Investors usually consist of institutional investors, pension plans and other legal entities meeting the regulatory definition of Qualified or Accredited investors.

Recent Issued Accounting Pronouncements

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in conformity with U.S generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") and the rules and regulations of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission"). It is management's opinion, that all material adjustments (consisting of normal recurring adjustments) have been made which are necessary for a fair financial statement presentation.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates market value.

Accounting basis

The Company uses the accrual basis of accounting for financial statement and income tax reporting. Accordingly revenues are recognized when services are rendered and expenses realized when the obligation is incurred.

Income Taxes

The Company is a limited liability company, taxed as a partnership for federal income tax purposes, and, thus, no federal income tax expense has been recorded in the financial statements. Taxable income of the Company is passed through to the members and reported on their individual tax returns.

Pursuant to accounting guidance concerning provision for uncertain income tax provisions contained in Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 740-10, there are no uncertain income tax positions. 2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (continued)

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets, and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue Recognition

The Company's revenues are from consulting fees, fixed retainer fees, and a percentage of the Asset Manager's money management fee. Consulting agreements with Asset Managers are multi-year contracts. Marketing contracts are also for multiple years. The Company is compensated by a fixed fee and a percentage of the Asset Manager's money management fee. The asset based fee to be paid to the Company shall be determined on the basis of fees earned and collected by the Asset Manager. This calculation shall include all fees earned and received by the Asset Manager as a result of cash or in-kind additions to the accounts, fees on the basis of growth of assets, and investment performance. Once the fee is determined and agreed (realized) upon by both the Company and the Asset Manager, the Company recognizes the asset based fee and invoices the Asset Manager. The earnings process is not completed by the Asset Managers for approximately 105 days after the quarter end fees are due and payable to Company within seven business days of receipt of the invoice.

Depreciation

The Company capitalizes major capital expenditures. Depreciation is based on accelerated and straight line method over the following useful lives:

Furniture & Computer Equipment 5-7 years

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable is recorded at the amount the company expects to collect on balances outstanding at year-end. The members closely monitor outstanding balances and write off, as of year-end, all balances over a year old that have not been collected by the time the financial statements are issued.

Fair Values of Financial Instruments

Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 825, "Financial Instruments," requires the Company to disclose estimated fair values for its financial instruments. Fair value estimates, methods, and assumptions are set forth below for the Company's financial instruments: The carrying amount of cash, accounts receivable, prepaid expenses and accounts payable and accrued expenses, approximate fair value because of the short maturity of those instruments.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Company places its cash with a high credit quality financial institution. The Company's account at this institution is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") up to $250,000. To reduce its risk associated with the failure of such financial institution, the Company evaluates at least annually the rating of the financial institution in which it holds deposits.
