NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2000 and 2001

---

Note 1 - Organization

Probook, Inc. (the "Company") was incorporated in California on January 14, 1998. Currently, the Company has no principal plan of operations and is currently seeking an on-going business to acquire.

The Company is in the development stage as defined in FASB Statement 7. The Company has not paid any dividends and dividends, which may be paid in the future, will depend on the financial requirements of the Company and other relevant factors.

Note 2 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

a. Property and Equipment

The cost of property and equipment is depreciated over the estimated useful lives of the related assets. Depreciation is computed on the straight-line method for financial reporting purposes and for income tax reporting purposes.

b. Net Loss Per Share

The Company adopted the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 128, "Earnings Per Share" ("EPS") that established standards for the computation, presentation and disclosure of earnings per share, replacing the presentation of Primary EPS with a presentation of Basic EPS.

As discussed further in Note 4, founders and certain other shareholders in 2000, returned to the Company 3,135,000 shares of its common stock that were subsequently cancelled. Proforma basic loss per share has been provided for all periods included in the financial statements as if the 3,135,000 shares were cancelled as of the beginning of each period.

c. Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers cash and cash equivalents to include all stable, highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less.

d. Pervasiveness of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

e. Income Taxes

The Company accounts for its income taxes under the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards 109 ("SFAS 109"). The method of accounting for income taxes under SFAS 109 is an asset and liability method. The asset and liability method requires the recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of temporary differences between tax bases and financial reporting bases of other assets and liabilities.

f. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Pursuant to SFAS No. 107, "Disclosures About Fair Value of Financial Instruments", the Company is required to estimate the fair value of all financial instruments included on its balance sheets as of December 31, 2000 and 2001. The Company considers the carrying value of such amounts in the financial statements to approximate their face value.

g. New Accounting Pronouncements

SFAS No. 130, "Reporting Comprehensive Income", establishes standards for reporting and displaying comprehensive income and its components in financial statements. The Company adopted the provisions of SFAS No. 130 in 1998, but has had no elements of comprehensive income since inception.

SFAS No. 131, "Disclosures About Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information", establishes a new model for segment reporting, called the "management approach" and requires certain disclosures for each segment. The management approach is based on the way the chief operating decision-maker organizes segments within a company for making operating decisions and assessing performance. The Company adopted the provisions of SFAS No. 131 in 1998, but currently is in the development stage.
