NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

- Revenue Recognition

On January 1, 2018, the Company adopted ASU 2014-09 Revenue from Contracts with Customers and all subsequent amendments to the ASU (collectively, "ASC 606"), which creates a single framework for recognizing revenue from contracts with customers that fall within its scope.

Revenue is measured based on a consideration specified in a contract with a customer. The Company recognizes revenue when it satisfies a performance obligation by transferring control over goods or service to a customer. Services within the scope of ASC 606 include Investment banking M&A Advisory fees.

Refer to Revenue Recognition Note: Revenue from Contracts with Customers for further discussion on the Company's accounting policies for revenue sources within the scope of ASC 606.

Revenue from Contracts with Customers:

Investment Banking, Merger and Acquisition (M&A) Services:

These services include agreements to provide advisory services to customers for which they charge the customers fees. The Company provides advisory services/corporate finance activity including mergers and acquisitions, reorganizations, tender offers, leveraged buyouts, fundraising activity and the pricing of securities to be issued.

The agreement contains nonrefundable retainer fees or success fees, which may be fixed or represent a percentage of value that the customer receives if and when the corporate finance activity is completed ("success fees"). In some cases, there is also an "announcement fee" that is calculated on the date that a transaction is announced based on the price included in the underlying sale agreement. The retainer fees, announcement fee, or other milestone fees reduce any success fee subsequently invoiced and received upon the completion of the corporate finance activity. The Company has evaluated its nonrefundable retainer payments, to ensure its fee relates to the transfer of a good or service, as a distinct performance obligation, in exchange for the retainer. If a promised good or service is not distinct, the Company combines that good or service with other promised goods or services until it identifies a bundle of goods or services that is distinct. In some cases, that would result in the broker-dealer accounting for all the services promised in a contract as a single performance obligation and the retainer revenue is classified as deferred revenue on the Statement of Financial Condition.

- Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company maintains only cash on its statement of Assets, Liabilities and Equity. The Company maintains its cash balances in financial institutions located in the United States. The Company maintains deposits with financial institutions in amounts that could potentially, at times, be in excess of federally insured limits. However, the Company does not believe that it is exposed to any material credit risk.

The Company provides an allowance for doubtful accounts, which is based on a review of outstanding receivables, historical collection information and existing economic conditions. At December 31, 2018, no accounts were deemed doubtful and thus no allowance is provided.

Accounts receivable normally are due upon receipt of the Company's issuance of an invoice to the Company's client. Delinquent receivables may be written off based on specific circumstances of the individual client.

Recoveries of previously charged off accounts receivable are recorded when received.

- Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company does not extend credit in the normal course of its business.

- Income Taxes

The Company's results are consolidated with its Parent. The Company's Parent has elected to be taxed as an S corporation for income tax purposes.

Actual results could differ from any such estimates and assumptions.

As such, the Company is exempt from the requirements of Rule 15c3-3(e) (the "Customer Protection Rule") and is not required to maintain any "Special Account for Exclusive Benefit of Customers." The Company's senior management has instituted a policy prohibiting the Company and its associated persons from receiving and/or holding any customer or client funds and/or securities.

NOTE 3 – PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

In February 2016, the FASB issued new guidance (ASC 842), to increase transparency and comparability among organizations by recognizing lease assets and lease liabilities on the balance sheet and disclosing key information about leasing arrangements. Under ASC 842, a lessee will recognize in the statement of financial condition a liability to make lease payments (the lease liability) and a right-to-use asset representing its right to use the underlying asset for the lease term. ASC 842 retains a distinction between finance leases (i.e. capital leases) and operating leases. For public business entities, the amendments are effective for fiscal years, and interim periods within those years, beginning after December 15, 2018. Early adoption is permitted. The company adopted ASC 842 as of January 1, 2019 and it did not have a material impact to the Company's net capital, aggregate indebtedness or operations.

The Company's Parent owns all of the property and equipment used by the Company in its business operations.

NOTE 4 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company operates and conducts business from one commercial office location in Greenwood Village, CO that is leased by the Company's Parent.

NOTE 5 – RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company and its Parent are parties to a written Expense Sharing Agreement ("Agreement"). In accordance with the terms of the Agreement, certain expenses of the Company are paid for by the Parent. These expenses are reimbursed to the Parent by the Company and are reflected on the books and records of the Company pursuant to a reasonable allocation that is reviewed on a periodic basis.

NOTE 6 – SUBORDINATED LIABILITIES

In 2018, the Company had no subordinated liabilities as described in Appendix D to the SEC's Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1).

NOTE 7-SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

In preparing these financial statements, the Company evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through the auditors' report date, which is the date that the financial statements were available for issuance. Based upon such evaluation, there were no material subsequent events requiring recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.
