ELGRANDE TO BEGIN PRODUCTION OF GINGER KELLY LINE IN CHINA DUE TO DIFFICULTIES IN DELIVERY OF LOVE PLATES PRODUCT

VANCOUVER, BC. - July, 12 2006 - Elgrande International (OTCBB:EGDI) announced today that they are accelerating strategic plans to manufacture the Ginger Kelly line of artist designed glassware in China. Steadily increasing sales of the Ginger Kelly line have made production in China, which provides increased production capabilities and higher profit margins, very attractive.

Sales of this popular line of glassware have grown significantly. The Company's inability to meet demand for the glassware has necessitated the acceleration of plans designed to improve both pricing and production capacity. The Company expects to be ready to launch its expanded line under the new name "Ginger Kelly Collection" in the fall of 2006.

The Company has experienced ongoing problems securing on-time delivery of products produced by Walther-Glas GmbH & Co. KG. As a result, sales of Walther-Glas Love Plates have not met both parties' expectations, and the value of the Company's exclusive rights to the distribution of the Love Plates product within the North American market has declined. The Company has asked Walther-Glas for clarification of the status of its relationship with Walther-Glas, and expects that the exclusive arrangements with this supplier will be substantially modified or terminated.

Michael Holloran, Chief Executive Officer of Elgrande International, added, "The difficulties we are experiencing with the Love Plates product have forced us to accelerate plans which began in mid 2005 to introduce higher margin, higher production, artist designed products to meet the demands of our customers. The skill level of the Chinese glass blowers is equal to that of Europe, and combined with higher production capacity and lower manufacturing costs, gives us more flexibility to meet increasing market demand. This is an inevitable move that will also allow us to expand the market for the Ginger Kelly Collection beyond North America, thereby greatly increasing shareholder value."
