Notes to Financial Statement

Note 1. Nature of Operations and Significant Accounting Policies

Aardvark Securities, L.L.C. (the Company) is a wholly owned subsidiary of TransMarket Bastion, L.L.C. (the Parent). The Company was formed in January 2013, in the State of Illinois. The Company is a broker-dealer registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company's primary business activity is to lend and borrow securities which are executed through a financed matched-book portfolio of reverse repurchase agreement and repurchase agreement transactions.

The Company will continue to exist unless determined to be dissolved by the Member.

A summary of the Company's significant accounting policies is as follows:

The Company follows the accounting standards set by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB). The FASB sets generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) that the Company follows to ensure consistent reporting of financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

Use of estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reporting amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those amounts.

Securities financial instruments: Transactions in government obligations are recorded on a trade-date basis and are carried at fair value, as described in Note 2. Contractual interest on securities owned and secured financing activities are recognized on an accrual basis.

Resale and repurchase agreements: Transactions involving securities purchased under agreements to resell (reverse repurchase agreements) and securities sold under agreements to repurchase (repurchase agreements) are accounted for as collateralized financing transactions and are carried at the amounts at which the securities will subsequently be resold or reacquired as specified in the respective agreements; such amounts include accrued interest. It is the policy of the Company to obtain possession of collateral with a fair value equal to or in excess of the principal amount loaned under resale agreements. Collateral is valued daily, and the Company may require counterparties to deposit additional collateral or return collateral pledged where appropriate. In consideration of the Current Expected Credit Losses (CECL) model, the Company requires the borrower to continually adjust the amount of the collateral securing the financial asset(s) as a result of fair value changes in the collateral. In those situations, the Company, as a practical expedient, compares the amortized cost basis with the fair value of collateral at the reporting date to measure the estimate of expected credit losses. The Company has determined that the expectation of nonpayment of the amortized cost basis is zero as the borrower continually replenishes the collateral securing the financial asset such that the fair value of the collateral is equal to or exceeds the amortized cost basis of the financial asset and the Company expects the borrower to continue to replenish the collateral as necessary. Resale and repurchase activities are generally transacted under master netting agreements that give the Company the right, in the event of default, to liquidate collateral held. The counterparties to all resale and repurchase transactions at December 31, 2022, are with the Government Securities Division of the Fixed Income Clearing Corporation (FICC) and an affiliate. When the requirements are met, the Company offsets resale and repurchase agreements executed with the same counterparty and the same settlement date.

The Company is a netting member of the Government Securities Division of FICC, an industry clearinghouse for repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements and fixed income securities. As a netting member of the FICC, the Company is held to a minimum capital requirement of $25,000,000. At the end of each business day, for every trade submitted to and matched by the FICC, the transaction is novated to the FICC, thereby the FICC becomes the Company's counterparty. At December 31, 2022, included in securities sold under agreements to repurchase on the statement of financial condition are amounts under contracts with the FICC.

Revenue recognition policy The Company recognizes interest for its financing activities on an accrual basis.

Income taxes: The Company is a single member limited liability company and is treated as a disregarded entity for federal and state income tax purposes. The Company does not file any tax returns, but its taxable income is reported as part of its ultimate parent company's tax returns. The ultimate parent company is a limited liability company whose income or loss is includable in the tax returns of its members.

The Company has evaluated income tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Company's tax returns to determine whether the tax positions are "more-likely-than-not" of being sustained "when challenged" or "when examined" by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions not deemed to meet the more-likely-than-not threshold would be recorded as a tax benefit or expense and liability in the current year. Management has determined that there are no material uncertain income tax positions through December 31, 2022. The Company is not subject to examination by U.S. federal or state authorities for tax years before 2019.

Offsetting: As of December 31, 2022, the Company holds repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements that are eligible for offset in the statement of financial condition and/or are subject to master netting arrangements or similar agreements. Master netting arrangements allow the counterparty to net applicable collateral held on behalf of the Company against applicable liabilities or payment obligations of the Company to the counterparty. These arrangements also allow the counterparty to net any of its applicable liabilities or payment obligations they have to the Company against any collateral sent to the Company.

Note 2. Fair Value Measurements

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The Company utilizes valuation techniques to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. Assets and liabilities recorded at fair value are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their value. Inputs are broadly defined as assumptions market participants would use in pricing an asset or liability. The fair value hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1. Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the reporting entity has the ability to access at the measurement date.

Level 2. Inputs other than quoted prices within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly, and the fair value is determined through the use of models or other valuation methodologies. A significant adjustment to a Level 2 input could result in the Level 2 measurement becoming a Level 3 measurement.

Level 3. Inputs are unobservable for the asset or liability and include situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the asset or liability. The inputs into the determination of fair value are based upon the best information in the circumstances and may require significant management judgment or estimation.

In certain cases, the inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, a financial instrument's level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The Company's assessment of the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurements in its entirety requires judgment, and considers factors specific to the financial instrument.

Aardvark Securities, L.L.C.

A market is active if there are sufficient transactions on an ongoing basis to provide current pricing information for the asset or liability, pricing information is released publicly, and price quotations do not vary substantially either over time or among market makers. Observable inputs reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity.

The Company assesses the levels of the investments at each measurement date, and transfers between levels are recognized on the actual date of the event or change in circumstances that caused the transfer in accordance with the Company's accounting policy regarding the recognition of transfer between the levels of the fair value hierarchy. There were no transfers among Levels 1, 2 and 3 during the period.

U.S. Government obligations that trade in active markets are valued using quoted market prices and are classified within Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy.

As of December 31, 2022, the Company had no financial instruments owned at fair value.

Substantially all of the Company's other assets and liabilities are considered financial instruments and are at carrying amounts that approximate fair value because of the short maturity of the instruments. Repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements are carried at contract value.

of $172,000,000 and repayments of $157,000,000. The subordinated borrowing is available in computing net capital under the Securities and Exchange Commission's uniform net capital rule. To the extent that such borrowing, when outstanding, is required for the Company's continued compliance with minimum net capital requirements, it may not be repaid. As of December 31, 2022, the Company $15,000,000 of outstanding borrowings.

Note 8. Commitments

From time to time and in the normal course of business, the Company will enter into forward starting reverse repurchase agreements and forward starting repurchase agreements. As of December 31, 2022, the Company entered into forward starting repurchase agreements and forward starting reverse repurchase agreements with FICC of $4,039,202,500 and $3,531,343,750, respectively, both commencing on January 3, 2023 and maturing on January 4, 2023. In addition, the Company entered into forward starting repurchase agreements and forward starting reverse repurchase agreements with an affiliate of $3,531,343,750 and $4,039,202,500, respectively, both commencing on January 3, 2023 and maturing on January 4, 2024.

Note 9. Indemnifications

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties that provide indemnifications under certain circumstances. The Company's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. However, the Company believes that it is unlikely it will have to make material payments under these arrangements and has not recorded any contingent liability in the financial statement for these indemnifications. Management of the Company expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Note 10. Market Risk and Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Company enters into various transactions with domestic broker-dealers and other financial institutions. These transactions may at times represent a concentration of credit risk. In the event these counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. This risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of each party with which it conducts business.

Exposure to market risk is influenced by a number of factors, including the relationships between financial instruments and the Company's proprietary positions, as well as the volatility and liquidity in the markets in which the financial instruments are traded. The Company attempts to manage its exposure to market risk arising from the use of these financial instruments through various monitoring techniques.

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts that, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts. Management believes that the Company is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

Note 11. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1) and has elected to compute its net capital requirements under the alternative method, as provided by the Rule, which requires the maintenance of minimum "net capital" equal to the greater of $250,000 or 2 percent of "aggregate debit balances" as defined by Rule 15c3-1. At December 31, 2022, the Company had net capital of $51,334,081 and net capital requirements of $250,000. The net capital requirements may effectively restrict the payment of distributions to the parent.
