Note 1 - Basis of Presentation

The financial statements presented herein have been prepared by the Company in accordance with the accounting policies in its Form 10-KSB dated December 31, 2005, and should be read in conjunction with the notes thereto.

In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting only of normal recurring adjustments) which are necessary to provide a fair presentation of operating results for the interim period presented have been made. The results of operations for the periods presented are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year.

Financial data presented herein are unaudited.

Note 2 - Related Party Transactions

As of June 30, 2006, the Company owed an affiliate $89,599 for administrative services provided to the Company. This obligation is included in the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements as "Accounts payable, related party".

The Company rents office space from an affiliate on a month-to-month basis. Monthly lease payments vary based on the amount of office space utilized by the Company. Office rent incurred by the Company totaled $46,482 for the six months ended June 30, 2006.

Common Stock Sales

In February 2006, the Company conducted a private placement offering whereby it sold 550,000 units to an officer at a price of $.60 per unit. Each unit consisted on one share of the Company's common stock and one warrant to purchase another share of common stock at $1.25 per share. The warrants may be exercised over a period of two years. The Company received proceeds of $330,000. The offering was made in reliance on exemptions from registration contained in Rule 506 of Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

In February 2006, the Company received $30,000 in proceeds from an officer exercising options to purchase 100,000 shares of common stock at a price of $0.30 per share.

In May 2006, the Company conducted a private placement offering whereby it sold 1,000,000 units to an officer at a price of $.50 per unit. Each unit consisted on one share of the Company's common stock and one warrant to purchase another share of common stock at $1.25 per share. The warrants may be exercised over a period of two years. The Company received proceeds of $500,000. The offering was made in reliance on exemptions from registration contained in Rule 506 of Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

Note 3 – Notes Payable

Convertible Note Payable

As of December 31, 2005, the Company owed an unrelated third party for a convertible promissory note totaling $402,188, net of discount of $9,757. In March 2006, the due date was extended to March 31, 2008.

The note carried an eight percent interest rate. Principal and accrued interest were payable in any combination of cash and common stock of the Company at a rate of 85 percent of the stock's market value on the date of advance. There was no accrued interest payable at June 30, 2006.

Because the value of the shares due upon conversion is fixed at 117.65% of the face value of the notes rather than indexed to the Company's own common stock, the Company bifurcated the put option and classified it as a derivative liability pursuant to SFAS 133.

Promissory Notes

As of December 31, 2005, the Company owed an unrelated third party for a promissory note totaling $370,000. No amounts were repaid as of June 30, 2006. The note is unsecured, carries an eight percent interest rate and matures on March 1, 2007. Accrued interest payable on the note totaled $37,131 at June 30, 2006.

On June 15, 2006 the Company obtained $436,500 from an unrelated third party in exchange for a promissory note. No amounts were repaid as of June 30, 2006. The note is unsecured, carries an eight percent interest rate and matures on June 15, 2009. Accrued interest payable on the note totaled $1,435 at June 30, 2006.

Future maturities of the notes payable are as follows:

Year ended December 31,
2006.....	$ -
2007.....	370,000
2008.....	-
2009.....	436,500
	$ 806,500

Note 4 – Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company generally does not use derivative instruments to hedge exposures to cash-flow risks or market-risks that may affect the fair values of its financial instruments. However, certain other financial instruments, such as embedded conversion features, where there is a possible interest rate scenario under which the embedded derivative would at least double the investor's initial rate of return, are classified as derivative liabilities. Such financial instruments are initially recorded at fair value and subsequently adjusted to fair value at the close of each reporting period.

As of June 30, 2006, the Company had no derivative liability. A derivative gain in the amount of $17,986 was recognized in the six months ended June 30, 2006 and a derivative gain in the amount of $39,680 was recognized in the six months ended June 30, 2005.

Note 5 – Income Taxes

The Company records its income taxes in accordance with SFAS No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes". The Company incurred net operating losses for all periods presented resulting in a deferred tax asset, which was fully allowed for; therefore, the net benefit and expense resulted in $-0- income taxes.

Note 6 – Shareholders’ Deficit

Stock options - employees

Prior to 2006, the Company accounted for its stock based compensation plans under the recognition and measurement provisions of APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related Interpretations. Stock-based employee compensation cost of $110,000 was reflected during the six months ended June 30, 2005 net income, as some, but not all, options granted under those plans had an exercise price less than the market value of the underlying common stock on the date of grant. Effective December 15, 2005, the company adopted the fair value recognition provisions of FASB Statement No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation. Under the modified prospective method of adoption selected by the company under the provisions of FASB Statement No. 148, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation—Transition and Disclosure, compensation cost recognized in the first two quarters of 2005 would have been $479,500 had the recognition provisions of Statement 123 been applied from its original effective date. Results for prior years have not been restated. The following table illustrates the effect on net income and earnings per share if the fair value based method had been applied to all outstanding and unvested awards in each period.

	Six months ended June 30, 2005	May 27, 2003 (Inception) Through June 30, 2006
Net income (loss), as reported	$ (640,335)	$ (1,826,933)

Basic and diluted earnings per share pro forma:	$ (0.05)

During the six months ended June 30, 2006, options to purchase 390,000 shares of common stock granted under APB Opinion No. 25 vested. The Company recognized $325,230 of compensation cost under the modified prospective method in accordance with FASB Statement No. 123.

Additionally, options to purchase 141,668 shares of common stock granted to consultants vested. The company recognized $80,484 of compensation cost pursuant to FASB Statement No. 123.

On May 1, 2006, the Company granted options to purchase a total of 250,000 shares of the Company’s common stock to a consultant. The options carry an exercise price of $0.50 per share and vested immediately. The options expire May 1, 2016. The Company’s quoted price on the grant date was $0.75 per share. The Company calculated the fair value of the options at $0.709, or $187,375 which was recorded as stock-based compensation pursuant to FASB Statement No. 123.

Note 7 – Subsequent Events

On August 1, 2006, the Company granted options to purchase a total of 150,000 shares of the Company's common stock to a consultant. The options carry an exercise price of $0.50 per share and vest semi-annually commencing August 1, 2006 through August 1, 2007. The options expire August 1, 2011. The Company's quoted price on the grant date was $0.64 per share. The Company calculated the fair value of the options at $0.630, or $94,468 which will be recorded as stock-based compensation pursuant to FASB Statement No. 123 in the 3-months ending September 30, 2006.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Plan of Operations

This statement may include projections of future results and “forward looking statements” as that term is defined in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 as amended (the “Securities Act”), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 as amended (the “Exchange Act”). All statements that are included in this Quarterly Report, other than statements of historical fact, are forward looking statements. Although management believes that the expectations reflected in these forward looking statements are reasonable, it can give no assurance that such expectations will prove to have been correct.

Management Plan of Operations

WordLogic Corporation is a technology company that delivers predictive interface solutions for computing devices ranging from small hand-held devices to conventional desktop computers. Incorporated in the United States, the company's research, testing and marketing facilities are located in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

The Company has one wholly-owned subsidiary, 602531 British Columbia that was incorporated under the laws of British Columbia on March 2, 2000. This subsidiary holds WordLogic Corporation's intellectual property including its patents and trademarks.

Recent Business Activities:

On December 8, 2005 the Company released the Tablet PC version of its software v4.2

On January 10, 2006 the Company announced it has retained Pfeiffer High Investor Relations, Inc., to develop an investor relations program for the Company.

On January 25, 2006 the Company made its first foray into the educational field by shipping 65 WordLogic Predictive Keyboards for Tablet PC to a Community College in Nevada.

On March 6, 2006 the Company released v4.3 of its WordLogic Predictive Keyboard for tablet, notebook and desktop PCs.

On March 13, 2006 the Company announced it had been chosen by the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services for the State of Connecticut to provide the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard™ as an Assistive Technology solution for persons with disabilities. To date, the Company has received two orders and expects more.

On May 25, 2006 the Company announced that its WordLogic Predictive Keyboard(TM) supported the U3 smart drive computing platform, a new software platform that expands traditional USB flash drive capabilities beyond simple storage.

WORDLOGIC CORPORATION
(A DEVELOPMENT STAGE COMPANY)

On July 11, 2006 the Company announced its technology team had commenced the development of voice-enabled solutions for the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard(TM) technology platform. By integrating voice technology into its patent-pending Predictive Keyboard platform, WordLogic expects to offer its customers voice-based interfaces with its text prediction software by the fourth quarter of 2006.

On August 14, 2006 the Company announced that its technology team had commenced a research and development project into the use of WordLogic technology in the area of deep search for retrieving information from the internet. WordLogic technology will allow the analysis of the context and classification of each section of a website allowing a much more efficient and deeper level of analysis to be completed.

The Company is currently developing a retail offering of its entire software line to be sold in traditional retail software stores including "big-box" retailers. It is expected that this retail offering will be launched in the fiscal quarter ending September 30, 2006.

Since inception, management has been confident that its product portfolio would generate an increasing market demand and sales revenue sufficient to cover its operating expenses. To date, sales have not met management's expectations; however, the Company is now marketing its products in more specific industries. Management has found that the Assistive Technology market for persons with disabilities to be one where its products are extremely compelling to users and rehabilitation-providers. Additionally, its products are compelling for person that English is their second language and the Company will be targeting this market in 2006. Similar marketing opportunities exist in specialized professions such as legal, medical and geological where specialized dictionaries are presently being developed by the Company. Management feels that the industry-specific marketing of its products will ultimately generate the sales revenues it requires to cover its operating expenses.

WordLogic has and may continue to supplement cash flows from sales with additional equity and debt financing. Expanded operations are expected to require additional capital, either from a future offering of equity or the company pursuing other methods of financing, as appropriate.

The Company's management has historically and continues to satisfy cash requirements through cash infusions from officers and affiliates in exchange for debt and/or common stock. No officer or affiliate has made any commitment or is obligated to continue to provide cash through loans or purchases of equity. There is no assurance the Company will achieve profitable operations.

A critical component of our operating plan impacting our continued existence is the ability to obtain additional capital through additional equity and/or debt financing. We do not anticipate enough positive internal operating cash flow until such time as we can generate substantial revenues, which may take the next few years to fully realize. In the event we cannot obtain the necessary capital to pursue our strategic plan, we may have to cease or significantly curtail our operations. This would materially impact our ability to continue operations.

Patents & Trademarks

Six individual Patent applications have been filed for “Method, system and media for entering data in a personal computing device” in the United States, Canada and Europe.

On January 12, 2005 the Company filed patent applications for “Method, system, apparatus and computer readable media for directing input associated with a keyboard-type device” in the United States and internationally under the PCT treaty.

On March 4, 2004 European Patent No. 1171813 entitled "Data Entry for Personal Computing Devices" was granted to the Company by the European Patent Office. There are over 7,000 claims allowed under the Patent which are directed to methods and systems for entering data on a personal computing device using a search list, a digital keyboard and a pointing device. Examples of “Pointing Devices” are provided for illustration in the Patent specifications and include a pen, stylus, finger, mouse, trackball or the like. The Patent also indicates that the invention may be used with a variety of “personal computing devices” including personal digital assistants (“PDAs”) and other hand-held devices, personal computers including tablets, mobile phones, internet appliances and embedded devices having a graphical display and an input interface using a Pointing Device. In addition, the Patent states the invention may be applied to several different types of digital keyboards and keyboard layouts including traditional keyboards. In the methods and systems claimed, a digital keyboard is displayed on a user interface when a user is entering text. The user-input signal activates an automated search to obtain a list of complete words based on a partial text entry, and then a search list is provided containing completion candidates for the user to select from. Although not specifically defined in the Patent, this process is commonly known as “word completion” or “word prediction”. Preferred embodiments in the Patent include the activation of automated search when a character on the digital keyboard remains selected by the Pointing Device; the automated search is terminated when the Pointing Device is lifted from the surface of the digital keyboard; and the digital keyboard and the search list are displayed simultaneously while the keyboard is in use.

European Patent No. 1171813 has also been nationalized in Germany, France, The United Kingdom, Italy Finland, Spain, The Netherlands and Portugal.

On October 21, 2003 The Company received Trademark approval for the mark “WordLogic” under Reg. No. 2,774,468 pending. A similar trademark application has been approved and registered in Canada under TMA576,700.
