9. Prior to filing Amendment No. 4, we contacted Tara Hawkins who advised us that updated financial statements were not necessary at this time. However, and in an effort to avoid further comments, we have included the March 31, 2013 financial statements with Amendment No. 5.

As noted in a segment of the Today Show which aired during the week of June 10, 2013, the electronic cigarette industry is new and evolving. As a result, new laws and regulations are constantly being adopted or proposed. In addition, there is a constant flow of new entrants into the electronic cigarette market segment.

We believe the Company's offering circular has adequately addressed the fact that laws and regulations are constantly changing and there will be many new entrants into the electronic cigarette industry. As a result, we do not believe the Company should be required to update its offering circular whenever a new law or regulation is adopted or proposed, or whenever a new competitor enters the market.

Very Truly Yours,
