Dear Mr. Burns:

- 1) We note you lease five types of equipment. Please disclose revenues from external customers for each of the types of products that you lease in accordance with ASC 280-

10-50-40, or describe the similarities and differences between these products to help us understand why you are not providing the disaggregated disclosure.

- 2) We have read your response to prior comment 5 in our letter to you dated August 3, 2015, and it appears that Adjusted EBITDA is being used as a liquidity measure based on your response that you add the principal payment component of leases classified as finance leases to provide investors and analysts with a meaningful calculation of major cash inflows and that it serves as a quick indicator of operating cash flows related to your business that could be used to service debt or grow assets. Please address the following points relating to the disclosure in your press release of the non-GAAP measure “Adjusted EBITDA.”
- If you believe that this measure is presented as a liquidity measure, then the presentation should be revised to reconcile this measure from cash generated from operating activities included in the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows. Please refer to Item 10(e)(1)(i)(b) of Regulation S-K and the corresponding guidance in Question 102.06 of the Non-GAAP Financial Measures Compliance & Disclosure Interpretations. In addition, please address how management concluded that this measure is useful information to investors regarding your liquidity. Specifically address the fact that this measure does not include payments necessary to purchase the leased equipment.
 - If you believe that this measure is presented as a performance measure, as previously requested, please tell us the appropriateness of this measure as a performance measure. In this regard, you should specifically address how management concluded that this measure provides useful information to investors regarding your results of operations in light of the fact that (i) it adds the receipt of principal payments from direct financing leases recognized in the investing activities category of your consolidated statements of cash flows and (ii) these payments will never be reflected in your GAAP results of operations. Please also provide us with additional information about how management uses “Adjusted EBITDA” as a performance measure.

3. We note that your loss on sale of equipment was $2.1 million in the six months ended June 30, 2015, compared to a gain on sale of equipment of $5.6 million in the same period in 2014, a decrease of $7.7 million. The primary reason for this decrease was a decline of approximately 22% in used dry container selling prices. In light of the pricing pressure that you are currently facing, please tell us what consideration you have given to reassessing the appropriateness of your residual values. In this regard, it appears that you last changed your residual values in 2012.
