About:

In 2011, DC Brau officially tapped its first keg of beer - entirely brewed, packaged, and sold within the District of Columbia. Keeping the business local was paramount to founders Brandon Skall and Jeff Hancock, and with DC Brau, they stepped in to become the first production brewery located in D.C. in 60 years.

DC Brau crafts award-winning beer using a unique blend of North American and European brewing techniques showcasing diverse ingredients with distribution throughout the greater National Capital Region, along the eastern seaboard, and beyond. The brewery prides itself on its local identity and connection to the community, hence the name DC Brau. Their mission is to bring people together through extraordinary beer, with passion for their craft and pride for their community.

DC Brau has expanded and grown exponentially in the past 10 years. The brewery started as a modest 6,600 square foot space and has since grown to a bustling 48,500 square foot modern facility. Along with growing their beer production, the brewery has grown in other ways - opening an onsite tasting room, launching the Full Transparency hard seltzer line in 2019, and bringing home loads of medals for their award-winning beers and hard seltzers over the past 10 years.

DC Brau’s core values of commitment, experimentation, and abundance drive their every action. Each year DC Brau partners with a number of local non-profit organizations to support and encourage the health and success of the local community and economy. Some of these organizations are Bread for the City, the DC Brewers Guild, the Greater DC Diaper Bank, the Humane Rescue Alliance, Think Local First DC, the Restaurant Association of Metro Washington, SMYAL, and the Blade Foundation. Additionally, the brewery hosts an annual Holiday Market with around 50 local makers, which attracts thousands of people from across the region. The brewery also rents out spaces to local small businesses that are just getting started and they partner with a plethora of rotating food trucks to accompany those fresh DC brews. DC Brau Brewing loves their city and loves creating opportunities for collaboration and abundance.
