Re: Eaton Vance Municipal Income Term Trust
File Numbers 333-185340; 811-227777

Dear Ms. Pagnano:

We have reviewed the registration statement on Form N-2 for Eaton Vance Municipal Income Term Trust (the "Fund") filed with the Commission on December 7, 2012. We have the following comments:

Prospectus Summary

Investment Objectives and Policies

Portfolio Parameters

1. The prospectus states that interest on municipal obligations is, "in the opinion of the issuer's counsel," generally exempt from regular income tax. Please file this opinion of counsel as an exhibit, and disclose whether there is any other reliance, for example, an IRS ruling or position, to this effect.
2. The prospectus states that the Fund may invest in municipal obligations that are insured. Please disclose whether the Fund only will purchase securities that have insurance, and if not, will the Fund procure such insurance policies.
3. In the strategy section for the Fund, please disclose the targeted or actual dollar weighted average portfolio maturity or duration of the Fund. Also, please add "plus borrowings for investment purposes" after 80% of its net assets.

Leverage

4. The Fund anticipates using leverage to seek to enhance returns, initially by investing in residual interest bonds. Please describe, in plain English, how residual interest bonds create leverage. Please consider using a chart or diagram which may be useful to investors.

5. The Fund may buy residual interest in the assets and cash flows of a special-purpose vehicle (“SPV”), which also issues and sells notes paying floating rates of interest to third parties. Please supplementally inform the staff whether the SPVs are affiliated with the Adviser or the Fund.
6. The prospectus states that for investments in residual interest bonds, the Fund’s “total managed assets” includes the gross assets of the associated SPVs. Please disclose, in plain English, how this would affect the shareholder’s fees which are based on the total managed assets. Also, disclose how the amount of leverage from residual interest bonds is calculated for purposes of the section 15 contract.
7. Given that financial leveraging may be in the form of investments in residual interest bonds and other instruments, please disclose that the Fund will comply with all applicable asset coverage restrictions and that the Fund will segregate assets equal to the amounts required by the Investment Company Act of 1940 (“1940 Act”). Also, if there are no limits, other than the provisions of the 1940 Act, to the Fund’s use of leverage, please disclose this and any attendant risks.
8. The prospectus states that the Fund may also purchase residential interest bonds in secondary market transactions without owning the underlying bond and “such transactions are not required to be treated as secured borrowings.” Please disclose the meaning of this phrase and how it complies with the asset segregation requirements of the 1940 Act.
9. The prospectus states that the Fund will “initially” invest in residual interest bonds although it “has no current intention to do so.” Please reconcile these two statements. Specifically, please disclose whether the Fund expects to do so in the near future.

Derivatives Risk

10. The Fund may invest without limitation in derivative instruments. Please be more specific in the disclosure regarding derivatives, including but not limited to, any percentage limitation on the use of derivatives. Also, please disclose the types of derivatives the Fund expects to use and how the Fund expects to use them. See Letter from Barry Miller, Associate Director, Office of Legal and Disclosure, Division of Investment Management, to Investment Company Institute, to Kerrie McMillan, “Derivatives-Related Disclosures by Investment Companies” (July 30, 2010).

Anti-takeover Provisions

11. In the section titled “Anti-takeover provisions,” please briefly disclose the anti-takeover provisions that may limit the ability of other persons or entities to acquire control of the Fund or to change the composition of the Board of Trustees.

Summary of Fund Expenses

12. Please disclose whether the Fund anticipates any preferred or debt offerings in the next twelve months, and if so, the cost of these need to be reflected in the fee tables.
13. The prospectus states that the Fund’s investments in derivatives will be counted towards the satisfaction of the Fund’s 80% policy. Please disclose in the summary that the advisory fee is based on managed assets, and whether the notional value of derivative contracts is included in the fee calculation. Please disclose how derivatives will be valued for purposes of the 80% test, specifically, whether it will be notional value or market to market.
14. Please explain how you intend to value derivatives for purposes of the investment advisory contract and whether it is consistent with the requirements of section 15 of the 1940 Act.
15. The fee table shows “Interest Expenses” as a sub caption of “Other expenses.” Please revise the fee table to reflect that caption as a line item above “Other expenses.”
16. Footnote 5 states that the investment advisory fee is a percentage of the Fund’s average daily total managed assets up to a certain amount. Please clarify in footnote 5 how the management fee is based on managed assets, and how this converts to net assets for the fee table, based on the assumed (estimated) amount of leverage. In addition, revise the footnotes so that managed assets also include the notional value of long forward foreign currency contracts and other derivative positions.
17. Please substitute the fee table caption titled “Investment advisory fee” with “Management Fees.” See N-2, Item 3.
18. Footnote 4 includes table that assumes there is no leveraging. Please disclose whether “total managed assets” includes the traditional means of borrowing, such as issuing debt securities or a line of credit, or whether it includes only derivative leveraging.

Primary Investment Policies

19. The prospectus states that the Fund may sell a security when the Adviser believes it no longer represents attractive relative value or as cash needs dictate. Please indicate how the investment adviser will determine which securities to buy and sell on a daily basis.

Distributions

20. The Fund intends to make monthly distributions of net investment income. Please disclose more fully how the managed distribution policy is implemented. Specifically, explain briefly the effects of the regular monthly distributions including return of capital distributions.

Anti-Takeover Provisions in the Declaration of Trust

21. The prospectus states that the declaration of trust includes certain anti-takeover provisions. Please disclose that the Fund will not opt in to the control share acquisition provisions of the state statute given that the staff has taken the position that anti-takeover provisions are inconsistent with section 18(i) of the 1940 Act. See Boulder Total Return Fund, Inc. no action letter (November 15, 2010).

Statement of Additional Information (“SAI”)

Event-Linked Exposure

22. The Fund may invest in event-linked or “catastrophe bonds.” Please disclose how much the Fund anticipates investing in such bonds. Also, please briefly expand the disclosure regarding how the exposure may also be subject to liquidity risk.

Federal Income Tax Matters

23. The SAI states that distributions that exceed the Fund’s net investment income and net capital will be treated as a “tax-free” return of capital. Please disclose that this is, in fact, a tax deferral. In this regard, please disclose that as a shareholder’s basis in the securities is lowered, it may subject a shareholder to taxes upon the sale of securities, even if the securities are sold at a price lower than the initial purchase price.

Investment Restrictions

24. The SAI states after paragraph (8) of the “Investment Restrictions” that the Fund has no intention to borrow for investment purposes. The prospectus, however, states that the Fund will leverage almost immediately. Please reconcile and reconcile.

Trustees and Officers

25. The table containing independent trustee information contains a heading stating “Other Trusteeships Held.” Please include the trusteeships held during the past 5 years.
