2. We note the continued increased in international fee income recognized during the fiscal 2006 through 2008 periods. Tell us and disclose in future filings, the nature of the transactions and types of services being provided which are generating this income. Your response and future disclosures should also address the accounting treatment being followed.

Capital Resources, page 42

3. In future reports, please disclose the interrelationship of the TARP securities and the private placement. If true, specifically disclose that the sale of the TARP securities was conditional upon the company raising additional equity in the capital markets.

Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, page 55

4. We note the recognition of $711 thousand in gains on the sale of securities during fiscal 2008; however, the disclosures within the financing activities section of the statement of cash flows do not identify any securities as being sold. Tell us the reasons for this discrepancy and revise your disclosures in future filings.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Note 16. Preferred Stock – TARP, page 77

5. Tell us how you determined the relative fair values of both the preferred stock and the warrants issued to the U.S. Treasury Department in conjunction with the TARP related sale in December of 2008. You should disclose, in future filings, the assumptions utilized in arriving at the relative fair values.
6. Tell us how you are accounting for the discount on the TARP related preferred stock issued in December of 2008. We note that the discount should be amortized over the estimated life of the warrant using the effective yield method. Further, in arriving at net income available to common shareholders, both the accretion of the discount and dividends paid on the preferred shares should be considered.

Form 10-Q filed for the Period Ended March 31, 2009

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Credit Risk and Provision for Loan Losses, page 22

7. We note the continued deterioration in the credit quality of your loan portfolio during fiscal 2008 and into the first quarter of 2009, which has resulted in a significant increase in nonperforming loans and assets as well as significant increases in both the loan loss provision and loan charge-offs during that timeframe. So that a reader will have a clearer understanding of the deterioration being experienced within your loan portfolio, the disclosures within your future filings should be expanded to specifically discuss the nature, geographical location and type of loans contributing to these increases, the problems associated with the specific individual loans, the charge-offs recorded, and the triggering events which lead to both the charge-offs and the significantly increased loan loss provisions. Your disclosures should also address the changes in the coverage ratio of the loan loss allowance to nonperforming loans. Additionally, you should discuss how these more recent and specific events and circumstances have been factored into and considered in the determination of the allowance for loan loss methodologies established by management. Provide us with your proposed future disclosures.
8. We note in your tabular presentation on page 24, the breakdown of nonperforming loans at March 31, 2009. So that a reader would have a clear understanding of how management identifies problem loans within the loan portfolio as well as the steps taken to address any potential problems, you should address the following in future filings:
 - discuss the processes taken by management in identifying potential problem loans;
 - discuss the steps taken in identifying the nature and type of underlying collateral supporting these loans;
 - discuss how management determines the value of the underlying collateral (i.e. if appraisals are obtained, how often and under what circumstance);
 - discuss how shortfalls are addressed, including the steps taken by management to address these shortfalls (i.e. include the timeframe followed); and
 - discuss the timing when both initial and any subsequent loan charge-offs or additional loan loss provisions are recorded.

Provide us with you proposed future disclosures.

Leverage, page 28

9. We note your policy of deploying earning assets primarily in federal funds sold to address the potential volatility of deposit balances and to accommodate projected loan funding, and in short term fixed rate investments to mitigate interest rate risk associated with the Company's asset-sensitive balance sheet. Your disclosures in future filings should address the adverse impact on net interest income and on the net interest margin as a result of the company investing a significant portion of their interest earning assets in low yielding investments.
