Note 1 – The Company and Nature of Operations

Ikona Gear International, Inc. (“Ikona – Nevada”) was incorporated in the state of Nevada on September 20, 2000. On June 7, 2007, Ikona - Nevada completed its redomestication as a corporation formed and organized under the laws of the state of Delaware. The redomestication was accomplished by consummating the statutory merger of Ikona – Nevada with and into Ikona Gear International, Inc., a Delaware corporation formed April 20, 2007 (“Ikona – Delaware” or the “Company”) with Ikona – Delaware being the surviving corporation. The redomestication had an effective date of May 17, 2007, the date the Certificate of Merger was filed with the Delaware Secretary of State.

The Company is in business to develop and commercialize a unique, patented gearing technology. The Company is commercializing its patented technology in applications it establishes through strategic partners in vertical industrial markets. The Company is no longer considered to be a development stage company since its planned principal operations have commenced as of March 1, 2007.

These unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America for interim financial information. The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements do not include all information and footnote disclosures required for an annual set of financial statements prepared under United States generally accepted accounting principles. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting solely of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation of the financial position, results of operations and cash flows as at May 31, 2007, and for all periods presented, have been included. Interim results for the nine-month period ended May 31, 2007, are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the fiscal year as a whole.

Note 2 – Going Concern

These financial statements have been prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America (“US GAAP”) with the on-going assumption that the Company will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business rather than through a process of forced liquidation. However, certain conditions noted below currently exist which raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. These financial statements do not include any adjustments to the amounts and classifications of assets and liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

The Company is in default for not having repaid unsecured, convertible notes in a private placement. The company has been engaged in discussions with representatives of Westminster Securities Corporation in an effort to extend the notes. As of the date of this report, no extension agreement has been reached and there can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in efforts to extend the notes.

The operations of the Company have primarily been funded by the issuance of capital stock, debt financings and advances from related parties. Continued operations of the Company are dependent on the Company's ability to complete additional equity financings or generate profitable operations in the future. Management's plan in this regard is to secure additional funds through future equity financings. Such financings may not be available or may not be available on terms reasonable to the Company.

Note 3 - Significant Accounting Policies

Stock-Based Compensation

As a result of the amendments to Statement of Financial Accounting Standards 123 R ("SFAS 123R"), the Company was required to expense the fair value of employee stock options over the vesting period beginning with this nine-month period ended May 31, 2007. The Company recorded the fair value of stock-based compensation expense from the amortization of stock options issued to employees of $438,999 (2006 - $nil) during the nine months ended May 31, 2007. The Company recorded $188,604 as business development, $105,348 as general and administrative, $70,436 as product development and $74,611 as technology development expenses in the consolidated statement of operations for the nine months ended May 31, 2007.

The Company accounts for stock-based compensation issued to non-employees in accordance with the provisions of SFAS 123 and the consensus in Emerging Issues Task Force No. 96-18, "Accounting for Equity Instruments that are Issued to Other Than Employees for Acquiring or in Conjunction with Selling, Goods or Services. During the nine months ended May 31, 2007, the Company recognized stock-based compensation expense of $308,813 (2006 - $105,005) relating to the fair value of stock options and warrants issued to non-employees which has been recorded in investor relations in the amount of $207,119 (2006 - $7,590), in technology development in the amount of $nil (2006 - $5,986) and in corporate finance in amount of $ 101,694 (2006 - $91,429).

During the nine months ended May 31, 2006, the Company accounted for its employee stock-based compensation arrangements using the intrinsic value method in accordance with the provisions of Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees" ("APB 25"), and related interpretations. As such, compensation expense was recorded on the date of grant only if the market value of the underlying stock at the date of grant exceeded the exercise price. Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 123, "Accounting for Stock- Based Compensation" ("SFAS 123"), requires entities that continue to apply the provisions of APB 25 for transactions with employees to provide pro forma income (loss) and pro forma income (loss) per share disclosures for employee stock option grants made as if the fair value- based method defined in SFAS 123 had been applied to these transactions.

Overview

We are commercializing our proprietary patented gearing technology (the "Ikona Gearing System"). The Ikona Gearing System utilizes a proprietary, newly designed, patented tooth shape which enables gears to be smaller, lighter, stronger and more energy efficient than conventional planetary gears. The Ikona Gearing Systems allows what we believe to be the highest single stage reduction ratio, zero backlash gear currently available on the market. In high-ratio applications, the Ikona Gearing System can replace multiple stage gearing systems with a single stage reduction ratio, and is thus more cost effective to manufacture.

Our business strategy is twofold: engineering and manufacturing our own solutions for industrial applications (our own products) which integrate our patented intellectual property; and to license our core intellectual property into our clients products under their manufacturing capacities. Our business model involves developing and manufacturing prototypes on a fee for services basis, then licensing commercial production for a licensing fee which is either paid directly to us as a royalty for client manufactured products, or incorporated into the profit margin on our own manufactured products. Our plan is to develop revenues from two sources: engineered and manufactured solutions revenue, which carries associated direct costs of production (material and labor); and royalty/licensing revenue which is pure profit with no associated direct costs of production.

Our goals in the current operating year are: (1) to introduce two new products, in addition to the Satellite Base Station Pedestal and Continuous Velocity Transmission currently under development; and (2) in our licensing division, to enter into licensing agreements in three different vertical markets (for illustration: automotive, shipping, alternative energy, or robotics).

We maintain our principal executive offices at 1650 Brigantine Drive, Unit #100, Coquitlam, British Columbia, Canada, V3K 7B5. Our telephone number is (604) 523-5500. Our internet website address is www.ikonagear.com.

Item 3. Controls and Procedures

The Company's Principal Executive Officer and Principal Financial Officer, Laith Nosh, has established and is currently maintaining disclosure controls and procedures for the Company. The disclosure controls and procedures have been designed to provide reasonable assurance that the information required to be disclosed by the Company in reports that it files under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC and to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Company is accumulated and communicated to the Company's management as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

The Principal Executive Officer and Principal Financial Officer conducted an update review and evaluation of the effectiveness of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures and have concluded, based on his evaluation as of the end of the period covered by this Report, that our disclosure controls and procedures are not effective to provide reasonable assurance that information required to be disclosed in the reports that you file or submit under the Exchange Act is accumulated and communicated to management, including our principal executive officer and our principal financial officer, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure and we refer you to Exchange Act Rule 13a-15(e). The principal deficiency in our disclosure controls and procedures is the fact that our former Chief Financial Officer ceased being employed by the Company in December 2006 and as a result we lack a dedicated Chief Financial Officer who is primarily responsible for our public disclosures and financial reporting. We intend to retain a qualified Chief Financial Officer during the present fiscal year. There have been no material changes in our internal controls or in other factors that could materially affect these controls subsequent to the date of the previously mentioned evaluation.

Our principal executive and financial officer does not expect that our disclosure controls or internal controls will prevent all error and all fraud. Although our disclosure controls and procedures were designed to provide reasonable assurance of achieving their objectives and our principal executive and financial officer has determined that our disclosure controls and procedures are effective at doing so, a control system, no matter how well conceived and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute assurance that the objectives of the system are met. Further, the design of a control system must reflect the fact that there are resource constraints, and the benefits of controls must be considered relative to their costs. Because of the inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues and instances of fraud, if any, within the Company have been detected. These inherent limitations include the realities that judgments in decision-making can be faulty, and that breakdowns can occur because of simple error or mistake. Additionally, controls can be circumvented if there exists in an individual a desire to do so. There can be no assurance that any design will succeed in achieving its stated goals under all potential future conditions.
