FALLBROOK CAPITAL SECURITIES CORP.

Notes to Financial Statements December 31, 2022

1. Organization and Nature of Business

Fallbrook Capital Securities Corp. (the "Company") is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA). In 2000, the Company reached an agreement with the NASD (now FINRA). The agreement was amended in March, 2007 to include additional services. The firm is approved to conduct business in private placements, limited partnerships, mutual funds, merger & acquisition activity and third-party marketing of hedge funds.

The Company's main office is located in Calabasas, California and has twenty-four registered persons. The Company's Revenue is derived from (1) commissions generated on a best-efforts basis, from the sale of private placements of direct participation programs of tax incentive investments to corporate and institutional investors; and (2) from fees generated from mergers and acquisitions activities, also on a best-efforts basis.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of presentation

The Company maintains its books and records on the accrual basis of accounting for financial reporting purposes, which is in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles and is required by the SEC and FINRA.

Use of estimates

The presentation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income taxes

The Company, with the consent of its sole stockholder, has elected to be taxed as an S Corporation under Subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code that provides, in lieu of corporate income taxes, the stockholder separately accounts for his share of the Company's items of income, deductions, losses and credits. Therefore, these financial statements do not include any provision for corporate income taxes.

The Company has adopted the provisions of FASB Accounting Standards Codification 740-10, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes. Under FASB ASC 740-10, the Company is required to evaluate each of its tax positions to determine if they are more likely than not to be sustained if the taxing authority examines the respective position. A tax position includes an entity's status. The company has evaluated its tax positions and has determined that it has no uncertain tax positions for which a provision or liability for income taxes is necessary.

The Company files income tax returns in the U.S. in both federal and state jurisdictions.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue from contracts with customers in accordance with ASU 2014-09 Revenue from Contracts with Customers and all subsequent amendments to the ASU (collectively "ASC 606"), which creates a single framework for recognizing revenue from contracts with customers that fall within its scope.

Revenue is measured based on a consideration specified in a contract with a customer. The Company recognizes revenue when it satisfies a performance obligation by transferring control over goods or service to a customer.

Refer to Note 3. Revenue from Contracts with Customers for further discussion on the Company's accounting policies for revenue sources within the scope of ASC 606.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company defines cash equivalents as highly liquid investments with original maturities of less than ninety days that are not held for sale in the ordinary course of business.

The Company is evaluating new accounting standards and will implement as required.

3. Revenue from Contracts with Customers and Deferred Revenue

Commissions, M&A Fees and Consulting

The Company provides advisory and consulting services on mergers and acquisitions (M&A) and corporate finance activity. Revenue from advisory and consulting arrangements is recognized at the point in time that performance obligations under the arrangement is completed. Contracts may contain nonrefundable retainer fees which are typically fixed and/or success fees or commissions which may be fixed or represent a percentage of value that the customer receives if and when the related corporate finance activity is completed. In some cases, there is also an "announcement fee" that is calculated on the date that a transaction is announced based on the price included in the underlying sale agreement. The retainer fees, announcement fee, or other milestone fees reduce any success fee or commission subsequently invoiced and received upon the completion of the corporate finance activity. The Company has evaluated its nonrefundable retainer payments, to ensure its fee relates to the transfer of a good or service, as a distinct performance obligation, in exchange for the retainer. If a promised good or service is not distinct, the Company combines that good or service with other promised goods or services until it identifies a bundle of goods or services that is distinct. In some cases, that would result in the broker-dealer accounting for all the services promised in a contract as a single performance obligation and the retainer revenue is classified as deferred revenue on the Statement of Financial Condition.

4. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (SEC Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. Rule 15c3-1 also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1. As of December 31, 2022, the Company had net capital of $223,177 which was $191,849 in excess of its required net capital of $31,328. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 2.1 to 1.

5. Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable consists of commissions, the Company believes the entire amount is collectible and that no allowance is required as of December 31, 2022. Accounts receivable are due on receipt of services. Accounts receivable was $11,404 at December 31, 2021.

6. Concentrations

For the year ended December 31, 2022 approximately 69% of the Company's revenue was derived from its two largest customers; revenue from the largest customer was approximately 38% total revenue.

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts, which at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk for cash.

The terms are one year from January 1, 2021 and renews automatically unless terminated by either party. $30,000 of expenses were incurred and paid pursuant to this agreement during 2022.

Effective January 1, 2020, the Company leased office space from the related party pursuant to a one year agreement, with annual renewals, unless terminated by either party. The Company paid rent of $12,282 during the year-ended December 31, 2022 under this agreement.

There were no amounts due to or from related parties as of December 31, 2022.

9. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments consist principally of cash and cash equivalents, and units of a privately held limited liability company. The fair value of a financial instrument is the amount that would be received in an asset sale or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between unaffiliated market participants. Assets and liabilities measured at fair value are categorized based on whether the inputs are observable in the market and the degree that the inputs are observable. The categorization of financial instruments within the valuation hierarchy is based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The hierarchy is prioritized into three levels (with Level 3 being the lowest) defined as follows:

Level 1: Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity has the ability to access.

Level 2: Observable inputs other than prices included in Level 1, such as quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets; quoted prices for identical or similar assets and liabilities in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated with observable market data.

Level 3: Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets and liabilities. This includes certain pricing models, discounted cash flow methodologies, and similar techniques that use significant unobservable inputs.

9. Fair Value of Financial Instruments (continued)

The carrying amounts and fair values of the Company's financial instruments as of December 31, 2022 are as follows:

	Level 3
	Carrying Amount	Fair Value
17.5 Units in privately held limited liability company	$17,500	$17,500

The Company received 175 units in a privately held limited liability company as part of a revenue transaction that was considered revenue in 2022 on the statement of operations. The Company paid 90% of the 175 units or 157.5 units to its registered representative as a commission. The Company retained 10% or 17.5 units at December 31, 2022. The units were valued based on the price per the purchase agreement from the above-mentioned transaction, that was executed in November 2022.
