1. Basis of Presentation

The financial statements of Daybreak Mines, Inc. included herein have been prepared without audit, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Although certain information normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America has been condensed or omitted, Daybreak Mines, Inc. believes that the disclosures are adequate to make the information presented not misleading. These financial statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and notes thereto for the fiscal year ended February 28, 2005, included in the registrant's filing of Form 10-KSB.

The Company has no recurring source of revenue and has incurred operating losses since inception. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern as expressed by the Company's independent accountants in their report on the Company's February 28, 2005, financial statements. The financial statements do not contain any adjustments, which might be necessary if the Company is unable to continue as a going concern. Management's plans, however, are to finance the Company's growth through sales of its common stock, and borrowings from investors. However, there can be no assurances as to the overall success of these plans.

The financial statements included herein reflect all normal recurring adjustments that, in the opinion of management, are necessary for a fair presentation. The results for interim periods are not necessarily indicative of trends or of results to be expected for the full year ending February 28, 2006.

2. Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made to conform prior period data to the current presentation. These reclassifications had no effect on reported earnings.

3. Related Party Transactions

During March, April and May of 2005, loans amounting to $75,820 were made to the Company by various officers, directors, and significant shareholders. The loans accrue interest at 6% per annum, are due in full one year from the date of issue, and are convertible into common stock of the Company at $0.25 per share any time after six months from the issue date. The loans were made to provide the Company with sufficient funds to pay necessary, ongoing operating expenses.

4. Consulting Agreements

On March 1, 2005, the Company entered into a one year Consulting Agreement with 413294 Alberta Ltd., a Canadian company controlled by the President of the Company, Robert N. Martin. As consideration for performance of Mr. Martin's services, the Company has agreed to pay him 1,100,000 common shares and $1,000 per month for incidental expenses for which services are provided, and reimburse him for out-of-pocket travel and related business expenses. The 1,100,000 shares were valued at $275,000, or $0.25 per share, and recorded as a prepaid expense on March 1, 2005.

4. Consulting Agreements, continued

On March 1, 2005, the Company entered into a one year Consulting Services Agreement with AnMac Enterprises Inc., a Canadian company, for investor relations and other consulting services. In consideration for the services provided for, the Company agreed to issue 350,000 common shares of the Company and pay a monthly salary of $3,000 for twelve months. The 350,000 shares were valued at $87,500, or $0.25 per share, and recorded as a prepaid expense at March 1, 2005.

On March 1, 2005, the Company entered into a twelve month Consulting Services Agreement with an individual for investor relations and other consulting services. The Company agreed to issue 500,000 common shares and pay a monthly salary of $2,000. The 500,000 shares were valued at $125,000, or $0.25 per share, and recorded as a prepaid expense at March 1, 2005.

5. Oil and Gas Properties

In April of 2005, the Company made earnest money deposits totaling $31,600 on two separate oil and gas lease agreements with MPG Petroleum, Inc. (MPG), a Texas company. The balance due on the two lease agreements was $284,400, and due on June 20, 2005. On June 15, 2005, the closing dates on both agreements were extended to July 30, 2005. In consideration of the extensions, the Company paid an additional $50,000 to MPG on June 16, 2005. The remaining obligation of $234,400 is due to MPG at closing on July 30, 2005.

6. Contingency

On December 15, 2004, Robert N. Martin, the Company's President, executed a Consulting Agreement with Summitt Ventures, Inc., purporting to obligate the Company pursuant to its terms and conditions. Due to drafting ambiguities and contradictions, the Company disputes that it is a party to the agreement and, alternatively believes that no contracted services were provided to the Company by Summitt Ventures, Inc. The Agreement calls for the payment of $500,000 to Summitt Ventures, Inc. for consulting services payable in cash or unrestricted common stock. Additionally, the Agreement implies that transaction fees may be payable for certain business opportunities in which the Company participates at the direction of Summitt Ventures, Inc. The term of the Agreement is December 15, 2004 through May 15, 2005. The Company has not paid any money or issued any stock to Summitt Ventures, Inc. We believe that Summitt Ventures may assert claims under the Consulting Agreement. We intend to vigorously dispute, and or defend any Summitt Venture claim under this Agreement.

While we currently believe that the ultimate outcome of this matter will not have a material adverse effect on our financial position or results of operations, potential litigation is subject to inherent uncertainties. If an unfavorable outcome were to occur, there exists the possibility of a material adverse impact on our net income in the period in which the negative outcome occurs. Our estimate of the potential impact from a negative outcome could change in the future.

ITEM 2: MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION OR PLAN OF OPERATION

Plan of Operation

General

This report contains both historical and prospective statements concerning the Company and its operations. Prospective statements (known as "forward-looking statements") may or may not prove true with the passage of time because of future risks and uncertainties. The Company cannot predict what factors might cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated by prospective statements.

During 2004, management of the Company decided to engage in the business of acquiring oil and/or gas drilling prospects. In April 2005, the Company signed two agreements with MPG Petroleum, Inc. to acquire interests in oil exploration prospects in Texas. The Company has no recurring source of revenue and has incurred operating losses since inception. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, as expressed by the Company's independent accountants in their report on the Company's February 28, 2005, financial statements. The financial statements contained herein do not contain any adjustments, which might be necessary if the Company is unable to continue as a going concern.

Financial Condition and Liquidity

During the three month period ended May 31, 2005, the Company used $40,646 of cash for operating activities, compared to $9,927 used for operating activities in the first fiscal quarter of 2004, including $750 of realized gains on marketable securities. During the quarter ended May 31, 2005, shareholders and directors provided $75,820 in loans to finance the Company's operating activities. The Company had no revenue during the quarter ended May 31, 2005. Management believes that the Company has the ability to raise sufficient cash to meet operating expenses for the next twelve months, either through additional loans from shareholders and directors, or from the proceeds of private placements of its common stock.

ITEM 3. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES.

As of the end of the reporting period, May 31, 2005, we carried out an evaluation by the Company's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Financial Officer, of the effectiveness of the design and operation of our disclosure controls and procedures pursuant to Rule 13a-15(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act"), which disclosure controls and procedures are designed to insure that information required to be disclosed by a company in the reports that it files under the Exchange Act are recorded, processed, summarized and reported within required time periods specified by the Securities & Exchange Commission rules and forms.

Based upon that evaluation, the Chairman and the Chief Financial Officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures need improvement and were not adequately effective as of May 31, 2005 to ensure timely reporting with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Material weaknesses identified were:

- The Company's corporate governance and disclosure controls and procedures do not provide reasonable assurance that material transactions are timely and accurately reported in our Periodic Reports that we file with the Securities & Exchange Commission. In particular, the Company does not have adequate controls over (1) the management's review and execution of material contracts, (2) the process for authorization and issuance of common shares; (3) the timely disclosure of material contracts and common stock issuance transactions.

(b) Changes in Internal Control.

As required by Rule 13a-15(d), the Company's Chairman and Chief Financial Officer, also conducted evaluations of our internal controls over financial reporting to determine whether any changes occurred during the first fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting. During the preparation of the Company's financial statements, as of May 31, 2005, the Company has concluded that the current system of disclosure controls and procedures was not effective because of the internal control weaknesses identified above. A material weakness is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected.

Specifically, our controls (1) failed to ensure that material contracts were thoroughly reviewed by management prior to execution and (2) that common stock transactions were properly disclosed on Form 8-K Current Reports under the applicable rules and regulations required by law.

As a result our evaluation, the Company has initiated the changes in internal control also described below. It should be noted that any system of controls, however well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, and not absolute, assurance that the objectives of the system will be met. In addition, the design of any control system is based in part upon certain assumptions about the likelihood of future events.

Changes Implemented to Correct Material Weaknesses:

- We have begun to develop operation checklists relating to management's execution of material contracts and the related disclosure requirements, and the Company's timely disclosure of unregistered equity transactions. The checklist will provide evidentiary support of work performed and reviewed. We intend to implement this checklist before any other material contracts are executed or common shares are authorized for issuance.

(c) Limitations.

Our management, including our Principal Executive Officer and Principal Financial Officer, does not expect that our disclosure controls or internal controls over financial reporting will prevent all errors or all instances of fraud. A control system, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute, assurance that the control system's objectives will be met. Further, the design of a control system must reflect the fact that there are resource constraints, and the benefits of controls must be considered relative to their costs. Because of the inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues and instances of fraud, if any, within our company have been detected. These inherent limitations include the realities that judgments in decision-making can be faulty, and that breakdowns can occur because of simple error or mistake. Controls can also be circumvented by the individual acts of some persons, by collusion of two or more people, or by management override of the controls. The design of any system of controls is based in part upon certain assumptions about the likelihood of future events, and any design may not succeed in achieving its stated goals under all potential future conditions. Over time, controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or deterioration in the degree of compliance with policies or procedures. Because of the inherent limitation of a cost-effective control system, misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected.
