The Company has a December 31st fiscal year end.

Description of Business

WordLogic Corporation is a software company that delivers advanced predictive solutions designed to accelerate the entry of text and information into personal computing devices ranging from small handheld PDAs to tablet and desktop computers. The WordLogic Predictive Keyboard™ software provides a powerful entry system that adapts to a user's vocabulary and tendencies to predict the next most common letters, words or phrases. The software makes text entry fast, efficient and simple -- saving time and improving productivity whether in the office or on the go.

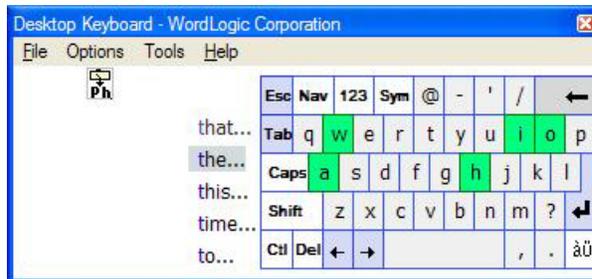

As the world moves to handheld computing devices, the text entry function—currently dominated by thumb typing and stylus hunt and peck —remains one of the biggest drawbacks. Likewise, productivity advancements on desktop computers are limited by individual typing ability and navigation bottlenecks. The WordLogic Predictive Keyboard represents a significant advancement in predictive and text entry technology. In addition, the software incorporates a customizable dictionary, thesaurus, spellchecker, calculator, multi-lingual symbols capability and fast access to Internet sites from within common software applications.

Incorporated in the United States, the company's research, testing and marketing facilities are located in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

How the Software Works

When a user types the first letter of a word, an on-screen keyboard highlights the next five most common letters (in green) as well as the most frequently used words beginning with the entered letters. As the user continues to type, the selection of words is narrowed down, providing the most likely word as selectable options in the prediction window.

The desired word can then be selected by either using the mouse or keyboard. By simply holding down any letter – for example, the next letter to be typed -- or just by holding down the spacebar – the user activates the prediction window, and can select desired words using the arrow keys. This ability to hold a letter down while using other keys simultaneously is unique to the WordLogic software, and does not restrict key commands for other software applications running on the PC.

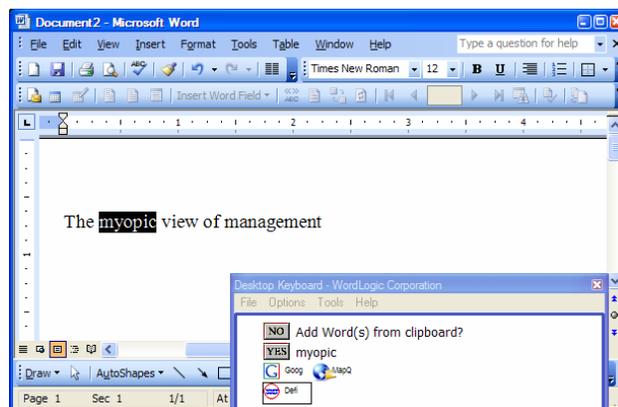

Once comfortable with the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard, a user has the option to display only the predicted words, or completely hide the prediction window, providing an unobstructed view of the applications with

Internet Search Engines

The user is working on a memo in Microsoft Word™. The user types “The myopic view of management...” and wants the definition of the word “myopic.” Typically, the user would have to exit Microsoft Word™, launch a web browser, go to an online dictionary web site such as Merriam Webster and enter the word “myopic” in the search box. In this case, using the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard, the user simply highlights the word “myopic”, presses the search key and the Merriam Webster definition immediately appears.

This process, which is unique to WordLogic’s software, saves time and improves productivity.

industry-specific applications. For example the learning disabled market, customized dictionaries and the use of the WordLogic technology by other software developers.

The Company also intends to generate royalty income from the licensing and sale of its intellectual property including the WordLogic™ Predictive Keyboard and its patent portfolio.

2006 Business Activities

On January 25, 2006 the Company made its first foray into the educational field by shipping 65 WordLogic Predictive Keyboards for Tablet PC to a Community College in Nevada.

On March 6, 2006 the Company released v4.3 of its WordLogic Predictive Keyboard for tablet, notebook and desktop PCs.

On March 13, 2006 the Company announced it had been chosen by the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services for the State of Connecticut to provide the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard™ as an Assistive Technology solution for persons with disabilities. To date, the Company has received two orders and expects more.

On April 6, 2006 the Company entered into a Trademark License Agreement with U3 LLC of Redwood City, CA. The U3 platform transforms USB flash drives from simple storage devices into USB smart drives capable of carrying personal preferences and applications and launching them. U3 smart software makes portable computing more personal, private and protected. This agreement allowed the Company to qualify for the U3 smart drive platform.

Marketing Plan

The Company presently markets its software online via its online store at www.wordlogic.com. In addition, the Company markets its software in seven languages to consumers using third party online commerce engines such as handango.com and pocketgear.com.

The Company performs direct marketing to government agencies, assistive technology associations, educational institutions and other large organizations

The company intends to license its technology to OEMs and other software developers in return for a royalty based on the number of units sold and will continue to market its product to end users via the Web and direct marketing programs. There are also numerous vertical market opportunities for the company in terms of

On May 25, 2006 the Company announced that its WordLogic Predictive Keyboard(TM) supported the U3 smart drive computing platform, a new software platform that expands traditional USB flash drive capabilities beyond simple storage. The WordLogic Predictive keyboard was offered for sale on the U3 website.

On July 11, 2006 the Company announced its technology team had commenced the development of voice-enabled solutions for the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard(TM) technology platform. By integrating voice technology into its patent-pending Predictive Keyboard platform, WordLogic expects to offer its customers voice-based interfaces with its text prediction software by the fourth quarter of 2006.

On August 14, 2006 the Company announced that its technology team had commenced a research and development project into the use of WordLogic technology in the area of deep search for retrieving information from the internet. WordLogic technology will allow the analysis of the context and classification of each section of a website allowing a much more efficient and deeper level of analysis to be completed.

On October 26, 2006 the Company entered into a Distribution and Marketing Agreement with MIGO Software, Inc., the parent company of U3 LLC, of Redwood City, CA. MIGO is in the business of developing mobile computing software and the Agreement allowed the Company to distribute MIGO Software on its proprietary USB flash drives.

On November 14, 2006 the Company entered into a License Agreement with Wolters Kluwer Health, Inc. – Lippincott Williams & Wilkins of Baltimore, MD., who publish medical publications including Stedman medical dictionaries. The Agreement allowed the Company to bundle the Stedman medical dictionaries with its software to market to specific medical profession.

On December 8, 2006, the Company entered into a Distribution and Marketing Agreement with AlterNet Systems Inc., of Vancouver, BC. Under the Agreement, the Company licensed its WordLogic Predictive Keyboard to AlterNet on a non-exclusive basis worldwide. AlterNet is an internationally focused company that provides communications and content solutions to the education and health sectors; primarily to developing countries.

Subsequent Business Activities

On January 9, 2007 the Company announced it had developed a new text entry/text messaging input solution for cell phones utilizing the WordLogic's patent pending prediction engine. This new solution for cell phones is more efficient, user friendly and provides a more compelling text entry interface for users than existing solutions. In addition, the functionality and configuration of the technology can be expanded and/or modified to suit a user's or manufacturers' specific needs.

On February 27, 2007 the Company retained Mr. Gordon Friesen to act as an advisor to access capital for the Company. Friesen was retained to provide WordLogic with access to an extensive database of investors, stock brokers, and money managers and will make introductions to potential funding sources for the Company's software development and patent-application activities. He will also coordinate WordLogic's presence in the investment community as well as professional sales support from his team of technology professionals.

On March 15, 2007 the Company entered into a worldwide non-exclusive license with Cre8txt Limited of Bolton, UK. Cre8txt has developed a keyboard utilizes the skills of people who already use SMS (Short Message Service) texting on mobile phones. Texting has become massively popular with today's youth, particularly in Europe, where SMS has been ahead of North America and Asia. Worldwide, young people have developed a language based on SMS text and some can actually type text faster using a numerical keyboard layout rather than using a traditional computer QWERTY keyboard. The Cre8txt keyboard is similar to a mobile phone keypad, and will utilize the WordLogic(TM) predictive text technology. The WordLogic Prediction Engine will predict text selected from a database of frequently used words, and will also be capable of translating SMS Text language into full text.

Patents & Trademarks

Six individual Patent applications have been filed for “Method, system and media for entering data in a personal computing device” in the United States, Canada and Europe.

On January 12, 2005 the Company filed patent applications for “Method, system, apparatus and computer readable media for directing input associated with a keyboard-type device” in the United States and internationally under the PCT treaty.

On March 4, 2004 European Patent No. 1171813 entitled "Data Entry for Personal Computing Devices" was granted to the Company by the European Patent Office. There are over 7,000 claims allowed under the Patent which are directed to methods and systems for entering data on a personal computing device using a search list, a digital keyboard and a pointing device. Examples of “Pointing Devices” are provided for illustration in the Patent specifications and include a pen, stylus, finger, mouse, trackball or the like. The Patent also indicates that the invention may be used with a variety of “personal computing devices” including personal digital assistants (“PDAs”) and other hand-held devices, personal computers including tablets, mobile phones, internet appliances and embedded devices having a graphical display and an input interface using a Pointing Device. In addition, the Patent states the invention may be applied to several different types of digital keyboards and keyboard layouts including traditional keyboards. In the methods and systems claimed, a digital keyboard is displayed on a user interface when a user is entering text. The user-input signal activates an automated search to obtain a list of complete words based on a partial text entry, and then a search list is provided containing completion candidates for the user to select from. Although not specifically defined in the Patent, this process is commonly known as “word completion” or “word prediction”. Preferred embodiments in the Patent include the activation of automated search when a character on the digital keyboard remains selected by the Pointing Device; the automated search is terminated when the Pointing Device is lifted from the surface of the digital keyboard; and the digital keyboard and the search list are displayed simultaneously while the keyboard is in use.

European Patent No. 1171813 has also been nationalized in Germany, France, The United Kingdom, Italy Finland, Spain, The Netherlands and Portugal.

On October 21, 2003 The Company received Trademark approval for the mark “WordLogic” under Reg. No. 2,774,468 pending. A similar trademark application has been approved and registered in Canada under TMA576,700.

Financial Condition and Results of Operations

The Company reports a net loss of $2,214,823 for the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to a net loss of $1,221,564 for the year ended December 31, 2005. For each year, the net loss was primarily comprised of loss from operations; $2,155,808 for the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to $1,203,036 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

For the year ended December 31, 2006, total revenues were $17,515 compared to $12,302 for the year ended December 31, 2005. As the Company is a Development Stage Company its revenue streams are not established and are not impacted by economic or market trends. During the year ended December 31, 2006 the Company commenced selling its products directly to end-users resulting in product sales of $14,300 compared to $nil for the year ended December 31, 2005. Royalty revenues were $3,215 year ended December 31, 2006 compared $12,302 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

Stock-based compensation for the year ended December 31, 2006 was $1,132,512 compared to $204,458 for the year ended December 31, 2005. This difference relates primarily to the Company's adoption of the Company adopted SFAS 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment ("SFAS 123(R)"), which requires the measurement and recognition of compensation expense for all share-based awards made to employees and directors, including employee stock options and shares issued through its employee stock purchase plan, based on estimated fair values effective January 1, 2006. Stock-based compensation is not a use of cash flow.

Selling, general and administrative expenses were $597,522 for the year ended December 31, 2006 and were relatively consistent compared to $592,887 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

Research and development expenses were $351,221 for the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to $331,855 for the year ended December 31, 2005. This 5.8% decrease amounting to $19,366 is attributed an increase in staff.

Rent for the two periods remained relatively consistent; $92,068 for the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to $86,138 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

Other non-operating expenses were $59,015 for the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to $18,528 for the year ended December 31, 2005. The increase is primarily related to retirement of a convertible note payable in 2006 and the corresponding derivative liability component. Interest expense remained consistent between the two periods.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

During the fiscal year ending December 31, 2006, the Company used cash of $10,675 in all its activities compared to $236,396 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

During the fiscal year ending December 31, 2006, financing activities provided cash of $1,041,873 compared to $726,260 for the year ended December 31, 2005. Proceeds provided by the sale of stock (including stock options exercised) was $889,490 compared to $540,000 for the year ending December 31, 2005 and accounted for the majority of the difference.

During the fiscal year ending December 31, 2006, cash of $10,675 was used in all the Company's activities compared to 236,396 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

Investing activities used cash of $1,132 for the year ending December 31, 2006 compared to $2,257 for the year ending December 31, 2005.

Effect of exchange rate changes provided cash of $4,940 for the year ending December 31, 2006 and used cash of $2,930 for the year ending December 31, 2005. This was as a result of the devaluation of the Company's functional currency; is the Canadian dollar.

WordLogic has and may continue to supplement cash flows from sales with additional equity and debt financing. Expanded operations are expected to require additional capital, either from a future offering of equity or the company pursuing other methods of financing, as appropriate.

The Company's management has historically and continues to satisfy cash requirements through cash infusions from officers and affiliates in exchange for debt and/or common stock. No officer or affiliate has made any commitment or is obligated to continue to provide cash through loans or purchases of equity. There is no assurance the Company will achieve profitable operations.

A critical component of our operating plan impacting our continued existence is the ability to obtain additional capital through additional equity and/or debt financing. We do not anticipate enough positive internal operating cash flow until such time as we can generate substantial revenues, which may take the next few years to fully realize. In the event we cannot obtain the necessary capital to pursue our strategic plan, we may have to cease or significantly curtail our operations. This would materially impact our ability to continue operations.

Our near term cash requirements are anticipated to be offset through the receipt of funds from private placement offerings and loans obtained through private sources. Since inception, we have financed cash flow requirements through debt financing and issuance of common stock for cash and services. As we expand operational activities, we may continue to experience net negative cash flows from operations, pending receipt of servicing or licensing fees, and will be required to obtain additional financing to fund operations through common stock offerings and bank borrowings to the extent necessary to provide working capital.

Over the next twelve months we believe that existing capital and anticipated funds from operations will not be sufficient to sustain operations and planned expansion. Consequently, we will be required to seek additional capital in the future to fund growth and expansion through additional equity or debt financing or credit facilities. No assurance can be made that such financing would be available, and if available it may take either the form of debt or equity. In either case, the financing could have a negative impact on our financial condition and our Stockholders.

We anticipate incurring operating losses over the next twelve months. Our operating history makes predictions of future operating results difficult to ascertain. Our prospects must be considered in light of the risks, expenses and difficulties frequently encountered by companies in their early stage of development. Such risks include, but are not limited to, an evolving and unpredictable business model and the management of growth. To address these risks we must, among other things, obtain a customer base, implement and successfully execute our business and marketing strategy, continue to develop and upgrade technology and products, respond to competitive developments, and attract, retain and motivate qualified personnel. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in addressing such risks, and the failure to do so can have a material adverse effect on our business prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

Going Concern

Our consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. As shown in the accompanying financial statements, we have incurred significant losses since inception. During the year ended December 31, 2006 we had a net loss of $2,214,823. Our total assets as at December 31, 2006 were $50,630 and our working capital deficit was $315,566. Our losses, among others, may indicate that we will be unable to continue as a going concern for reasonable period of time. The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should we be unable to continue as a going concern.

Our continuation as a going concern is dependent upon our ability to generate sufficient cash flow to meet our obligations on a timely basis and ultimately to attain profitability. We have limited capital with which to pursue our business plan. There can be no assurance that our future operations will be significant and profitable, or that we will have sufficient resources to meet our objectives. We may pursue either the option of debt or equity financing or a combination of both in order to raise sufficient capital in order to meet our financial requirements over the next twelve months and to fund our business plan. There is no assurance that we will be successful in raising additional funds.

Our future success will be dependent upon our ability to create and provide effective and competitive software products that meet customers changing requirements; including the effective use of leading technologies to continue to enhance its current products and to influence and respond to emerging industry standards and other technological changes on a timely and cost-effective basis.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of WordLogic Corporation:

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheet of WordLogic Corporation and its subsidiary (a development stage company) as of December 31, 2006, and the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in shareholders' deficit, and cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 and from May 27, 2003 (inception) through December 31, 2006. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of WordLogic Corporation and its subsidiary as of December 31, 2006, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 and from May 27, 2003 (inception) through December 31, 2006, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 1 to the consolidated financial statements, the Company has incurred recurring losses, has used significant cash in support of its operating activities and, based upon current operating levels, requires additional capital or significant reconfiguration of its operations to sustain its operations for the foreseeable future. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Further information and management's plans in regard to this uncertainty are also described in Note 1. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization and Basis of Presentation

WordLogic Corporation (the “Company” or “WLC”), formerly TheAmericanWest.com, Inc., was incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada on March 30, 1999. The Company’s primary business is the development and commercialization of data entry software for handheld computing devices. Its headquarters are located at 650 West Georgia Street, Suite 2400, Vancouver, BC, Canada V6B 4N7.

Reverse Merger

On March 11, 2003, WLC entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “Agreement”) with WordLogic Corporation-private company (“WCPC”), a British Columbia, Canada corporation. On May 27, 2003, WLC issued 19,016,658 shares of its common stock in exchange for all 19,016,658 outstanding common shares of WCPC, and the two companies merged. This merger has been treated as a recapitalization of WCPC, with WLC the legal surviving entity. Since WLC had, prior to the recapitalization, minimal assets and no operations, the recapitalization has been accounted for as the sale of 2,907,006 shares of WCPC’s common stock for the net assets of WLC. Following the closing, WLC remained the surviving corporation with 21,923,664 common shares outstanding, of which the former shareholders of WCPC own approximately 86.74 percent.

In connection with the closing of the Agreement, WLC changed its name to “WordLogic Corporation” (formerly TheAmericanWest.com, Inc.) and changed its OTCBB symbol under which its common stock trades on the Over-The-Counter Bulletin Board to “WLGC”. WLC’s directors resigned their positions and the executive officers of WCPC were appointed to fill the vacancies created by the resignations, which resulted in a change in control.

Going concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. As shown in the accompanying financial statements, the Company has incurred recurring losses, has used significant cash in support of its operating activities and, based upon current operating levels, requires additional capital or significant reconfiguration of its operations to sustain its operations for the foreseeable future. These factors, among others, may indicate that the Company will be unable to continue as a going concern.

The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability of assets and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern. The Company’s continuation as a going concern is dependent upon its ability to generate sufficient cash flow to meet its obligations on a timely basis and ultimately to attain profitability. The Company’s management intends to satisfy cash requirements with working capital acquired in exchange for debt and/or common stock. There is no assurance the cash infusions will continue in the future or that the Company will achieve profitable operations. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

The Company’s future success will be dependent upon its ability to create and provide effective and competitive software products that meet customers changing requirements; including the effective use of leading technologies to continue to enhance its current products and to influence and respond to emerging industry standards and other technological changes on a timely and cost-effective basis.

Development Stage

Following its reverse merger on May 27, 2003, the Company entered the development stage and became a development stage enterprise in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standard (“SFAS”) No. 7, Accounting and Reporting by Development Stage Enterprises. The $2,905,818 loss recognized by the Company from May 27, 2003 through December 31, 2006, which includes an extraordinary gain of $1,600,000, is included in the accompanying consolidated financial statements as “deficit accumulated during development stage”.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of WordLogic Corporation and its wholly owned subsidiary 602531 British Columbia Ltd., an entity incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia, Canada. 602531 British Columbia Ltd. does not have any operations. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments with original maturities of three months or less when acquired, to be cash equivalents. The Company had no cash equivalents at December 31, 2006.

Receivables

The Company considers its receivables to be fully collectible; accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required.

Functional Currency

The Company's functional currency is the Canadian dollar; however, the accompanying consolidated financial statements and footnotes refer to United States ("U.S.") dollars unless Canadian dollars are specifically designated with "CDN".

Property, Equipment and Depreciation

Property and equipment are stated at cost and are depreciated over their estimated useful lives as follows:

| Asset | Method | Rate |
|------------------------|-------------------|-------------|
| Computer equipment | Straight-line | 33.3% |
| Computer software | Straight-line | 100.0% |
| Furniture and fixtures | Declining balance | 20.0% |
| Other equipment | Declining balance | 20.0% |

Depreciation is recorded at one-half of the normal rate in the year of acquisition.

Upon retirement or disposition of equipment, the cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in operations. Repairs and maintenance are charged to expense as incurred and expenditures for additions and improvements are capitalized.

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

The Company evaluates the carrying value of its long-lived assets under the provisions of SFAS No. 144, Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. Statement No. 144 requires impairment losses to be recorded on long-lived assets used in operations when indicators of impairment are present and the undiscounted future cash flows estimated to be generated by those assets are less than the assets' carrying amount. If such assets are impaired, the impairment to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets. Assets to be disposed of are reported at the lower of the carrying value or fair value, less costs to sell.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Software Development Costs

Software development costs are recorded in accordance with Statement on Financial Accounting Standards (“SFAS”) Statement No. 86, “Accounting for the Costs of Computer Software to be Sold, Leased or Otherwise Marketed”. Costs incurred to establish the technological feasibility of computer software to be sold, leased, or otherwise marketed are expensed as incurred to research and development costs. Once technological feasibility is established, the cost of producing product masters for the software is capitalized. Capitalization of the software development costs ceases and amortization of the capitalized costs commences when the product is available for general release to customers. Capitalized costs are amortized based on the greater of (a) the ratio of current gross revenues to the total current and anticipated future gross revenues, or (b) the straight-line method over the remaining estimated economic life of the product.

Research and Development

Expenditures relating to the development of new products and processes, including significant improvements to existing products, are expensed as incurred.

General and Administrative Expenses

General and administrative expenses consist of the following:

| | For the Years Ended December 31, | | May 27, 2003 (Inception) Through December 31, 2006 |
|--|-------------------------------------|------------|--|
| | 2006 | 2005 | 2006 |
| Salaries (net of $1,132,512, $176,000, and $1,318,856 stock-based compensation, respectively) | $ 326,965 | $ 311,132 | $ 863,736 |
| Professional fees (net of $0, $28,458, and $68,909 stock-based compensation, respectively) | 88,864 | 151,399 | 361,314 |
| Other G & A expense | 181,693 | 130,356 | 550,941 |
| | $ 597,522 | $ 592,887 | $ 1,775,991 |

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under the provisions of SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes (SFAS 109). SFAS 109 requires recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the consolidated financial statements or tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax liabilities and assets are determined based on the difference between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse.

Revenue Recognition

The Company’s revenue is earned through one royalty-based contract to utilize the Company’s hand-held data entry software. The contract runs for a period of twelve months and automatically renews for successive twelve month periods unless either party notifies the other party of its election not to renew at least 60 days prior to the end of the term. Royalty revenues are earned based on the number of products sold containing the Company’s hand-held data entry software.

Revenue is recognized after it has been earned, collection is probable, and the value has been determined under the terms of the royalty contract.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments, including cash, accounts receivable, and accounts payable and other liabilities are carried at cost, which approximates their fair value due to the short-term maturity of these instruments. The debt obligations are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the prevailing market rate for similar instruments.

Foreign Currency Translation

The accounts of the Company's foreign operations have been translated into United States dollars. Assets and liabilities of those operations are translated in U.S. dollars using exchange rates as of the balance sheet date; income and expenses are translated using the weighted average exchange rates for the reporting period. Translation adjustments are deferred in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss), a separate component of shareholders' equity.

Stock-based Compensation

On January 1, 2006, the Company adopted SFAS 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment ("SFAS 123(R)"), which requires the measurement and recognition of compensation expense for all share-based awards made to employees and directors, including employee stock options and shares issued through its employee stock purchase plan, based on estimated fair values. In March 2005, the Securities and Exchange Commission issued Staff Accounting Bulletin 107 ("SAB 107") relating to SFAS 123(R). The Company has applied the provisions of SAB 107 in its adoption of SFAS 123(R). The Company adopted SFAS 123(R) using the modified prospective transition method, which requires the application of the accounting standard as of the beginning in 2006. The Company's financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2006 reflect the impact of SFAS 123(R). In accordance with the modified prospective transition method, The Company's financial statements for prior periods do not include the impact of SFAS 123(R).

Stock compensation expense recognized during the period is based on the value of share-based awards that are expected to vest during the period. Stock compensation expense in 2006 includes compensation expense for the share-based awards granted subsequent to January 1, 2006 based on the grant date fair value estimated in accordance with the provisions of SFAS 123(R). 2006 stock compensation also includes expense for the share-based awards granted prior to January 1, 2006, but vested subsequent to January 1, 2006, based on the grant date fair value estimated in accordance with the provisions of SFAS 123(R). As stock compensation expense recognized in the statement of operations is based on awards ultimately expected to vest, it has not been reduced for estimated forfeitures because they are estimated to be negligible. SFAS 123(R) requires forfeitures to be estimated at the time of grant and revised, if necessary, in subsequent periods if actual forfeitures differ from those estimates.

The Company's determination of estimated fair value of share-based awards utilizes the Black-Scholes option-pricing model. The Black-Scholes model is affected by the Company's stock price as well as assumptions regarding certain highly complex and subjective variables. These variables include, but are not limited to, the Company's expected stock price volatility over the term of the awards and actual and projected employee stock option exercise behaviors.

Prior to the adoption of SFAS 123(R), The Company accounted for stock-based awards to employees and directors using the intrinsic value method in accordance with Accounting Principles Board Opinion 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees ("APB 25"). Under the intrinsic value method that was used to account for stock-based awards prior to January 1, 2006, which had been allowed under the original provisions of SFAS 123, compensation expense is recorded on the date of grant if the current market price of the underlying stock exceeded the exercise price.

Loss per Common Share

The Company reports net loss per share using a dual presentation of basic and diluted loss per share. Basic net loss per share excludes the impact of common stock equivalents. Diluted net loss per share utilizes the average market price per share when applying the treasury stock method in determining common stock equivalents. As of December 31, 2006, there were 7,199,536 vested common stock options and warrants outstanding, which were excluded from the calculation of net loss per share-diluted because they were antidilutive.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In February 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 155, Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments--an amendment of FASB Statements No. 133 and 140. Companies are required to apply Statement 155 as of the first annual reporting period that begins after September 15, 2006. The Company does not believe adoption of SFAS No. 155 will have a material effect on its consolidated financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

In March 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 156, Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets--an amendment of FASB Statement No. 140. Companies are required to apply Statement 156 as of the first annual reporting period that begins after September 15, 2006. The Company does not believe adoption of SFAS No. 156 will have a material effect on its consolidated financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

In June 2006, the FASB issued Interpretation No.48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes — An Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109", (FIN 48). FIN 48 clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an enterprise's financial statements in accordance with FASB Statement No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes". FIN 48 also prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return that results in a tax benefit. Additionally, FIN 48 provides guidance on de-recognition, statement of operations classification of interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure, and transition. This interpretation is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006. The Company will adopt FIN 48 as of January 1, 2007, as required. The Company has determined that there is no impact in adopting FIN 48.

In September 2006, the SEC staff issued Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 108 (SAB 108), "Considering the Effects of Prior Year Misstatements when Quantifying Misstatements in Current Year Financial Statements," which addresses how uncorrected errors in previous years should be considered when quantifying errors in current-year financial statements. SAB 108 requires companies to consider the effect of all carry over and reversing effects of prior-year misstatements when quantifying errors in current-year financial statements and the related financial statement disclosures. SAB 108 must be applied to annual financial statements for the first fiscal year ending after November 15, 2006. We are currently assessing the impact of adopting SAB 108 but do not expect that it will have a material impact on our financial condition or results of operations.

In September 2006, the FASB issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 157, "Fair Value Measurement", (FAS 157). This Standard defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value in generally accepted accounting principles and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. FAS 157 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007 and interim periods within those fiscal years. We have not determined the effect that the adoption of FAS 157 will have on our consolidated results of operations, financial condition or cash flows.

On September 29, 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No.158, "Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans—an amendment of FASB Statements No. 87, 88, 106, and 132(R)." SFAS No. 158 requires an entity to recognize in its statement of financial position the overfunded or underfunded status of a defined benefit postretirement plan measured as the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the benefit obligation. An entity will be required to recognize as a component of other comprehensive income, net of tax, the actuarial gains and losses and the prior service costs and credits that arise pursuant to FASB Statements No. 87, "Employers' Accounting for Pensions" and No. 106, "Employers' Accounting for Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions." Furthermore, SFAS No. 158 requires that an entity use a plan measurement date that is the same as its fiscal year-end. An entity will be required to disclose additional information in the notes to financial statements about certain effects on net periodic benefit cost in the upcoming fiscal year that arise from delayed recognition of the actuarial gains and losses and the prior service costs and credits. The requirement to recognize the funded status of a defined benefit postretirement plan and the related disclosure requirements is effective for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2006. The requirement to change the measurement date to the year-end reporting date is for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2008. We do not anticipate this statement will have any impact on our results of operations or financial condition.

Options granted to employees, accounted for under the intrinsic value method

During the year ended December 31, 2005, the Company granted two employees options to purchase an aggregate of 1,500,000 shares of the Company's common stock at an exercise price of $1.75 per share. The options vest on a monthly interval through February 11, 2007 with 300,000 options vesting immediately. The options expire February 11, 2008. The Company's common stock had a market value of $1.97 on the date of grant. As a result of the options priced "in the money", the Company recognized stock-based compensation totaling $176,000 in accordance with APB 25.

The fair value of the options was calculated at $0.959 per share, or $1,438,500, of which $767,200 is included in the pro forma schedule presented below.

Had compensation expense been recorded based on the fair value at the grant date, and charged to expense over vesting periods, consistent with the provisions of SFAS 123, the Company's net loss and net loss per share would have increased to the pro forma amounts indicated below:

WordLogic Corporation and Subsidiary
(A Development Stage Company)

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

(6) Line of Credit

The Company has a CDN$50,000 (US$42,905 at December 31, 2006) line of credit of which $-0- was unused at December 31, 2006. The interest rate on the credit line is 2.00 percent over the bank prime rate. Interest payments are due monthly.

(7) Litigation Settlement

In March 2002, Hewlett-Packard Company ("HP") was granted a license to distribute a trial version of the WordLogic Predictive Keyboard. In December 2002, the Company filed a Copyright infringement claim, as well as related claims under California State law, against HP in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, San Jose Division.

Although HP continued to deny liability, on July 22, 2004, the parties signed a settlement agreement whereby HP agreed to pay the Company $2 million in exchange for the Company agreeing to release its claims and dismiss the lawsuit. The Company's attorneys retained $400,000 out of the settlement as payment for fees and costs related to the case, and the remainder has been paid to the Company. The net gain on the settlement, totaling $1,600,000, is included in the accompanying condensed statements of operations as an extraordinary gain.

(8) Income Taxes

A reconciliation of the U.S. statutory federal income tax rate to the effective tax rate is as follows:

| | Years Ended December 31, | |
|---|-------------------------------------|-------------|
| | 2006 | 2005 |
| U.S. federal statutory graduated rate..... | 34.00% | 34.00% |
| Net operating loss for which tax benefit is currently available..... | -34.00% | -34.00% |
| | 0.00% | 0.00% |

At December 31, 2006, deferred tax assets consisted of a net tax asset of $1,758,029, due to operating loss carryforwards of $4,698,529, which was fully allowed for, in the valuation allowance of $1,758,029. The valuation allowance offsets the net deferred tax asset for which it is more likely than not that the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The change in the valuation allowance for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 was $753,040 and $415,332, respectively. The current tax benefit (expense) totaled $753,040 and $415,332 for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005, respectively. Due to the uncertainty of the ultimate utilization of the net operating loss carry-forward, no tax benefit for losses has been provided by the Company in the accompanying financial statements. The net operating loss carryforward will expire through the year 2026.

The valuation allowance will be evaluated at the end of each year, considering positive and negative evidence about whether the deferred tax asset will be realized. At that time, the allowance will either be increased or reduced; reduction could result in the complete elimination of the allowance if positive evidence indicates that the value of the deferred tax assets is no longer impaired and the allowance is no longer required.

Should the Company undergo an ownership change as defined in Section 382 of the Internal Revenue Code, the Company's tax net operating loss carryforwards generated prior to the ownership change will be subject to an annual limitation, which could reduce or defer the utilization of these losses.

(9) Subsequent Event

On February 21, 2007, the Company granted options to purchase a total of 150,000 shares of the Company's common stock to a consultant. The options carry an exercise price of $0.50 per share and are vested monthly commencing February 21, 2007 through April 21, 2007. The options expire August 1, 2011. The Company's quoted price on the grant date was $0.57 per share.

On February 23, 2007, the Company granted options to purchase a total of 500,000 shares of the Company's common stock to a consultant. The options carry an exercise price of $0.50 per share and are vested monthly commencing February 23, 2007 through January 23, 2008. The options expire February 23, 2010. The Company's quoted price on the grant date was $0.59 per share.

In March 2007, the Company sold 120,000 units at a price of $0.50 per share for total proceeds of $60,000. Each unit included one restricted share of the Company's $.001 par value Common Stock plus one Warrant. Each Warrant entitles the holder to purchase one additional common share of the Company for a period of 36 months from the date of issuance, at a price of $0.75 per share.

On March 1, 2007, the Company signed renewal agreements to extend the maturity dates of two promissory notes. The first note, with a principal balance of $240,000, had an original maturity date of March 1, 2007 and was extended to March 1, 2009. The second note, with a principal balance of $130,000, had an original maturity date of May 11, 2007 and was extended to May 11, 2009.

Changes In and Disagreements with Accountants on Disclosure

There have been no disagreements between the Company and its independent accountants on any matter of accounting principles or practices or financial statement disclosure.

Controls and Procedures

Under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, we conducted an evaluation of our disclosure controls and procedures, as such term is defined under Rule 13a-15(e) promulgated under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”). Based on this evaluation, our principal executive officer and our principal financial officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were effective as the end of the period covered by this report. There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting during the period covered by this report that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal controls over financial reporting.
