PLAN OF OPERATION

The following discussion should be read in conjunction with, and is qualified in its entirety by, the Financial Statements and the Notes thereto included in this report. This discussion contains certain forward-looking statements that involve substantial risks and uncertainties. When used in this report, the words "anticipate", "expect", "plan", "believe", and similar expressions as they relate to the company or its management are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. The company's actual results, performance or achievements could differ materially from those expressed in, or implied by, these forward-looking statements. Historical operating results are not necessarily indicative of the trends in operating results for any further period.

The company's overall business strategy relating to its automotive inventions is

- o to manufacture, market and sell, either directly, through others or jointly, the FTV™ vehicle to domestic and foreign customers, especially in the Asian, African, South and Central American markets; and
- o to manufacture, market and sell, either directly, through others or jointly, its hydraulic pump and motor, its constant velocity joint and its infinitely variable transmission to automotive and truck manufacturers, suppliers and component parts assemblers.

The company's plan of operation relative to its automotive inventions during the balance of fiscal 2002 is:

- o to install our generation III IVT using an electronically controlled 2004 emissions compliant Cummins Turbo-diesel engine in a 2003 Dodge Ram 3/4 ton 4x4 quad cab pick-up truck (see below);
- o to road test the truck to demonstrate that the IVT, as used in the Dodge light truck application, can double city fuel mileage and remove up to 90% of diesel particulates;
- o to conduct a public relations campaign, including utilization of the mass media, to stimulate interest in and demand for the IVT at governmental, business and consumer levels;
- o to build up to 2 production-ready, state of the art FTVs and to demonstrate these vehicles to potential joint venture candidates in China, Mexico and the United States;

- o to continue negotiations with selected automotive and truck manufacturers to generate a letter of intent with respect to either a license, merger or joint partnership for the continued development and testing of all or any one of the company's prototypes, their manufacture, their marketing and their worldwide sale;
- o to continue to improve the company's inventions and, where appropriate, to obtain patent protection on such new improvements.

The company is taking its next step toward commercialization of its automotive products. Torvec's generation III infinitely variable transmission has now been designed specifically for a vehicle and will be adapted to a 2003 Dodge Ram 3/4 ton 4x4 quad cab pick-up truck. This truck will have the long awaited electronically controlled 2004 emissions compliant Cummins (CUM.NYSE) turbo-diesel engine. (Torvec is an approved Cummins OEM). This engine is 5.9 liters in displacement, 240 bhp at 2900 rpm and has 460 lb-ft of torque at 1400 rpm. This truck is scheduled to arrive in early November 2002. Torvec has chosen this engine size because it represents a huge market usable in SUVs, light trucks, delivery trucks, school buses, airport shuttle buses and class 3 to 5 trucks.

Industrial sources have assessed that Torvec's IVT, used in this light truck application, could double city mileage and remove up to 90% of diesel particulates (black soot). Torvec is planning to present its IVT at its January 23, 2003 shareholders meeting. When the IVT is installed, all data (emissions and fuel economy) will be confirmed in a real world (on road) environment, which is more acceptable to the EPA.

Previously, on June 29, 2000, the company announced that it had granted an exclusive, world-wide license of all its automotive technology to Variable Gear, LLC for the aeronautical and marine markets. Variable Gear will pay the company 4% royalties for 7 years after which the company is obligated to repurchase the license. Variable Gear is owned 51% by Robert C. Horton, Chairman and CEO of Ultrafab, Inc. and a company shareholder. The company owns the remaining 49%. The company does not share in any profit or losses in this entity. Variable Gear has initiated discussions with a number of boat manufacturers, but to date it has not commenced operations or sublicensed our automotive technology in its markets.

The company's overall business strategy relating to its ice technology is to

- o to continue its efforts to sell or license its rights in the ice technology to raise funds for the continued development and commercialization of its core technologies;
- o to promote utilization of the company's ice technology world-wide.

The company's license agreement with Dartmouth provides for a royalty of 3.5% based on the value of net sales of licensed product with minimum annual payments of $10,000 for the first two years, $15,000 for the third year and $25,000 per year thereafter. In addition, the agreement provides for the payment of 50% of sub-license fee income.

The company's ice technology is held through its majority-owned subsidiary, Ice Surface Development, Inc. Our subsidiary has made significant progress in advancing the development of its intellectual property holdings. Using recent investments made by its management team and development partners, ISDI has:

- o created tangible developments in process technology that it intends to patent, and
- o Developed and is marketing a business plan leading to serious interest with strategic partner candidates for the express purpose of creating product applications and business development relationships.

The net loss for the three months ended September 30, 2002 was $830,000 as compared to the three months ended September 30, 2001 net loss of $1,573,000. The decrease in the net loss of $743,000 is principally related to a decrease in advertising and promotion and consulting expenses. During the three months ended September 30, 2001 the advertising and promotion expenses were $144,000 as compared to $4,000 for the three months ending September 30, 2002. Also, during the three months ended September 30, 2001, the Company incurred consulting fees of approximately $443,000 by a partnership of which officers of our majority-owned subsidiary are partners, for preparation of a business plan. Lastly, during the three months ended September 30, 2001, the Company charged operations in the amount of $398,000 for options and warrants granted compared to $8,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2002.

Research and development expenses for the three months ended September 30, 2002 amounted to $468,000 as compared to $315,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2001.

General and administrative expenses for the three months ended September 30, 2002 amounted to $452,000 as compared to $1,258,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2001. This decrease amounted to $806,000 and is principally due the same reasons as noted in the second above preceding paragraph.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The company's operations during the quarter ended September 30, 2002 were funded, in part, through the exercise by Swartz Private Equity of 61,355 commitment warrants and 63,093 purchase warrants under our investment agreement for proceeds of $68,104 and $59,568 respectively. Also, during the quarter ended September 30, 2002, a major shareholder purchased 399,007 common shares for proceeds of $568,000.

At September 30, 2002, the company's cash position was $444,000 and it had a working capital of $303,000. The increase in the company's cash position in the third quarter was due to common stock sales which totaled $695,672. The increase in the company's working capital was partially attributed to the exchange by Vernon, James and Keith Gleasman of the obligation to pay each of them consulting fees equaling $247,500, $242,500 and $162,600 respectively with the issuance of options. The Gleasmans were each granted 5 year common stock options, exercisable at $5.00 per share, to purchase in the case of Vernon Gleasman, 275,734 shares, in the case of James Gleasman, 270,164 shares and in the case of Keith Gleasman, 181,149 shares. The increase in the company's working capital was also attributable to the contribution by Michael Martindale, Jacob Brooks and David Marshall of $480,000 owed to them as of September 30, 2002 under their Ice Surface Development, Inc. employment contracts.

The company's cash position at anytime during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002 is directly dependent upon its success in selling stock since the company did not generate any revenues. The company does not anticipate generating any revenues from its business activities during fiscal year 2002.

During the quarter ended September 30, 2002 the company issued 86,617 shares to business consultants under its Business Consultants Stock Plan in exchange for ongoing corporate legal services, internal accounting services, expenses associated with our lawsuit, marketing research expenses as well as legal fees and associated expenses for ongoing patent work.

In addition, during the three months ended September 30, 2002, 126,340 restricted shares were issued for services.

On September 30, 2002, the Board of Directors approved an increase in the number of shares issuable under the company's Business Consultant's Stock Plan by 250,000 shares from 1,500,000 to 1,750,000 shares. The Company has reserved 76,290 business consultant's shares to issue in payment of Messers. Martindale, Brooks and Marshall's September 30, 2002 accrued, out-of-pocket expenses.

We do not believe that it would be appropriate to continue to access our Swartz equity line until current stock market conditions significantly improve, thus enabling us to raise dollars without significant dilution to our shareholders. The Company believes that, depending upon the short-term success of its ongoing negotiations with one or more joint venture candidates, it may be required to initiate a private placement in order to raise capital to build up to two production ready state-of-the-art FTVs.

At September 30, 2002 loans payable and advances to stockholders and officers amounted to $28,000 and are non interest bearing and have no fixed date of repayment.

The company has an obligation to purchase 51% of Variable Gear, LLC on January 1, 2008. The purchase price is equal to 51% of the then value of Variable Gear, as determined by an independent appraiser selected by the parties. This liability can not be estimated at this time. We believe that contributions of cash flows from operations, financing and strategic alliances will produce sufficient cash flow to fund this obligation.

Critical Accounting Policies

Revenue Recognition

Revenue in connection with the granting of license to Variable Gear LLC is to be recognized when all conditions specified under recent accounting standards have been met. Generally, revenue is only recorded when no future performance is required related to the item.

Impact of Inflation

Inflation has not had a significant impact on the company's operations to date and management is currently unable to determine the extent inflation may impact the company's operations during its fiscal quarter ending September 30, 2002.

Quarterly Fluctuations

As of September 30, 2002, the company had not engaged in significant revenue producing operations. Once the company actually commences significant revenue producing operations, the company's operating results may fluctuate significantly from period to period as a result of a variety of factors, including purchasing patterns of consumers, the length of the company's sales cycle to key customers and distributors, the timing of the introduction of new products and product enhancements by the company and its competitors, technological factors, variations in sales by product and distribution channel, product returns, and competitive pricing. Consequently, once the company actually commences significant revenue producing operations, the company's product revenues may vary significantly by quarter and the company's operating results may experience significant fluctuations.

CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Eric Steenburgh and Samuel M. Bronsky, the company's chief executive officer and chief financial officer, respectively, have informed the Board of Directors that, based upon their evaluations of the company's disclosure controls and procedures on a date within 90 days of the filing of this Quarterly Report (Form 10-QSB), such disclosure control and procedures are effective to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the company in the reports it submits under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 is accumulated and communicated to management (including the chief executive officer and chief financial officer) as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

There were no significant changes in the company's internal controls or in other factors that could significantly affect the controls since the date of their evaluation.

PART II
OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

Except as provided below, the company is not a party to any pending, material litigation. To the knowledge of management, no federal, state or local governmental agency is presently contemplating any proceeding against the company.

The lawsuit was based upon claims that MMI had misled the company and the Gleasmans concerning the operability of the prototype of the pump and motor design which utilized the gimbal as a constant velocity joint for use in a continuously variable gear transmission.

On September 26, 2002, the company and the Gleasmans dismissed their claims with prejudice.
