Risk Factors, page 13

1. Your response to prior comment two indicates that you expect to mitigate carbon pricing impacts on operating expenditures and profit margins by "encouraging low-carbon behavior and the innovation of cleaner options within our supply chain and products." Tell us more about these potential changes in your supply chain and products, and describe the transition risks related thereto.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations, page 28

2. We note your response to prior comment four. Please further address the following:
 - The first part of your response appears to focus on climate-related opportunities and references transition risks. Tell us how you considered disclosure that specifically refers to business trends related to climate change. In your response, describe your actual experience regarding changes in demand for goods or services that produce significant greenhouse gas emissions or are related to carbon-based energy sources.
 - The final part of your response refers to disclosure in your Form 10-K regarding reputational considerations and potential risks associated with your response to climate change. Please clarify this disclosure to more directly address reputational risks resulting from the production of greenhouse gas emissions from your operations or products and to explain the resulting potential adverse consequences to your business operations or financial condition (e.g., on access to capital, debt servicing costs, customer sentiment, etc.).
3. We note your response to prior comment five and reissue it in part. Please provide us with quantitative information for the periods covered by your Form 10-K regarding weather-related damages to your property or operations and the cost of property insurance and tell us whether the cost of insurance is expected to increase in future periods. In addition, please tell us how you considered disclosing the potential for indirect impacts to you from weather-related disruptions to your customers.
4. We note your response to prior comment six and reissue it in part. Please quantify your compliance costs related to climate change for the last three fiscal years.

Please contact Patrick Fullem at (202) 551-8337 or Jennifer Angelini at (202) 551-3047 with any questions.

Sincerely,
