PART I

ITEM 1. DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

GENERAL

As used herein the terms “Providence,” “we,” “us,” and “our,” refer to Providence Resources, Inc., a Texas corporation, and our subsidiaries. All references herein to “Providence Exploration” refer to Providence Exploration, LLC, our wholly owned subsidiary, and its subsidiary PDX Drilling I, LLC.

Providence was incorporated under the laws of the State of Texas on February 17, 1993, as “GFB Alliance Services, Inc.” We have since undergone several name changes and on May 13, 1999, pursuant to an amendment to our articles of incorporation, adopted the name “Healthbridge, Inc.” During early 2002 we acquired exclusive ownership of the Valides® Modular Infectious Waste Disposal System and the Medides System. The acquisition included all the intellectual property associated with the technologies including patents, patents pending, proprietary software, and licenses required to manufacture, operate and market these technologies worldwide. Prior to year end 2005 we decided to discontinue all operations connected to the Valides® Modular Infectious Waste Disposal System and the Medides System due to our inability to successfully commercialize this technology.

BUSINESS

Providence decided to enter into the oil and gas business in November of 2005. We executed a secured promissory note with Providence Exploration dated December 1, 2005, to loan up to $5,000,000 to fund its oil and gas exploration and development activities and lease purchases. On April 10, 2006, we executed a Securities Exchange Agreement with Providence Exploration and the membership unit holders of Providence Exploration and concurrently entered into a Note Exchange Agreement with the holders of certain of Providence Exploration’s promissory notes, which agreements resulted in the acquisition of Providence Exploration as a wholly owned subsidiary on September 29, 2006. Our name was effectively changed from “Healthbridge, Inc.” to “Providence Resources, Inc.” on October 3, 2006.

Providence is now involved in the exploration and development of oil and gas in Hamilton, Comanche and Val Verde Counties, Texas. We are also involved in the purchase, refurbishment and sale of drilling and service rigs through Providence Exploration’s wholly owned subsidiary PDX Drilling I, LLC on site in Young County, Texas.

Oil and Gas Exploration in Comanche and Hamilton Counties

On October 1, 2005, Providence Exploration purchased interests in approximately 6,272 acres of oil and gas leases located in Comanche and Hamilton Counties, Texas, from Harding Company, in exchange for $3,136,273. Providence Exploration acquired a 90% working interest while Harding Company retained a 10% working interest in the leases. Providence Exploration is entitled to earn a 68.4% net revenue interest subject to fulfilling its financial commitments to the exploration and development of the leases. Harding Company remains responsible for conducting seismic research on the leases, making recommendations on drill site locations, and drilling and operating wells located on the leases.

Providence Exploration is responsible for one hundred percent (100%) of the costs associated with conducting the seismic program, drilling, and completing the wells on the project. Harding Company is responsible for ten percent (10%) of future expenses related to the shipment of any gas produced from project wells. Under this arrangement, Providence Exploration intends to develop and produce oil and gas from the Marble Falls and Barnett Shale and Strawn formations in prospect specific areas of the Fort Worth basin.

Harding Company.

Harding Company (www.hardingcompany.com) is a 52 year old, Dallas-based oil and gas exploration, development and operating company. While Harding Company has conducted operations throughout Texas and the region, it is currently primarily engaged in conducting operations in the Barnett Shale. Harding Company has extensive experience in implementing 3D seismic and horizontal drilling techniques.

Development Activities to Date.

Since executing a Joint Exploration Agreement, Providence Exploration and Harding Company have completed seismic and initial drilling operations. Based on the results of the seismic operations, Providence Exploration acquired an additional 1,102.53 acres in Comanche County from Harding Company in July of 2006 for $330,751.50, bringing the total acreage leased by us in Comanche and Hamilton Counties to 7,374 acres. Results obtained, as available, for the four initial drill sites in Comanche County are as follows:

- The Marrs # 1 well was drilled to test the Strawn formation. An evaluation of the well is in process.
- The Steward #1H well was completed in the Barnett Shale formation and fractures stimulated in three individual fracture stages on October 27, 2006. The well flowed back fracture treatment fluid from October 27 to November 6, 2006, which was followed by swabbing, that resulted in the recovery of 98% of the fluid treatment volume. Gas lift with nitrogen was conducted to increase fluid recovery and total treatment recovery was increased to 132%. However, a high water production rate of greater than 1,000 barrels of water per day hindered prospective gas production which prevented a commercial Barnett Shale completion. Operations at the Steward #1H are currently suspended pending further evaluation.
- The Nowell #1H well was completed in the Barnett Shale formation and fractures stimulated in four individual fracture stages on October 25, 2006. The well flowed back fracture treatment fluid until tubing was run in the well. Artificial lift operations were conducted using a swab unit followed by gas lift with nitrogen. Gas lift was installed to remove fluids at an increased rate. To date, a volume equal to 95% of the total fluid treatment volume has been recovered from the Barnett Shale completion. A high water production rate of greater than 1,000 barrels of water per day gas production has hindered gas production and prevented a commercial Barnett Shale completion. The initial Barnett Shale completion has since been abandoned with a cast iron bridge plug set over the Barnett Shale perforations and a recompletion to the Ellenberger breccia porosity is currently being tested. The Ellenberger breccia porosity has been perforated and swabbed down with a showing of oil and limited water production. Harding intends to conduct an acid treatment on the well and to test the Ellenberger breccia porosity further for oil and gas.
- The Patton #2H well was drilled 3,752 feet into the Ellenberger formation and subsequently logged. The logs are being reviewed and evaluated at this time. The well is located in close proximity to the Providence-owned pipeline infrastructure.

Our oil and gas pipeline infrastructure is a five mile, 6 and 5/8 inch, pipeline gathering system in Southeast Comanche County which has been constructed by Comanche County Pipeline, LLC, a partnership owned 90% by Providence Exploration, LLC and 10% by Harding Company and others. The system will gather gas to an existing hydrocarbon dew point control plant that will be capable of handling any gas production. Should gas production reach 500 MCF per day the system will need to be extended. An extension would increase capacity to as much as 5,000 MCF per day and would be able to deliver volumes directly into an existing Atmos Texas Pipeline system in Hamilton County. Our gathering system is designed and constructed to meet or exceed all Department of Transportation and Texas Railroad Commission regulations. When the system is complete, it will allow future production to flow directly to competitive markets which will assure consistent prices for any production.

Providence has suspended any further drilling on the Comanche and Hamilton County leases until such time as a full evaluation of those drill results obtained to date can be properly analyzed to determine future prospects for gas production from these leases.

Oil and Gas Exploration in Val Verde County

On March 30, 2006, Providence Exploration purchased approximately 12,832 acres of oil and gas leases located in Val Verde County, Texas from Global Mineral Solutions, L.P. located in Val Verde County, Texas, in exchange for $3,849,600, of which $1,924,800 was paid in cash and $1,924,800 by a promissory note which was converted into 3,500,000 shares of our common stock on October 4, 2006. Global Mineral Solutions, L.P. retained a thirteen percent (13%) carried interest in the leases that will convert to a 13% working interest after the completion of the first eight wells.

Description of Val Verde Target.

The Val Verde leases include multiple deep drilling targets for natural gas exploration, development and production within the Ellenberger carbonate, Strawn carbonate and Pennsylvanian-Wolfcamp sandstone reservoirs.

TRNCO Petroleum Corporation.

Providence recently engaged TRNCO Petroleum Corporation of Midland, Texas to implement an I/O System Two recording system in combination with the latest generation of state-of-the-art acquisition and processing parameters to obtain high quality 3D seismic data for those leases located in Val Verde County. The data is intended to illuminate deep gas targets at depths ranging from 14,000 to 16,000 feet within the identified carbonates. TRNCO will supervise the acquisition, processing, licensing and interpretation of all seismic data and has engaged Dawson Geophysical Company to be responsible for obtaining the actual 3D seismic data. Founded in 1952, Dawson is a leading provider of onshore seismic data acquisition and processing services that operates two state-of-the-industry data processing centers in Houston and Midland, Texas, staffed by experienced geophysicists. The processing professionals use the latest kits of powerful processing tools and back their analytical excellence with practical geophysical field experience in correlating complex producing horizons. Dawson's prior experience in the Val Verde Basin is expected to be of considerable benefit to Providence in acquiring reliable 3D seismic data.

Permitting, seismic data acquisition and interpretation is expected to require up to six months with plans for immediate drilling on the Val Verde leases anticipated immediately thereafter. Val Verde County has substantial gas gathering systems and pipeline infrastructure in place that will facilitate delivery of prospective production from the leases.

Acquisition and Disposition of Drilling and Service Rigs

PDX Drilling I, LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Providence Exploration, was formed to acquire, refurbish and sell drilling and service rigs, in addition to providing drilling services. Drilling rigs are used to drill oil and gas wells while service rigs are used to rework and maintain existing oil and gas wells. PDX initially acquired one drilling rig, two service rigs, and the basic components to build two additional drilling rigs. Subsequently, PDX sold one service rig and one drilling rig. The other service rig was destroyed in an accident and PDX currently has a claim against the insurance for this rig. Due to a slow down in the drilling and service rig market in late 2005 and 2006 PDX decided to wind down its drilling and service rig acquisition and sales operations. PDX is now in the process of selling the components for the two remaining drilling rigs.

Provision of Drilling Services

During the last half of 2005 and the first calendar quarter of 2006, PDX provided drilling services to operators in the area surrounding Graham, Texas. During such period, PDX drilled four wells and serviced a number of existing wells. PDX has since ceased to offer drilling services due to difficulties associated with engaging qualified personnel and operators to provide such services and an overall increase in costs associated with providing drilling services.

RISKS FACTORS

Our future operating results are highly uncertain. Before deciding to invest in us or to maintain or increase your investment, you should carefully consider the risks described below, in addition to the other information contained in this annual report. If any of these risks actually occur, our business, financial condition or results of operations could be seriously harmed. In that event, the market price for our common stock could decline and you may lose all or part of your investment.

Risks Related To Providence's Business

Providence has a history of operating losses and such losses may continue in the future.

Since Providence's inception in 1993, our operations have resulted in a continuation of losses and an accumulated deficit of $15,914,684 at December 31, 2006. We will continue to incur operating losses until such time as we begin producing oil and gas revenue, which may or may not eventuate. Should Providence fail to produce oil and gas revenue we may continue to operate at a loss and may never be profitable.

Providence has a limited operating history.

Providence acquired Providence Exploration on September 29, 2006, which company first began oil and gas exploration operations during the fourth quarter of 2005. As such, our limited operating history provides an inadequate track record from which to base future projections of successful operation.

Providence has a history of uncertainty about continuing as a going concern.

Providence's audits for the periods ended December 31, 2006 and December 31, 2005 expressed substantial doubt as to our ability to continue as a going concern as a result of recurring losses, an accumulated deficit of $15,914,684 as of December 31, 2006, and revenue generating activities that were insufficient to sustain operations. Unless we are able to cure this pattern of reoccurring losses and insufficient revenue, our ability to continue as a going concern will be in jeopardy.

Providence cannot represent that we will be successful in continuing operations.

Providence has not, to date, generated sufficient revenue from operations to cover expenses and may not generate sufficient revenue over the next twelve months to ensure continued oil and gas development operations. Should Providence be unable to realize sufficient revenue over that time period, it will be forced to raise additional capital to remain in operation. We have no commitments for the provision of additional capital and can offer no assurance that such capital will be available if necessary to continue operations.

We may not be successful in integrating the business operations of Providence Exploration, LLC into our business operations, stifling growth and disrupting our business.

Providence's recent acquisition of Providence Exploration involves the integration of companies that have previously operated independently. Successful integration will depend on our ability to consolidate operations and procedures and to integrate Providence Exploration's management team with our own. If we are unable to do so, we may not realize the anticipated potential benefits of the acquisition, our business development could be stifled, and results of operations may suffer. Difficulties could include the loss of key employees, the disruption of Providence Exploration's ongoing businesses, and possible inconsistencies in standards, controls, procedures and policies.

We may be unable to manage the growth of our business which failure could negatively affect development, operating results, and fiscal independence.

We believe that if our growth plan is successful, our business will grow in size and complexity. Any new sustained growth would place a significant strain on our management systems and operational resources requiring us to recruit, hire and retain new managerial, finance and support personnel. Our ability to compete effectively would also require us to maintain and improve operational, financial, and management information systems on a timely basis. Should Providence be unable to manage growth effectively, both our business development and our operating results would be negatively effected which in turn would preclude us from becoming financially independent of outside funding sources.

Risks Related to the Oil and Gas Industry

Oil and natural gas drilling and producing operations involve various risks which could result in net losses.

Drilling activities are subject to many risks, including the risk that no commercially productive reservoirs will be discovered. Wells which we drill may not be productive, and, thus, we may not be able to recover all or any portion of our investment in such wells. Drilling for oil and natural gas may involve unprofitable efforts, not only from dry wells, but also from wells that are productive but do not produce sufficient net reserves to return a profit after deducting drilling, operating and other costs. The seismic data and other technologies which we use do not allow us to know conclusively prior to drilling a well that oil or natural gas is present or may be produced economically. The cost of drilling, completing and operating a well is often uncertain, and cost factors can reduce the feasibility of a project to produce a profit. Further, our drilling operations may be curtailed, delayed or canceled as a result of numerous factors, including:

- unexpected drilling conditions;
- title problems;
- pressure or irregularities in formations;
- equipment failures or accidents;

- adverse weather conditions;
- compliance with environmental and other governmental requirements; and
- cost of, or shortages or delays in the availability of, drilling rigs, equipment and services.

Our operations are subject to all the risks normally incident to the operation and development of oil and natural gas properties and the drilling of oil and natural gas wells, including:

- encountering well blowouts;
- cratering and explosions;
- pipe failure;
- fires;
- formations with abnormal pressures resulting in uncontrollable flows of oil and natural gas;
- brine or well fluids; and
- release of contaminants into the environment and other environmental hazards and risks.

The nature of these risks is such that some liabilities including environmental fines and penalties could exceed our ability to pay for the damages. We could incur significant costs due to these risks that could result in net losses.

Providence is subject to federal, state and local laws and regulations which could create liability for personal injuries, property damage, and environmental damages.

Exploration and development, exploitation, production and sale of oil and natural gas in the United States is subject to extensive federal, state and local laws and regulations, including complex tax laws and environmental laws and regulations. Existing laws or regulations, as currently interpreted or reinterpreted in the future, or future laws or regulations could harm Providence's business, results of operations and financial condition. We may be required to make large expenditures to comply with environmental and other governmental regulations. Matters subject to regulation include oil and gas production and saltwater disposal operations and our processing, handling and disposal of hazardous materials, such as hydrocarbons and naturally occurring radioactive materials, discharge permits for drilling operations, spacing of wells, environmental protection, reports concerning operations, and taxation. Under these laws and regulations, we could be liable for personal injuries, property damage, oil spills, discharge of hazardous materials, reclamation costs, remediation, clean-up costs and other environmental damages.

Shortages of oil field equipment, services and qualified personnel could reduce Providence's profit margin, cash flow and operating results.

The demand for qualified and experienced field personnel to drill wells and conduct field operations, geologists, geophysicists, engineers and other professionals in the oil and natural gas industry can fluctuate significantly, often in correlation with oil and natural gas prices, causing periodic shortages. There have also been shortages of drilling rigs and other equipment, as demand for rigs and equipment has increased along with the number of wells being drilled. These factors also cause significant increases in costs for equipment, services and personnel. Higher oil and natural gas prices generally stimulate increased demand and result in increased prices for drilling rigs, crews and associated supplies, equipment and services. We cannot be certain when or if we will experience these issues and these types of shortages or price increases which could significantly decrease any profit margin, cash flow and operating results on any particular well or restrict our ability to drill additional wells.

The results of Providence's operations depend on the exploration efforts of Harding Company and TRNCO Petroleum Corporation, both of which are third parties.

The management of exploration efforts in Comanche and Hamilton Counties is dependent on an independent local operator, Harding Company, while 3D seismic exploration of oil and natural gas prospects in Val Verde is dependent on an independent local company, TRNCO Petroleum Corporation. The fact that Providence is dependent on the operations of third parties for the results of exploration efforts and the prospective production of oil and natural gas assets could impede our ability to realize a net profit from operations.

Oil and natural gas prices are volatile, and any substantial decrease in prices could cause Providence to continue to operate at a loss.

Our future financial condition, results of operations and the carrying value of our oil and natural gas properties will depend primarily upon the prices we receive for production. Oil and natural gas prices historically have been volatile and are likely to continue to be volatile in the future. Our cash flow from operations will be highly dependent on the prices that we receive for oil and natural gas. This price volatility also affects the amount of cash flow available for capital expenditures and our ability to borrow money or raise additional capital. The prices for oil and natural gas are subject to a variety of additional factors that are beyond our control. These factors include:

- the level of consumer demand;
- the domestic supply;
- domestic governmental regulations and taxes;
- the price and availability of alternative fuel sources;
- weather conditions; and
- market uncertainty.

These factors and the volatility of the energy markets generally make it extremely difficult to predict future oil and natural gas price movements with any certainty. Declines in oil and natural gas prices would not only reduce future revenue, but could reduce the amount of oil and natural gas that we can produce economically and, as a result, could cause us to continue to operate at a loss. Should the oil and natural gas industry experience significant price declines, we may continue to operate at a loss.

Risks Related to Providence's Shares

Providence does not pay dividends.

Providence does not pay dividends. Providence has not paid any dividends since inception and has no intention of paying any dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future dividends would be at the discretion of our board of directors and would depend on, among other things, future earnings, our operating and financial condition, our capital requirements, and general business conditions. Therefore, shareholders should not expect any type of cash flow from their investment.

Return of investor's capital contributions is not guaranteed.

The shares registered hereby are speculative and involve a high degree of risk. There can be no guarantee that shareholders will realize a substantial return on an investment, or any return at all, or that he or she will not lose their entire investment. For this reason, each investor should read this registration statement carefully and should consult with his or her legal counsel, accountant(s), or business advisor(s) prior to making any investment decision.

Providence may require additional capital funding.

There can be no guarantee that we will not require additional funds, either through additional equity offerings or debt placements, in order to expand our operations. Such additional capital may result in dilution to our current shareholders. Further, our ability to meet short-term and long-term financial commitments will depend on future cash. There can be no assurance that future income will generate sufficient funds to enable us to meet our financial commitments.

Future shareholders of Providence's preferred stock may face certain risks.

Providence has 25,000,000 shares of authorized preferred stock. Though no shares are currently issued and outstanding, shares may be issued in the future, which shares will involve a high degree of risk. The preferred stock authorized in the articles of incorporation, allows the board of directors to designate the dividend, voting, conversion and liquidation rights or preferences of any class of preferred stock. However, the board of directors has never designated any class or series of preferred stock, nor has it ever set forth any description or designation of the rights or preferences of the preferred stock. As such, the board of directors may not allow dividends, voting, conversion, or liquidation rights. Additionally, the designation may change from time to time.

Providence's shareholders may face significant restrictions on their stock.

Providence's stock differs from many stocks in that it is a "penny stock." The Commission has adopted a number of rules to regulate "penny stocks" including, but not limited to, those rules from the Securities Act as follows:

- 3a51-1 which defines penny stock as, generally speaking, those securities which are not listed on either NASDAQ or a national securities exchange and are priced under $5, excluding securities of issuers that have net tangible assets greater than $2 million if they have been in operation at least three years, greater than $5 million if in operation less than three years, or average revenue of at least $6 million for the last three years;
- 15g-1 which outlines transactions by broker/dealers which are exempt from 15g-2 through 15g-6 as those whose commissions from traders are lower than 5% total commissions;
- 15g-2 which details that brokers must disclose risks of penny stock on Schedule 15G;
- 15g-3 which details that broker/dealers must disclose quotes and other information relating to the penny stock market;
- 15g-4 which explains that compensation of broker/dealers must be disclosed;
- 15g-5 which explains that compensation of persons associated in connection with penny stock sales must be disclosed;
- 15g-6 which outlines that broker/dealers must send out monthly account statements; and
- 15g-9 which defines sales practice requirements.

Since Providence's securities constitute a "penny stock" within the meaning of the rules, the rules would apply to us and our securities. Because these rules provide regulatory burdens upon broker-dealers, they may affect the ability of shareholders to sell their securities in any market that may develop; the rules themselves may limit the market for penny stocks. Additionally, the market among dealers may not be active. Investors in penny stock often are unable to sell stock back to the dealer that sold them the stock. The mark-ups or commissions charged by the broker-dealers may be greater than any profit a seller may make. Because of large dealer spreads, investors may be unable to sell the stock immediately back to the dealer at the same price the dealer sold the stock to the investor. In some cases, the stock may fall quickly in value. Investors may be unable to reap any profit from any sale of the stock, if they can sell it at all. Shareholders should be aware that, according to Commission Release No. 34-29093 dated April 17, 1991, the market for penny stocks has suffered from patterns of fraud and abuse. These patterns include:

- control of the market for the security by one or a few broker-dealers that are often related to the promoter or issuer;
- manipulation of prices through prearranged matching of purchases and sales and false and misleading press releases;
- "boiler room" practices involving high pressure sales tactics and unrealistic price projections by inexperienced sales persons;
- excessive and undisclosed bid-ask differentials and markups by selling broker-dealers; and
- the wholesale dumping of the same securities by promoters and broker-dealers after prices have been manipulated to a desired level, along with the inevitable collapse of those prices with consequent investor losses.

The market for our stock is limited and our stock price may be volatile.

The market for our common stock has been limited due to low trading volume and the small number of brokerage firms acting as market makers. Because of the limitations of our market and volatility of the market price of our stock, investors may face difficulties in selling shares at attractive prices when they want to. The average daily trading volume for our stock has varied significantly from week to week and from month to month, and the trading volume often varies widely from day to day.

We may incur significant expenses as a result of being quoted on the Over the Counter Bulletin Board, which may negatively impact our financial performance.

We may incur significant legal, accounting and other expenses as a result of being listed on the Over the Counter Bulletin Board. The Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as well as related rules implemented by the Commission, have required changes in corporate governance practices of public companies. We expect that compliance with these laws, rules and regulations, including compliance with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 as discussed in the following risk factor, may substantially increase our expenses, including our legal and accounting costs, and make some activities more time-consuming and costly. As a result, there may be a substantial increase in legal, accounting and certain other expenses in the future, which would negatively impact our financial performance and could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

Our internal controls over financial reporting may not be considered effective, which could result in a loss of investor confidence in our financial reports and in turn have an adverse effect on our stock price.

Pursuant to Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, beginning with our annual report for the year ending December 31, 2008, we may be required to furnish a report by our management on our internal controls over financial reporting. Such report will contain, among other matters, an assessment of the effectiveness of our internal controls over financial reporting as of the end of the year, including a statement as to whether or not our internal controls over financial reporting are effective. This assessment must include disclosure of any material weaknesses in our internal controls over financial reporting identified by management. The report will also contain a statement that our independent registered public accounting firm has issued an attestation report on management's assessment of internal controls. If we are unable to assert that our internal controls are effective as of December 31, 2008, or if our independent registered public accounting firm is unable to attest that our management's report is fairly stated or they are unable to express an opinion on our management's evaluation or on the effectiveness of our internal controls, investors could lose confidence in the accuracy and completeness of our financial reports, which in turn could cause our stock price to decline.

ITEM 5. MARKET FOR COMMON EQUITY AND RELATED STOCKHOLDER MATTERS

Providence's common stock is quoted on the Over the Counter Bulletin Board, a service maintained by the National Association of Securities Dealer, Inc., under the symbol "PVRs". Trading in the common stock over-the-counter market has been limited and sporadic and the quotations set forth below are not necessarily indicative of actual market conditions. These prices reflect inter-dealer prices without retail mark-up, mark-down, or commission, and may not necessarily reflect actual transactions. The high and low bid prices for the common stock for each of the quarters listed below are as follows:

Year	Quarter Ended	High	Low
2006	December 31	$1.00	$0.35
	September 30	$1.60	$0.70
	June 30	$2.50	$0.96
	March 31	$0.96	$0.48
2005	December 31	$0.85	$0.13
	September 30	$0.25	$0.15
	June 30	$0.23	$0.20
	March 31	$0.26	$0.20

Common Stock

As of April 5, 2007, there were approximately 241 shareholders of record holding a total of 51,449,627 shares of fully paid and non-assessable common stock of the 100,000,000 shares of common stock, par value $0.0001, authorized. The board of directors believes that the number of beneficial owners is substantially greater than the number of record holders because a portion of our outstanding common stock is held in broker "street names" for the benefit of individual investors. The holders of the common stock are entitled to one vote for each share held of record on all matters submitted to a vote of shareholders. Holders of the common stock have no preemptive rights and no right to convert their common stock into any other securities. There are no redemption or sinking fund provisions applicable to the common stock.

Preferred Stock

As of April 5, 2007, there were no shares issued and outstanding of 25,000,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $0.0001, authorized. Providence's preferred stock may have such rights, preferences and designations and may be issued in such series as determined by the board of directors.

Convertible Promissory Note

Providence has issued (i) seven debentures in the aggregate amount of $3,320,000 at 7% interest that are convertible into common shares at $0.35 per share at any time until November 30, 2010, and (ii) one debenture in the amount of $250,000 at 10% interest convertible into common shares at $0.10 per share at any time until May 6, 2010.

Warrants

Providence has issued (i) 348,000 common share purchase warrants exercisable at $0.30 per share at any time until December 1, 2010, (ii) 6,684,960 common share purchase warrants exercisable at $1.00 per share at any time until July 25, 2009, (iii) 188,190 common share purchase warrants exercisable at $0.72 per share at any time until November 7, 2009, and (iv) 46,500 common share purchase warrants exercisable at $0.72 per share at any time until November 20, 2009.

Dividends

Providence has not declared any cash dividends since inception and does not anticipate paying any dividends in the foreseeable future. The payment of dividends is within the discretion of the board of directors and will depend on Providence's earnings, capital requirements, financial condition, and other relevant factors. There are no restrictions that currently limit Providence's ability to pay dividends on our common stock other than those generally imposed by applicable state law.

ITEM 6. MANAGEMENT'S PLAN OF OPERATIONS

This Management's Plan of Operation and Results of Operations and other parts of this report contain forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Forward-looking statements can also be identified by words such as "anticipates," "expects," "believes," "plans," "predicts," and similar terms. Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and our actual results may differ significantly from the results discussed in the forward-looking statements. Factors that might cause such differences include, but are not limited to, those discussed in the subsection entitled Forward-Looking Statements and Factors That May Affect Future Results and Financial Condition below. The following discussion should be read in conjunction with our financial statements and notes thereto included in this report. Our fiscal year end is December 31.

General

Providence's current financial condition and results of operations depend on private financing activities. Providence Exploration has a limited history of generating revenue, which cannot be viewed as an indication of continued growth, and a historical record of incurring losses. Should Providence be unable to generate revenue to the point where we can realize net cash flow, such failure will have an impact on our ability to continue business operations.

Business Strategy

Over the next twelve months, Providence intends to:

- produce a full evaluation of the initial prospects in the Marble Falls, Barnett Shale and Strawn leases;
- continue post drilling "fracing" in the Marble Falls and Barnett Shale leases (fracing is the fracturing of geologic formations which open up pathways for the oil or gas to flow to the well);
- explore to develop the Marble Falls and Barnett Shale and Strawn leases for oil and gas production;
- seismically explore the Val Verde leases;
- interpret the Val Verde seismic data; and
- develop the Val Verde leases with multiple deep drilling targets for natural gas production.

Providence's business development strategy is prone to significant risks and uncertainties that can have an immediate impact on efforts to realize net cash flow. This impact may deter future prospects of revenue.

Results of Operations

During the year ended December 31, 2006, Providence was involved in (i) finalizing those agreements pertaining to the acquisition of Providence Exploration, and (ii) raising additional capital by way of common stock offerings to fund the exploration, development and prospective production from those properties Providence Exploration has under lease.

During the same year, Providence Exploration (i) realized limited revenues from servicing equipment sales, (ii) completed the purchase of the Val Verde County leases, (iii) began seismic exploratory preparation on the Val Verde County leases, (iv) initiated seismic operations, identified drill sites and acquired an additional 1,103 acres in the Marble Falls and Barnett Shale leases, and (v) commenced drilling on the Marble Falls and Barnett Shale formations.

Providence expects to realize revenues within the next twelve months of operation from the initiation of gas production. However, our exploration activities to date have not resulted in the realization of commercially feasible gas production and we can provide no assurance that our ongoing exploration activities will produce revenue within this twelve month time frame or at all.

In the near term, we will not be able to generate sufficient cash flow from operations to sustain our business as we continue to incur lease development expenses. Further, there can be no assurance that Providence will ever be able to generate sufficient cash flows to sustain operations. Our business development strategy is prone to significant risks and uncertainties, certain of which can have an immediate impact on our efforts to realize positive net cash flow and deter the prospect of future revenue.

Losses

Net losses for the year ended December 31, 2006, increased to $6,761,584 from $944,857 for the year ended December 31, 2005. The increase in net losses over the comparative periods can be attributed to an increase in general and administrative expenses and interest expenses. Providence generated limited revenues during this period.

We will likely continue to operate at a loss through fiscal 2007 due to the nature of Providence's oil and gas exploration and development operations and cannot be certain that we will ever generate revenue from operations.

Expenses

General and administrative expenses for the year ended December 31, 2006, increased to $2,121,062 from $468,677 for the year ended December 31, 2005. The increase in general and administrative expenses over the comparative periods can be primarily attributed to increases in legal, consulting and accounting costs related to the Providence Exploration acquisition, oil and gas development expenses, and our common stock offering. Providence expects that general and administrative expenses will decrease in future periods.

Interest expenses for the year ended December 31, 2006, increased to $5,102,503 from $200,517 for the year ended December 31, 2005. The increase in interest expense over the comparative periods can be attributed to the accrued interest on the eight outstanding convertible debentures, the differences between market values and transaction values for shares issued for principal and interest on the eight convertible debentures, the below-market value warrants issued in the recent equity financing, and other interest expenses.

Depreciation expense for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 was $9,544 and $491 respectively.

Capital Expenditures

Providence spent no amounts on capital expenditures for the period from February 17, 1993 (inception) to December 31, 2006, except those costs of unproved properties acquired with Providence Exploration and related exploration costs.

Income Tax Expense (Benefit)

Providence has an income tax benefit resulting from net operating losses that may offset any future operating profit.

Impact of Inflation

Providence believes that inflation has had an effect on Providence Exploration's operations due to the increased interest in oil and gas exploration over the last three years which has increased prices for labor, maintenance services, and equipment. We believe that we can offset these inflationary increases by improving operating efficiencies.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Providence had current assets of $2,264,758 with total assets of $29,795,787 as of December 31, 2006. These assets include cash on hand of $1,540,145 and undeveloped oil and gas leases of $26,266,981. Stockholders equity in Providence was $24,152,133 at December 31, 2006.

Cash flows used in operating activities were $211,623 for the year ended December 31, 2006, compared to $232,857 used in operating activities the year ended December 31, 2005. Cash flows used in operating activities during the current period are primarily due to an increase in net losses.

Cash flows used in investing activities were $8,379,886 for the year ended December 31, 2006, compared to $3,075,000 for the year ended December 31, 2005. Cash flows used in investing activities during the current period consisted of advances to Providence Exploration prior to its acquisition and the acquisition of property and equipment.

Cash flows provided by financing activities were $8,096,026 for the year ended December 31, 2006, as compared to $5,296,952 provided by financing activities for the year ended December 31, 2005. Cash flows provided by financing activities during the current period were generated primarily from the sale of our common stock.

We had a working capital surplus of $627,947 as of December 31, 2006, and have funded our cash needs from inception through revenues and a series of debt and equity transactions, including several private placements. We do not believe that our current assets are sufficient to conduct our minimum plan of operation over the next twelve (12) months. No assurances can be given that additional funding, as needed to explore and develop our lease interests will be available to us on acceptable terms or available at all. Our inability to obtain funding, as necessary, would have a material adverse effect on our plan of operation.

Providence has no current plans for the purchase or sale of any plant or equipment. We have no current plans to make any changes in the number of employees.

Forward Looking Statements and Factors That May Affect Future Results and Financial Condition

The statements contained in this section, Management's Plan of Operations, with the exception of historical facts, are forward looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act. A safe-harbor provision may not be applicable to the forward looking statements made in this report because of certain exclusions under Section 27A (b). Forward looking statements reflect our current expectations and beliefs regarding our future results of operations, performance, and achievements. These statements are subject to risks and uncertainties and are based upon assumptions and beliefs that may or may not materialize. These statements include, but are not limited to, statements concerning:

- our anticipated financial performance;
- uncertainties related to oil and gas exploration and development;
- our ability to generate revenues through oil and gas production to fund future operations;
- our ability to raise additional capital to fund cash requirements for future operations;
- the volatility of the stock market; and
- general economic conditions.

We wish to caution readers that Providence's operating results are subject to various risks and uncertainties that could cause our actual results to differ materially from those discussed or anticipated in this report. We also wish to advise readers not to place any undue reliance on the forward looking statements contained in this report, which reflect our beliefs and expectations only as of the date of this report. We assume no obligation to update or revise these forward looking statements to reflect new events or circumstances or any changes in our beliefs or expectations, other than is required by law.

Critical Accounting Policies

In the notes to the audited consolidated financial statements for Providence for the year ended December 31, 2006, our auditors discussed those accounting policies that are considered to be significant in determining the results of operations and financial position. Our auditors believe that their accounting principles conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make significant estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. By their nature, these judgments are subject to an inherent degree of uncertainty. On an on-going basis, we evaluate our estimates, including those related to bad debts, inventories, intangible assets, warranty obligations, product liability, revenue, and income taxes. We base our estimates on historical experience and other facts and circumstances that are believed to be reasonable, and the results form the basis for making judgments about the carrying value of assets and liabilities. The actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

Revenue Recognition

Revenues are recorded upon the completion of the services, with the existence of an agreement and where collectability is reasonably assured. Oil and natural gas production revenue, if any, will be recognized at the time and point of sale after the product has been extracted from the ground.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In February 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 155, "Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments-an amendment of FASB Statements No. 133 and 140", to simplify and make more consistent the accounting for certain financial instruments. SFAS No. 155 amends SFAS No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities", to permit fair value re-measurement for any hybrid financial instrument with an embedded derivative that otherwise would require bifurcation, provided that the whole instrument is accounted for on a fair value basis. SFAS No. 155 amends SFAS No. 140, "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets", to allow a qualifying special-purpose entity to hold a derivative financial instrument that pertains to a beneficial interest other than another derivative financial instrument. SFAS No. 155 applies to all financial instruments acquired or issued after the beginning of an entity's first fiscal year that begins after September 15, 2006, with earlier application allowed. The adoption of this statement is not expected to have a material effect on Providence's future reported financial position or results of operations.

In March 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 156, "Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets, an amendment of FASB Statement No. 140, Accounting for Transfers and Servicing of Financial Assets and Extinguishments of Liabilities". This statement requires all separately recognized servicing assets and servicing liabilities be initially measured at fair value, if practicable, and permits for subsequent measurement using either fair value measurement with changes in fair value reflected in earnings or the amortization and impairment requirements of Statement No. 140. The subsequent measurement of separately recognized servicing assets and servicing liabilities at fair value eliminates the necessity for entities that manage the risks inherent in servicing assets and servicing liabilities with derivatives to qualify for hedge accounting treatment and eliminates the characterization of declines in fair value as impairments or direct write-downs. SFAS No. 156 is effective for an entity's first fiscal year beginning after September 15, 2006. The adoption of this statement is not expected to have a material effect on Providence's future reported financial position or results of operations.

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 157, "Fair Value Measurements". The objective of SFAS 157 is to increase consistency and comparability in fair value measurements and to expand disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value in generally accepted accounting principles, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 applies under other accounting pronouncements that require or permit fair value measurements and does not require any new fair value measurements. The provisions of SFAS No. 157 are effective for fair value measurements made in fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. The adoption of this statement is not expected to have a material effect on Providence's future reported financial position or results of operations.

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 158, “Employers’ Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans – an amendment of FASB Statements No. 87, 88, 106, and 132(R)”. This statement requires employers to recognize the overfunded or underfunded status of a defined benefit postretirement plan (other than a multiemployer plan) as an asset or liability in its statement of financial position and to recognize changes in that funded status in the year in which the changes occur through comprehensive income of a business entity or changes in unrestricted net assets of a not-for-profit organization. This statement also requires an employer to measure the funded status of a plan as of the date of its year-end statement of financial position, with limited exceptions. The provisions of SFAS No. 158 are effective for employers with publicly traded equity securities as of the end of the fiscal year ending after December 15, 2006. The adoption of this statement is not expected to have a material effect on Providence’s future reported financial position or results of operations.

In September 2006, the Commission issued Staff Accounting Bulletin (“SAB”) No. 108, “Considering the Effects of Prior Year Misstatements when Quantifying Misstatements in Current Year Financial Statements.” SAB No. 108 addresses how the effects of prior year uncorrected misstatements should be considered when quantifying misstatements in current year financial statements. SAB No. 108 requires companies to quantify misstatements using a balance sheet and income statement approach and to evaluate whether either approach results in quantifying an error that is material in light of relevant quantitative and qualitative factors. SAB No. 108 is effective for periods ending after November 15, 2006. Providence is currently evaluating the impact of adopting SAB No. 108 but does not expect that it will have a material effect on its financial position and results of operations.

In February 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 159, “The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities”. This Statement permits entities to choose to measure many financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value. Unrealized gains and losses on items for which the fair value option has been elected are reported in earnings. SFAS No. 159 is effective for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. Providence is currently assessing the impact of SFAS No. 159 on its financial position and results of operations.

Going Concern

Providence’s audit expressed substantial doubt as to Providence’s ability to continue as a going concern as a result of recurring losses, lack of revenue generating activities, and an accumulated deficit of $15,914,684 as of December 31, 2006. These conditions raise substantial doubt about Providence’s ability to continue as a going concern.

Management’s plan to address Providence’s ability to continue as a going concern, includes the development and prospective production of oil and natural gas from existing leases, and the conversion of outstanding debt to equity. The successful outcome of these activities cannot be determined at this time, and there is no assurance that, if achieved, we would then have sufficient funds to execute our intended business plan or generate positive operating results.

ITEM 7. FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors of
Providence Resources, Inc.
Vancouver, B.C. Canada

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Providence Resources, Inc. at December 31, 2006 and 2005 and the related statements of operations, stockholders' equity (deficit) and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal controls over financial reporting. Our audit included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Providence Resources, Inc. at December 31, 2006 and 2005, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Company has recorded significant losses from operations, and is dependent on financing to continue operations, which together raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans in regard to these matters are also described in Note 2. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

PROVIDENCE RESOURCES, INC.
(A Development Stage Company)
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Note 1 — Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization

The consolidated financial statements consist of Providence Resources, Inc. (“Providence Resources”) (formerly Healthbridge, Inc.) and its wholly owned subsidiaries, Healthbridge AG (“Healthbridge AG”), Providence Exploration LLC (“Providence Exploration”), PDX Drilling, LLC and Providence Resources LLC and a ninety percent interest in Comanche County Pipeline, LLC (collectively “the Company”).

Providence Resources, Inc. was organized on February 17, 1993 (date of inception) under the laws of the State of Texas. The Company changed its name from Healthbridge, Inc. to Providence Resources, Inc. on September 29, 2006. Healthbridge AG was formed as a German subsidiary during 2002. Providence Exploration, LLC was formed on July 12, 2005, under the Laws of the State of Texas as a Limited Liability Company and is headquartered in Dallas, Texas. Providence Exploration formed a wholly owned subsidiary, PDX Drilling, LLC (PDX), on July 12, 2005. PDX was formed to acquire drilling and service rigs for the purpose of drilling oil and gas wells in Texas. Providence Exploration also formed a wholly owned subsidiary, Providence Resources LLC, on September 1, 2005, to acquire leases in Texas for oil and gas exploration and development. In October of 2006, Providence Exploration entered into an agreement to form Comanche County Pipeline, LLC with the purpose of constructing an oil and gas pipeline in Comanche County, Texas.

On January 25, 2002, the Company acquired certain patents related to the infectious medical waste sterilization and disposal technologies developed in Germany. During the fourth quarter of 2005, the Company decided to discontinue all operations connected to the Valides® Modular Infectious Waste Disposal System and the Medides System due to the unsatisfactory level of revenue generated to date.

On November 21, 2005, the Company executed a letter of intent to acquire Providence Exploration, LLC, as a wholly owned subsidiary in a stock for ownership exchange. On September 29, 2006, the Corporation acquired Providence Exploration as a wholly owned subsidiary, pursuant to the closing of a Securities Exchange Agreement and a Note Exchange Agreement.

The Securities Exchange Agreement, entered into on April 10, 2006 with Providence Exploration and the unit holders of Providence Exploration, provided for the exchange of 4,286,330 shares of the Corporation’s common stock for 1,250,000 issued and outstanding membership units of Providence Exploration. The Note Exchange Agreement, entered into on April 10, 2006 with the holders of certain promissory notes issued by Providence Exploration, provided for the exchange of 12,213,670 shares of the Company’s common stock for the assignment of those promissory notes to the Company. The agreements were closed pursuant to shareholder approval at a special meeting of the shareholders held on September 29, 2006.

PROVIDENCE RESOURCES, INC.
(A Development Stage Company)
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Note 1 — Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Providence Exploration is involved in exploration activities for the recovery of oil and gas from the Marble Falls and Barnett Shale formations in the Fort Worth basin and from the Ellenburger carbonate, Strawn carbonate and Pennsylvanian-Wolfcamp sandstone reservoirs in Val Verde County. The Fort Worth basin prospects include approximately 7,374 acres of oil and gas leases and the Val Verde County prospects include approximately 12,832 acres of oil and gas leases. Providence Exploration has a 90% working interest and its joint venture operating partner, Harding Company, has a 10% working interest in the Fort Worth basin projects.

The Company is considered a development stage company as defined in SFAS No. 7.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Providence Resources, Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Inventory

Inventory consists of drilling rigs, parts and components. The Company records inventory at the lower of cost or market.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred. Costs of major renewals or betterments are capitalized over the remaining useful lives of the related assets. Depreciation is computed by using the straight-line method. The cost of property disposed of and related accumulated depreciation is removed from the accounts at the time of disposal, and gain or loss is reflected in operations.

PROVIDENCE RESOURCES, INC.
(A Development Stage Company)
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Oil and Gas Leases Not Subject to Amortization

Oil and gas lease costs are recorded at cost and consist of 7,374.5 acres of land leases in North Eastern Texas in the Barnett Shale Formation and 12,847.2 acres of land leases in Southwest Texas in Val Verde County. These leases are undeveloped at December 31, 2006, and accordingly no depletion is included in the accompanying consolidated financial statements.

The Company follows the full cost method of accounting for exploration and development of oil and gas properties whereby all costs in acquiring, exploring and developing properties are capitalized, including estimate of abandonment costs, net of estimated equipment salvage costs. Prior to acquisition on September 29, 2006, Providence Exploration capitalized $ 3,278,647 in exploration costs. No costs related to production, general corporate overhead, or similar activities have been capitalized. As of December 31, 2006, the Company only has capitalized costs of unproved properties acquired and related exploration costs. Leasehold costs are depleted based on the units-of-production method based on estimated proved reserves. No proved reserves currently exist for the Company and therefore no depletion has been taken as of December 31, 2006.

In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 144 "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets", the Company reviews its long-lived assets to be held and used, excluding proved oil and gas properties accounted for under the full cost method of accounting, whenever events or circumstances indicate that the carrying value of those assets may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is indicated if the sum of the expected future net cash flows is less than the carrying amount of the assets. In this circumstance, the Company recognizes an impairment loss for the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds the estimated fair value of the asset. The Company's long-lived assets related to its proved oil and gas properties accounted for under the full cost method of accounting are prescribed by the Securities and Exchange Commission (Regulation S-X, Rule 4-10, "Financial Accounting and Reporting for Oil and Gas Producing Activities Pursuant to the Federal Securities Laws and the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975").

Intangible Assets

Costs associated with the acquisition of definite life intangibles are capitalized and amortized over their useful life. These costs will be reviewed quarterly by management for impairment and valuation. Such impairment is reviewed from available information at the time such as projected cash flow analysis, sales orders and other information available to help management determine future realization of this asset. Management will write this intangible down to its net realizable value at the time of impairment appears to exist.

PROVIDENCE RESOURCES, INC.
(A Development Stage Company)
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Intangible Assets (continued)

Loan origination fees are amortized on a straight line basis over the 36 month term of the loans and are as follows:

	2006	2005
Loan Origination Fee	69,896	-0-
Accumulated Amortization	24,097	-0-
Total	45,799	-0-

Long-Lived Assets

The Company evaluates its long-lived assets in accordance with SFAS No. 144, "Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets". Long-lived assets held and used by the Company are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their net book value may not be recoverable. When such factors and circumstances exist, the Company compares the projected undiscounted future cash flows associated with the related asset or group of assets over their estimated useful lives against their respective carrying amounts. Impairment, if any, is based on the excess of the carrying amount over the fair value of those assets and is recorded in the period in which the determination was made.

Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes are provided in amounts sufficient to give effect to temporary differences between financial and tax reporting, principally related to deferred start-up cost. For income tax purposes start-up costs are deferred until the Company begins generating revenue, at which time the costs begin being amortized.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts, which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. At December 31, 2006, the Company had $1,540,145 in bank deposit accounts. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash and cash equivalents.

PROVIDENCE RESOURCES, INC.
(A Development Stage Company)
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Note 1 — Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Translation of Foreign Currencies

Assets and liabilities of the Company's foreign subsidiary are translated into U.S. dollars at the applicable exchange rates at year-end. Net gains or losses resulting from the translation of the Company's assets and liabilities are reflected as a separate component of stockholders' equity. A negative translation impact on stockholders' equity reflects a current relative U.S. dollar value higher than at the point in time that assets were actually acquired in a foreign currency. A positive translation impact would result from a U.S. Dollar weaker in value than at the point in time foreign assets were acquired.

Income and expense items are translated at the weighted average rate of exchange (based on when transactions actually occurred) during the year.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue in accordance with Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 104, Revenue Recognition ("SAB104"), which superseded Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 101, Revenue Recognition in Financial Statements ("SAB101"). SAB 101 requires that four basic criteria must be met before revenue can be recognized: (1) persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists; (2) delivery has occurred; (3) the selling price is fixed and determinable; and (4) collectibility is reasonably assured.

The Company incurred revenues during the year ended December 31, 2006. Revenues are recorded upon the completion of the services, with the existence of an agreement and where collectability is reasonably assured. Oil and natural gas production revenue will be recognized at the time and point of sale after the product has been extracted from the ground.

Stock-Based Compensation

At December 31, 2006, the Company has stock-based employee compensation plans, which are described in greater detail in Note 11. The Company accounts for those plans under the recognition and measurement principles of APB Opinion 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees", and related Interpretations, and has adopted the disclosure provisions of SFAS 123 (R), "Share Based Payment."

Had compensation cost for the Company's stock option plan been determined based on the fair value at the grant date for awards consistent with the provisions of SFAS 123 (R), the Company's net loss and loss per share would have been reduced to the pro forma amounts indicated below:

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Reclassifications

Certain amounts in the 2005 financial statements may have been reclassified to conform to the 2006 presentation.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash, accounts receivable, accounts payable and notes payable. The carrying amount of these items approximates fair value because of their short-term nature and the notes payable bear interest at the market interest rate.

Note 2 — Going Concern

As of December 31, 2006, the Company's revenue generating activities have not generated sufficient funds for profitable operations, and the Company has incurred losses of $15,984,684 since inception. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

We anticipate that additional funding will be required in the next twelve months and that it will be in the form of equity financing from the sale of our common stock. However, we do not have any financing arranged and we cannot provide investors with firm assurance that we will be able to raise sufficient funding from the sale of our common stock to fund our plan of operations.

Note 3 – Promissory Note Receivable

The face value of the note increased to match the amounts advanced by the Company. The note bears interest at 7.0% per annum and was to be paid in full by December 1, 2006. Once the Company acquired Exploration, the intercompany note was eliminated upon consolidation. Prior to the acquisition date of September 29, 2006, the Company had advanced $8,886,761 to Providence Exploration LLP and the accrued interest on the note was $302,603.

Note 4 — Property and Equipment

Note 5 – Patents

In 2002, patents were obtained pursuant to an agreement whereby the Company executed an Intellectual Property Assignment and Sale Agreement (“Agreement”) with B.I.M.E. GmbH, a German corporation, and Hermann Esser and Eduard Kneifel, both German residents (“Sellers”), to acquire certain infectious medical waste sterilization and disposal technologies developed in Germany. The Agreement transfers to the Company the exclusive ownership of both the Valides® Modular Infectious Medical Waste Disposal System and the Medides System together with all the intellectual property, including the patents, patents pending, proprietary software and licenses required to manufacture, operate and market these technologies worldwide.

As of December 31, 2004, the gross carrying value of the patents was $404,446 and accumulated amortization was $121,334. In the first six months of 2005, the Company recognized a further $20,222 of amortization on the patents. On June 30, 2005 the Company reviewed the carrying value of its patents and determined that the prospect of sales this year and future expected cashflow from sales of the Valides system were unknown. Therefore the Company determined that there was sufficient evidence to indicate that the carrying value of the patent asset was impaired. Pursuant to the Company’s determination, it wrote off the remaining unamortized balance of $262,890 of its capitalized cost.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Note 18 — Stock Based Compensation

The Company has adopted the disclosure provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123 (R), “Share Based Payment” as described in Note 1. No stock options were granted in 2006 and 2005. No stock options were outstanding at December 31, 2006.

Note 19 — Reverse Common Stock Split

Effective August 25, 2003, the Company approved a 1-for-20 reverse common stock split. All common share amounts, common stock option amounts and per share information have been retroactively adjusted to reflect this common stock split in the accompanying financial statements.

Note 20 — Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In February 2006 the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement of Financial Standards No. 155 Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments — an amendment of FASB Statements No. 133 and 140 (SFAS 155). This standard permits fair value remeasurement for any hybrid financial instrument that contains an embedded derivative that otherwise would require bifurcation. SFAS 155 allows an entity to make an irrevocable election to measure such a hybrid financial instrument at fair value on an instrument-by-instrument basis. The standard eliminates the prohibition on a QSPE from holding a derivative financial instrument that pertains to a beneficial interest other than another derivative financial instrument. SFAS 155 also clarifies which interest-only and principal-only strips are not subject to the requirements of SFAS 133, as well as determines that concentrations of credit risk in the form of subordination are not embedded derivatives. SFAS 155 is effective for all financial instruments acquired or issued after the beginning of the fiscal year that begins after September 15, 2006. Adoption of SFAS 155 is not expected to have a material impact on our consolidated financial position or results of operations.

In July 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued Interpretation No. 48 (“FIN 48”), “Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes,” which clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in the financial statements in accordance with FASB Statement No. 109, “Accounting for Income Taxes.” FIN 48 provides guidance on the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. FIN 48 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosures, and transition. FIN 48 becomes effective beginning with our first quarter 2007 fiscal period. We are currently evaluating the impact of this standard on our Consolidated Financial Statements.

In September 2006, the FASB issued FASB Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (“SFAS”) No. 157, Fair Value Measurements, which establishes a framework for reporting fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS No. 157 becomes effective beginning with our first quarter 2008 fiscal period. We are currently evaluating the impact of this standard on our Consolidated Financial Statements.

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 158, Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans. Effective for our fiscal year ending 2006, we will be required to fully recognize the assets and obligations associated with our defined benefit plans. Effective for fiscal year ending 2008, we will be required to measure a plan's assets and liabilities as of the end of the fiscal year instead of our current measurement date of September 30. We are currently evaluating the impact of this standard on our Consolidated Financial Statements.

Supplemental Oil and Gas Information – FAS69

The following unaudited disclosures on standardized measures of discounted cash flows and changes therein relating to proved oil and gas reserves are determined in accordance with United States Statements of Financial Accounting Standards No. 69 “Disclosures About Oil and Gas Producing Activities”.

Standardized Measure of Discounted Future Net Cash Flows and Changes Therein

In calculating the standardized measure of discounted future net cash flows, year-end constant prices and cost assumptions were applied to the Company’s annual future production from proved reserves to determine cash inflows. Future production and development costs are based on constant price assumptions and assume the continuation of existing economic, operating and regulatory conditions. Future income taxes are calculated by applying statutory income tax rates to future pre-tax cash flows after provision for the tax cost of oil and natural gas properties based upon existing laws and regulations. The discount was computed by application of a 10 percent discount factor to the future net cash flows. The calculation of the standardized measure of discounted future net cash flows is based upon discounted future net cash flows prepared by the Company’s independent qualified reserve evaluators in relation to the reserves they respectively evaluated, and adjusted by the Company to account for management’s estimate obligations and future income taxes. The Company cautions that the discounted future net cash flows relating to proved oil and gas reserves are an indication of neither the fair market value of the Company’s oil and gas properties, nor of the future net cash flows expected to be generated from such properties. The discounted future net cash flows do not include the fair market value of exploratory properties and probable or possible oil and gas reserves, nor is consideration given to the effect of anticipated future changes in crude oil and natural gas prices, development, asset retirement and production costs, and possible changes to tax and royalty regulations. The prescribed discount rate of 10 percent may not appropriately reflect future interest rates. The Company’s projections should not be interpreted as being equivalent to fair market value.

(1) Definitions:

- a. “Net” reserves are the remaining reserves of the Company, after deduction of estimated royalties and including royalty interests.
- b. “Proved oil and gas reserves.” Proved oil and gas reserves are the estimated quantities of crude oil, natural gas, and natural gas liquids which geological and engineering data demonstrate with reasonable certainty to be recoverable in future years from known reservoirs under existing economic and operating conditions, i.e. prices and costs as of the date the estimate is made. Prices include consideration of changes in existing prices provided only by contractual arrangements, but not on escalations based upon future conditions.

Reservoirs are considered proved if economic product ability is supported by either actual production or conclusive formation test. The area of a reservoir considered proved includes that portion delineated by drilling and defined by gas-oil and /or oil-water contacts, if any; and the immediately adjoining portions not yet drilled, but which can be reasonably judged as economically productive on the basis of available geological and engineering data. In the absence of information on fluid contacts, the lowest known structural occurrence of hydrocarbons controls the lower proved limit of the reservoir.

- i. Reserves which can be produced economically through application of improved recovery techniques (such as fluid injection) are included in the “proved” classification when successful testing by a pilot project, or the operation of an installed program in the reservoir, provides support for the engineering analysis on which the project or program was based.

PROVIDENCE RESOURCES, INC.
(A Development Stage Company)
December 31, 2006 and 2005

ii. Estimates of proved reserves do not include the following:

Oil that may become available from known reservoirs but is classified separately as “indicated additional reserves”;

Crude oil, natural gas, and natural gas liquids, the recovery of which is subject to reasonable doubt because of uncertainty as to geology, reservoir characteristics, or economic factors;

Crude oil, natural gas, and natural gas liquids, that may occur in undrilled prospects; and

Crude oil, natural gas, and natural gas liquids, that may be recovered from oil shales, coal, gilsonite and other such sources.

c. “Proved developed oil and gas reserves.” Proved developed oil and gas reserves are reserves that can be expected to be recovered through existing wells with existing equipment and operating methods. Additional oil and gas expected to be obtained through the application of fluid injection or other improved recovery techniques for supplementing the natural forces and mechanisms of primary recovery should be included as “proved developed reserves” only after testing by a pilot project or after the operation of an installed program has confirmed through production response that increased recovery will be achieved.

d. “Proved undeveloped reserves.” Proved undeveloped oil and gas reserves are reserves that are expected to be recovered from new wells on undrilled acreage, or from existing wells where a relatively major expenditure is required for recompletion. Reserves on undrilled acreage shall be limited to those drilling units offsetting productive unites that are reasonably certain of production when drilled. Proved reserves for other undrilled unites can be claimed only where it can be demonstrated with certainty that there is continuity of production from the existing productive formation. Under no circumstances should estimates, for proved undeveloped reserves be attributable to any acreage for which an application of fluid injection or other improved recovery technique is contemplated, unless such techniques have been proved effective by actual tests in the area and in the same reservoir.

(2) The Company does not file any estimates of total net proved crude oil or natural gas reserves with any U.S. federal authority or agency other than the SEC.

ITEM 10. EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Compensation Discussion and Analysis

The objective of the Corporation's compensation program is to provide compensation for services rendered as an executive officer. The Corporation's salaries are designed to retain the services of our executive officer. The Corporation's stock awards are designed to provide compensation for extraordinary services to the Corporation. Salary and stock awards are currently the only types of compensation we utilize in our compensation program. We utilized these forms of compensation because we feel that they are adequate to retain and motivate our executive officer. The amounts we deem appropriate to compensate our executive officer are determined in accordance with market forces; we have no specific formula to determine compensatory amounts at this time. While we have deemed that our current compensatory program and the decisions regarding compensation are easy to administer and are appropriately suited for our objectives, we may expand our compensation program to any additional future employees to include options and other compensatory elements.

Tables

The following table provides summary information for the years 2006, 2005, and 2004 concerning cash and non-cash compensation paid or accrued by Providence to or on behalf of (i) the chief executive officer and (ii) any other employee to receive compensation in excess of $100,000.

Board of Directors Committees

The board of directors has not established an audit committee or a compensation committee. An audit committee typically reviews, acts on and reports to the board of directors with respect to various auditing and accounting matters, including the recommendations and performance of independent auditors, the scope of the annual audits, fees to be paid to the independent auditors, and internal accounting and financial control policies and procedures. Certain stock exchanges currently require companies to adopt a formal written charter that establishes an audit committee that specifies the scope of an audit committee's responsibilities and the means by which it carries out those responsibilities. In order to be listed on any of these exchanges, we will be required to establish an audit committee.
