Investment Act if it was an investment to acquire control of the Registrant and the value of the assets of the Registrant, as determined in accordance with the regulations promulgated under the Investment Act, was $5 million or more, or if an order for review was made by the federal cabinet on the grounds that the investment related to Canada’s cultural heritage or national identity, regardless of the value of the assets of the Registrant. An investment in the Common Shares by a WTO Investor, or by a non-Canadian when the Registrant was controlled by a WTO Investor, would be reviewable under the Investment Act if it was an investment to acquire control of the Registrant and the value of the assets of the Registrant, as determined in accordance with the regulations promulgated under the Investment Act, was not less than a specified amount, which for 2001 exceeds Cdn$192 million. A non-Canadian would acquire control of the Registrant for the purposes of the Investment Act if the non-Canadian acquired a majority of the Common Shares. The acquisition of less than a majority but one-third or more of the Common Shares would be presumed to be an acquisition of control of the Registrant unless it could be established that, on the acquisition, the Registrant was not controlled in fact by the acquirer through the ownership of the Common Shares.

The foregoing assumes the Registrant will not engage in the production of uranium or own an interest in a producing uranium property in Canada, or provide any financial service or transportation service, as the rules governing these businesses are different.

Certain transactions relating to the Common Shares would be exempt from the Investment Act, including

- a) an acquisition of the Common Shares by a person in the ordinary course of that person’s business as a trader or dealer in securities,
- b) an acquisition of control of the Registrant in connection with the realization of security granted for a loan or other financial assistance and not for a purpose related to the provisions of the Investment Act, and
- c) an acquisition of control of the Registrant by reason of an amalgamation, merger, consolidation or corporate reorganization following which the ultimate direct or indirect control in fact of the Registrant, through the ownership of the Common Shares, remained unchanged.

Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Consequences

The discussion under this heading summarizes the principal Canadian federal income tax consequences of acquiring, holding and disposing of shares of common stock of the Registrant for a shareholder of the Registrant who is not a resident of Canada but is a resident of the United States and who will acquire and hold shares of common stock of the Registrant as capital property for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the “Canadian Tax Act”). This summary does not apply to a shareholder who carries on business in Canada through a “permanent establishment” situated in Canada or performs independent personal services in Canada through a fixed base in Canada if the shareholder’s holding in the Registrant is effectively connected with such permanent establishment or fixed base. This summary is based on the provisions of the Canadian Tax Act and the regulations thereunder and on an understanding of the administrative practices of Canada Revenue Agency, and takes into account all specific proposals to amend the Canadian Tax Act or regulations made by the Minister of Finance of Canada as of the date hereof. It has been assumed that there will be no other relevant amendment of any governing law although no assurance can be given in this respect. This discussion is general only and is not, nor is it intended to provide a detailed analysis of the income tax implications of any particular shareholder’s interest. Investors are advised to obtain independent advice from a shareholder’s own Canadian and U.S. tax advisors with respect to income tax implications pertinent to their particular circumstances.

The provisions of the Canadian Tax Act are subject to income tax treaties to which Canada is a party, including the Canada-United States Income Tax Convention (1980), as amended (the “Convention”).

Dividends on Common Shares and Other Income

Under the Canadian Tax Act, a non-resident of Canada is generally subject to Canadian withholding tax at the rate of 25 percent on dividends paid or deemed to have been paid to him or her by a corporation resident in Canada. The Registrant is responsible for withholding of tax at the source. The Convention limits the rate to 15 percent if the shareholder is a resident of the United States and the dividends are beneficially owned by and paid to such shareholder, and to 5 percent if the shareholder is also a corporation that beneficially owns at least 10 percent of the voting stock of the payor corporation.

The amount of a stock dividend (for tax purposes) would generally be equal to the amount by which the paid up or stated capital of the Registrant had increased by reason of the payment of such dividend. The Registrant will furnish additional tax information to shareholders in the event of such a dividend. Interest paid or deemed to be paid on the Registrant's debt securities held by non-Canadian residents may also be subject to Canadian withholding tax, depending upon the terms and provisions of such securities and any applicable tax treaty.

The Convention generally exempts from Canadian income tax dividends paid to a religious, scientific, literary, educational or charitable organization or to an organization constituted and operated exclusively to administer a pension, retirement or employee benefit fund or plan, if the organization is a resident of the United States and is exempt from income tax under the laws of the United States.

Dispositions of Common Shares

Under the Canadian Tax Act, a taxpayer's capital gain or capital loss from a disposition of a share of common stock of the Registrant is the amount, if any, by which his or her proceeds of disposition exceed (or are exceeded by, respectively) the aggregate of his or her adjusted cost base of the share and reasonable expenses of disposition. The capital gain or loss must be computed in Canadian currency using a weighted average adjusted cost base for identical properties. 50% of the capital gains net of losses are included in income for Canadian income tax purposes. The amount by which a shareholder's capital loss exceeds the capital gain in a year may be deducted from a capital gain realized by the shareholder in the three previous years or any subsequent year, subject to certain restrictions in the case of a corporate shareholder.

Under the Canadian Tax Act, a non-resident of Canada is subject to Canadian tax on taxable capital gains, and may deduct allowable capital losses, realized on a disposition of "taxable Canadian property." Shares of common stock of the Registrant will constitute taxable Canadian property of a shareholder at a particular time if the shareholder used the shares in carrying on business in Canada, or if at any time in the five years immediately preceding the disposition 25% or more of the issued shares of any class or series in the capital stock of the Registrant belonged to one or more persons in a group comprising the shareholder and persons with whom the shareholder and persons with whom the shareholder did not deal at arm's length and in certain other circumstances.

The Convention relieves United States residents from liability for Canadian tax on capital gains derived on a disposition of shares unless

- (a) the value of the shares is derived principally from "real property" in Canada, including the right to explore for or exploit natural resources and rights to amounts computed by reference to production,
- (b) the shareholder was resident in Canada for 120 months during any period of 20 consecutive years preceding, and at any time during the 10 years immediately preceding, the disposition and the shares were owned by him when he or she ceased to be resident in Canada, or
- (c) the shares formed part of the business property of a "permanent establishment" that the holder has or had in Canada within the 12 months preceding the disposition.

United States Tax Consequences

United States Federal Income Tax Consequences

The following is, in the opinion of the Registrant after consultation with its professional advisors, a discussion of material United States federal income tax consequences, under current law, generally applicable to a U.S. Holder (as hereinafter defined) of common shares of the Registrant. This discussion does not address all potentially relevant federal income tax matters and it does not address consequences peculiar to persons subject to special provisions of federal income tax law, such as those described below as excluded from the definition of a U.S. Holder. In addition, this discussion does not cover any state, local or foreign tax consequences. (see “Taxation – Canadian Federal Income Tax Consequences” above). Accordingly, holders and prospective holders of common shares of the Registrant are urged to consult their own tax advisors about the specific federal, state, local, and foreign tax consequences to them of purchasing, owning and disposing of common shares of the Registrant, based upon their individual circumstances.

The following discussion is based upon the sections of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”), Treasury Regulations, published Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) rulings, published administrative positions of the IRS and court decisions that are currently applicable, any or all of which could be materially and adversely changed, possibly on a retroactive basis, at any time and which are subject to differing interpretations. This discussion does not consider the potential effects, both adverse and beneficial, of any proposed legislation which, if enacted, could be applied, possibly on a retroactive basis, at any time.

U.S. Holders

As used herein, a “U.S. Holder” means a holder of common shares of the Registrant who is a citizen or individual resident of the United States, a corporation or partnership created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or of any political subdivision thereof, an entity created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or of any political subdivision thereof which has elected to be treated as a corporation for United States federal income tax purposes (under Treasury Regulation Section 301.7701-3), an estate whose income is taxable in the United States irrespective of source or a trust subject to the primary supervision of a court within the United States and control of a United States fiduciary as described in Section 7701(a)(30) of the Code. This summary does not address the tax consequences to, and U.S. Holder does not include, persons subject to specific provisions of federal income tax law, such as tax-exempt organizations, qualified retirement plans, individual retirement accounts and other tax-deferred accounts, financial institutions, insurance companies, real estate investment trusts, regulated investment companies, broker-dealers, non-resident alien individuals, persons or entities that have a “functional currency” other than the U.S. dollar, shareholders subject to the alternative minimum tax, shareholders who hold common shares as part of a straddle, hedging or conversion transaction, and shareholders who acquired their common shares through the exercise of employee stock options or otherwise as compensation for services. This summary is limited to U.S. Holders who own common shares as capital assets and who own (directly and indirectly, pursuant to applicable rules of constructive ownership) no more than 5% of the value of the total outstanding stock of the Registrant. This summary does not address the consequences to a person or entity holding an interest in a shareholder or the consequences to a person of the ownership, exercise or disposition of any options, warrants or other rights to acquire common shares. In addition, this summary does not address special rules applicable to United States persons (as defined in Section 7701(a)(30) of the Code) holding common shares through a foreign partnership or to foreign persons holding common shares through a domestic partnership.

Distribution on Common Shares of Getty

In general, U.S. Holders receiving dividend distributions (including constructive dividends) with respect to common shares of the Registrant are required to include in gross income for United States federal income tax purposes the gross amount of such distributions, equal to the U.S. dollar value of such distributions on the date of receipt (based on the exchange rate on such date), to the extent that the Registrant has current or accumulated earnings and profits, without reduction for any Canadian income tax withheld from such distributions. Such Canadian tax withheld may be credited, subject to certain limitations, against the U.S. Holder’s federal income tax liability or, alternatively, may be deducted in computing the U.S. Holder’s federal taxable income by those who itemize deductions. (See more detailed discussion at “Foreign Tax Credit” below). To the extent that distributions exceed current or accumulated earnings and profits of the Registrant, they will be treated first as a return of capital up to the U.S. Holder’s adjusted basis in the common shares and thereafter as gain from the sale or exchange of property. Preferential tax rates for long-term capital gains are applicable to a U.S. Holder which is an individual, estate or trust. There are currently no preferential tax rates for long-term capital gains for a U.S. Holder which is a corporation.

In the case of foreign currency received as a dividend that is not converted by the recipient into U.S. dollars on the date of receipt, a U.S. Holder will have a tax basis in the foreign currency equal to its U.S. dollar value on the date of receipt. Generally any gain or loss recognized upon a subsequent sale or other disposition of the foreign currency, including the exchange for U.S. dollars, will be ordinary income or loss. However, an individual whose realized gain does not exceed $200 will not recognize that gain, provided that there are no expenses associated with the transaction that meet the requirements for deductibility as a trade or business expense (other than travel expenses in connection with a business trip) or as an expense for the production of income.

Dividends paid on the common shares of the Registrant generally will not be eligible for the dividends received deduction provided to corporations receiving dividends from certain United States corporations. A U.S. Holder which is a corporation and which owns shares representing at least 10% of the voting power and value of the Registrant may, under certain circumstances, be entitled to a 70% (or 80% if the U.S. Holder owns shares representing at least 20% of the voting power and value of the Registrant) deduction of the United States source portion of dividends received from the Registrant (unless the Registrant qualifies as a “foreign personal holding company” or a “passive foreign investment company,” as defined below). The Registrant does not anticipate that it will earn any United States income, however, and therefore does not anticipate that any U.S. Holder will be eligible for the dividends received deduction.

Under current Treasury Regulations, dividends paid on the Registrant’s common shares, if any, generally will not be subject to information reporting and generally will not be subject to U.S. backup withholding tax. However, dividends and the proceeds from a sale of the Registrant’s common shares paid in the U.S. through a U.S. or U.S.-related paying agent (including a broker) will be subject to U.S. information reporting requirements and may also be subject to the 28% U.S. backup withholding tax, unless the paying agent is furnished with a duly completed and signed Form W-9. Any amounts withheld under the U.S. backup withholding tax rules will be allowed as a refund or a credit against the U.S. Holder’s U.S. federal income tax liability, provided the required information is furnished to the IRS.

Foreign Tax Credit

A U.S. Holder who pays (or has withheld from distributions) Canadian income tax with respect to the ownership of common shares of the Registrant may be entitled, at the option of the U.S. Holder, to either receive a deduction or a tax credit for such foreign tax paid or withheld. Generally, it will be more advantageous to claim a credit because a credit reduces United States federal income taxes on a dollar-for-dollar basis, while a deduction merely reduces the taxpayer’s income subject to tax. This election is made on a year-by-year basis and generally applies to all foreign taxes paid by (or withheld from) the U.S. Holder during that year. There are significant and complex limitations which apply to the credit, among which is the general limitation that the credit cannot exceed the proportionate share of the U.S. Holder’s United States income tax liability that the U.S. Holder’s foreign source income bears to his or its worldwide taxable income. In the determination of the application of this limitation, the various items of income and deduction must be classified into foreign and domestic sources. Complex rules govern this classification process. In addition, this limitation is calculated separately with respect to specific classes of income. Dividends distributed by the Registrant will generally constitute “passive income” for these purposes. The availability of the foreign tax credit and the application of the limitations on the credit are fact specific, and U.S. Holders of common shares of the Registrant should consult their own tax advisors regarding their individual circumstances.

Disposition of Common Shares of Getty

In general, U.S. Holders will recognize gain or loss upon the sale of common shares of the Registrant equal to the difference, if any, between (i) the amount of cash plus the fair market value of any property received, and (ii) the shareholder’s tax basis in the common shares of the Registrant. Preferential tax rates apply to long-term capital gains of U.S. Holders which are individuals, estates or trusts. In general, gain or loss on the sale of common shares of the Registrant will be long-term capital gain or loss if the common shares are a capital asset in the hands of the U.S. Holder and are held for more than one year. Deductions for net capital losses are subject to significant limitations. For U.S. Holders which are not corporations, any unused portion of such net capital loss may be carried over to be used in later tax years until such net capital loss is thereby exhausted. For U.S. Holders that are corporations (other than corporations subject to Subchapter S of the Code), an unused net capital loss may be carried back three years and carried forward five years from the loss year to be offset against capital gains until such net capital loss is thereby exhausted.

Other Considerations

Set forth below are certain material exceptions to the above-described general rules describing the United States federal income tax consequences resulting from the holding and disposition of common shares:

Foreign Personal Holding Company

If at any time during a taxable year more than 50% of the total combined voting power or the total value of the Registrant’s outstanding shares is owned, directly or indirectly (pursuant to applicable rules of constructive ownership), by five or fewer individuals who are citizens or residents of the United States and 60% or more of the Registrant’s gross income for such year is derived from certain passive sources (e.g., from certain interest and dividends), the Registrant may be treated as a “foreign personal holding company.” In that event, U.S. Holders that hold common shares would be required to include in gross income for such year their allocable portions of such passive income to the extent the Registrant does not actually distribute such income. The Registrant does not believe that it currently qualifies as a foreign personal holding company. However, there can be no assurance that the Registrant will not be considered a foreign personal holding company for the current or any future taxable year.

Foreign Investment Company

If 50% or more of the combined voting power or total value of the Registrant’s outstanding shares is held, directly or indirectly, by citizens or residents of the United States, United States domestic partnerships or corporations, or estates or trusts other than foreign estates or trusts (as defined by Code Section 7701(a)(31)), and the Registrant is found to be engaged primarily in the business of investing, reinvesting, or trading in securities, commodities, or any interest therein, it is possible that the Registrant may be treated as a “foreign investment company” as defined in Section 1246 of the Code, causing all or part of any gain realized by a U.S. Holder selling or exchanging common shares to be treated as ordinary income rather than capital gain. The Registrant does not believe that it currently qualifies as a foreign investment company. However, there can be no assurance that the Registrant will not be considered a foreign investment company for the current or any future taxable year.

Passive Foreign Investment Company

United States income tax law contains rules governing “passive foreign investment companies” (“PFIC”) which can have significant tax effects on U.S. Holders of foreign corporations. These rules do not apply to non-U.S. Holders. Section 1297 of the Code defines a PFIC as a corporation that is not formed in the United States if, for any taxable year, either (i) 75% or more of its gross income is “passive income,” which includes interest, dividends and certain rents and royalties or (ii) the average percentage, by fair market value (or, if the corporation is not publicly traded and either is a controlled foreign corporation or makes an election, by adjusted tax basis), of its assets that produce or are held for the production of “passive income” is 50% or more. The Registrant appears to have been a PFIC for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, and at least certain prior fiscal years. In addition, the Registrant expects to qualify as a PFIC for the fiscal years ending December 31, 2005 and may also qualify as a PFIC in future fiscal years. Each U.S. Holder of the Registrant is urged to consult a tax advisor with respect to how the PFIC rules affect such U.S. Holder’s tax situation.

Each U.S. Holder who holds stock in a foreign corporation during any year in which such corporation qualifies as a PFIC is subject to United States federal income taxation under one of three alternative tax regimes at the election of such U.S. Holder. The following is a discussion of such alternative tax regimes applied to such U.S. Holders of the Registrant. In addition, special rules apply if a foreign corporation qualifies as both a PFIC and a “controlled foreign corporation” (as defined below) and a U.S. Holder owns, actually or constructively, 10% or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote of such foreign corporation (See more detailed discussion at “Controlled Foreign Corporation” below).

A U.S. Holder who elects to treat the Registrant as a qualified electing fund (“QEF”) will be subject, under Section 1293 of the Code, to current federal income tax for any taxable year to which the election applies in which the Registrant qualifies as a PFIC on his pro rata share of Getty’s (i) “net capital gain” (the excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss), which will be taxed as long-term capital gain, and (ii) “ordinary earnings” (the excess of earnings and profits over net capital gain), which will be taxed as ordinary income, in each case, for the shareholder’s taxable year in which (or with which) the Registrant’s taxable year ends, regardless of whether such amounts are actually distributed. A U.S. Holder’s tax basis in the common shares will be increased by any such amount that is included in income but not distributed.

The procedure a U.S. Holder must comply with in making an effective QEF election, and the consequences of such election, will depend on whether the year of the election is the first year in the U.S. Holder’s holding period in which the Registrant is a PFIC. If the U.S. Holder makes a QEF election in such first year, i.e., a “timely” QEF election, then the U.S. Holder may make the QEF election by simply filing the appropriate documents at the time the U.S. Holder files his tax return for such first year. If, however, the Registrant qualified as a PFIC in a prior year during the U.S. Holder’s holding period, then, in order to avoid the Section 1291 rules discussed below, in addition to filing documents, the U.S. Holder must elect to recognize under the rules of Section 1291 of the Code (discussed herein), (i) any gain that he would otherwise recognize if the U.S. Holder sold his stock on the qualification date or (ii) if the Registrant is a controlled foreign corporation, the U.S. Holder’s pro rata share of the Registrant’s post-1986 earnings and profits as of the qualification date. The qualification date is the first day of the Registrant’s first tax year in which the Registrant qualified as a QEF with respect to such U.S. Holder. For purposes of this discussion, a U.S. Holder who makes (i) a timely QEF election, or (ii) an untimely QEF election and either of the above-described gain-recognition elections under Section 1291 is referred to herein as an “Electing U.S. Holder.” A U.S. Holder who holds common shares at any time during a year of the Registrant in which the Registrant is a PFIC and who is not an Electing U.S. Holder (including a U.S. Holder who makes an untimely QEF election and makes neither of the above-described gain-recognition elections) is referred to herein as a “Non-Electing U.S. Holder.” An Electing U.S. Holder (i) generally treats any gain realized on the disposition of his Company common shares as capital gain; and (ii) may either avoid interest charges resulting from PFIC status altogether, or make an annual election, subject to certain limitations, to defer payment of current taxes on his share of the Registrant’s annual realized net capital gain and ordinary earnings subject, however, to an interest charge. If the U.S. Holder is not a corporation, any interest charge imposed under the PFIC regime would be treated as “personal interest” that is not deductible.

In order for a U.S. Holder to make (or maintain) a valid QEF election, the Registrant must provide certain information regarding its net capital gains and ordinary earnings and permit its books and records to be examined to verify such information. The Registrant intends to make the necessary information available to U.S. Holders to permit them to make (and maintain) QEF elections with respect to the Registrant. The Registrant urges each U.S. Holder to consult a tax advisor regarding the availability of, and procedure for making, the QEF election.

A QEF election, once made with respect to the Registrant, applies to the tax year for which it was made and to all subsequent tax years, unless the election is invalidated or terminated, or the IRS consents to revocation of the election. If a QEF election is made by a U.S. Holder and the Registrant ceases to qualify as a PFIC in a subsequent tax year, the QEF election will remain in effect, although not applicable, during those tax years in which the Registrant does not qualify as a PFIC. Therefore, if the Registrant again qualifies as a PFIC in a subsequent tax year, the QEF election will be effective and the U.S. Holder will be subject to the rules described above for Electing U.S. Holders in such tax year and any subsequent tax years in which the Registrant qualifies as a PFIC. In addition, the QEF election remains in effect, although not applicable, with respect to an Electing U.S. Holder even after such U.S. Holder disposes of all of his or its direct and indirect interest in the shares of the Registrant. Therefore, if such U.S. Holder reacquires an interest in the Registrant, that U.S. Holder will be subject to the rules described above for Electing U.S. Holders for each tax year in which the Registrant qualifies as a PFIC.

In the case of a Non-Electing U.S. Holder, special taxation rules under Section 1291 of the Code will apply to (i) gains realized on the disposition (or deemed to be realized by reasons of a pledge) of his Registrant common shares and (ii) certain “excess distributions,” as defined in Section 1291(b), by the Registrant.

A Non-Electing U.S. Holder generally would be required to pro rate all gains realized on the disposition of his Registrant common shares and all excess distributions on his Registrant common shares over the entire holding period for the common shares. All gains or excess distributions allocated to prior years of the U.S. Holder (excluding any portion of the holder’s period prior to the first day of the first year of the Registrant (i) which began after December 31, 1986, and (ii) for which the Registrant was a PFIC) would be taxed at the highest tax rate for each such prior year applicable to ordinary income. The Non-Electing U.S. Holder also would be liable for interest on the foregoing tax liability for each such prior year calculated as if such liability had been due with respect to each such prior year. A Non-Electing U.S. Holder that is not a corporation must treat this interest charge as “personal interest” which, as discussed above, is wholly non-deductible. The balance, if any, of the gain or the excess distribution will be treated as ordinary income in the year of the disposition or distribution, and no interest charge will be incurred with respect to such balance. In certain circumstances, the sum of the tax and the PFIC interest charge may exceed the amount of the excess distribution received, or the amount of proceeds of disposition realized, by the U.S. Holder.

If the Registrant is a PFIC for any taxable year during which a Non-Electing U.S. Holder holds Registrant common shares, then the Registrant will continue to be treated as a PFIC with respect to such Registrant common shares, even if it is no longer definitionally a PFIC. A Non-Electing U.S. Holder may terminate this deemed PFIC status by electing to recognize gain (which will be taxed under the rules discussed above for Non-Electing U.S. Holders) as if such Registrant common shares had been sold on the last day of the last taxable year for which it was a PFIC.

Effective for tax years of U.S. Holders beginning after December 31, 1997, U.S. Holders who hold (actually or constructively) marketable stock of a foreign corporation that qualifies as a PFIC may elect to mark such stock to the market annually (a “mark-to-market election”). If such an election is made, such U.S. Holder will generally not be subject to the special taxation rules of Section 1291 discussed above. However, if the mark-to-market election is made by a Non-Electing U.S. Holder after the beginning of the holding period for the PFIC stock, then the Section 1291 rules will apply to certain dispositions of, distributions on and other amounts taxable with respect to Registrant common shares. A U.S. Holder who makes the mark-to-market election will include in income for each taxable year for which the election is in effect an amount equal to the excess, if any, of the fair market value of the common shares of the Registrant as of the close of such tax year over such U.S. Holder's adjusted basis in such common shares. In addition, the U.S. Holder is allowed a deduction for the lesser of (i) the excess, if any, of such U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in the common shares over the fair market value of such shares as of the close of the tax year, or (ii) the excess, if any, of (A) the mark-to-market gains for the common shares in the Registrant included by such U.S. Holder for prior tax years, including any amount which would have been treated as a mark-to-market gain for any prior tax year but for the Section 1291 rules discussed above with respect to Non-Electing U.S. Holders, over (B) the mark-to-market losses for shares that were allowed as deductions for prior tax years. A U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in the common shares of the Registrant will be adjusted to reflect the amount included in or deducted from income as a result of a mark-to-market election. A mark-to-market election applies to the taxable year in which the election is made and to each subsequent taxable year, unless Getty common shares cease to be marketable, as specifically defined, or the IRS consents to revocation of the election. Because the IRS has not established procedures for making a mark-to-market election, U.S. Holders should consult their tax advisors regarding the manner of making such an election. No view is expressed regarding whether common shares of the Registrant are marketable for these purposes or whether the election will be available.

Under Section 1291(f) of the Code, the IRS has issued Proposed Treasury Regulations that, subject to certain exceptions, would treat as taxable certain transfers of PFIC stock by Non-Electing U.S. Holders that are generally not otherwise taxed, such as gifts, exchanges pursuant to corporate reorganizations, and transfers at death. Generally, in such cases the basis of Registrant common shares in the hands of the transferee and the basis of any property received in the exchange for those common shares would be increased by the amount of gain recognized. Under the Proposed Treasury Regulations, an Electing U.S. Holder would not be taxed on certain transfers of PFIC stock, such as gifts, exchanges pursuant to corporate reorganizations, and transfers at death. The transferee's basis in this case will depend on the manner of the transfer. In the case of a transfer by an Electing U.S. Holder upon death, for example, the transferee's basis is generally equal to the fair market value of the Electing U.S. Holder's common shares as of the date of death under Section 1014 of the Code. The specific tax effect to the U.S. Holder and the transferee may vary based on the manner in which the common shares are transferred. Each U.S. Holder of the Registrant is urged to consult a tax advisor with respect to how the PFIC rules affect his or its tax situation.

Whether or not a U.S. Holder makes a timely QEF election with respect to common shares of the Registrant, certain adverse rules may apply in the event that both the Registrant and any foreign corporation in which the Registrant directly or indirectly holds shares is a PFIC (a "lower-tier PFIC"). Pursuant to certain Proposed Treasury Regulations, a U.S. Holder would be treated as owning his or its proportionate amount of any lower-tier PFIC shares, and generally would be subject to the PFIC rules with respect to such indirectly-held PFIC shares unless such U.S. Holder makes a timely QEF election with respect thereto. The Registrant intends to make the necessary information available to U.S. Holders to permit them to make (and maintain) QEF elections with respect to each subsidiary of the Registrant that is a PFIC.

Under the Proposed Treasury Regulations, a U.S. Holder who does not make a timely QEF election with respect to a lower-tier PFIC generally would be subject to tax (and the PFIC interest charge) on (i) any excess distribution deemed to have been received with respect to his or its lower-tier PFIC shares and (ii) any gain deemed to arise from a so-called "indirect disposition" of such shares. For this purpose, an indirect disposition of lower-tier PFIC shares would generally include (i) a disposition by the Registrant (or an intermediate entity) of lower-tier PFIC shares, and (ii) any other transaction resulting in a diminution of the U.S. Holder's proportionate ownership of the lower-tier PFIC, including an issuance of additional common shares by the Registrant (or an intermediate entity). Accordingly, each prospective U.S. Holder should be aware that he or it could be subject to tax even if such U.S. Holder receives no distributions from the Registrant and does not dispose of its common shares. The Registrant strongly urges each prospective U.S. Holder to consult a tax advisor with respect to the adverse rules applicable, under the Proposed Treasury Regulations, to U.S. Holders of lower-tier PFIC shares.

Certain special, generally adverse, rules will apply with respect to Registrant common shares while the Registrant is a PFIC unless the U.S. Holder makes a timely QEF election. For example under Section 1298(b)(6) of the Code, a U.S. Holder who uses PFIC stock as security for a loan (including a margin loan) will, except as may be provided in regulations, be treated as having made a taxable disposition of such shares.

Controlled Foreign Corporation

If more than 50% of the total combined voting power of all classes of shares entitled to vote or the total value of the shares of the Registrant is owned, actually or constructively, by citizens or residents of the United States, United States domestic partnerships or corporation, or estates or trusts other than foreign estates or trusts (as defined by the Internal Revenue Code Section 7701(a)(31)), each of which own, actually or constructively, 10% or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of shares entitled to vote of the Registrant ("United States Shareholder"), the Registrant could be treated as a controlled foreign corporation (“CFC”) under Subpart F of the Code. This classification would effect many complex results, one of which is the inclusion of certain income of a CFC which is subject to current U.S. tax. The United States generally taxes United States Shareholders of a CFC currently on their pro rata shares of the Subpart F income of the CFC. Such United States Shareholders are generally treated as having received a current distribution out of the CFC’s Subpart F income and are also subject to current U.S. tax on their pro rata shares of increases in the CFC’s earnings invested in U.S. property. The foreign tax credit described above may reduce the U.S. tax on these amounts. In addition, under Section 1248 of the Code, gain from the sale or exchange of shares by a U.S. Holder of common shares of the Registrant which is or was a United States Shareholder at any time during the five-year period ending on the date of the sale or exchange is treated as ordinary income to the extent of earnings and profits of the Registrant attributable to the shares sold or exchanged. If a foreign corporation is both a PFIC and a CFC, the foreign corporation generally will not be treated as a PFIC with respect to United States Shareholders of the CFC. This rule generally will be effective for taxable years of United States Shareholders beginning after 1997 and for taxable years of foreign corporations ending with or within such taxable years of United States Shareholders. Special rules apply to United States Shareholders who are subject to the special taxation rules under Section 1291 discussed above with respect to a PFIC. Because of the complexity of Subpart F, a more detailed review of these rules is outside of the scope of this discussion. The Registrant does not believe that it currently qualifies as a CFC. However, there can be no assurance that the Registrant will not be considered a CFC for the current or any future taxable year.

ITEM 15 CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

As required by Rule 13a-15 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act"), the Registrant carried out an evaluation of the effectiveness of the design and operation of its disclosure controls and procedures as of December 31, 2005, being the date of the Registrant's most recently completed fiscal year. This evaluation was carried out under the supervision and with the participation of the Registrant's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer. Based upon that evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that the Registrant's disclosure controls and procedures are effective in timely alerting management to material information relating to the Registrant required to be included in its periodic SEC filings.

Disclosure controls and procedures include, without limitation, controls and procedures designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in our reports filed under the Exchange Act is accumulated and communicated to management, including the Registrant's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

During the Registrant's most recently completed fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, there were no changes in the Registrant's internal control over financial reporting that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to affect, the Registrant's internal control over financial reporting.

The term "internal control over financial reporting" is defined as a process designed by, or under the supervision of, the Registrant's principal executive and principal financial officers, or persons performing similar functions, and effected by the Registrant's board of directors, management and other personnel, to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and includes those policies and procedures that:

- (1) Pertain to the maintenance of records that in reasonable detail accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Registrant;
- (2) Provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Registrant are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the Registrant; and
- (3) Provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of the Registrant's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.”

GETTY COPPER INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006
(stated in Canadian dollars)

1. Nature of Business

Getty Copper Inc. is a public company incorporated under the Canada Corporations Act in September 1987. Subsequent to incorporation the company has gone through a number of name changes until in March 2003, when the name was changed to Getty Copper Inc. The Company is in the business of mineral exploration and mine development in the Highland Valley area of British Columbia.

2. General information and continuing operations

The Company has not yet determined whether its mineral rights contain ore reserves that are economically recoverable. In addition, the Company is dependent upon external sources of financing in order to fund the exploration of its mineral rights. The recoverability of amounts shown for mineral rights and the ability of the Company to meet its obligations is dependent upon the discovery of economically recoverable reserves, the ability of the Company to obtain necessary financing to complete the exploration and development of the mineral rights and future profitable production or proceeds from the disposition thereof.

3. Significant accounting policies

These financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Canada applicable to a going-concern. The financial statements do not give effect to adjustments that would be necessary should the Company be required to realize its assets and liquidate its liabilities and commitments in other than the normal course of business.

a) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of temporary investments in commercial paper and money market deposits that are highly liquid and readily convertible to known amounts of cash.

b) Mineral rights

Costs of acquisition and exploration expenditures are allocated to specific groups of mineral rights as work is performed on or for the benefit of those rights and are capitalized until such time as the extent of mineralization has been determined and mineral rights are either developed, sold, or abandoned. If there is an indication of impairment the mineral rights are written-down to the estimated net recoverable amount. The Company does not accrue the estimated future cost of maintaining, in good standing, its mineral rights.

Capitalized costs are amortized over the useful life of the rights upon commencement of commercial production, or written-off if the rights are sold or abandoned.

c) Administrative costs

Administrative costs are expensed as incurred.

GETTY COPPER INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006
(stated in Canadian dollars)

3. Significant accounting policies -continued

d) Property, building and equipment

Property, building and equipment are recorded at cost. Amortization is provided on the declining balance basis at the following annual rates:

Automotive equipment	30%
Building	4%
Computer equipment	45%
Computer software	100%
Office equipment	20%
Portable buildings	30%

When the net carrying amount of the property, building or equipment exceeds estimated net recoverable amounts, the asset is written down to its estimated fair value and a change is recorded in the statement of operations.

e) Stock option plan

The Company records compensation expense when stock or stock options are issued to employees in accordance with any vesting terms.

f) Future income taxes

The Company follows the liability method of accounting for income taxes. Under this method, current income taxes are recognized for the estimated income taxes payable for the current year. Future income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for temporary differences between tax and accounting bases of assets and liabilities and for unused tax losses. Future income tax assets are recorded in the financial statements if their realization is considered to be more likely than not.

g) Exploration tax credits

Exploration tax credits are recorded as a reduction in exploration costs as those costs are incurred.

h) Flow-through financing

Under the Canadian Income Tax Act a company may issue securities referred to as flow-through shares, whereby the investor may claim the tax deductions arising from the qualifying expenditure of the proceeds by the company. When resource expenditures are renounced to the investors and the Company has reasonable assurance that the expenditures will be completed, future income tax liabilities are recognized (renounced expenditures multiplied by the effective corporate tax rate), thereby reducing share capital. Previously unrecognized tax assets may then offset or eliminate the liability recorded.

i) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Specific areas involving management estimates include the variables used to derive stock-based compensation, the valuation of mineral rights and the determination of useful lives of property, building and equipment for purposes of calculating amortization.

3. Significant accounting policies - continued

j) Loss per share

Loss per share has been calculated using the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during each fiscal year. Diluted loss per share has not been calculated as it is anti-dilutive when the numerator used in the calculation is a net loss. For purposes of the calculation of the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding, share consolidations are considered to have occurred on the first day of the earliest fiscal year presented.

k) Financial instruments

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts payable, and accrued liabilities and mortgage payable. Unless otherwise noted, it is management's opinion that the Company is not exposed to significant interest, currency or credit risks arising from these financial instruments. The fair values of these financial instruments approximate their carrying values, unless otherwise noted.

4. Mineral rights

The Getty mineral rights are contiguous and are located within the Highland Valley, British Columbia mining district covering an area of approximately 200 square kilometres. Property, building and equipment amortization included in exploration costs during the year ending December 31, 2006 amounted to $6,897 (2005 - $7,758).

As at December 31, 2006, the Company's historical deferred costs and the current carrying aggregate amount are derived as follows:

The Company originally entered into an agreement to acquire a 50% interest in the Getty Central, Getty South and Getty Southwest mineral rights from Robak Industries Ltd. ("Robak"), a private company controlled by the Company's president, under certain terms which were not met. On November 8, 2002 the Company and Robak terminated the original agreement and entered into an agreement for the Company to acquire a 100% interest in the Getty Central and Getty Southwest and a 50% interest in the Getty South mineral rights from Robak in exchange for 6,000,000 common shares of the Company at a deemed value of $1,200,000. The Company also agree to pay 100% of the costs to place the Getty South mineral rights into production, and granted a 1-1/2% net smelter royalty in favour of Robak.

In 2004, the Board of Directors considered acquiring the remaining 50% of Getty South from Robak. The board commissioned a valuation of the Robak interest from the same party that carried out the 2002 valuation. The valuator presented information about his 2002 report that caused the board to re-examine the 2002 transaction. An independent committee comprised of all directors except the Company's president has initiated a thorough review of the historical geological data for the Getty South Property. To date the board has received nothing that would suggest that the Getty South acquisition should be rescinded. Refer to note 9.

The Company is pursuing approaches to further develop its mineral rights. Although it is uncertain whether the Company will determine that it has economically recoverable reserves and whether it will be able to obtain the necessary financing to complete the exploration and development of the mineral rights, the Company believes that it may be able to economically develop the mineral rights. However, Canadian generally accepted accounting principles require that exploration costs related to mineral rights be written-down for impairment unless there is persuasive evidence that impairment has not occurred. Accordingly, at December 31, 2003 the Company had recorded provisions for impairment of exploration costs in the amount of $9,500,933 and of rights acquisition costs of $13,910. The Company has elected to resume deferring costs incurred from January 2004 until such time as it determines if it has economically recoverable reserves, or until exploration ceases and the mineral rights are abandoned.

The Getty mineral rights are subject to a 1-1/2% net smelter return royalty in favour of Robak.

8. Share capital - continued

On July 7, 2006, the Company issued 10,000,000 units at $0.11 for gross proceeds of $1,100,000. Each unit is comprised of one common share and one common share half-warrant, entitling the holder of each whole share purchase warrant to purchase an additional one common share of the Company for a period of 6 months (expiry date – extended to July 7, 2008 from January 7, 2007) at a price of $0.15. No finder's fees or commissions were paid. Proceeds from the private placement will be used to fund the Company's exploration and development programs, to pay ongoing expenses and for general working capital. No value has been attributed to the warrants as their exercise price was above market.

On January 16, 2006, the Company issued 5,000,000 shares at $0.10 per share through a private placement, raising $500,000. Each unit is comprised of one common share of the Company and a one half common share purchase warrant, with each whole warrant entitling the holder to purchase one additional common share of the Company at a price of $0.15 during the period July 16, 2006 to January 16, 2008, (warrants were extended from January 16, 2007 to January 16, 2008). The fair value of the warrants were not materially impacted by the extension of time to exercise the warrants.

On April 15, 2005, the Company issued 1,900,000 incentive stock options exercisable at $0.20 during the period from April 15, 2006 to April 14, 2007 and $0.25 during the period from April 15, 2007 to April 14, 2008.

The Company reset in 2005 the exercise price and reduced the term of 850,000 outstanding incentive stock options to $0.20 during the period from April 15, 2006 to April 14, 2007 and $0.25 during the period from April 15, 2007 to April 14, 2008. Regulatory approval was received May 9, 2005. Disinterested shareholder approval was received at the Company's annual general meeting which was held on June 27, 2005.

On May 12, 2005, the Company completed a private placement of 1,335,000 units. Each unit consisted of 1 share valued at $0.15 and a full warrant to purchase a further share of common stock at $0.25 during the period May 13, 2006 to May 12, 2007..

On December 7, 2004, the Company completed a private placement for gross proceeds of $1,100,000. Each unit consisted of one share valued at $0.25 and a full warrant to purchase a further share of common stock at $0.35 during the period December 8, 2005 to December 7, 2006. These warrants expired without any being exercised.

Contributed Surplus in the amount of $Nil (2005 - $5,691) was recorded as a result of the Company recognizing stock option compensation expense.

The Company recorded $Nil (2005-$347,710) in share issue costs as the tax benefit given up due to the recognition of previously unrecorded tax assets to offset the future tax liability recorded on the issuance of flow-through shares.

* The options issued are exercisable at a price of $0.20 per share until April 14, 2007. From April 15, 2007 to and including April 14, 2008, these options are exercisable at a price of $0.25 per share. During 2006, no stock options were exercised.

During 2003, the Company granted 1,950,000 common share incentive options to directors and employees exercisable at $0.61 per share to November 14, 2008. The options vested over the 18 month period following the date of grant. Based upon the Black-Scholes option valuation model, a risk-free market rate of 3% and a volatility of 7%, the estimated compensation cost related to the options granted is approximately $100,000 of which $Nil (2005 – $5,691) was recognized during the period.

Option pricing models require the input of highly subjective assumptions, particularly as to the expected price volatility of the stock and expected life of the option. Changes in these assumptions can materially affect the fair value estimate and therefore it is management's view that the existing models do not necessarily provide a single reliable measure of the fair value of the Company's stock option grants and warrant issuances.

9. Commitments and contingencies

The Company may be faced with significant legal fees in the future as a result of events related to the review of the 2002 Mineral Property Interest Sales Agreement and the various lawsuits to which it is a party, as described below:

- The Company initiated a lawsuit on November 10, 2005 in the Supreme Court of British Columbia against former directors Robert Gardner and Vittorio Preto for the recovery of $120,000 USD which the Company claims was inappropriately, without board approval, and contrary to the Company's banking resolution removed from the Company's bank account during 2004. The amount claimed was expensed as Development fees in the Company's 2004 financial statements and no provision has been recorded for its future recovery.
- In the first quarter of 2005, former directors Robert Gardner and Vittorio Preto filed a Third Party action against the Company claiming an indemnity in respect of all costs, charges and expenses reasonably incurred by them in defence of a lawsuit brought November 24, 2004 against them by Robak. The Company filed a Defence to the claim and Counterclaim alleging that Gardner and Preto are not entitled to indemnification, asserting that these former directors did not act with a view to the best interests of the Company and otherwise did not discharge the fiduciary and other duties they owed to the Company as directors.

DECEMBER 31, 2006
(stated in Canadian dollars)

- On April 25, 2006 the Company initiated a lawsuit in the Supreme Court of British Columbia against the law firm of Blake Cassels & Graydon LLP. The lawsuit claims inter alia, damages for breach of duty owed to the Company. The outcome of this claim is presently undeterminable and the financial statements reflect no provisions in respect to it.
- On July 7, 2006, the Company was named in a lawsuit initiated in the Supreme Court of BC by a number of plaintiffs including Robert Gardner and Gordon Blankstein. The action alleges, inter alia, that the business or affairs of the Company is oppressive or unfairly prejudicial to or has unfairly disregarded the interests of the plaintiffs and those similarly situated. The Company has instructed counsel to vigorously defend the action.

The Company considers the outcomes of all of these claims, both on its behalf and against it, to be presently indeterminable and the financial statements reflect no specific provisions in respect to any of them.

10. Related party transactions

In addition to transactions described elsewhere in these financial statements, the Company had the following transactions and balances with officers and directors of the Company and companies or professional firms with which officers or directors are associated.

These transactions are in the normal course of operations and are measured at fair value as determined by management.

11. Differences between Canadian and United States accounting principles

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") in Canada which differ from those principles that the Company would have followed had its financial statements been prepared in accordance with GAAP in the United States. The significant differences which have or could materially affect line items in the financial statements are in respect to:

a) Mineral Rights

Under Canadian GAAP costs of acquisition and exploration and development expenditures are permitted to be capitalized until such time as the extent of mineralization has been determined and mineral rights are either developed, sold or abandoned. If there is an indication of impairment the mineral rights are written-down to their estimated recoverable amounts. Under US GAAP all exploration and development costs incurred prior to the determination of economic feasibility are expensed currently.

GETTY COPPER INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006
(stated in Canadian dollars)

11. United States accounting principles - continued

b) Flow-through shares

Under Canadian income tax legislation, the Company is permitted to issue shares whereby the Company agrees to incur qualifying expenditures (as defined under the Canadian Income Tax Act) and renounce the related income tax deductions to the investors. Under Canadian GAAP, which was codified in March, 2004, flow-through shares are accounted for as part of the issuance of capital stock at the price paid for the shares, net of any future income tax liability. Under US GAAP, SFAS 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes" (SFAS109), the proceeds should be allocated between the offering of the shares and the sale of tax benefits when the shares are offered. The allocation is made based on the difference between the quoted price of the shares and the amount the investor pays for the flow-through shares. A liability is recognized initially for the premium paid by the investors.

For US GAAP purposes, the difference between the future income tax liability on renunciation and the premium is recorded as a future income tax expense. For US GAAP purposes the Company does not have temporary differences as a result of the policy to expense costs related to mineral properties, therefore all future income taxes related to renunciations for Canadian GAAP are reversed through the statements of operations for US GAAP purposes.

The historical reconciling items disclosed herein are in respect to the reversal of the required Canadian GAAP treatment of flow-through share issuances and renunciations in previous years.

c) Escrowed Shares

Historically, under US GAAP, compensation expense was recognized when common shares were released from escrow to the extent that their fair value exceeded their issuance price, and when their release was contingent upon the performance of the issuer and/or recipient. Under Canadian GAAP no transaction is recorded when the shares are released from escrow, however, TSX-Venture Exchange policy no longer allows shares to be released from escrow for any reason except the passage of time. Accordingly, no future US/Canadian GAAP differences are expected to occur in this area.
