Jonathan Budd

Founder, CEO at Powur, PBC
San Diego, California, United States

Summary

Jonathan Budd is committed to “creating a world that works for all life” and to leaving a better world than we found for future generations. He fulfills this mission in his daily life and through leadership of several game-changing organizations.

After earning his bachelor’s degree in psychology, Jonathan turned to the home-based business industry. By age 26, he was one of the fastest and youngest success stories in the history of direct sales, earning his first $10,000,000 by that time. He founded Empowered Entrepreneurs to teach others the principles of entrepreneurship and modern day marketing that fueled his success and has served nearly 100,000 customers since then.

Jonathan’s drive is about more than financial success. It is about using that success to fulfill a deeper calling to give back to humanity. He founded The Global Transformation Council to support non-profit organizations that are making great transformational impact through innovative solutions to many of our world’s most challenging problems. Jonathan has donated hundreds of thousands of dollars to support organizations such as The Pachamama Alliance, Freedom from Hunger, charity: water, among others.

Today, Jonathan is the CEO and Founder of Powur PBC. Powur is a pioneering leader in residential solar customer acquisition. Utilizing an industry first business model, a proprietary software platform, and a rock star management team that continues to execute on bold new ideas for solar... Powur has seen tremendous growth with over 6,000 field representatives and thousands of solar systems sold. Learn more at <http://www.Powur.com>
