2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

These financial statements are prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“US GAAP”) which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Concentration of Credit Risk

All cash deposits are held by one financial institution and, therefore, are subject to the credit risk at the financial institution. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and does not believe there to be any significant credit risk with respect to these deposits.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company’s financial instruments consist of cash and accounts payable. The fair value of cash is based upon the bank balance at December 31, 2019 adjusted by any uncleared transactions. The fair value of accounts payable is estimated by management to approximate their carrying value at December 31, 2019.

Income Taxes

The Company is a limited liability company and is treated as a partnership for federal income tax reporting purposes. The Internal Revenue Code (“IRC”) provides that any income or loss is passed through to the ultimate beneficial individual members for federal, state and certain local income taxes. Accordingly, the Company has not provided for income taxes.

The Company is subject to New York City Unincorporated Business Tax for which it provides for income taxes and the related accounts under the asset and liability method. During 2019, no income is allocable to New York City and accordingly, no provision for income taxes is reflected in the accompanying Statement of Operations.

The measurement of unrecognized tax benefits is adjusted when new information is available, or when an event occurs that requires a change. At December 31, 2019, management has determined that the Company had no uncertain tax positions that would require financial statement recognition. This determination will be subject to ongoing reevaluation as facts and circumstances may require.
