Hi

I'm following up on last week's email to be sure you didn't miss this opportunity to reserve shares in our upcoming community funding round.

You may remember that we've finished developing an exciting technology that's inserted inside insulated glass windows to generate electricity while maintaining transparency. Our next round of funding will help us scale commercialization.

Please take a look at our page on the Wefunder community funding platform:

We'd love to have your support!

Best regards,
Jim
