Stock options - employees

During the three months ended March 31, 2005, the Company granted two officers options to purchase 1,500,000 shares of the Company’s common stock. The options carry an exercise price of $1.75 per share and expire on February 11, 2008. 300,000 options vested immediately on the date of grant. The remaining 1,200,000 options vested evenly, each month, through February 11, 2007. The Company’s common stock had a market value of $1.93 on the date of grant. The total value of the stock options was calculated at $330,000 in accordance with APB 25, of which $110,000 was recorded as stock-based compensation at June 30, 2005 for the 499,999 options that had vested as of June 30, 2005. The weighted average exercise price and weighted average fair value of the options as of December 31, 2003 were $1.75 and $.959, respectively.

Pro forma information regarding net income and earnings per share is required by SFAS 123 as if the Company had accounted for the granted stock options under the fair value method of that Statement. The fair value for these options was estimated at the date of grant using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model with the following assumptions:

Risk-free interest rate.....	2.36%
Dividend yield.....	0.00%
Volatility factor.....	66.145%
Weighted average expected life.....	3 years

WORDLOGIC CORPORATION
(A DEVELOPMENT STAGE COMPANY)

The Black-Scholes options valuation model was developed for use in estimating the fair value of traded options, which have no vesting restrictions and are fully transferable. In addition, option valuation models require the input of highly subjective assumptions including the expected stock price volatility. Because the Company's stock options have characteristics significantly different from those of traded options, and because changes in the subjective input assumptions can materially affect the fair value estimate, in management's opinion, the existing models do not necessarily provide a reliable single measure of the fair value of its stock options. However, the Company has presented the pro forma net loss and pro forma basic and diluted loss per common share using the assumptions noted above.

All statements that are included in this Quarterly Report, other than statements of historical fact, are forward looking statements. Although management believes that the expectations reflected in these forward looking statements are reasonable, it can give no assurance that such expectations will prove to have been correct.

The Company is currently not receiving sufficient cash flow from revenues nor have cash reserves sufficient to maintain operations for the next 12 months. Revenues from sales of our products will need to increase and additional financing through debt or equity financing will be required to continue operations. Management is constantly seeking additional financing and while it has successfully done this in the past, there is no assurance that it will continue to be able to do so in the future. No officer or affiliate has made any commitment or is obligated to continue to provide cash through loans or purchases of equity. There is no assurance the Company will achieve profitable operations.
