CENTILLIUM COMMUNICATIONS ANNOUNCES RESIGNATION OF CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Linda Reddick Named as Interim CFO

FREMONT, Calif., Jan. 29, 2007 – Centillum Communications, Inc. (NASDAQ: CTLM), a leading provider of broadband access solutions, today announced that J. Scott Kamsler, vice president and chief financial officer, submitted his resignation effective Feb. 16, 2007 to accept a similar position at another public company. Mr. Kamsler will assist in the release of the company's financial results for the fourth quarter and year ended Dec. 31, 2006, scheduled for Feb. 7, 2007. Linda Reddick, currently Centillum's corporate controller, has been named as the interim CFO.

"We would like to thank Scott for his important contributions to Centillum," said Faraj Aalaei, co-founder and CEO. "As a member of our executive team, Scott has made valuable contributions throughout the company in reducing operating expenses and improving inventory management and gross margin performance. We wish him much success in his new position," said Aalaei.

"We are extremely pleased to name Linda as our interim CFO. She has been invaluable in her role as our corporate controller, and with her broad base of financial experience and expertise, she is well-prepared to take on this new leadership role and to help Centillum in achieving future growth," said Aalaei.

Ms. Reddick has over 25 years of financial management and corporate planning experience with public technology companies in the telecommunications and semiconductor industries. Prior to joining Centillum in 2005, Ms. Reddick served in various financial positions at Avanex Corporation, and as interim chief financial officer for eighteen months. She was also vice president and controller at Oplink Communications, Inc., and held various financial positions at Symmetricom, Inc., including vice president of finance at the company's semiconductor subsidiary, Linfinity Microelectronics, Inc. Ms. Reddick is a Certified Public Accountant and has over ten years of experience in public accounting, primarily at Deloitte & Touche. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Business, with a concentration in Accounting, from San Jose State University.
