BENCHMARK INVESTMENTS, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
DECEMBER 31, 2021

1. Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Business

BENCHMARK INVESTMENTS, LLC (formerly known as Benchmark Investments, Inc. "the Company") is a registered broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). The Company introduces its customers' business on a fully disclosed basis to a clearing broker, who clears and carries the Company's customer accounts.

The Company underwent a plan of conversion in the current fiscal year. The Company formed and existing under the laws of the State of Arkansas converted into a limited liability company organized and existing under the laws of the State of Nevada.

Basis of Presentation

The Company's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP"). Revenue is recognized when earned, while expenses and losses are recognized when incurred.

Cash

The Company maintains its bank accounts in high credit quality institutions. Balances at times may exceed federally insured limits. The company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant risk.

Receivable from Clearing Firm and Restricted Cash

The Company has an agreement with a clearing broker to execute and clear, on a fully disclosed basis, customer accounts of the Company. In accordance with this agreement, the Company is required to maintain a deposit in cash or securities. The Company has a deposit with its clearing broker, which is refundable to the Company should it discontinue its arrangement. Amounts receivable from its clearing organization consist of commissions receivable. The receivable is considered fully collectible, and no allowance is required.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis using estimated useful lives of five to ten years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the lesser of the economic useful life of the improvement or the term of the lease. Expenditures for repairs and maintenance are charged to expense as incurred. For assets sold or otherwise disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any related gain or loss is reflected in income for the period.

Notes to Financial Statements
DECEMBER 31, 2021

Income Taxes

The Company has a net operating loss carryforward at December 31, 2021 of approximately $108,000 arising from the year 2006 through 2019 and a deferred tax asset related to the net operating loss carryforward of approximately $3,500. Realization of the future tax benefits related to the deferred tax asset is dependent upon many factors, including the Company's ability to generate future taxable income. The Company's federal net operating loss carry forwards expire from 2027 to 2037.

ASC Topic 740-10, Accounting for uncertainty in income taxes, prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. As of December 31, 2021, the Company has no uncertain tax positions.

Use of Estimates

The process of preparing financial statements in conformity with US GAAP requires the use of estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Such estimates primarily relate to transactions in process and events as of the date of the financial statements. Accordingly, upon completion, actual results may differ from estimated amounts.

2. Revenue from Contracts with Customers

Significant Judgements

Revenue from contracts with customers includes commission income, consulting fees and fees from investment banking. The recognition and measurement of revenue is based on the assessment of individual contract terms. Significant judgment is required to determine whether performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time or over time; how to allocate transaction prices where multiple performance obligations are identified; when to recognize revenue based on the appropriate measure of the Company's progress under the contract; whether revenue should be presented gross or net of certain costs; and whether constraints on variable consideration should be applied due to uncertain future events.

Brokerage commissions. The Company buys and sells securities on behalf of its customers. Each time a customer enters into a buy or sell transaction, the Company charges a commission. Commissions and related clearing expenses are recorded on the trade date (the date that the Company fills the trade order by finding and contracting with a counterparty and confirms the trade with the customer). The Company believes that the performance obligation is satisfied on the trade date because that is when the underlying financial instrument or purchaser is identified, the pricing is agreed upon and the risks and rewards of ownership of the securities have been transferred to/from the customer.

Notes to Financial Statements

DECEMBER 31, 2021

Distribution fees. The Company enters into arrangements with managed accounts or other pooled investment vehicles (funds) to distribute shares to investors. The Company may receive distribution fees paid by the fund up front, over time, upon the investor's exit from the fund (that is, a contingent deferred sales charge), or as a combination thereof. The Company believes that its performance obligation is the sale of securities to investors and as such this is fulfilled on the trade date. Any fixed amounts are recognized on the trade date and variable amounts are recognized to the extent it is probable that a significant revenue reversal will not occur once the uncertainty is resolved. For variable amounts, as the uncertainty is dependent on the value of the shares at future points in time as well as the length of time the investor remains in the fund, both of which are highly susceptible to factors outside the Company's influence, the Company does not believe that it can overcome this constraint until the market value of the fund and the investor activities are known, which are usually monthly or quarterly. Distribution fees recognized in the current period are primarily related to performance obligations that have been satisfied in prior periods.

Consulting Fees. The Company enters into contracts with other broker-dealers to provide analysis and guidance on financial transactions and earns fees associated with these services.

Investment Banking

Underwriting fees. The Company underwrites securities for business entities and governmental entities that want to raise funds through a sale of securities. Revenues are earned from fees arising from securities offerings in which the Company acts as an underwriter. Revenue is recognized on the trade date (the date on which the Company purchases the securities from the issuer) for the portion the Company is contracted to buy. The Company believes that the trade date is the appropriate point in time to recognize revenue for securities underwriting transactions as there are no significant actions which the Company needs to take subsequent to this date and the issuer obtains the control and benefit of the capital markets offering at that point. Underwriting costs that are deferred under the guidance in FASB ASC 940-340-25-3 are recognized in expense at the time the related revenues are recorded. In the event that transactions are not completed, and the securities are not issued, the Company immediately expenses those costs.

M&A advisory fees. The Company provides advisory services on mergers and acquisitions (M&A). Revenue for advisory arrangements is generally recognized at the point in time that performance under the arrangement is completed (the closing date of the transaction) or the contract is cancelled. However, for certain contracts, revenue is recognized over time for advisory arrangements in which the performance obligations are simultaneously provided by the Company and consumed by the customer. In some circumstances, significant judgment is needed to determine the timing and measure of progress appropriate for revenue recognition under a specific contract. Retainers and other fees received from customers prior to recognizing revenue are reflected as contract liabilities.

At December 31, 2021, contract assets related to investment banking deals amount to $540,000.

BENCHMARK INVESTMENTS, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
DECEMBER 31, 2021

Fees received in stock. As part of its compensation the company may receive restricted stock in a publicly traded entity. Stock received is shown as revenue on the statement of income and reflected on the balance sheet of the company at lower of cost or market. For tax purposes the stock is reflected as a book to tax adjustment until they become unrestricted at which point, they will be recognized as income by the company. The company may also receive restricted warrants which have no value until exercised. As such, they are not included in income and are not reflected on the balance sheet.

3. Leases

The Company accounts for leases in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standards Update (“ASU”) 2016-02, Leases (“ASC 842”).

The Company has measured the lease liabilities at the present value of the unpaid lease payments, discounted using the rate established at commencement. The lease liabilities are included in Lease Liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Financial Condition.

The Company recognizes the following amounts in earnings each period of the lease term:

- A single lease cost calculated so that the remaining cost of the lease is allocated over the remaining lease term on a straight-line basis. The remaining lease cost equals the total lease payments for the lease term, plus total initial direct costs incurred, less the periodic lease cost previously recognized. If an operating lease ROU asset has been impaired, for each period from the date of impairment through the end of the lease term, the single lease cost is calculated as the sum of the accretion of the lease liability and the amortization of the ROU asset.
- Any variable lease payments, in the period in which the obligation is incurred, or achievement of the target that triggers the variable payments becomes probable.
- Any impairment of the ROU asset.

We have included the costs of the operating leases in Occupancy Expenses in the accompanying Statement of Income in the amount of $151,774.

Impairment Testing

We subject ROU assets to impairment testing in a manner consistent with other long-lived assets. If the ROU asset is impaired, we amortize the remaining ROU asset evenly over the remaining lease term, except that in periods after the impairment, we continue to present a single lease cost in earnings.

In January 2019, the Company entered into a six-year sublease for office space in New York, NY. At January 1, 2019, the effective date of the lease, the Company recorded a ROU asset of $472,470 and an operating lease liability of $472,470. Our calculations were based on a six-year non-cancelable term ending December 31, 2024 assuming a discount rate of 4.5%, our estimated incremental borrowing rate.

BENCHMARK INVESTMENTS, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
DECEMBER 31, 2021

As a broker-dealer registered with the SEC and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”), the Company is subject to SEC Rule 15c3-1, the Net Capital rule, under which the lease asset would be recorded as a non-allowable asset and the associated liability would be recorded as aggregate indebtedness, both of which could have a materially negative effect on Net Capital computed under SEC Rule 15c3-1. On May 31, 2016, the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association (“SIFMA”) requested relief from the SEC from the net capital impact of the lease capitalization required under ASC 842. On November 8, 2016, the SEC issued a “no action” letter permitting broker-dealers to add back to Net Capital the operating lease asset to the extent of the associated operating lease liability. If the value of the operating lease liability exceeds the value of the associated operating lease asset, the amount by which the liability’s value exceeds the associated lease asset must be deducted for net capital purposes. The Company believes that the relief provided by the SEC “no action” letter will substantially negate the effect of the application of ASC 842 on the Company’s Net Capital position.

The guidance provided by ASC 842 may not materially impact the Company’s presentation of assets and liabilities, however, management notes changes to the disclosures based on the additional requirements prescribed by ASC 842. These disclosures include information regarding the judgments used in determining the present value of lease payments and the corresponding value of the right-of-use asset.

The Company reviews long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. Recoverability of these assets is determined by comparing the forecasted undiscounted net cash flows of the operation to which the assets relate to the carrying amount. If the operation is determined to be unable to recover the carrying amount of its assets, then assets are written down first, followed by other long-lived assets of the operation to fair value. Fair value is determined based on discounted cash flows or appraised values, depending on the nature of the assets. As of December 31, 2021, there were no impairment losses recognized for long-lived assets.

5. Indemnification

In the normal course of its business, the Company indemnifies and guarantees certain service providers against specified potential losses in connection with their acting as an agent of, or providing services to, the Company. The maximum potential amount of future payments that the Company could be required to make under these indemnifications cannot be estimated. However, the Company believes that it is unlikely it will have to make material payments under these arrangements and has not recorded any contingent liability in the financial statements for these indemnifications.

The Company provides representations and warranties to counterparties in connection with a variety of commercial transactions and occasionally indemnifies them against potential losses caused by the breach of those representations and warranties. These indemnifications generally are standard contractual terms and are entered into in the normal course of business. The maximum potential amount of future payments that the Company could be required to make under these indemnifications cannot be estimated. However, the Company believes that it is unlikely it will have to make material payments under these arrangements and has not recorded any contingent liability in the financial statements for these indemnifications.

6. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2021, the Company had net capital of $1,404,276 which was $387,245 in excess of its required net capital of $1,017,031. The Company's aggregate indebtedness to net capital ratio percentage was 1,086%.

7. Related Party Transactions

The related party payable at December 31, 2021 consists primarily of expenses paid by the Company on behalf of the Company's affiliates and related parties. As of December 31, 2021, the Company has accrued fees payable to EF Hutton, an Office of Supervisory Jurisdiction of the Company in accordance with that certain Services and Expense Sharing Agreement dated January 1, 2020 made between the Company and Platinum ARC, LLC, in the amount of $11,908,617. In addition, the Company has accrued management fees payable of $828,638 due to two members or their affiliates.
