1. We note your revisions in response to comment 1 from our letter dated October 24, 2014. Please refer to the table showing the consideration contributed to you by Antero and by the purchasers of common units in this offering as seen on page 55, and explain to us why you did not apply the concept in our prior comment to your calculation of Antero's effective cash contribution to you. In this regard, the predecessor's net tangible book value already reduced Antero's effective cash contribution by the amount of debt recorded on the predecessor's books. It is unclear to us why repayment of the previously recorded debt would reduce Antero's effective cash contribution again. As indicated in comment 6 from our letter dated October 17, 2014, it appears that Antero's effective cash contribution would be the predecessor's net tangible book value less the cash distribution to Antero recorded as a reduction to equity in your pro forma balance sheet. Please advise or revise.
