Strategic Alternatives to Indexing
Deutsche Bank AG, London Branch

Securities Linked to an International Index Basket due on or about August 30, 2013

Investment Description

Performance Securities with Contingent Protection Linked to an International Index Basket (the "Securities") provide enhanced exposure to potential appreciation of a basket of six international equity indices together with contingent protection at maturity of your initial investment if the Basket Level never closes below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period. Investments with contingent protection of the invested amount can help reduce portfolio risk while maintaining an enhanced exposure to equities. The Securities do not guarantee any return of your initial investment. A negative Basket Return where the Basket Level closed below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period will result in a payment at maturity of less than $10.00 per Security. The contingent protection feature applies only at maturity.

Features

- ☐ Growth Potential: The Securities provide the opportunity to receive enhanced equity returns by multiplying any positive Basket Return by the Participation Rate of 120% to 130% (the actual Participation Rate will be determined on the Trade Date). The Securities are not subject to a maximum gain.
- ☐ Contingent Protection of the Invested Amount: If the Basket Return is negative, protection of your initial investment will depend on whether or not the Basket Level closed below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period.
- ☐ Diversification: Investors can diversify in a contingent protection investment linked to a Basket of six international equity indices.

¹ Expected. In the event that we make any change to the expected Trade Date and Settlement Date, the Final Valuation Date and Maturity Date will be changed so that the stated term of the Securities remains the same.

² Subject to postponement in the event of a market disruption event and as described under "General Terms of the Securities" in the accompanying product supplement B.

What are the tax consequences of the Securities?

You should review carefully the section of the accompanying product supplement entitled “Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences.” Although the tax consequences of an investment in the Securities are uncertain, we believe it is reasonable to treat the Securities as prepaid financial contracts for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Based on current law, under this treatment you should not be required to recognize taxable income prior to the maturity of your Securities, other than pursuant to a sale or exchange, and your gain or loss on the Securities should be long-term capital gain or loss if you hold the Securities for more than one year. If, however, the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) were successful in asserting an alternative treatment for the Securities, the timing and/or character of income on the Securities might differ materially and adversely from the description herein. We do not plan to request a ruling from the IRS, and no assurance can be given that the IRS or a court will agree with the tax treatment described in this term sheet and the accompanying product supplement.

On December 7, 2007, the Department of the Treasury (“Treasury”) and the IRS released a notice requesting comments on various issues regarding the U.S. federal income tax treatment of “prepaid forward contracts” and similar instruments, such as the Securities. The notice focuses in particular on whether to require holders of these instruments to accrue income over the term of their investment. It also asks for comments on a number of related topics, including the character of income or loss with respect to these instruments; the relevance of factors such as the nature of the underlying property to which the instruments are linked; the degree, if any, to which income (including any mandated accruals) realized by non-U.S. holders should be subject to withholding tax; and whether these instruments are or should be subject to the “constructive ownership” regime, which very generally can operate to recharacterize certain long-term capital gain as ordinary income that is subject to an interest charge. While the notice requests comments on appropriate transition rules and effective dates, any Treasury regulations or other guidance promulgated after consideration of these issues could materially and adversely affect the tax consequences of an investment in the Securities, possibly with retroactive effect.

Under current law, the United Kingdom will not impose withholding tax on payments made with respect to the Securities.

For a discussion of certain German tax considerations relating to the Securities, you should refer to the section in the accompanying prospectus supplement entitled “Taxation by Germany of Non-Resident Holders.”

Neither we nor UBS Financial Services Inc. provides any advice on tax matters. Both U.S. and non-U.S. holders should consult their tax advisers regarding all aspects of the U.S. federal tax consequences of investing in the Securities (including possible alternative treatments and the issues presented by the December 7, 2007 notice), as well as any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local or non-U.S. taxing jurisdiction.

Scenario Analysis and Examples at Maturity

The following scenario analysis and examples assume a Participation Rate of 125%, a Trigger Level of 50% and a range of Basket Returns. The actual Participation Rate will be set on the Trade Date.

Final Basket Level	Basket Return	The Basket Level did not close below the Trigger Level or the Basket Return is positive		The Basket Level closed below the Trigger Level on at least one trading day and the Basket Return is negative

40.00	40.00%	n/a	n/a	$4.00	-60.00%
20.00	20.00%	n/a	n/a	$2.00	-80.00%
—	0.00%	n/a	n/a	$0.00	-100.00%

Example 1—The Basket Level increases by 10% from a Basket Starting Level of 100 to a Basket Ending Level of 110. Because the Basket Ending Level of 110 is greater than the Basket Starting Level of 100, the Basket Return is positive and calculated as follows:

$$\text{Basket Return} = (110 - 100)/100 = 10\%$$

Because the Basket Return is equal to 10%, the payment at maturity is equal to $11.25 per $10.00 Security, calculated as follows:

$$\text{Payment at maturity per } $10.00 \text{ Security} = $10.00 + ($10.00 \times 10\% \times 125\%) = $11.25$$

Example 2—The Basket Ending Level does not change from the Basket Starting Level of 100. Because the Basket Ending Level of 100 is the same as the Basket Starting Level of 100, the Basket Return is zero and calculated as follows:

$$\text{Basket Return} = (100 - 100)/100 = 0\%$$

Because the Basket Return is equal to 0%, the payment at maturity is equal to $10.00 per $10.00 Security.

Example 3—The Basket Level decreases by 10% from a Basket Starting Level of 100 to a Basket Ending Level of 90 and the Basket Level never closed below the Trigger Level of 50 on any trading day during the Observation Period. Because the Basket Ending Level of 90 is less than the Basket Starting Level of 100, the Basket Return is negative and calculated as follows:

$$\text{Basket Return} = (90 - 100)/100 = -10\%$$

Because the Basket Return is equal to -10%, and the Basket Level never closed below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period, the payment at maturity is equal to $10.00 per $10.00 Security.

Example 3—The Basket Level decreases by 60% from a Basket Starting Level of 100 to a Basket Ending Level of 40, and the Basket Level closed below the Trigger Level of 50 on at least one trading day during the Observation Period. Because the Basket Ending Level of 40 is less than the Basket Starting Level of 100, the Basket Return is negative and calculated as follows:

$$\text{Basket Return} = (40 - 100)/100 = -60\%$$

Because the Basket Return is equal to -60%, and the Basket Level closed below the Trigger Level on at least one trading day during the Observation Period, investors will lose 1% of their initial investment for each 1% of negative Basket Return, and the payment at maturity is equal to $4.00 per $10.00 Security calculated as follows:

$$\text{Payment at maturity per $10.00 Security} = $10.00 + ($10.00 \times -60\%) = $4.00$$

Key Risks

An investment in the Securities involves significant risks. Some of the risks that apply to an investment in the Securities are summarized below, but we urge you to read the more detailed explanation of risks relating to the Securities generally in the “Risk Factors” section of the accompanying product supplement B. We also urge you to consult your investment, legal, tax, accounting and other advisers before you invest in the Securities.

- ♦ Your Investment in the Securities May Result in a Loss of Your Initial Investment—The Securities do not guarantee any return of your initial investment. The return on the Securities at maturity is linked to the performance of the Basket and will depend on whether, and the extent to which, the Basket Return is positive or negative and if the Basket Level closes below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period. If the Basket Level closes below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period, your initial investment will be exposed to any decline in the Basket Ending Level relative to the Basket Starting Level. Accordingly, you could lose your entire investment in the Securities.
- ♦ Contingent Protection of Your Initial Investment Applies Only if You Hold the Securities to Maturity—You should be willing to hold your Securities to maturity. If you sell your Securities prior to maturity in the secondary market, you may have to sell them at a discount and your initial investment will not be protected, regardless of whether or not the Basket Level has closed below the Trigger Level on any trading day during the Observation Period.
- ♦ Changes in the Level of the Basket Indices May Offset Each Other—The Securities are linked to a Basket composed of the Basket Indices. At a time when the level of one or more of the Basket Indices increases, the level of one or more of the other Basket Indices may not increase as much or may even decline. Therefore, in calculating the Basket Ending Level, increases in the level of one or more of the Basket Indices may be moderated, or offset, by lesser increases or declines in the level of one or more of the other Basket Indices.
- ♦ The Basket Indices are Unequally Weighted—The Basket Indices are unequally weighted. Accordingly, performances by the Basket Indices with higher weightings will influence the Final Basket Level and therefore the Basket Return to a greater degree than the performances of Basket Indices with lower weightings. If one or more of the Basket Indices with higher weightings perform poorly, that poor performance could negate or diminish the effect on the Final Basket Level of any positive performance by the lower weighted Basket Indices.
- ♦ Owning the Securities is not the same as Owning Basket Constituent Stocks—The return on your Securities may not reflect the return you would realize if you actually owned the constituents of a Basket Index or the Basket Indices. For instance, you will not receive or be entitled to receive any dividend payments or other distributions over the life of the Securities.
- ♦ No Periodic Coupon Payments, Dividend Payments or Voting Rights—As a holder of the Securities, you will not receive periodic coupon payments, and you will not have voting rights or rights to receive cash dividends or other distributions or other rights that holders of component stocks underlying the Basket Indices would have.
- ♦ The Securities have Certain Built-in Costs—While the payment at maturity described in this free writing prospectus is based on the full face amount of your Securities, the original issue price of the Securities includes the agents’ commission and the estimated cost of hedging our obligations under the Securities through one or more of our affiliates. As a result, the price, if any, at which Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates would be willing to purchase Securities from you prior to maturity in secondary market transactions, if at all, will likely be lower than the original issue price, and any sale prior to the maturity date could result in a substantial loss to you. The Securities are not designed to be short-term trading instruments. Accordingly, you should be able and willing to hold your Securities to maturity.
- ♦ We Are One of the Companies That Make Up the Dow Jones EURO STOXX 50® Index, but We Are Not Affiliated with Any Other Company Included in the Basket Indices—We are one of the companies that make up the Dow Jones EURO STOXX 50® Index, but we are not affiliated with any of the other companies whose stock is included in the Basket Indices. As a result, we will have no ability to control the actions of such other companies, including actions that could affect the value of the stocks underlying the Basket Indices or your Securities. None of the money you pay us will go to the respective sponsors of the Basket Indices (the “Sponsors”), or any of the other companies included in the Basket Indices and none of those companies will be involved in the offering of the Securities in any way. Neither those companies nor the Sponsors will have any obligation to consider your interests as a holder of the Securities in taking any corporate actions that might affect the value of your Securities.
- ♦ There May be Little or No Secondary Market for the Securities—The Securities will not be listed on any securities exchange. Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates intends to offer to purchase the Securities in the secondary market but is not required to do so and may cease such market making activities at any time. Even if there is a secondary market, it may not provide enough liquidity to allow you to trade or sell your Securities easily. Because other dealers are not likely to make a secondary market for the Securities, the price at which you may be able to trade your Securities is likely to depend on the price, if any, at which Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates is willing to buy the Securities.
- ♦ Potential Conflicts—We and our affiliates play a variety of roles in connection with the issuance of the Securities, including acting as calculation agent and hedging our obligations under the Securities. In performing these duties, the economic interests of the calculation agent and other affiliates of ours are potentially adverse to your interests as an investor in the Securities.
- ♦ Potential of Deutsche Bank AG transactions to impact price—Trading or transactions by Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates in a Basket Index or the Basket Indices and/or over the counter options, futures or other instruments with returns linked the performance of a Basket Index or the Basket Indices, may adversely affect the market price of the Basket Index or the Basket Indices and therefore, the market value of the Securities.
- ♦ We and our Affiliates and Agents May Publish Research, Express Opinions or Provide Recommendations that May Be Inconsistent with Investing in or Holding the Securities. Any Such Research, Opinions or Recommendations Could Affect the Level of the Basket to Which the Securities Are Linked or the Value of the Securities—We, our affiliates and agents publish research from time to time on financial markets and other matters that may influence the value of the Securities, or express opinions or provide recommendations that may be inconsistent with purchasing or holding the Securities. We, our affiliates and agents may have published research or other opinions that are inconsistent with the investment view implicit in the Securities. Any research, opinions or recommendations expressed by us, our affiliates or agents may not be consistent with each other and may be modified from time to time without notice. Investors should make their own independent investigation of the merits of investing in the Securities and the Basket Indices to which the Securities are linked.

- ♦ Price Prior to Maturity—In addition to the level of the Basket on any day, the market price of the Securities will be affected by a number of economic and market factors that may either offset or magnify each other, including: the expected volatility of the Basket Indices; the time to maturity of the Securities; the market prices and dividend rates on the component stocks underlying the Basket Indices; interest and yield rates in the market generally and in the markets of the component stocks underlying the Basket Indices; a variety of economic, financial, political, regulatory or judicial events; the exchange rates and the volatility of the exchange rates between the U.S. dollar and the currencies in which the component stocks underlying the Basket Indices are based; supply and demand for the Securities; and our creditworthiness, including actual or anticipated downgrades in our credit ratings.
- ♦ The Securities are subject to the Issuer's creditworthiness—An actual or anticipated downgrade in the Issuer's credit rating will likely have an adverse effect on the market value of the Securities. The payment at maturity on the Securities is subject to the creditworthiness of the Issuer.
- ♦ The Securities have exchange rate exposure and the Basket Return will not be adjusted for this exposure—The shares tracked by the Basket Indices are denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. Fluctuations in the value of these currencies relative to the U.S. dollar (and other important currencies) may affect your payment at maturity, if any, by negatively impacting local economies and therefore the performance of the Basket Indices. Further, because the shares underlying the MSCI Emerging Markets IndexSM are non-U.S.dollar denominated and this Basket Index is published in U.S. dollars, you will have direct foreign currency exposure through this Basket Index. Although the currencies represented in this Basket Index will likely fluctuate in value relative to the U.S. dollar over the term of the Securities, the Basket Return will not be adjusted for such fluctuations and the value of your Securities and your payment at maturity, if any, may be adversely affected.
- ♦ Non-U.S. Securities Markets Risks—The stocks included in the Dow Jones EURO STOXX 50[®] Index, the FTSE[™] 100 Index, the Nikkei 225[®] Index, the Swiss Market Index, the S&P/ASX 200 Index and the MSCI Emerging Markets IndexSM are issued by foreign companies in foreign securities markets. These stocks may be more volatile than domestic stocks and may be subject to different political, market, economic, exchange rate, regulatory and other risks which may have a negative impact on the performance of the Securities.
- ♦ Emerging Markets Countries Often Suffer from Political and Economic Instability—The value of the Securities is subject to the political and economic risks of emerging market countries through the MSCI Emerging Markets IndexSM. The MSCI Emerging Markets IndexSM includes companies that are located in emerging market countries and whose securities trade on the exchanges of emerging market countries. In recent years, some emerging markets have undergone significant political, economic and social upheaval. Such far-reaching changes have resulted in constitutional and social tensions and, in some cases, instability and reaction against market reforms has occurred. With respect to any emerging market nation, there is the possibility of nationalization, expropriation or confiscation, political changes, government regulation and social instability. There can be no assurance that future political changes will not adversely affect the economic conditions of an emerging market nation. Political or economic instability could have an adverse effect on the market value and payment at maturity of your Securities, and such adverse effect could be compounded by the MSCI Emerging Markets IndexSM having exposure to the affected market.
- ♦ The U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of an Investment in a Security are Unclear—There is no direct legal authority regarding the proper U.S. federal income tax treatment of the Securities, and we do not plan to request a ruling from the IRS. Consequently, significant aspects of the tax treatment of the Securities are uncertain, and no assurance can be given that the IRS or a court will agree with the treatment of the Securities as prepaid financial contracts. If the IRS were successful in asserting an alternative treatment for the Securities, the timing and/or character of income thereon might differ materially and adversely from the description herein. As described above under "Certain Tax Consequences," on December 7, 2007, Treasury and the IRS released a notice requesting comments on various issues regarding the U.S. federal income tax treatment of "prepaid forward contracts" and similar instruments, such as the Securities. Any Treasury regulations or other guidance promulgated after consideration of these issues could materially and adversely affect the tax consequences of an investment in the Securities, possibly with retroactive effect. Both U.S. and non-U.S. holders should review carefully the section of the accompanying product supplement entitled "Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences," and consult their tax advisers regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the Securities (including possible alternative treatments and the issues presented by the December 7, 2007 notice), as well as any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local or non-U.S. taxing jurisdiction.
