SARDAR BIGLARI, SELF-MADE ENTREPRENEUR

- In 1984, Sardar Biglari and his family fled Iran to the United States, as refugees, and settled in San Antonio, Texas
- In 1996, at age 18, he founded his business with $15,000
- In 2000, he founded Biglari Capital Corp. (“Biglari Capital”), the general partner of The Lion Fund, L.P.
- In 2006, he became Chairman and CEO of Western Sizzlin Corporation, a Nasdaq-listed restaurant company that was hemorrhaging losses but was successfully turned into a profitable enterprise
- In 2008, he became Chairman and CEO of The Steak n Shake Company (“Steak n Shake”), a restaurant chain that was on the brink of bankruptcy
 - Sardar led the remarkable turnaround of Steak n Shake, resulting in 27 consecutive quarters of same-store sales growth
- Biglari Capital is the largest shareholder of Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc. (“Cracker Barrel” or the “Company”) with a 19.7% ownership stake
 - Since becoming a significant shareholder, Biglari has not sold a single share of Cracker Barrel stock

WHY ARE WE HERE?

- On October 13, 2015, Cracker Barrel filed an investor presentation in connection with its upcoming annual meeting seeking shareholder support for the Company's poison pill which was adopted by the Board of Directors of Cracker Barrel (the "Board") in April
 - The Company's presentation was explicit about the reasons for the continued poison pill: to protect shareholders from Sardar Biglari
 - Cracker Barrel's presentation, which contained numerous personal attacks, was in no way provoked
 - In fact, there has been no dialogue between Sardar Biglari and the Board for 18 months
- Based on the gross misrepresentations in the Company's presentation, we are responding publicly to set the record straight and to alert our fellow shareholders of the Board's disingenuous communications
- We find the Board's presentation especially alarming in light of the fact that there is no proxy fight, no shareholder proposal, and no unsolicited bid for the Company
 - First, shareholders should understand that the Tennessee Control Share Acquisition Act prohibits a shareholder with 20% or more of shares outstanding from voting a single share above the 20% level⁽¹⁾ – accomplishing the designed effect of the Company's proposed poison pill
 - Second, Biglari in particular has a publicly disclosed financing arrangement whereby $164.1 million of debt becomes due if he exceeds 20% ownership of the Company⁽²⁾
 - Knowing these facts, why is the Board undertaking a costly, misleading campaign against its largest shareholder?
- Additionally, the Board uses its presentation to boast about the Company's historical performance
 - We believe that the Company's historical performance can be significantly attributed to the recommendations of its anchor investor, Sardar Biglari

Does Cracker Barrel Need a Poison Pill?

THE COMPANY ASSERTS SHAREHOLDERS NEED “PROTECTION”

Approve the Shareholder Rights Plan

Our Board unanimously recommends a vote for the approval of the Shareholder Rights Plan

- ✓ We are continuing to execute on our proven strategic priorities
- ✓ We believe it is vitally important to protect our shareholders from Biglari Holdings or any other party who attempts to accumulate a potentially controlling position without paying a change of control premium
- ✓ This is a critical choice for you to make in protecting your investment

REASONS WHY THE PILL IS NOT NECESSARY

- The Company chose to adopt the Tennessee Control Share Acquisition Act, which is just as effective as the proposed poison pill at thwarting a hostile takeover
- Sardar Biglari has a financing arrangement with JP Morgan for $164.1 million in which the entirety of the debt becomes callable if Biglari's ownership of Cracker Barrel exceeds 20%⁽¹⁾

PILL OR NO PILL, BIGLARI IS NOT PRACTICALLY ABLE TO GO OVER 20%, SO WHY IS THE COMPANY KEEPING THE POISON PILL?

(1) Source: www.sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/1580602/000134100415000121/0001341004-15-000121-index.htm

TENNESSEE LAW ALREADY SERVES AS A DE FACTO POISON PILL

-  Tennessee Control Share Acquisition Act provides that a shareholder with 20% or greater ownership cannot vote any shares at or above 20%, unless voting rights are authorized by a majority of the other shareholders at a special meeting⁽¹⁾
-  Tennessee Control Share Acquisition Act effectively prevents a shareholder from exercising control

WHY IS THE CRACKER BARREL BOARD EXPENDING CONSIDERABLE EFFORT AND SHAREHOLDER MONEY TO SOLICIT PROXIES TO IMPLEMENT ITS PILL?

(1) Source: Sections 48-103-301 to 48-103-312 of the Tennessee Business Corporation Act

ABSENT A POISON PILL, WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF SARDAR BIGLARI ACQUIRED MORE THAN 20% OWNERSHIP OF CRACKER BARREL?

- 1) $164.1 million of debt would come due
- 2) Unable to vote a single share above 20%

DO SHAREHOLDERS NEED “PROTECTION” FROM... A SHAREHOLDER?

BIGLARI CANNOT OWN MORE THAN 20% OF THE COMPANY WITHOUT SERIOUS REPERCUSSIONS. THEN, WHY DOES THE BOARD BELIEVE THAT SHAREHOLDERS REQUIRE “PROTECTION” FROM A FELLOW SHAREHOLDER?

◆ DO CRACKER BARREL SHAREHOLDERS NEED “PROTECTION” FROM GOOD IDEAS?

- Should shareholders be shielded from initiatives proposed by the Company’s largest shareholder?
 - Biglari is a proven restaurant operator

◆ DO SHAREHOLDERS NEED “PROTECTION” FROM CRACKER BARREL’S ANCHOR INVESTOR?

- Since becoming a significant shareholder, Biglari has not sold a single share of Cracker Barrel stock

◆ WHY IS THE BOARD TRYING TO CREATE A THREAT WHEN NONE EXISTS?

- Cracker Barrel is already adequately protected under state law; so what is the urgency to adopt a pill now?

◆ WHY IS THE BOARD TRYING TO PICK A FIGHT?

- Biglari has not nominated directors for election in two years
- The Board has not communicated with Biglari for nearly two years

WHAT DOES IT SAY ABOUT A BOARD THAT MAKES UNPROVOKED ATTACKS AGAINST ITS LARGEST INVESTOR?

IS THE PILL PREVENTING THE COMPANY FROM BUYING BACK SHARES?

Company Statement

“As far as the opportunity to repurchase shares, as long as we have a 19.9% shareholder and we have a shareholder rights plan with a 20% threshold... the view that we have is that we need to find alternatives to share repurchases to return capital to shareholders....”

Larry Hyatt, CFO of Cracker Barrel
Q3 2015 Earnings Call , June 3, 2015 (emphasis added)

What the Pill States

*“[N]o Person shall become an ‘Acquiring Person’ as the result of an acquisition of Common Shares by the Company which, by reducing the number of Common Shares of the Company outstanding, increases the proportionate number of Common Shares of the Company Beneficially Owned by such Person to 20% or more of the Common Shares of the Company....”

Form 8-K filed April 9, 2015 (emphasis added)

IF THE EXISTING PILL HAS A SPECIFIC CARVE-OUT FOR BUY-BACKS, WHY DOES THE COMPANY REFUSE TO BUY-BACK STOCK?

DID SHAREHOLDERS FEEL “SAFER” WHEN RUMORS BROKE THAT BIGLARI WAS SELLING?

“Biglari selling shares will likely have a big impact on Cracker Barrel’s share price. Word of the sale, in fact, sent shares down more than 5 percent today.”

Nation’s Restaurant News, February 6, 2015

What Biglari Has Accomplished for Cracker Barrel

BIGLARI HAS CREATED EXTRAORDINARY VALUE

MULTIPLE EXPANSION AFTER BIGLARI 13D

"Biglari... has clearly had an impact. Much of the discussion on this site has focused on an indirect impact on the stock. Facing its second proxy fight in two years, Cracker Barrel has overhauled its board, changed its management and made numerous other changes to its business, which has had a positive impact on the company's financials and its sales numbers. It's a more dynamic company now than it was 19 months ago, and it's doubtful much of it would have happened if Cracker Barrel didn't have an activist investor breathing down its neck."

Restaurant Finance Monitor, Oct. 30, 2012 (emphasis added)

*THE INITIATIVES PUT FORWARD BY BIGLARI
SINCE 2011 HAVE RESULTED IN MEANINGFUL
CHANGES AT THE COMPANY AND, MOST IMPORTANTLY,
DRIVEN SHAREHOLDER VALUE*

WHAT DID BIGLARI ASK CRACKER BARREL TO DO?

① Improve Operating Execution

- Prior to Biglari, Cracker Barrel was experiencing a rapid decline in store-level profitability
 - Biglari pressured the Company to focus on operational improvements and unit economics
 - ◆ The Company began focusing on reducing costs and launched a six-point improvement plan which mirrored many of Biglari's initiatives

② Halt Unit Expansion

- Prior to Biglari, Cracker Barrel was targeting 5% annual increase in new stores and was aiming to achieve a total of 1,100 stores
 - Biglari highlighted that the Company's overall profitability had declined and that new unit expansion should be halted until the Company demonstrated consistent improvement in its same-store sales and thereby restored restaurant-level operating income
 - ◆ The Company greatly reduced its expansion program and has averaged less than a 1% increase in new store openings over the past three years

③ Upgrade Leadership

- Prior to Biglari's involvement, Cracker Barrel had a failing CEO and a stale Board
 - Biglari pressured the Company to change leadership and improve the composition of the Board
 - ◆ The Company replaced its CEO, CFO, General Counsel, seven of nine Directors, and replaced several other senior executives

④ Provide Appropriate Financial Disclosure

- Prior to Biglari, Cracker Barrel did not break out the financial performance of its retail operation
 - Biglari pressured the Company to provide additional segment data, asserting that the disclosure was needed for investors to properly evaluate the Company's performance
 - ◆ After first refusing to provide the information to investors, the Company began providing this pertinent data

⑤ Improve Executive Compensation Practices

- Prior to Biglari, the Company had poor executive compensation practices
 - ◆ Responding to Biglari pressure, the Company overhauled its executive compensation standards to improve the alignment of incentives between Company leadership and its shareholders

⑥ Licensing Cracker Barrel Brand

- Prior to Biglari, Cracker Barrel did not license its brand
 - Despite initially dismissing Biglari's idea as "exotic," the Company eventually decided to begin licensing the Company's brand in grocery stores
 - ◆ We share the Company's now-adopted enthusiasm regarding the licensing initiative and believe it can have the dual effect of generating revenue while increasing brand awareness

⑦ Return Excess Capital to Shareholders

- Prior to Biglari, Cracker Barrel was using its excess cash to pursue unit expansion rather than return capital to shareholders
 - Biglari has consistently called for increased dividends and share repurchases
 - In 2013, the Company offered to purchase Biglari's shares (tantamount to "greenmail"), which he declined
 - ◆ As an alternative to the Company's offer, Biglari countered that the Company should return equivalent capital for the benefit of all shareholders
 - Because of Biglari's pressure, the Company has greatly increased its annual dividend payments and issued a $3.00 per share special dividend on August 5, 2015

Biglari Pressure

"We believe the combination of a flawed strategy and poor execution has prevented Cracker Barrel's enhancement of value.... [S]hareholders were informed that the Company will spend approximately $50 million on opening new units. In our estimation, the Board and management are committing three sins: (1) expecting (not averting) an eighth consecutive year of decline in customer traffic, (2) fixating on opening new units instead of addressing the problems in existing ones, and (3) allocating $50 million of shareholder money when far more lucrative options exist on a risk-adjusted basis."

Sardar Biglari, November 14, 2011 (emphasis added)

Wall Street Feedback

"While CBRL has stated that expanding the footprint of the existing brand is one of its long term strategies, management noted it would maintain a modest level of near-term unit growth the result of: (1) more stringent site selection criteria, which now utilizes new analytical tools, in an effort to improve profitability and shareholder value from new store investments and (2) CBRL's strategy of developing a more labor efficient and operationally enhanced (back of house) prototype."

Wells Fargo, November 22, 2013 (emphasis added)

2

Company Response

Bob Derrington, Morgan Keegan: "[T]here's been some grumblings in past times about the store-level unit economics... Are there other ways that you can reduce the costs, maintain the sales? Can you give us a little bit of color there?"

Larry Hyatt, CFO of Cracker Barrel: "[W]e have an ongoing process to both find opportunities to continue to bring the investment costs down in ways that do not negatively impact guest experience. And we are additionally, looking at ways to operate those stores more efficiently and effectively in terms of designing in labor savings, designing in utility cost savings, et cetera."

MARGIN IMPROVEMENT

Biglari Pressure

- On April 24, 2014, at the Annual Meeting of Biglari Holdings, with the CFO of Cracker Barrel Lawrence Hyatt in attendance, Sardar was asked what he would do if he was involved with Cracker Barrel
- Sardar responded that he could easily achieve cost savings of $50 million out of its cost structure

2

Company Responses

On April 30, 2014 – 6 days later – Cracker Barrel management announced a three-year cost optimization program to generate $50 million in cost savings

Source: Public filings

- From 2005 through June 2010, CRBL mentioned the phrase “cost savings” a total of 6 times during earnings calls or investor presentations
- Since Biglari’s 13D in June 2011, the Company has mentioned “cost savings” 33 times on earnings calls or during investor presentations

Source: FactSet

3

Wall Street Feedback

“CBRL’s cost reduction initiatives expected to deliver $30-45 million in savings.... CBRL has undertaken specific initiatives to drive cost savings across four buckets: (1) labor, (2) maintenance, (3) food & supply chain, and (4) G&A. With respect to labor... new kitchen technologies as part of its ‘Seat to Eat’ initiative have already increased productivity, and... are expected to continue to reduce labor costs. [C]entralized management of facilities maintenance is expected to result in continued cost synergies... ‘To-Go’ packaging are also expected to allow for further cost savings.... CBRL has completed its [TMS] system-wide rollout, which improves the company’s food cost visibility at the store level and improves yield, while reducing waste. We note that on four of the last five earnings conference calls, management partially attributed COGS favorability to the success of its food production initiatives in terms of reducing food waste, helping to offset commodity inflation.”

EASED “GROWTH AT ALL COSTS” STRATEGY

1

Previous Company Statement

“[W]e are in a strong position to accelerate our new unit growth rate....”

Michael Woodhouse, Chairman and CEO of Cracker Barrel
Q1 2011 Earnings Call, November 23, 2010 (emphasis added)

2

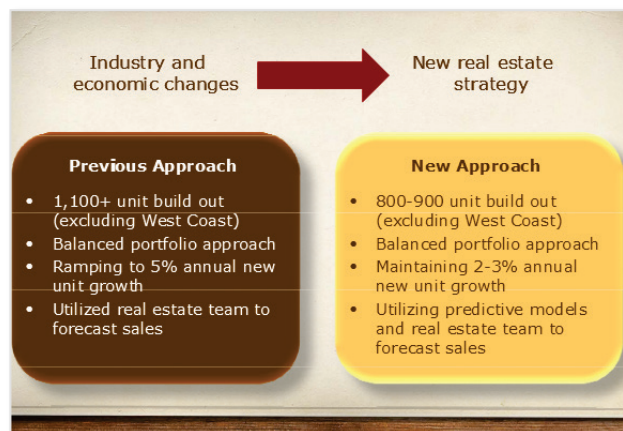

Biglari Pressure

“Clearly, shareholders would have been better off if the Board had rejected new openings so all of management’s focus would have homed in on existing units to avert the value destruction. In our view, opening new units when current ones are losing traffic is strategically flawed. Why continue to open new ones, when management cannot channel an increment in customer traffic through existing ones? We believe the combination of a flawed strategy and poor execution has prevented Cracker Barrel’s enhancement of value.”

IMPROVING FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE

Biglari Pressure

"I think we have established as fact that you identify the businesses separately, measure them separately, and manage them separately. But you fail in fully reporting them separately... I assure you that disaggregating the financial data of the retail business from the restaurant business is imperative and integral to conducting robust investment analysis."

Sardar Biglari, August 23, 2011

Company Response

"We believe our financial reporting is appropriate and in compliance with SEC disclosure requirements, including the applicable guidance on segment reporting. We view our restaurant and retail operations as two related and substantially integrated product lines that allow our stores to deliver a unique, integrated customer experience."

Michael Woodhouse, Chairman and CEO of Cracker Barrel
Company Press Release, August 24, 2011 (emphasis added)

3

Wall Street Feedback

"[Management] also disclosed retail cost of sales for FY11 and 4Q11 of 52.1% and 51.3% vs. 52.0% and 49.5% for FY10 and 4Q10, respectively. Management has not given this disclosure in the past, and we believe it provided the detail in today's release in response to recent pressure from activist shareholder Sardar Biglari."

IMPROVING EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION ALIGNMENT

Biglari Pressure

"[T]he Board has designed a flawed compensation system, one with a low bar for achievement... Paying executives bonuses even if the current operating income declines ... sends the wrong message throughout the organization... In 2008, the Board paid bonuses even though the target was not achieved... then, the bar was lowered in 2009 with no rationale provided."

Sardar Biglari, November 14, 2011 (emphasis added)

2

Company Response

The Compensation Committee – under new leadership – implemented the following changes: (1) targeted compensation at the median of peer group pay, (2) improved disclosure in the CD&A of compensation performance targets and performance relative to them, and (3) adopted an anti-hedging policy for officers and directors.

Schedule 14A, October 26, 2012

3

Wall Street Feedback

"[W]e believe that the Company has been responsive to the noted shareholder concerns and that certain aspects of its compensation program outweigh the negative factors that are emphasized in our pay-for-performance analysis."

BEGIN LICENSING BRAND

Biglari Pressure

"The retail business of Cracker Barrel should not be restricted to its company-operated stores; rather, selected products could be distributed through other retailers. To reach more consumers in an effective, profitable way is to license Cracker Barrel products to third parties to generate retail royalties."

Sardar Biglari, November 14, 2011 (emphasis added)

2

Initial Company Response

"While... licensing of retail and food products sound[s] exotic, they won't produce the immediate 'return on effort'"

Investor Presentation, November 29, 2011 (emphasis added)

3

Eventual Company Response

"We're working to bring branded products similar to what we are featuring in-store into the grocery store.... We see the near term benefit of doing this is generating incremental impression to drive awareness back into our stores and over time obviously opening up an additional income stream."

Christopher Ciavarra, SVP of Marketing of Cracker Barrel
Shareholder/Analyst Call, April 26, 2012 (emphasis added)

"We continue to be optimistic about our licensing program under our CB Old Country Store mark. I'm pleased to announce that Continental Mills has joined as the second licensee to support our entry into additional grocery categories. During the quarter, we introduced four new licensed products."

INCREASED DIVIDENDS

Biglari Pressure

"Because the Company has been generating cash, paying down debt, forecasting surplus cash, and has enormous real estate holdings... we would be pleased with a significant dividend between $13 and $20 per share."

Sardar Biglari, October 23, 2013 (emphasis added)

2

Company Response

"The Company announced that its Board of Directors increased the quarterly dividend to $1.10 per share on the Company's common stock, which represents a 10% increase over the Company's previous quarterly dividend of $1.00. The Board of Directors also declared a special dividend of $3.00 per share on the Company's common stock."

3Q 2015 Earnings Release, June 2, 2015

3

Wall Street Feedback

"Cracker Barrel had some outside 'help' that convinced it to focus so much on its dividend policy. That help came from activist investor Sardar Biglari... [T]he rising dividend has coincided with a rising valuation and a rising price for Cracker Barrel."

WHAT IS THE BOARD'S OBJECTIVE?

CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:

- ① BIGLARI OWNS APPROXIMATELY 20% OR APPROXIMATELY $660 MILLION OF CRACKER BARREL STOCK
- ② BIGLARI HAS NOT RUN FOR BOARD SEATS SINCE 2013 AND HAS NOT SAID A WORD TO THE PUBLIC ABOUT THE COMPANY IN 18 MONTHS
- ③ BIGLARI IS A LONG-TERM SHAREHOLDER – SINCE BECOMING A SIGNIFICANT SHAREHOLDER IN 2011, BIGLARI HAS NOT SOLD A SINGLE SHARE OF CRACKER BARREL STOCK
- ④ CRACKER BARREL HAS ADOPTED MANY OF THE INITIATIVES SUGGESTED BY BIGLARI, WHICH HAVE HAD AN OVERWHELMINGLY POSITIVE IMPACT ON SHAREHOLDER VALUE
- ⑤ BIGLARI IS NOT ONLY THE COMPANY'S LARGEST SHAREHOLDER, BUT ALSO A PROVEN RESTAURANT OPERATOR

WHY HAS THE BOARD DECIDED TO ATTACK ITS LARGEST SHAREHOLDER WHO IS BEHIND MUCH OF THE COMPANY'S SUCCESS?
