1. We have reviewed your letter dated April 18, 2013 in response to prior comments 18 and 20 of our letter dated March 12, 2013. In light of the preliminary price range and the previous valuations of your common stock, please provide us with additional details explaining the increase in the fair value of your common stock. In this regard, please address the following items.

- We note that the preliminary price range was based on high-growth public technology companies that do not have business models similar to the company's and that the company's historic valuations was based on more mature public technology companies whose business model is similar to the company's. Considering the different growth rates and substantially greater market multiples derived from the comparable companies used to determine the preliminary price range, please tell us your consideration for re-evaluating your previous valuations based on these comparable companies from December 2012 through March 2013 considering you disclose on page 83 that in the fourth quarter of 2012, you began discussions with investment banks in preparation for a potential initial public offering.
- Please provide us with a comparison of the market multiples of the comparable companies used in determining the preliminary price range and the market multiples of the comparable companies used in the historic valuations.
- We note certain factors that contributed to the increase in the fair value of the company's common stock including the successful release of Tableau 8.0 in March 2013 and the achievement of the second-highest quarterly revenues in the company's history. Please tell us whether you considered the successful release of Tableau 8.0 in your previous valuations and if not, please provide the reasons why. Please also tell us why the achievement of the second-highest quarterly revenues was a factor contributing to the increase in the fair value of your common stock in determining the preliminary price range considering the fourth quarter of 2012 had the highest amount of revenues in the company's history.
