RISK FACTORS

2. Listed in the order of importance, the factors which the Company considers to be the most substantial risks to an investor in this offering in view of all facts and circumstances or which otherwise make the offering one of high risk or speculative (i.e., those factors which constitute the greatest threat that the investment will be lost in whole or in part, or not provide an adequate return.

1. Investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment because the Offering price arbitrarily determined by the company has been set too high.

The Offering Price of the Common Shares bears no relation to book value, assets, earnings, or any other objective criteria of value. The company has arbitrarily determined the price. Investors could lose all or a part of their investment if the Offering price has been arbitrarily set too high. There can be no assurance that, even if a public trading market develops for the company's stock, the shares will attain market values commensurate with the Offering Price.

2. The company may not realize sufficient proceeds from this Offering to implement its business plans, as the company is offering shares on direct participation basis, rather than using the experience of a dealer-broker.

The company is offering Shares on a direct participation basis; and no individual, firm, or corporation has agreed to purchase or take down any of the offered Shares. No assurance can be given that any or all of the Shares will be sold. The company does not plan to use a dealer-broker, even though a dealer-broker may have more experience, resources or contacts to more effectively achieve the sale of shares. A delay in the sale of the shares in this Offering can be expected to cause a similar delay in the implementation of the company's business plan.

3. Penny Stocks – Investors will be subject to additional disclosure requirements, probable price fluctuations, and the lack of liquid market for securities.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has adopted a rule that includes the definition of a "penny stock" as any equity security that has a market price of less than $5.00 per share. The company's common stock may be designated a "penny stock" as defined by Rule 3a51-1 of the Securities Exchange Act. For any transaction involving a penny stock, the rules require that; the broker or dealer approve a person's account for transactions in penny stocks; and, the broker or dealer receive from the investor a written agreement to the transaction setting forth the identity and quantity of the penny stock to be purchased. In order to approve a person's account for transactions in penny stocks, the broker or dealer must obtain financial information, investment experience, and objectives of the person, make a reasonable determination that the transactions in penny stocks are suitable for that person and that person has sufficient knowledge and experience in financial matters to be capable of evaluating the risks of transactions in penny stocks. In addition to the additional disclosure requirements, material risks associated with penny stocks include price fluctuations and the lack of a liquid market for such securities. Investors may find it difficult to find a suitable buyer for their stock and may experience extreme price fluctuations resulting from a small volume of sales.

4. Investors will have restricted liquidity of securities in this Offering, as the securities are to be registered in the State of Colorado only.

The company will initially register its securities for sale in the State of Colorado. The company is considering registration in additional states. As the securities will likely not be considered a "covered" security, state registration is required for initial sales from the issuer and resales by investors. Investors wishing to sell their securities to residents of states where the offering has not been registered may only be able to do so if an "exception" to state registration exists. Investors in this Offering must consider that registration of these securities in the State of Colorado only, may restrict liquidity of the securities.

BUSINESS AND PROPERTIES

3. With respect to the business of the Company and its properties:

- (a) Describe in detail what business the Company does and proposes to do, including what products or goods are or will be produced or services that will be rendered.

Relevant Links, Inc. ("RLI" or "The Company") has been formed to:

1. Create and operate narrow-interest group Internet web sites, called "niche portals", appealing to a variety of affinity groups. These niche portals will offer content appealing to that specific interest group, including an extensive library of "relevant links" to other web sites of interest on the subject matter, and serve as a useful hub site for affinity group members. This is accomplished by exhaustively pre-searching the overall Internet for other sites of (narrow) interest and creating handy, organized lists of links to those sites. The niche portal offers all the benefits of a complete search engine without all the necessary effort to weed out the extraneous, "irrelevant" sites suggested by generalized search engines.
2. Write new, proprietary underlying niche portal software applications that will facilitate easier, more automated management of all aspects of the niche portal and serve as a template for all Company-generated niche portal sites. Such an application will largely automate the many functions designed into the niche portal sites, making ongoing site administration far easier than current applications allow.
3. Create and operate niche auction sites for narrow interest group items. The Internet has evolved numerous auction venues taking advantage of the virtually free posting of information to a world-wide audience. Most such sites offer broad merchandise categories, while niche auctions will restrict to one specific, narrow category. To date, the company has launched one such site, www.numsbid.com, which will soon auction rare coins.
4. Create a new auction software application which closely parallels existing auction software currently utilized by companies like eBay, but includes refinements management believes will improve functionality, making such software more valuable than existing products.

Niche Portals

One of the most important functions performed by the Internet is dissemination of information on specific subjects to a worldwide audience of adherents. A new type of special interest group site is evolving; the niche portal. The niche portal is a central meeting site for these special interest groups, with links to numerous narrower satellite sites. Once linked, benefits flow to both the niche portal and the satellite sites, providing traffic which would otherwise not find the satellite site, and building a library of relevant links for the niche portal, making it more useful.

Most existing niche portals are built and managed by amateur enthusiasts, who lack advanced programming and/or marketing skills, so effective well-designed niche portals are rare in each narrow interest. There are five main skills needed to produce successful niche portal web sites: concept planning, site design and construction, link solicitation and implementation, site promotion to build audience, and advertising sales. Each of these areas requires unique talents and virtually no one possesses all such talents. For this reason, the Company intends to utilize an assembly line approach to the business, by which different individuals will perform each of these tasks. This contrasts with the methodology of most existing niche portals, in which one enthusiast attempts to perform all such task (often poorly).

Once RLI launches a specific-interest niche portal site with useful links and begins to secure an audience, it will solicit advertising directly related to the subject matter. It is generally accepted that advertisers seek to focus their advertising budgets on the most receptive possible customers, and a niche portal, viewed almost exclusively by narrow group devotees becomes an ideal, selected audience. The Company believes it can solicit and secure relevant advertising which is more focused and effective to the advertiser and therefore more lucrative to the web site and RLI.

Linking Software Application.

A central concept of Niche Portals is the extensive use of links to other useful ('satellite') sites related to the central concept. To date, linking has required laborious efforts to manually insert links on both sites. Recent software innovations such as "Links 2.0", a software application developed by Gossamer-Threads, have made linking far easier and more automated, in that the visitor to the site can now merely fill out a web-based form that is then processed on the server and automatically added to a flat-file database file, which establishes the link.

However, one of the deficiencies of the Links 2.0 software package is that it utilizes a flat-file database, which is inherently slow and inefficient as the size of the database increases, adversely affecting the overall performance of the site. Additionally, while the concept of the Links 2.0 application is excellent, it lacks features that are important for user interactivity.

Relevant Links intends to modify current approaches by configuring its program to work with a relational database such as MySQL, which will greatly improve performance and overall site speed. Additionally, utilizing a relational database as opposed to a flat file will greatly expand the flexibility of the database itself, making multiple entries into the database unnecessary to appear in different sub-directories.

Relevant Links, Inc.

The new product, which will be called "Relevant Links v.1.0" will include features such as an automated site magazine. This will enable "link holders" to add relevant articles to the site magazine through a web browser interface. This software will then automatically insert the article into the magazine, displaying author information, date and contributor. After a specified period of time, the article will automatically be removed from the magazine and placed into a searchable archive. Other additional features will include the ability for users to add new categories to the database directory without the site administrator; adding a "review" feature to the directory listings enabling users to write a review on the listing. This software package will completely automate the niche portal, eliminating daily maintenance. The company does not intend to market this software application initially, but may elect to do so in the future depending on the evolution of niche portals in general.

Auction Sites.

One clearly successful web application has been the proliferation of on-line auctions. First and foremost among these is eBay, which offers third party 'garage sale' auctions in literally hundreds of different categories of merchandise, and continues to enjoy spectacular growth. The Company believes that a significant opportunity exists to build and host a number of auction sites with a far narrower focus; rare coins, for example. Toward that end, the Company has already launched an auction site, www.numisbid.com for the auctioning of rare coins, and has begun contacting coin dealers. Numisbid.com will offer consumer to consumer, business to consumer and anonymous business to business auctions. Two of the principals of Relevant Links, Inc. have extensive contacts within the numismatic industry, which should help the company establish a presence. Auction sites receive revenue from both commissions and advertising. The company is in contact with a number of coin vendors who have expressed interest in using this newly established auction site and the company is optimistic it will secure significant business for the site shortly.

Auction Software.

Just as the Company recognizes shortcomings in existing linking software applications, it foresees a need for a proprietary auction application specifically for "niche" interests that will take the concept of current auction applications and make it more efficient. In particular, this application will attempt to greatly simplify the installation process, thus improving the web-based administrator interface and making administration of the auction site possible for the layman.

- (b) Describe how these products or services are to be produced or rendered and how and when the Company intends to carry out its activities. If the Company plans to offer a new product, state the present stage of development, including whether or not a working prototype is in existence. Indicate if completion of development of the product would require a material amount of the resources of the Company, and the estimated amount. If the Company is or is expected to be dependent on one or a limited number of suppliers for essential raw materials, energy or other items, describe. Describe any major existing supply contracts.

The company has purchased two Niche Portals, Stockpickcentral.com (SPC) from Mark Bogani and Jeff Chatfield and Coincrazy.com (CC) from Mark A. Bogani and Stephen G. Slater and these sites become the original flagship portals owned and managed by the Company. SPC appeals to stock investors and was launched in March 1999, and revised to current format in July. CC was launched in September 1999.

Both these sites, as with future Niche Portals, exhibit five main elements:

1. Extensive Links Directory
2. News Headlines
3. User Forums
4. Monthly magazine with articles contributed by Link Holders
5. FAQ / Knowledge Base

Relevant Links, Inc.

The effort is to serve the needs of the affinity group by providing a forum for dissemination of news, discussions and in-depth articles, while providing a useful Link Directory which is very exhaustive and replaces the requirement for manual search for most categories. As such, the niche portal becomes a 'utility site'. SPC is a good example. Investors can view financial news, stock quotes, market quotes, trade tips and recommendations, read articles or look for related sites, both commercial and private, which pertain to their financial world. In the year since the format was updated the site has gained some 2000+ average daily unique visitors who rely on the site for these services and who become a particularly favorable audience for advertisers specializing in some facet of the industry.

The Company intends to compartmentalize the various tasks required to producing, operating and promoting niche portals and use the diverse skills of different individuals in each area. The Company already controls over 100 domain names that pertain to potential subjects for future niche portals, and continues to examine potential narrow interest groups amenable to its niche portal approach. As the Company recruits and employs more people who can build and promote such sites, the pace of site deployment will accelerate. The Company has recently secured office space located at 5655 S. Yosemite St. #109, Greenwood Village, Colorado and moved equipment into the space as of September 15, 2000. It is currently interviewing prospective employees who will be involved in development of software applications and graphic design and expects to complete initial staffing by 1st Quarter 2001. At this level of staffing the Company anticipates the launch of three niche portals per month.

In the 'assembly line' concept, once a site is designed and built and a library of relevant links is in place, marketing personnel will begin promoting the site via advertising, direct contact and message boards to build audience. Once an initial base of visitors is established and growing, other marketing personnel will begin pursuit of potential advertisers (see Section 3-D—marketing strategies). Principals in the company who have had experience in launching and promoting niche portals believe that it will commonly take 3 months to build a large enough directory of links to lure and retain site visitors. Once a certain traffic flow is then established they believe it will take an additional 2-3 months to court potential advertisers, resulting in notable revenues to the site and the Company. Fortunately, in contrast with print media such as magazines, the ongoing cost of posting information and maintaining the site is minimal, making the carrying cost of each niche portal a relatively small burden. RLI expects that niche sites will vary widely in acceptance and profitability. However, it is clear that a large portion of capital raised will be expended on site development and promotion, and revenues from advertising sales will lag considerably. The Company believes it has budgeted sufficient resources for staffing and other costs to carry it through until revenues can match ongoing costs and begin to produce a profit.

- (c) Describe the industry in which the Company is selling or expects to sell its products or services. And, where applicable, any recognized trends within that industry. Describe that part of the industry and the geographic area in which the business competes or will compete.

Indicate whether price is expected to be by price, service, or other basis. Indicate the current or anticipated prices or price ranges for the Company's products or services, or the formula for determining prices, and how these prices compare with those of competitor's products or services, including a description of any variation in product or service features. Name the principal competitors that the Company has or expects to have in its area of competition. Indicate the relative size and financial and market strengths of the Company's competitors in the area of competition in which the Company will be operating. State why the Company believes it can effectively compete with these and other companies in its area of competition.

Note: Because this Offering focuses primarily on details concerning the Company rather than the industry in which the Company operates or will operate, potential investors may wish to conduct their own separate investigation of the Company's industry to obtain a broader insight in assessing the Company's prospects.

Relevant Links, Inc.

Relevant Links, Inc. will operate within the world of the Internet, which is an explosively successful and rapidly growing world-wide industry with numerous applications. The vast majority of revenues anticipated by the Company will be derived from advertising sales. By producing niche portals, the Company will generate a very narrowly defined audience (i.e. horse lovers or coin collectors). This is a dream for advertisers seeking to display to such a selected audience, as opposed to a shotgun approach like a freeway billboard. This represents a competitive advantage not against other niche portals but against other generalized web sites and other media like newspapers and radio with unfocused, broad audiences.

Internet web site advertising is measured and billed per one thousand impressions. For example, one web page displayed with an advertising banner to one thousand individuals visiting the site represents the basic unit of advertising. Management of RLI believes that the industry norm at this time is approximately $50 per thousand impressions. One web page can exhibit up to three banners (each yielding an impression), or fewer banners and more buttons (smaller displays). Also, RLI intends to offer boldface listing of links, colored links and other enhanced listings for which it will charge advertisers. Advertising revenue generated will be directly related to the number of site visitors and the number of individual pages they request and view. Management feels that it is fair to expect advertising revenues of between $2,000 to $6,000 per month per site after a full year of operation, based on experience with Stockpickcentral.com and Coincrazy.com. The inherent advantage in soliciting advertising for Niche Portals is their highly focused viewership comprised of only affinity group members, so management is confident it will succeed in securing advertising at rates at least the industry norm for impressions.

- (d) Describe specifically the marketing strategies the Company is employing or will employ in penetrating its market or developing a new market. Set forth in response to Question 4 below the timing and size of the results of this effort which will be necessary in order for the Company to be profitable. Indicate how and by whom its products or services are or will be marketed (such as advertising, personal contacts by sales representatives, etc.), how its marketing structure operates or will operate and the basis for its marketing approach, including any market studies. Name any customers that account for, or based upon existing orders will account for a major portion (20% or more) of the Company's sales. Describe any major existing sales contracts.

The Company's core business is the construction and operation of Niche Portals, which includes solicitation of advertising for revenues. This is largely due to the two years' experience operating two Niche sites: Stockpickcentral.com and Coincrazy.com.

As a general statement, advertisers seek to expose their product or service to the most receptive possible audience (those already prone to using its products or services or already using a competitor's products or services); and encourage a bidding process among competing media in order to secure the most exposure at the lowest possible cost.

The Company plans to employ a unique marketing approach. Niche portal Link Directories are designed to list links for all relevant or topic related companies as a service to visitors. These are the natural targets for advertising, since they depend on Internet traffic to generate a portion of their sales. The Company plans to provide free links to each relevant site it verifies as authentic and useful, which should generate a modest traffic flow to the 'satellite' site. Once the link is established and the Company niche portal site begins to gain visitors, the Company will approach the satellite sites to sell advertising as an 'up-sell' rather than a cold call. The effect of the existing free link is to provide some advertising benefit to the satellite site; the selling effort is to enhance that link via banner advertising adjacent to the link or on other pages. Given the pre-existing relationship with the satellite site, the Company expects a more effective campaign than would otherwise be the case.

Relevant Links, Inc.

- (e) State the backlog of written firm orders for products and/or services as of a recent date (within the last 90 days) and compare it with the backlog of a year ago from that date.

Relevant Links, Inc. is a newly formed company with a limited operating history and does not currently have a backlog of written firm orders for products or services as of a recent date, nor does the Company have an operational background or history which would provide for a comparative backlog of one year ago for such products or services.

The Company has launched one auction site, numisbid.com, and expects to launch a number of niche portals in the near future. No effort has yet been made to secure advertising for numisbid.com.

The company has acquired the assets of CoinCrazy and StockPickCentral, each of these sites currently fully functional and ready for advertising sales. Some limited efforts are currently being made to secure additional advertising for these sites.

- (f) State the number of the Company's present employees and the number of employees it anticipates it will have within the next 12 months. Also, indicate the number by type of employee (i.e., clerical, operations, administrative, etc.) the Company will use, whether or not any of them are subject to collective bargaining agreements, and the expiration date(s) of any collective bargaining agreement(s). If the Company's employees are on strike, or have been on the past three years, or are threatening to strike, describe the dispute. Indicate any supplemental benefits or incentive arrangements the Company has or will have with its employees.

Type of Employee	Current Number of Employees	Number of Employees Within Next 12 Months
Administrative	1	2
Operations	2	5
Clerical	0	1
TOTAL	3	8

NOTE: The current employees are the officers of the company.

None of the Company's employees are subject to collective bargaining agreements.

The Company does not currently have any supplemental benefits or incentive agreements with any of its employees.

The Company does intend to offer stock ownership incentives to employees in an effort to secure high quality programming and artistic design talent, as well as business management. No firm structure has yet been derived at this date.

- (g) Describe generally the principal properties (such as real estate, plant and equipment, patents, etc.) that the Company owns, indicating also what properties it leases and a summary of the terms under those leases, including the amount of payments, expiration dates and the terms of any renewal options. Indicate what properties the Company intends to acquire in the immediate future, the cost of such acquisitions and the source of financing it expects to use in obtaining these properties, whether by purchase, lease, or otherwise.

It is vital that Relevant Links has both a virtual storefront facing the general public and a professional web interface with hi-bandwidth. The goal is for clients to be able to move between either medium according to their communications preference. This will also allow development on premises, and customer sites, according to our needs.

- (h) Indicate the extent to which the Company's operations depend or are expected to depend upon patents, copyrights, trade secrets, know-how or other proprietary information and the steps undertaken to secure and protect this intellectual property, including any use of confidentiality agreements, covenants-not-to-compete and the like. Summarize the principal terms and expiration dates of any significant license agreements. Indicate the amounts expended by the Company for research and development during the last fiscal year, the amount expected to be spent this year and what percentage of revenues research and development expenditures were for the last fiscal year.

The Company's core business will be the construction and operation of unique 'Niche Portal' web sites utilizing a software application of the company's own design. This application will likely be copyrighted, and will represent considerable insight into niche portal site management that results from two years of experience. The effect of this software will be to make operating these sites easier and far more automated, but the sites could be constructed without this software with greater effort and ongoing attention. While this software innovation is important, it is not critical to operations.

Relevant Links, Inc.

The Company expects to spend around $75,000 in the next year for development, implementation and retrofitting of this application, either with outside parties or in-house personnel. In addition to the contemplated Relevant Links 1.0 (link-facilitating and site management software discussed above) the Company intends to author its own auction software application, at an estimated cost of $75,000, to incorporate several features it believes are needed. Again, the Company could and may use existing, off-the-shelf software applications for its early auction sites. It will likely also offer any newly created auction software to third parties under licensing. The main focus of these programming efforts is to attempt to automate the ongoing operation of niche portal and auction sites, allowing site users to input the necessary data periodically without large amount of supervision by RLI. Delays or a decision not to author such software would not stop launch efforts, but could affect ongoing operations as related to the development and continued operation of the portals.

Management expects that the software development projects will provide cost savings to internal operation. The potential licensing revenues are considered a secondary benefit. Expenditures for the development of these products will be budgeted as to not negatively impact development of the niche portal sites.

The terms of licensing contacts have not been determined at this time.

- (i) If the Company's business, products, or properties are subject to material regulation (including environmental regulation) by federal, state, or local governmental agencies, indicate the nature and extent of regulation and its effect or potential effects upon the Company.

Relevant Links, Inc. business and products are not subject to material regulation (including environmental regulation) by any federal, state, or local government agency. The Company does not foresee any such material or environmental regulation as becoming applicable, and anticipates no effect or potential effect on the business of the Company as to material and/or environmental regulation.

- (j) State the names of any subsidiaries of the Company, their business purposes and ownership, and indicate which are included in the Financial Statements attached hereto. If not included, or if included but not consolidated, please explain.

Relevant Links, Inc. has no subsidiaries.

- (k) Summarize the material events in the development of the Company (including any material mergers or acquisitions) during the past five years, or for whatever lesser period the Company has been in existence. Discuss any pending or anticipated mergers, acquisitions, spin-offs or recapitalizations. If the Company has recently undergone a stock split, stock dividend or recapitalization in anticipation of this offering, describe (and adjust historical per share figures elsewhere in the Offering Circular accordingly).

The company has acquired the assets of CoinCrazy and StockPickCentral. The two web sites were purchased by the company from Mark A. Bogani, Treasurer and Secretary; Jeffrey Chatfield, a principal stockholder; and Stephen G. Slater, a director; for a value of $150,000 which was paid as shares of common stock and notes totaling $75,000.

No other applicable material mergers or acquisitions have occurred during the period of the Company's existence, incorporated on April 7, 1000, nor are any such mergers, acquisitions, spin-offs, or recapitalizations pending or anticipated. The Company has not undergone any stock split or dividend, or recapitalizations in anticipation of this offering or otherwise.

The Company may identify beneficial acquisitions in the future. However, none have been identified at this time.

- 4 (a). If the Company was not profitable during its last fiscal year, list below in chronological order the events which in management's opinion must or should occur or the milestones which in management's opinion the Company must or should reach in order for the Company to become profitable, and indicate the expected manner of occurrence or the expected method by which the Company will achieve the milestones.

The Company anticipates the following time frame for events that will create revenues:

Event or Milestone	Manner of Occurrence/ Method of Achievement	Number of Months After Receipt of Proceeds when should be accomplished
Advertising Site Test and Operation	Begin advertising solicitation for Coincrazy and Stockpickcentral. Begin Numisbid coin auction (test, no charge).	2
	Begin advertising solicitation for Numisbid. Begin charging commissions for Numisbid.	3
Staffing (Milestone)	Complete initial staffing requirements.	5
Niche Portal Development	Begin Niche Portal software application development. Begin creating new Niche Portals (using existing software).	6
	First new niche site launched	8
Marketing	Fulltime marketer trained/qualified; solicit and secure advertising for initial site(s).	9
Software Implementation (Milestone)	Niche Portal software application development completed. Upgrade existing sites and implement on new sites.	12
Software Development	Begin Auction software application development.	12
Software Implementation	Auction software application development completed. Sale/Licensing of auction software application begins.	18

The Company expects to derive its income from three sources: advertising sales on web sites, commissions from auction sales and the sale of software application licensing. The first of these is by far the largest. Advertising revenues are based on impressions made on page viewers, which will only take place after a site is launched, linked to other relevant sites and promoted. Two sites, Stockpickcentral.com and Coincrazy.com, are currently fully functional while others await the full creative and promotional process. Advertising revenues on each site should increase over time as new advertisers are secured and added and page demand increases as the site gains popularity.

Relevant Links, Inc.

Stockpickcentral.com ('SPC') and Coincrazy.com ('CC') are ready for intensive advertising sales. These were largely 'hobby' sites for Company principals for the past few years and were not aggressively pursued for advertising. Nevertheless, SPC has around $2,000/yr. in current advertising and CC has about $3,000. Now, however, SPC has some 2,000 unique visitors per day currently and CC some 1650 unique visitors per day and the Company has recently begun efforts to contact link holders for both sites to offer expanded exposure via banner advertising. A new advertising contract has been adopted (with Relevant Links, owner of the two sites) and the first confirmations of advertising were realized prior to Oct. 30, 2000. The company expects to take at least 90 days to exhaust prospective advertisers for these two sites in this round, but advertising solicitation will be ongoing permanently and the Company expects shortly to hire one or more employees whose sole duties will be advertising sales.

- 4 (b). State the probable consequences to the Company of delays in achieving each of the events or milestones within the above time schedule, and particularly the effect of any delays upon the Company's liquidity in view of the Company's then anticipated level of operating costs. (See Question #'s 11 and 12)

Advertising for Coincrazy and Stockpickcentral.

Stockpickcentral.com and Coincrazy.com are currently fully functional and ready for advertising sales. Any delay in exploiting these available revenue resources can be expected to impact profitability. Marketing and advertising sales for each of the other planned projects (niche portals, auction applications) could also be impacted if marketing resources needed for these projects are unavailable or delayed when needed.

Revenues from Numisbid.com, Coincrazy.com and Stockpickcentral.com are expected to occur within the 1st Quarter of 2001. One principal of the Company, Steve Slater, is a rare coin industry-recognized expert with broad connections with wholesale dealers and is currently soliciting business for the site. Numisbid.com will compete directly with other coin auction sites and will need to secure coin buyers and sellers in order to succeed. The Company is currently contacting these parties and offering the site for beta testing prior to Jan. 1 at no cost to either party. If insufficient volume of coins is offered or bid upon, both commission and advertising revenues from Numisbid could be severely impacted. The development of additional company owned sites could be delayed until the business model is refined and implemented to provide acceptable revenue.

Staffing

Staffing of skilled computer programmers and graphic arts professionals can be problematic. Such talent is in high demand. The company plans to integrate an incentive program involving equity in RLI to help in retaining top talent, but the competition for such talent is fierce. One company principal, Mark Bogani, is capable of all aspects of site design and construction, but without additional help the pace of site launches would be severely hindered and delayed.

Software application writing is the province of skilled programmers who are in great demand. As of this writing, RLI is not sure whether software application writing will be conducted in-house or contracted with outside suppliers. While it is hoped the time frames expressed for software are realistic, they are subject to delays that cannot be foreseen yet. Both Niche Portal and Auction sites can and will be constructed in the interim with existing, non-proprietary software applications. However, RLI hopes to customize these both for its own needs and possible resale to third parties. Thus, delays in software creation would not preclude site creation but would impact ongoing site management negatively and cause higher than anticipated operating costs as a result.

Relevant Links, Inc.

The amount of work required to design and construct a Niche Portal or Auction site, as well as identify and contact potential links is well understood. The pace could be negatively affected by the availability of labor as discussed above. Also, the growth of visitation could be slower than anticipated, which would impact advertising sales. The Company has based its projections on limited experience with niche sites. However, the negligible cost of ongoing site management helps make delays tolerable for existing sites.

Niche Portal Development

Niche Portal Software Implementation

The company's core business is the construction and operation of Niche Portals. The Niche Portal software application is intended to use programming design and techniques, including relational data base technology, to provide improved performance and site speed. Any delays in either the implementation or completion of the Niche Portal software application development project can be expected to similarly delay Relevant Links, Inc.'s ability to compete favorably in the market.

Marketing

Relevant Links, Inc. expects to derive its income from three sources: advertising sales on web sites, commissions from auction sales and the sale of software application licensing. Advertising sales from the web sites is by far the largest source of revenue from which income will be derived. At least one full-time qualified marketing representative must be found/hired/trained/qualified as scheduled. Any delay in the completion of this event can be expected to significantly impact profitability.

Auction Software Development

Auction Software Implementation

Relevant Links, Inc. foresees a need for a proprietary auction application specifically for "niche" interests that will take the concept of current auction applications and make it more efficient. Delays in the development or implementation of this improved auction application software will delay revenues from sales and licensing.

Profitability Checkpoint

Management will complete the definition and application of criteria (e.g., site visitations, sales) in an evaluation to determine if sufficient profitability has been achieved through niche portal development and application. The company's core business is the construction and operation of Niche Portals, and where results of this checkpoint indicate advertising revenues do not exceed operational expenses, management will implement controls and priorities, which may include the postponement of other desirable projects, to ensure Niche Portals' revenues achieve necessary levels.

Note: After reviewing the nature and timing of each event or milestone, potential investors should reflect upon whether achievement of each within the estimated timeframe is realistic, and should assess the consequences of delays or failure of achievement in making an investment decision.

OFFERING PRICE FACTORS

If the securities offered are common stock, or are exercisable for or convertible into common stock, the following factors may be relevant to the price at which the securities are being offered.

5. What were net, after-tax earnings for the last fiscal year?

Relevant Links, Inc. is a development stage company without meaningful operational history; or net, after-tax earnings for the last fiscal year.

6. If the Company had profits, show offering price as a multiple of earnings. Adjust to reflect for any stock splits or recapitalizations, and use conversion or exercise price in lieu of offering price, if applicable.

Relevant Links Inc. was incorporated on April 7, 2000; and did not have profits for the last fiscal year.

7(a). What is the net tangible book value of the Company? If deficit, shown in parenthesis.) For this purpose, net tangible book value means total assets (exclusive of copyrights, patents, goodwill, research and development costs and similar intangible items) minus total liabilities. If the net tangible book value per share is substantially less than this offering (or exercise or conversion) price per share, explain the reasons for variation.

Relevant Links, Inc. current net tangible book value is $355,355.00 or $0.21 per share. Giving effect to the sale by the Company of all offered shares at the public offering price, the net tangible book value of the Company would be $1,055,355.00 or $0.51 per share which results in dilution to the new shareholders of $1.49 per share.

7(b). State the dates on which the Company sold or otherwise issued securities during the last 12 months, the amount of such securities sold, the number of persons to whom they were sold, and relationship of such persons to the Company at the time of the sale, the price at which they were sold, and if not sold for cash, a concise description of the consideration. (Exclude bank debt).

Relevant Links, Inc. is incorporated under the laws of the state of Colorado. The company has authorized 100,000,000 shares, 1,715,000 of which are issued and outstanding. Founders and directors hold 1,365,000 shares. The company has acquired the assets of CoinCrazy and StockPickCentral. The two web sites were purchased by the company from Mark A. Bogani, Treasurer and Secretary; Jeffrey Chatfield, a principal stockholder; and Stephen G. Slater, a director; for a value of $150,000, which was paid as 1,365,000 shares of common stock and notes totaling $ 75,000.

Name	Relationship	Date	Number of Shares
Mark A. Bogani	Treasurer/Secretary	8/00	650,000
Jeffrey Chatfield	Principal Stockholder	8/00	650,000
Stephen G. Slater	Director	8/00	65000
All Others (6)	Shareholders	7/00-10/00	350,000

Note: All shares issued bear a restrictive legend subject to Rule 144 of the Securities Exchange Act.

Relevant Links, Inc.

8. (a) What percentage of the outstanding shares of the Company will the investors in this offering have? Assume exercise of outstanding options, warrants or rights and conversion of convertible securities, if the respective exercise or conversion prices are at or less than the offering price. (Also assume exercise of any options, warrants or rights and conversions of any convertible securities in this offering.) Assuming maximum offering is sold: 17 %
- (b) What post-offering value is management implicitly attributing to the entire Company by establishing the price per security set forth on the cover page (or exercise conversion price if common stock is not offered)? (Total outstanding shares after offering times offering price, or exercise or conversion price if common stock is not offered.) Assuming maximum offering is sold: $4,130,000.00

(For above purposes, assume outstanding options are exercised in determining "shares" if the exercise prices are at or less than the offering price. All convertible securities, including outstanding convertible securities, shall be assumed converted and any options, warrants or rights in this offering shall be assumed exercised.)

Note: After reviewing the above, potential investors should consider whether or not the offering price (or exercise or conversion price, if applicable) for the securities is appropriate at the present stage of the Company's development.

USE OF PROCEEDS

- 9 (a). The following table sets forth the use of proceeds from this offering (based on the minimum and maximum offering amounts):

Conversely, to the extent that such expenditures require the utilization of funds in excess of the amount anticipated, supplemental amounts may be drawn from the other sources, including, but not limited to, general working capital and/or external financing. The net proceeds of this offering that are not expended immediately may be deposited in an interest or non-interest bearing account, or invested in government obligations, certificates of deposit, commercial paper, money market funds, or similar investments.

- 10 (a). If material amounts of funds from sources other than this offering are to be used in conjunction with the proceeds from this offering, state the amount and sources of such other funds, and whether the funds are firm or contingent. If contingent, explain.

Material amounts of funds from sources, neither firm nor contingent, other than this offering are not anticipated or intended to be used in conjunction with the proceeds from this offering.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Development Stage Company

Relevant Links, Inc. (the “Company”) entered the development stage in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board Statements of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 7 “Accounting and Reporting by Development Stage Enterprises” on April 7, 2000. The Company is a corporation formed in the State of Colorado on April 7, 2000 and is an internet based company doing business through two “niche portals” stockpickcentral.com and coincrazy.com which were acquired by the Company.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities and contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The acquisition of stockpickcentral.com and coincrazy.com for $100,000 and $50,000 respectfully was the result of such estimates. Management used the internet appraisal firm greatdomains.com to value these entities.

Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalent.

Equipment and Depreciation

Equipment is stated at cost. Equipment is depreciated over its estimated useful life using the straight-line method.

Upon retirement or disposition of the furniture and equipment, the cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in operations. Repairs and maintenance are charged to expense as incurred and expenditures for additions and improvements are capitalized.

Web Site Development

The Company expenses all internal and external costs incurred to develop internal-use computer software. As a development stage company, management has determined there is no assurance the web site will provide substantive service potential to the Company.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Income Taxes

Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus deferred taxes related primarily to differences between the recorded book basis and the tax basis of assets and liabilities for financial and income tax reporting. The deferred tax assets and liabilities represent the future tax return consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled. Deferred taxes are also recognized for operating losses that are available to offset future taxable income and tax credits that are available to offset future federal income taxes.

The Company reports loss per share using a dual presentation of basic and diluted loss per share. Basic loss per share excludes the impact of common stock equivalents. Diluted loss per share utilizes the average market price per share when applying the treasury stock method in determining common stock equivalents. However, the Company has a simple capital structure for the period presented and, therefore, there is no variance between the basic and diluted loss per share.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

SFAS 107 "Disclosures About Fair Value of Financial Instruments" requires certain disclosures regarding the fair value of financial instruments. The Company only financial instrument was cash at October 31, 2000. It should be noted that Federal Depository Insurance Corporation (FDIC) only insures up to $100,000 per account. The Company has more than that which is insured in one account and as such is a contingency which needs to be disclosed.

Notes To Financial Statements

Note A: Nature of Organization

The Company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Colorado on April 7, 2000. The company is a developmental stage corporation in accordance with SFAS No. 7. The company operates two internet sites stockpickcentral.com and coinrazy.com which are "niche portals". The creation of these two sites are intended to serve special interest groups as a general directory site and venue for Internet banner ads targeted to a specific user interest.

Note B: Related Party Transactions

The two web sites stockpickcentral.com and coinrazy.com were purchased by the company from Mark A. Bogani, Treasurer and Secretary and shareholder of 650,000 shares; Jeffrey Chatfield, for 650,000; and Stephen G. Slater, shareholder of 65,000 shares for a total of 1,365,000.

Note C: Income Taxes

	Oct 31, 2000
U.S. federal statutory graduated rate	15.00%
State income tax rate, net of federal	7.51%
Net operating loss for which no tax benefit currently available	22.51%

On October 31, 2000, deferred taxes consisted of a net tax asset of $15,778, due to operating loss carryforwards of $70,095, which was fully allowed for in the valuation allowance of $15,778. Net operating carryforwards will expire through 2020.

The valuation allowance will be evaluated at the end of each year, considering positive and negative evidence about whether the asset will be realized. At that time, the allowance will either be increased or reduced; reduction could result in the complete elimination of the allowance if positive evidence indicates that the value of the deferred tax asset is no longer impaired and the allowance is no longer required.

DISCLOSURE OF COMMISSION POSITION ON INDEMNIFICATION FOR SECURITIES ACT LIABILITIES

Every person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative, by reason of the fact that he or a person of whom he is the legal representative is or was a director or officer of the corporation or is or was serving at the request of the corporation for its benefit as a director or officer of another corporation, or as its representative in a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, shall be indemnified and held harmless to the fullest extent legally permissible under the general corporation law of the State of Colorado from time to time against all expenses, liability and loss (including attorney's fees, judgments, fines, and amounts paid or to be paid in settlement) reasonably incurred and in advance of the final disposition of the action, suit or proceeding upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the director or officer to repay the amount if it is ultimately determined by a court of competent jurisdiction that he is not entitled to be indemnified by the corporation. Such right of indemnification shall be a contract right which may be enforced in any manner desired by such person; and shall not be exclusive of any other right which such directors, officers or representatives may have or hereafter acquire and, without limiting the generality of such statement, they shall be entitled to their respective rights of indemnification under any bylaw, agreement, vote of stockholders, provision of law or otherwise, as well as their rights under the Articles of Incorporation of Relevant Links, Inc..

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 (the "Act") may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the small business issuer pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the small business issuer has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable.

INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

No Director or Officer of Relevant Links, Inc. will have personal liability to the Company or any stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a Director or Officer involving any act or omission of such Director or Officer, whereas specific provisions in the Articles of Incorporation limits such liability. Such provision shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a Director or Officer; (1) for any breach of duty of loyalty to Relevant Links or its stockholders, (2) for acts of omission not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (3) under applicable sections of the Colorado Corporate Code, or any Colorado State Law applicable, (4) or for any transaction from which an improper personal benefit was derived.

Relevant Links, Inc. will provide for indemnification of the Directors, Officers, and employees in most cases for any liability suffered by them or arising out of their activities as Directors, Officers, and employees; if they were not engaged in willful malfeasance in the performance of his or her duties; provided that in the event of a settlement the indemnification will apply only when the Board of Directors approves such settlement and reimbursement as being for the best interests of the corporation.

The Directors and Officers of Relevant Links, Inc. are accountable to the Company as fiduciary, which means they are required to exercise good faith and fairness in all dealings affecting Relevant Links, Inc..
