PART I

ITEM 1. DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

General

Montana Mining Corp. was incorporated in Nevada on December 7, 1999 as “Aswan Investments, Inc.” to engage in any legal undertaking. On July 17, 2002 the corporation’s name was changed from “Aswan Investments, Inc.” to “Montana Mining Corp.” to reflect the decision of management to enter into mineral exploration activities. The term “Company” as used herein refers to Montana Mining Corp, Inc. and its predecessor, unless the context indicates otherwise.

The Company held an option to explore, identify and develop a gold, silver and other precious metals property located in the vicinity of the city of Helena, Montana, known as the Dobler Mine property. The Dobler Mine property has a history of bulk tonnage sampling of precious metals. Based upon the information available from prior exploration and its own exploration efforts, the Company believed that the possibility existed of identifying economically recoverable mineralization on the Dobler Mine property.

The option purchase agreement executed with Monument Resources, Inc. in July of 2002, granted to the Company the exclusive right to acquire a 100% fee simple interest in the Dobler Mine property and mineral rights on surrounding property subject to a net smelter royalty of 3%, in consideration of certain option payments, exploration expenditures and a purchase payment. The Company completed the first and second phases of its exploration program in addition to extending the option purchase period. However, due to the inconclusive nature of the indications of mineralization on the Dobler Mine property, the Company was unable to procure additional funding to exercise the purchase option and provide for further exploration. The Company abandoned the purchase option and all exploration efforts in January of 2005.

Selection of a Business.

The Company is now considering other business opportunities either through merger or acquisition that might create value for its shareholders. The Company has no day-to-day operations. Our sole officer and director devotes limited time and attention to the affairs of the Company.

Management has adopted a conservative policy of seeking opportunities that it considers to be of exceptional quality. Therefore, the Company may have to wait some time before consummating a suitable transaction. Management recognizes that the higher the standards it imposes upon the Company, the greater may be its competitive disadvantage when vying with other acquiring interests or entities.

The Company does not intend to restrict its consideration to any particular business or industry segment, though management intends to continue its focus on opportunities related to natural resources. Due to the Company's lack of significant financial resources, the scope and number of suitable business ventures is limited. The Company is therefore most likely to participate in a single business venture. Accordingly, the Company will not be able to diversify and will be limited to one merger or acquisition. The lack of diversification will prevent the Company from offsetting losses from one business opportunity against profits from another.

The decision to participate in a specific business opportunity will be made upon management's analysis of the quality of the opportunity's management and personnel, the anticipated acceptability of products or marketing concepts, the merit of technological changes and numerous other factors which are difficult, if not impossible, to analyze through the application of any objective criteria. Further, it is anticipated that the historical operations of a specific venture may not necessarily be indicative of the potential for the future because of the necessity to substantially shift a marketing approach, expand operations, change product emphasis, change or substantially augment management, or make other changes. The Company will be partially dependent upon the management of any given business opportunity to identify such problems and to implement, or be primarily responsible for the implementation of required changes.

Since the Company may participate in a business opportunity with a newly organized business or with a business which is entering a new phase of growth, it should be emphasized that the Company may incur risk due to the failure of the target's management to have proven its abilities or effectiveness, or the failure to establish a market for the target's products or services, or the failure to realize profits.

The Company will not acquire or merge with any company for which audited financial statements cannot be obtained. Management anticipates that any opportunity in which the Company participates will present certain risks. Many of these risks cannot be adequately identified prior to selection of a specific opportunity. The Company's shareholders must therefore depend on the ability of management to identify and evaluate such risks. Further, in the case of some of the opportunities available to the Company, it may be anticipated that some of such opportunities are yet to develop as going concerns or that some of such opportunities are in the development stage in that same have not generated significant revenues from principal business activities prior to the Company's participation.

Acquisition of Business.

Implementation of a structure for any particular business acquisition may involve a merger, consolidation, reorganization, joint venture, franchise or licensing agreement with another corporation or entity. The Company may also purchase stock or assets of an existing business. On the completion of a transaction, it is possible that present management and shareholders of the Company will not be in control of the Company. Further, the Company's sole officer and director may, as part of the terms of any transaction, resign, to be replaced by new officers and directors without a vote of the Company's shareholders.

The Company anticipates that any securities issued in any such reorganization would be issued in reliance on exemptions from registration under applicable federal and state securities laws. However, in certain circumstances, as a negotiated element of any transaction, the Company may agree to register securities either at the time a transaction is consummated, under certain conditions, or at a specified time thereafter. The issuance of substantial additional securities and their potential sale into any trading market may have a depressive effect on such market.

While the actual terms of a transaction to which the Company may be a party cannot be predicted, it may be expected that the parties to a business transaction will find it desirable to avoid the creation of a taxable event and thereby structure the acquisition in a so called "tax-free" reorganization under Section 368(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). In order to obtain tax-free treatment under the Code, it may be necessary for the owners of the acquired business to own 80% or more of the voting stock of the surviving entity. In such event, the shareholders of the Company would retain less than 20% of the issued and outstanding shares of the surviving entity, which could result in significant dilution in the equity of such shareholders.

The Company's due diligence process will require that management meet personally with the personnel involved in any given transaction, visit and inspect material facilities, obtain independent analysis or verification of the information provided, check references for management and key persons, and take other reasonable investigative measures, to the extent of the Company's limited financial resources and management expertise.

The manner in which the Company participates in an opportunity will depend on the nature of the opportunity, the respective needs and desires of the Company and other parties, the management of the opportunity, and the relative negotiating strength of the Company and such other management. Negotiations that involve mergers or acquisitions will focus on the percentage of the Company that the target company shareholders would acquire in exchange for their shareholdings in the target company. Depending upon, among other things, the target company's assets and liabilities, the Company's shareholders will in all likelihood hold a lesser percentage ownership interest in the Company following any merger or acquisition. The percentage ownership may be subject to significant reduction in the event the Company acquires a target company with substantial assets. Any merger or acquisition effected by the Company can be expected to have a significant dilutive effect on the percentage of shares held by the Company's current shareholders.

Operation of Business After Acquisition.

The Company's operation following its merger or acquisition of a business will be dependent on the nature of the business and the interest acquired. The Company is unable to determine at this time whether the Company will be in control of the business or whether present management will be in control of the Company following the acquisition. The Company may expect that any future business will present various challenges that cannot be predicted at the present time.

Government Regulation.

The Company cannot anticipate the government regulations, if any, to which the Company may be subject until it has acquired an interest in a business. The use of assets to conduct a business that the Company may acquire could subject it to environmental, public health and safety, land use, trade, or other governmental regulations and state or local taxation. The Company's selection of a business in which to acquire an interest will include an effort to ascertain, to the extent of the limited resources of the Company, the effects of any government regulation on the prospective business of the Company. However, in certain circumstances, such as the acquisition of an interest in a new or start-up business activity, it may not be possible to predict with any degree of accuracy the impact of government regulation.

Competition.

The Company will be involved in intense competition with other business entities, many of which will have a competitive edge over the Company by virtue of their stronger financial resources and prior experience in business. The Company can provide no assurance that it will be successful in obtaining a suitable business opportunity.

EMPLOYEES

The Company is a development stage company and currently has no employees. Ruairidh Campbell, its sole officer and director, manages the Company. The Company looks to Mr. Campbell for his entrepreneurial skills and talents. Management uses consultants, attorneys and accountants as necessary and does not plan to engage any full-time employees in the near future.

REPORTS TO SECURITY HOLDERS

The Company's annual report contains audited financial statements. The Company is not required to deliver an annual report to security holders and will not voluntarily deliver a copy to security holders unless a request is made for such delivery. The Company files all of its required information with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission").

The public may read and copy any materials that are filed by the Company with the Commission at the Commission's Public Reference Room at 450 Fifth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20549. The Company does not believe that it will need to maintain an office at any time in the foreseeable future in order to carry out the plan of operation described herein.

ITEM 3. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

The Company is currently not a party to any pending legal proceeding

ITEM 4. SUBMISSION OF MATTERS TO A VOTE OF SECURITY HOLDERS

There are no redemption or sinking fund provisions applicable to the common stock.

Dividends

The Company has not declared any cash dividends since inception and does not anticipate paying any dividends in the foreseeable future. The payment of dividends is within the discretion of the board of directors and will depend on the Company's earnings, capital requirements, financial condition, and other relevant factors. There are no restrictions that currently limit the Company's ability to pay dividends on its common stock other than those generally imposed by applicable state law.

ITEM 6       MANAGEMENTS PLAN OF OPERATION

Plan of Operations

The Company's plan of operation for the coming year, as discussed above, is to identify and acquire a favorable business opportunity. The Company does not plan to limit its options to any particular industry, but will evaluate each opportunity on its merits.

The Company has not yet entered into any agreement, nor does it have any commitment or understanding to enter into or become engaged in any transaction, as of the date of this filing.

Results of Operations

During the period ended December 31, 2004, the Company completed the second phase of an exploration program designed to provide an initial indication of the economic feasibility of developing the Dobler Mine property for the extraction of precious metals. The Company conducted field work on the property which included physically surveying the Dobler Mine property for prospective areas of mineralization and geophysical surveying using the induced polarization/resistivity (IP) method.

IP is the use of electricity to pass a current through the ground to measure resistivity and induced polarization effect. Resistivity values are the measure of the passage of electrical current through the geological conditions and materials present in the ground. The passage of electrical current through the ground is impeded by the presence of sulfide minerals. Measurement of that impediment is the induced polarization effect. The information is useful in providing an understanding of the subsurface geology.

The IP method was selected based on prior geological observations on the Dobler Mine property that sulfide material is spatially associated with gold. The use of this geophysical technique was primarily for the detection and location of polarization anomalies associated with pyrite. The single IP line that had already been completed on the Dobler Mine property outlined a number of possible anomalies.

The Company completed an IP survey on the Dobler Mine property totaling some 8,000 feet of line in October of 2004 which did identify mineralization. The survey was carried out by Garry Carlson of Gradient Geophysics, Inc., a geophysical contractor based in Missoula, Montana under the direction of Mr. Anzman and a consulting geologist Dr. Stewart Jackson. The results of the IP survey were interpreted by the Company's consulting geophysicist, Joe Anzman of Denver, Colorado.

However, due to the inconclusive nature of the indications of mineralization on the Dobler Mine property, the Company was unable to procure additional funding to exercise the purchase option and provide for further exploration. The Company abandoned the purchase option on the Dobler Mine property and all exploration efforts in January of 2005.

The Company does not expect to receive revenues within the next twelve months of operation or ever, since exploration efforts have failed to identify precious metals in an amount sufficiently favorable to fund further exploration. The Company is now in the process of identifying a favorable business opportunity, which opportunity if acquired, may or may not produce revenue. Therefore, due to this uncertainty, the Company does not expect any revenues until such time as a revenue producing acquisition is accomplished.

For the current fiscal year, the Company anticipates incurring a loss as a result of administration expenses, accounting costs, and expenses associated with maintaining its disclosure obligations under the Exchange Act of 1934, as amended ("Exchange Act"). Since the Company does not anticipate generating any revenues in the near term it will continue to operate at a loss.

Net Loss

For the period from December 7, 1999 to December 31, 2004, the Company recorded an operating loss of $93,266. The Company's operating loss is attributable to general and administrative expenses. The general and administrative expenses include incorporation costs, offering costs, accounting costs, and costs associated with the preparation of disclosure documentation in connection with registration pursuant to the Exchange Act of 1934. General and administrative expenses also include exploration expenses incurred by consultants, the costs associated with test results, costs directly related to the Company's exploration program and option expenses of $25,000 which were paid according to the terms of the option purchase agreement. The Company did not generate any revenues during this period.

The Company expects to continue to operate at a loss through fiscal 2005 and due to the nature of the Company's search for a suitable business opportunity cannot determine whether it will ever generate revenues from operations.

Capital Expenditures

The Company expended no amounts on capital expenditures for the period from December 7, 1999 to December 31, 2004.

Capital Resources and Liquidity

The Company had current assets of $20,839 and total assets of $20,839 as of the twelve month period ended December 31, 2004. These assets consist of cash on hand of $12,506 and prepaid expenses of $8,333. Net stockholders' equity in the Company was $16,116 at December 31, 2004

The Company is in the development stage and, since inception, has experienced significant changes in liquidity, capital resources and shareholders' equity.

Cash flow used in operating activities was $43,063 for the period from December 7, 1999 to December 31, 2004. Cash was used on accounting, administration, consulting and exploration expenses

Cash flow provided from the issuance of common stock was $104,375 for the period from December 7, 1999 to December 31, 2004. On December 10, 1999, a total of 1,000,000 pre-reverse shares of common stock were issued for cash. The shares were issued at $0.001, and the Company received $1,000. On December 15, 1999, a total of 37,500 pre-reverse shares of common stock were issued for cash. The shares were issued at $0.01, and the Company received $375. On March 28, 2001, a total of 520,000 pre-reverse shares of common stock were issued for cash. The shares were issued at $0.006, and the Company received $3,000. Cash flow provided from the receipt of related party loans was $2,500 for the period from December 7, 1999 to December 31, 2003. The loan was unsecured, non-interest bearing and had no certain date for repayment. The loan was repaid on September 2, 2004. Organizational expenses were funded by these financing activities and expensed to operations. On August 26, 2002, a total of 5,000,000 post-reverse shares of common stock were issued for cash. The shares were issued at $0.02, and we received $100,000. Option expenses and costs associated with exploration activities related to the Dobler Mine property were funded by the most recent cash flow provided from the issuance of common stock.

The Company's current assets are sufficient to conduct its plan of operation over the next twelve (12) months. However, should the Company acquire a business opportunity over the next twelve month period then cash requirements may exceed current assets and the Company would have to seek debt or equity financing to fund operations. The Company has no current commitments or arrangements with respect to, or immediate sources of funding. Further, no assurances can be given that funding, if needed, would be available or available to the Company on acceptable terms. The Company's major shareholders would be the most likely source of new funding in the form of loans or equity placements though none have made any commitment for future investment and the Company has no agreement formal or otherwise. The Company's inability to obtain funding, if required, would have a material adverse affect on its plan of operation.

Critical Accounting Policies

In Note 1 to the audited consolidated financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2003 included in this Form 10-KSB, the Company discusses those accounting policies that are considered to be significant in determining the results of operations and its financial position. The Company believes that the accounting principles utilized by it conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The preparation of financial statements requires Company management to make significant estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. By their nature, these judgments are subject to an inherent degree of uncertainty. On an on-going basis, the Company evaluates estimates. The Company bases its estimates on historical experience and other facts and circumstances that are believed to be reasonable, and the results form the basis for making judgments about the carrying value of assets and liabilities. The actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS 123 (revised 2004), "Accounting for Stock Based Compensation." This statement supersedes APB Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees." This revised statement establishes standards for the accounting of transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods and services, including the grant of stock options to employees and directors. The Statement is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2005, and will require the Company to recognize compensation cost based on the grant date fair value of the equity instruments its awards. The Company currently accounts for those instruments under the recognition and measurement principles of APB Opinion 25, including the disclosure-only provisions of the original SFAS 123. Accordingly, no compensation cost from issuing equity instruments has been recognized in the Company's financial statements. The Company estimates that the required adoption of SFAS 123 (R) will not have a negative impact on its financial statements.

In December 2003, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 46 ("FIN 46R") (revised December 2003), Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an Interpretation of Accounting Research Bulletin No. 51 ("ARB 51"), which addresses how a business enterprise should evaluate whether it has a controlling interest in an entity though means other than voting rights and accordingly should consolidate the entity. FIN 46R replaces FASB Interpretation No. 46 (FIN 46), which was issued in January 2003. Before concluding that it is appropriate to apply ARB 51 voting interest consolidation model to an entity, an enterprise must first determine that the entity is not a variable interest entity (VIE). As of the effective date of FIN 46R, an enterprise must evaluate its involvement with all entities or legal structures created before February 1, 2003, to determine whether consolidation requirements of FIN 46R apply to those entities. There is no grandfathering of existing entities. Public companies must apply either FIN 46 or FIN 46R immediately to entities created after January 31, 2003 and no later than the end of the first reporting period that ends after March 15, 2004. The adoption of FIN 46 had no effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

In December 2003, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued Staff Accounting Bulletin (SAB) No. 104, Revenue Recognition. SAB 104 revises or rescinds portions of the interpretive guidance included in Topic 13 of the codification of staff accounting bulletins in order to make this interpretive guidance consistent with current authoritative accounting and auditing guidance and SEC rules and regulations. The adoption of SAB 104 did not have a material effect on the Company's results of operations or financial condition

In May 2003, the FASB issued SFAS 150, Accounting for Certain Financial Instruments with

Characteristics of Both Liabilities and Equity. SFAS 150 clarifies the accounting for certain financial instruments with characteristics of both liabilities and equity and requires that those instruments be classified as liabilities in statements of financial position. Previously, many of those financial instruments were classified as equity. SFAS 150 is effective for financial instruments entered into or modified after May 31, 2003 and otherwise is effective at the beginning of the first interim period beginning after June 15, 2003. On November 7, 2003, FASB Staff Position 150-3 was issued, which indefinitely deferred the effective date of SFAS 150 for certain mandatory redeemable non-controlling interests. As WWA Group does not have any of these financial instruments, the adoption of SFAS 150 did not have any impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

In April 2003, FASB issued SFAS No. 149, Amendment of Statement 133 on Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities. SFAS 149 amends and clarifies accounting for derivative instruments, including certain derivative instruments embedded in other contracts and for hedging activities under SFAS 133, Accounting for Derivatives and Hedging Activities. SFAS 149 is generally effective for derivative instruments, including derivative instruments embedded in certain contracts, entered into or modified after June 30, 2003. The adoption of SFAS 149 did not have a material impact on the operating results or financial condition of the Company.

Cautionary Statement Pursuant to Safe Harbor Provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995

This Form 10-KSB includes certain statements that may be deemed to be "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. All statements included in this Form 10-KSB, other than statements of historical facts, address matters that the Company reasonably expects, believes or anticipates will or may occur in the future. Such statements are subject to various assumptions, risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond the control of the Company. These forward looking statements may relate to such matters as anticipated financial performance, future revenue or earnings, business prospects, projected ventures, new products and services, anticipated market performance and similar matters. When used in this report, the words "may," "will," "expect," "anticipate," "continue," "estimate," "project," "intend," and similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 regarding events, conditions, and financial trends that may affect the Company's future plans of operations, business strategy, operating results and financial position. The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides a safe harbor for forward-looking statements. To comply with the terms of the safe harbor, we caution readers that a variety of factors could cause our actual results to differ materially from the anticipated results or other matters expressed in our forward-looking statements.

These risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond our control, include (i) the sufficiency of existing capital resources and the Company's ability to raise additional capital to fund cash requirements for future operations; (ii) uncertainties involved in the Company's business prospects; (iii) the ability of the Company to achieve and maintain sufficient revenues to fund operations; (iv) volatility of the stock market; and (v) general economic conditions. Although the Company believes the expectations reflected in these forward-looking statements are reasonable, such expectations may prove to be incorrect.

Going Concern

The Company's auditors have expressed an opinion as to the Company's ability to continue as a going concern as a result of an accumulated deficit of $93,266 as of December 31, 2004. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is subject to the ability of the Company to realize a profit and /or obtain funding from outside sources. Management's plan to address the Company's ability to continue as a going concern includes: (1) obtaining funding from private placement sources; (2) obtaining additional funding from the sale of the Company's securities; (3) establishing revenues from prospective business opportunities; (4) obtaining loans and grants from various financial institutions where possible. Although management believes that it will be able to obtain the necessary funding to allow the Company to remain a going concern through the methods discussed above, there can be no assurances that such methods will prove successful.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Stockholders' and Board of Directors of
Montana Mining Corp.

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Montana Mining Corp. (an exploration stage company), as of December 31, 2004 and 2003 and the related statements of operations, stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended and the cumulative amounts since inception. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards as established by the Auditing Standards Board (United States) and in accordance with the auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly we express no such opinion. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Montana Mining Corp. (an exploration stage company), as of December 31, 2004 and 2003 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended and the cumulative amounts since inception, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Company's revenue generating activities are not in place and the Company has incurred losses since inception. These conditions raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans regarding those matters also are described in Note 2. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

MONTANA MINING CORP.
(An Exploration Stage Company)
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2004 and 2003

Note 1 – Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization

Montana Mining Corp. (“Company”) was organized under the laws of the State of Nevada on December 7, 1999 (date of inception). The Company’s operations consisted of identifying mining properties and exploring for precious metals. The Company conducted exploration activities on the Dobler Mine property located in Helena, Montana. The Dobler Mine property had been previously identified as containing precious metals.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes are provided in amounts sufficient to give effect to temporary differences between financial and tax reporting, principally related to net operating loss carryforwards.

Earnings Per Share

The computation of basic earnings per common share is based on the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year.

The computation of diluted earnings per common share is based on the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year plus the common stock equivalents which would arise from the exercise of stock options and warrants outstanding using the treasury stock method and the average market price per share during the period. Common stock equivalents are not included in the diluted earnings per share calculation when their effect is antidilutive. The Company does not have any stock options or warrants outstanding at December 31, 2004 and 2003.

MONTANA MINING CORP.
(An Exploration Stage Company)
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2004 and 2003

Note 1 – Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Stock Based Compensation

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No.123, “Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation” (SFAS 123) gives entities the choice between adopting a fair value method or continuing to use the intrinsic value method under Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25 with footnote disclosures of the pro forma effect if the fair value method had been adopted. The Company has opted for the latter approach.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts, which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash and cash equivalents.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 2 - Going Concern

As of December 31, 2004, the Company’s revenue generating activities are not in place, and the Company has incurred losses since inception. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern.

The Company has abandoned exploration activities and is currently in the process of identifying a suitable business opportunity pursuant to acquisition or merger. Management believes that the identification of a suitable business opportunity can be completed through the use of its current cash position. However, there can be no assurance that management will be successful in identifying a suitable business opportunity or that funds will be available to the Company on terms acceptable to the Company to complete an acquisition or merger.

MONTANA MINING CORP.
(An Exploration Stage Company)
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2004 and 2003

Note 3 – Income Taxes

The difference between income taxes at statutory rates and the amount presented in the financial statements is a result of the following:

		Years Ended December 31,	Cumulative
		2004	2003	Amounts
Income tax benefit at statutory rate	$	(6,000)	(2,000)	(14,000)
Change in valuation allowance		6,000	2,000	14,000
	$	-	-	-

Deferred tax assets are as follows at December 31:

		2004	2003
Net operating loss carryforwards	$	14,000	8,000
Valuation allowance		(14,000)	(8,000)
	$	-	-

The Company has net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $93,000, which begin to expire in the year 2019. The amount of net operating loss carryforwards that can be used in any one year will be limited by significant changes in the ownership of the Company and by the applicable tax laws which are in effect at the time such carryforwards can be utilized.

Note 4 – Supplemental Cash Flow Information

No amounts have been paid for interest during the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2003.

No amounts have been paid for income taxes since inception.

Note 5 – Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash and payables. The carrying amount of cash and payables approximates fair value because of the short-term nature of these items.

MONTANA MINING CORP.
(An Exploration Stage Company)
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2004 and 2003

Note 6 – Stock Plan

The Company adopted a benefit plan (“Plan”) in 1999. Under the Plan, the Company could issue shares of the Company’s common stock or grant options to acquire the Company’s common stock from time to time to employees, directors, officers, consultants or advisors of the Company on the terms and conditions set forth in the Plan. In addition, at the discretion of the Board of Directors, stock could from time to time be granted under this Plan to other individuals, including consultants or advisors, who contributed to the success of the Company but who were not employees of the Company. The Plan expired in 2004.

As of December 31, 2004 and 2003, no stock options were issued under this plan.

Note 7 –Related Party Transactions

At December 31, 2003, the company had a related party payable of $2,500 due to an officer of the Company. The payable was unsecured, non-interest bearing and was paid during 2004.

Note 8 – Option to Purchase Property

In 2002 the Company entered into an option agreement (“Agreement”) with Monument Resources, Inc. The Agreement granted to the Company the exclusive right to acquire a 100% interest in a mining property located in the state of Montana, subject to a net smelter royalty of 3% in consideration of certain option payments and expenditures to be satisfied over a two year period. The Agreement could be terminated within 30 days notice. The Company satisfied the option payments and paid $5,000 as an additional option payment during 2004 to extend the Agreement’s expiration date to December 31, 2004. On December 31, 2004, the Agreement expired and the Company chose not to purchase the mining property due to a lack of sufficient evidence of mineralization and funding.

MONTANA MINING CORP.
(An Exploration Stage Company)
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2004 and 2003

Note 9 – Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS 123 (revised 2004), “Accounting for Stock Based Compensation.” This statement supersedes APB Opinion No. 25, “Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees.” This revised statement establishes standards for the accounting of transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods and services, including the grant of stock options to employees and directors. The Statement is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2005, and will require the Company to recognize compensation cost based on the grant date fair value of the equity instruments its awards. The Company currently accounts for those instruments under the recognition and measurement principles of APB Opinion 25, including the disclosure-only provisions of the original SFAS 123. Accordingly, no compensation cost from issuing equity instruments has been recognized in the Company’s financial statements. The Company estimates that the required adoption of SFAS 123 (R) will not have a negative impact on its financial statements.

Certain stock exchanges currently require companies to adopt formal written charter that establishes an audit committee that specifies the scope of an audit committee's responsibilities and the means by which it carries out those responsibilities. In order to be listed on any of these exchanges, the Company would be required to establish an audit committee.

The board of directors has not yet established a compensation committee.
