For Immediate Release
Saxon Capital, Inc. 2005 Fourth Quarter and Year End Earnings Release and Conference Call Delayed

GLEN ALLEN, VA. (February 28, 2006) – Saxon Capital, Inc. (“Saxon” or the “Company”) (NYSE: SAX), a residential mortgage lending and servicing real estate investment trust (REIT), today announced it is delaying its 2005 fourth quarter and year end earnings press release and related conference call. The Company expects to report its complete operating results on or before March 31, 2006, and will host a conference call at that time.

Management is reviewing the Company’s application of the requirements of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) 133, “Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities” for all of the derivative transactions used in its hedging strategy to manage interest rate risks from 2001 to the third quarter of 2005. This review includes documentation requirements under SFAS 133.

If the Company determines that it did not meet the requirements of SFAS 133, a restatement of results from 2001 to the third quarter of 2005 may be required. Any restatement is not expected to impact the cash flows or liquidity of the Company. It is important to note the Company has not completed its review.

“We are disappointed in this delay, but need more time to review these complex accounting issues before reporting our results,” said Michael L. Sawyer, Chief Executive Officer of Saxon. “However, the delay will have no effect on our current operating and hedge strategy from an economic standpoint.”

“The interpretations of how to apply SFAS 133, a quite complex standard, continue to evolve,” said Robert B. Eastep, Chief Financial Officer of Saxon. “We monitor interpretations of accounting standards by regulators and accounting professionals to evaluate our accounting practices. In light of recent scrutiny as to the application of hedge accounting, we are reviewing our accounting treatment of our derivative transactions related to our hedging strategy to ensure that our financial statements adhere to SFAS 133.”
