NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)

Revenue Recognition

The Company's revenue from licensing agreements is based on the number of shares traded through the use of the licensed software and recognized when the trades occur. Upfront fees from customers are deferred and recognized over the life of the contract. Some agreements may provide for a maximum annual fee payable by a customer. In such cases, if the Company determines based on the proportionate number of shares traded as of the balance sheet date, that the volume of shares traded will result in the maximum being reached, the revenue is recognized on the straight line basis over the life of the contract.

Accounts Receivable and Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

The Company's trade accounts receivable are recorded at amounts billed to customers and presented on the balance sheet net of the allowance for doubtful accounts, if required. The allowance is determined by a variety of factors, including the age of the receivables, current economic conditions, historical losses and other information management obtains regarding the financial condition of customers. The policy for determining past due status of receivables is based on how recently payments have been received. Receivables are charged off when they are deemed uncollectible, which may arise when customers file for bankruptcy or are otherwise deemed unable to repay the amounts owed to the Company.

Income Taxes

No provision is required for federal and state taxes on the income of the Company. The Company is a limited liability company for federal and state tax purposes whereby the income of the Company is taxed to the members.

Sales Tax

The sales taxes charged by the Company to customers are presented in the financial statements on a net basis and accordingly, excluded from revenues and costs.
