Form 10-K for the Year Ended December 31, 2009

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Results of Operations for 2009, 2008 and 2007, page 35

1. We note from your response to our previous comment 1 that you do not consider the number of paid clicks to be a key indicator of your financial condition and operating performance. However, we note that you believe a discussion of the trend in the number of paid clicks may be helpful to investors. Please tell us your consideration of disclosing the percentage change in the number of paid clicks and the average fees per paid click. Including the percent change with your general discussion of trends would provide improved understanding of your financial results and would be material information for investors. Further, we note your reference to other companies stating that they do not disclose specific data on the number of paid clicks. Staff notes however that such companies have provided similar information in their filings with respect to the percentage increase or decrease in paid clicks or page views on a year-over-year or quarter-over-quarter basis.

2. In your response to our previous comment 2 we note you do not calculate or track the average fees per paid click for the distribution business. However you further note that the overall revenue is driven by your distribution partners and their ability to generate a volume of paid clicks. As discussed in our comment 1 above, disclosing specific information such as the change in the percentage of paid clicks would provide improved understanding of the financial results over and above the information obtained from a general trends discussion. Further providing this information by both owned and operated properties and distribution business would enhance your disclosures further as the results of the two businesses may not be the same. Please tell us your consideration in disclosing the percentage change in paid clicks for both owned and operated properties and the distribution businesses as a part of your general trend discussion.

You may contact Melissa Kindelan at (202) 551-3564 if you have questions regarding comments on the financial statements and related matters. Please contact me at (202) 551-3499 with any other questions.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Collins
