Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2008

Consolidated Financial Statements

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm, page 21

1. The auditor's conclusion about your ability to continue as a going concern should be expressed through the use of the phrase "substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern" (or similar wording). See Statement on Auditing Standards No. 64 for guidance. Please revise.

Consolidated Statement of Operations, page 23

2. It appears that your online gaming operations are similar in nature to those of a casino. Therefore, costs that are major components in providing a service activity that is an integral part of your revenue generation processes and future revenue growth should be included before reporting a performance (profitability) measure. In this regard, providing a gross profit measure, which excludes sales and marketing expense (as described on page 17 of your filing), web site design costs and the costs of salaries and wages of those recruited in order to run the expanded business, does not appear appropriate. Therefore, in the absence of compelling evidence or authoritative guidance indicating that providing such a performance measure would not be misleading to your investors, please discontinue your presentation of gross profit and revise the discussion of your results of operations in MD&A. For guidance, please refer to SAB Topic 11L.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Note 3- Sales of US players and related assets, page 33

3. Please expand your description of the sale of your United States player database and related assets to include whether or not you received a note receivable for $1,200,050 and how the payment amounts are determined. Also, describe the accounting treatment for the sale and what accounting literature you relied upon to arrive at your methodology.
4. With respect to the table of payments set forth in Note 3, it is unclear how the year-end balances shown in that table are reflected in your financial statements. Please clarify.

Note 6- Domain Name Rights and Intangible Assets, page 34

5. We note your disclosure on page 5 that you commenced online gaming operations during 2005 with the target audience being the United States. In October of 2006, in response to the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act, you sold your United States player database and related assets. While recognizing a profit from the sale of these assets, it appears you did not record an impairment loss with respect to the carrying value of your bingo.com domain name. Please explain how you determined in October of 2006 that no impairment existed even though you lost your primary source of expected future cash flows at that time.
6. In note 2(m), you indicate that you test the domain name Bingo.com for impairment by comparing the future cash flows of the domain name with its carrying value. In this regard, please provide us with a more detailed description of your discounted future cash flows calculation as it relates to your domain name impairment analysis as well as the discount rate used to arrive at the present value of your expected future cash flows.
7. In Note 11, you state that you have one reportable business segment, which is in the business of providing games and entertainment based on the game of bingo through your internet portal, Bingo.com. Based on your circumstances and the accounting guidance provided in SFAS 142 and SFAS 157, it appears that your impairment analysis should be completed at the reportable business segment level. In this regard, the discounted cash flows used in your impairment analysis should reflect the cash flows generated at the reportable business segment level or business as a whole. If your impairment analysis is completed at any other level, please provide us with significant support for your conclusion along with the specific accounting literature you relied upon.

Item 9A. Controls and Procedures, page 42

8. It appears that your management has not completed the required assessment of internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2008. If your management has not yet completed its assessment, we ask that you complete your evaluation and amend your filing within 30 calendar days to provide the required management's report on internal control over financial reporting. In completing your evaluation, you may find the following documents helpful:
