The Company was organized as a limited liability company under the laws of the State of New York on March 2, 2007.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash Equivalents - The Company considers all debt securities purchased with a maturity of three months or less, as well as money market funds, to be cash equivalents.

Securities Owned – Proprietary securities transactions and the related revenue and expenses are recorded on the trade date basis. Marketable securities are valued at market value and securities not readily marketable are valued at fair value as determined by management.

Property and Equipment - Property and equipment, including improvements that significantly add to the productive capacity or extend useful life, are recorded at cost, while maintenance and repairs are expensed currently. Property and equipment are depreciated over their useful lives using the straight-line method of depreciation. Computer equipment are amortized or depreciated over three years. Furniture is depreciated over seven years. Leasehold improvements are depreciated over the lesser of the useful life, or the remaining term of the leased property. Depreciation expense for the year ended December 31, 2021 was $15,334.

Fair Value

Fair Value Hierarchy:

FASB ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and establishes a hierarchy of fair value inputs. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. A fair value measurement assumes that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability occurs in the principal market for the asset or liability or, in the absence of a principal market, the most advantageous market. Valuation techniques that are consistent with the market, income or cost approach, as specified by FASB ASC 820, are used to measure fair value.

The fair value hierarchy prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels:

- Level 1. Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date.
- Level 2. Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3. Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

Fair Value Measurements:

At December 31, 2021, the Company held Level 1 assets of $673,605 of equity and option securities and $114,044 of Level 1 equity and option securities sold short subject to ASC 820.

Income Taxes - The Company is a limited liability company taxed as a partnership, as such, is not subject to federal as all taxable income and losses and relevant deductions flow through to the members. For 2021, the Company has elected pass thru entity tax status for New York and New Jersey. The Company estimates its New York State tax liability for 2021 to be $1million. This amount is included in state and local taxes paid in the Statement of Operations. The Company has paid no estimated taxes to New Jersey in 2021, and estimates its New Jersey 2021 tax liability to be immaterial.

The Company is subject to the New York City Unincorporated Business Tax ("UBT") on non-exempt income. The Company had no non-exempt income in 2021.

The Company recognizes and measures its unrecognized tax benefits in accordance with FASB ASC 740, Income Taxes. Under that guidance, the Company assesses the likelihood, based on their technical merit, that tax positions will be sustained upon examination based on the facts, circumstances and information available at the end of each period. With few exceptions, the measurement of unrecognized tax benefits is adjusted when new information is available, or when an event occurs that requires a change. The Company's practice is to recognize interest and/or penalties related to income tax matters in income tax expense. The Company had no accrual for interest or penalties on the Company's Statement of Financial Condition at December 31, 2021 and has not recognized interest and/or penalties in the Statement of Operations for the year ended December 31, 2021.

For the year ended December 31, 2021, management has determined that there are no material uncertain tax positions. The Company's U.S. federal income tax returns for 2018 through 2021 are open to review by federal and state taxing authorities.

3. Receivables from Clearing Broker

This agreement allows the Company, under Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii) an exemption from the reserve and possession or control requirements of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company does not carry or clear customer accounts. Accordingly, all transactions are cleared on behalf of the Company by its clearing broker on a fully disclosed basis. The Company's agreement with its clearing broker provide that its clearing broker will prepare and maintain such records of the transactions effected and cleared in accounts as are customarily made and kept by a clearing broker pursuant to the requirements of Rules 17a-3 and 17a-4 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Act"). They also perform all services customarily incident thereon, including the preparation and distribution of confirmations and statements and maintenance of margin requirements under the Act and the rules of the self-regulatory organizations of which the Company is a member.

Included in the Receivable from Clearing broker is a deposit $500,000 which represents a minimum required deposit. This deposit can be used for meeting trading margin requirements and is treated as an allowable asset for net capital under Sec Rule 15c3-1.

11. Financial Instruments, Off-Balance Sheet Risk, and Uncertainties

Pursuant to a clearing agreement, the Company introduces all of its securities transactions to a Clearing Broker on a fully disclosed basis. Its proprietary money balances and long and short security positions are carried on the books of the Clearing Broker. In accordance with industry practice and regulatory requirements, the Company and its Clearing Broker monitor its cash and collateral with the Clearing Broker on a daily basis.

All trading instruments are subject to market risk, the risk that future changes in market conditions may make an instrument less valuable. As the instruments are carried at market value, those changes directly affect income. Exposure to market risk is managed in accordance with risk limits set by the Company and in accordance with the higher of minimum margin requirements set by the exchange or the clearing broker. The Company seeks to limit the potential for losses through the daily monitoring of the positions or through the establishment of similar offsetting positions, however significant losses may nevertheless occur.

In the normal course of business, the Company's trading activities involve the execution, settlement, and financing of various proprietary securities transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance sheet risk in the event the contra-broker is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations and the Company has to purchase or sell the financial instrument underlying the contract at a loss.

In addition, the Company bears the risk of financial failure by its clearing broker. If the clearing broker should cease doing business, all or part of the Company's receivable from that clearing broker would be subject to failure.

The Company's financial instruments, including cash and cash equivalents, receivables, prepaid expenses and other assets, accounts payable and accrued expenses, trading payouts and salaries payable and payable to clearing broker and other broker/dealers are carried at amounts that approximate fair value due to the short-term nature of the instruments.
