Actual gains, if any, on stock option exercises are dependent on our future financial performance, overall market conditions and the option holder's continued employment through the vesting period. This table does not take into account any appreciation in the price of the common stock from the date of grant to the date of this Proxy Statement.

Compensation of Directors

Each of our non-employee directors receives an annual director's fee of $40,000, payable quarterly in arrears. In addition, the chairperson of the Audit Committee, Compensation and Management Development Committee, and Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee receives an additional annual fee of $25,000, $10,000 and $5,000, respectively. Under our stock option plans, each non-employee director is granted options to purchase 10,000 shares upon first being elected to our Board of Directors. Beginning with the 2006 annual meeting of stockholders', each non-employee director will receive $45,000 in restricted stock that will vest one-third over each of the next three years. Prior to this year, each non-employee director had received options to purchase 7,500 shares of common stock on the date of each annual meeting of stockholders. All options had an exercise price equal to the fair market value of the common stock on the date of grant and vested one-third on the date of grant and one-third at the end of each of the next two subsequent years of service on the Board of Directors.

Employment Contracts and Termination of Employment and Change-in-Control Arrangements

The Company has begun phasing-out its use of employment agreements and does not expect to renew any current employment agreements when they are up for renewal under the existing contract terms. Prospectively, in lieu of employment agreements, the Company expects to enter into employment separation agreements with certain key employees.

In January 1998, the Company entered into an agreement with John P. Dugan providing for his appointment as chairman of the Board of Directors and director of strategic planning. The agreement provides for an annual salary of $150,000.

As part of an employment separation agreement with Mr. Ellberger, the Company modified the expiration date on 32,500 options that had been awarded to Mr. Ellberger while he was a member of our Board of Directors. The awards were modified to expire three years from his employee termination date. Additionally, Mr. Ellberger was awarded up to 50,000 shares of common stock conditional on the performance of the Company's share price at the end of the performance period, which has been designated as August 15, 2005 through March 31, 2007. The actual award will be determined as follows: (1) 50,000 shares if the stock price of the Company's common stock is $36.00 or higher; or 16,780 shares plus 20.78 shares for each cent ($0.01) above $20.00 stock price if the stock price of the Company's common stock is between $20.00 and $35.99; or zero shares if the stock price of the Company's common stock is below $20.00.

In November 2001, the Company entered into an employment agreement with Charles T. Saldarini providing for his employment as chief executive officer and vice chairman of the Board of Directors for a term expiring on October 31, 2005 subject to automatic one-year renewals unless either party gives written notice one year prior to the end of the then current term of the agreement. The agreement provided for an annual base salary of $350,000 (subject to yearly increases as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee) and for participation in all executive benefit plans. The agreement also provided that Mr. Saldarini was entitled to bonus and incentive compensation awards as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee. Further, the agreement provided, among other things, that, if Mr. Saldarini's employment is terminated without cause (as defined) or if he terminated his employment for good reason (as defined), the Company would pay him an amount equal to three times the sum of his then current base salary plus the average incentive compensation paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the termination date. On October 21, 2005, the Company announced the resignation of Mr. Saldarini as chief executive officer and vice chairman of the Board of Directors. As per the terms of his employment agreement, Mr. Saldarini was paid approximately $2.4 million in November of 2005.

In May 2001, the Company entered into an amended and restated employment agreement with Steven K. Budd providing for his employment as president and chief operating officer for a term expiring on April 30, 2007. The agreement provides for an annual base salary of $275,000 (subject to yearly increases as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee) and for participation in all executive benefit plans. The agreement also provides that Mr. Budd will be entitled to bonus and incentive compensation awards as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee. Further, the agreement provides, among other things, that, if Mr. Budd's employment is terminated without cause (as defined) or if he terminates his employment for good reason (as defined), the Company will pay him an amount equal to three times the sum of his then current base salary plus the average incentive compensation paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the termination date.

In May 2001, the Company entered into an amended and restated employment agreement with Bernard C. Boyle providing for his employment as executive vice president and chief financial officer for a term expiring on April 30, 2004 subject to automatic one-year renewals unless either party gives written notice one year prior to the end of the then current term of the agreement. The agreement provided for an annual base salary of $250,000 (subject to yearly increases as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee) and for participation in all executive benefit plans. The agreement also provided that Mr. Boyle would be entitled to bonus and incentive compensation awards as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee. Further, the agreement provided, among other things, that, if Mr. Boyle's employment was terminated without cause (as defined) or if he terminated his employment for good reason (as defined), the Company would pay him an amount equal to three times the sum of his then current base salary plus the average incentive compensation paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the termination date. In May 2001, the Company entered into an amended and restated employment agreement with Stephen P. Cotugno providing for his employment as executive vice president of corporate development and investor relations for a term expiring on November 30, 2006. The agreement provides for an annual base salary of $175,000 (subject to yearly increases as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee) and for participation in all executive benefits plans. The agreement also provides that Mr. Cotugno will be entitled to bonus and incentive compensation awards as determined by the Compensation and Management Development Committee. Further, the agreement provides, among other things, that, if Mr. Cotugno's employment is terminated without cause (as defined) or if he terminates his employment for good reason (as defined), the Company will pay him an amount equal to three times the sum of his then current base salary plus the average incentive compensation paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the termination date.

In November 2002, the Company entered into an employment agreement with Beth R. Jacobson providing for her employment as executive vice president, general counsel and corporate secretary for a term expiring on December 31, 2005 subject to automatic one-year renewals unless either party gives written notice 90 days written notice prior to the end of the then current term of the agreement. Further, the agreement provided, among other things, that, if Mr. Rubino's employment was terminated without cause (as defined) or if he terminated his employment for good reason (as defined), the Company would pay him an amount equal to his base compensation at the rate in effect at the time of termination through January 5, 2006, plus the pro rata share of any incentive compensation to which he would have been entitled to in the year in which termination occurred, plus an amount equal to the sum of his annual base salary and the average cash incentive compensation paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the termination date. Effective April 18, 2005, Mr. Rubino resigned from his position with the Company. As per the terms of his severance agreement, Mr. Rubino received approximately $421,000.

Audit Fees	$963,342	$642,620
Audit-Related Fees	-	175,366
Tax Fees	-	89,816

In 2004, the Company retained the services of PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP as its independent registered public accounting firm. In 2005, the Company retained the services of Ernst & Young, LLP as its independent registered public accounting firm.. The amounts shown for “Audit-related fees” in 2004 were primarily for due diligence work and other acquisition related fees. The amounts shown for “Tax fees” in 2004 were for federal and state tax advice. The amount shown for “All other fees” was for an online research tool.

Under its charter, the Audit Committee must pre-approve all engagements of our independent registered public accounting firm unless an exception to such pre-approval exists under the Exchange Act or the rules of the SEC. Each year, the independent registered public accounting firm’s retention to audit our financial statements and permissible non-audit services, including the associated fees, is approved by the Audit Committee before the filing of the preceding year’s Annual Report on Form 10-K. At the beginning of the fiscal year, the Audit Committee will evaluate other known potential engagements of the independent registered public accounting firm, in light of the scope of the work proposed to be performed and the proposed fees, and approve or reject each service, taking into account whether the services are permissible under applicable law and the possible impact of each non-audit service on the independent registered public accounting firm’s independence. At each subsequent Audit Committee meeting, the Audit Committee will receive updates on the services actually provided by the independent registered public accounting firm, and management may present additional services for approval. Typically, these would be services, such as due diligence for an acquisition, that were not known at the beginning of the year. The Audit Committee has delegated to the Chairperson of the Audit Committee the authority to evaluate and approve engagements on behalf of the Audit Committee in the event that a need arises for pre-approval between committee meetings. This might occur, for example, if we proposed to execute a financing on an accelerated timetable. If the Chairperson so approves any such engagements, he will report that approval to the full Audit Committee at the next Audit Committee meeting.

Since the May 6, 2003 effective date of the SEC rules stating that an auditor is not independent of an audit client if the services it provides to the client are not appropriately approved, each new engagement of its independent registered public accounting firm was approved in advance by the Audit Committee, and none of those engagements made use of the de minimis exception to the pre-approval requirement contained in the SEC’s rules.
