Trading Statement

The Naspers group is presently finalising its interim report for the six months ended 30 September 2006. Shareholders are advised that the group continues to experience favourable trading conditions in most of the markets in which it operates. This is reflected in operating performance which remains broadly positive.

However, International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), which the group adopted on 1 April 2004, creates volatility in reported earnings, particularly as it relates to foreign currency translations and fair value accounting.

As a consequence, it is anticipated that accounting charges arising in the period under review and flowing from the application of IFRS, will result in earnings per share for the six months ended 30 September being between 15% and 25% lower compared to the prior period's restated earnings per share of 370 cents.

In contrast, headline earnings per share for the period are expected to be between 15% and 25% higher compared to the prior period's restated headline earnings per share of 361 cents.

As previously outlined, core headline earnings is, in the view of your board, the appropriate measure of the sustainable operating performance of the group as it adjusts for non-recurring and non-operational items. We refer shareholders to our annual financial statements and to the website www.naspers.com for an analysis of historic headline and core headline earnings.

Given the generally positive environment in most of our key markets, we expect core headline earnings per share to be between 35% and 45% higher than the restated comparable period core headline earnings per share of 323 cents.

Further details will be provided in the interim report, due to be released on or about 28 November 2006. The financial information on which this trading statement is based has not been reviewed or reported on by the company's auditors.
