Opinion on the Financial Statement

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of 16 Points LLC (the "Company") as of December 31, 2023, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the "financial statement"). In our opinion, the financial statement presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2023 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statement based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

Notes to Financial Statements December 31, 2023

1. Nature of Operations

16 Points LLC, (the “Company”), a New York limited liability company, is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”).

The Company serves as an introducing broker for the private placement of securities with both institutional and accredited individual investors, provides advisory solutions related to mergers and acquisitions and refer investors, broker-dealers and hedge funds to unaffiliated broker/dealers for order execution and settlement for which it will receive referral fees.

The Company is wholly-owned by 16 Points Holdings LLC.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

This financial statement was prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statement. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Revenue Recognition

The revenue recognition guidance under Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, requires that an entity recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The guidance requires an entity to follow a five-step model to (a) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (b) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (c) determine the transaction price, (d) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (e) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation. In determining the transaction price, an entity may include variable consideration only to the extent that it is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized would not occur when the uncertainty associated with the variable consideration is resolved.

Referral fees on placements are recognized over time based on the placement arrangements in which the assets were invested with the funds. The recognition of these fees aligns with the performance obligations that are simultaneously fulfilled by the Company and consumed by the funds. The private placement success fee is generally recognized at a point in time, usually on the closing date of the transaction, when the Company's performance obligations under the arrangement are fully satisfied.

The Company earns commissions for introducing clients to a third party, pursuant to a fee-sharing agreement. These commissions are recorded monthly, commensurate with the occurrence of the security transactions that result from the introductions. The Company's performance obligation for the introduction of clients is considered fulfilled as these security transactions are executed.

The beginning and ending balance of receivables, contract assets and contract liabilities are presented below:

	Receivables	Contract Assets	Contract Liabilities
Balance, January 1, 2023	$ 760,647	$ -	$ -
Balance, December 31, 2023	$ 188,289	$ -	$ -

Significant Judgement

Revenue from contracts with customers includes commission income and fees from investment banking and asset management services. The recognition and measurement of revenue is based on the assessment of individual contract terms. Significant judgment is required to determine whether performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time or over time; how to allocate transaction prices where multiple performance obligations are identified; when to recognize revenue based on the appropriate measure of the Company's progress under the contract; and whether constraints on variable consideration should be applied due to uncertain future events.

Credit Losses

The guidance under ASC Topic 326, Financial Instruments – Credit Losses ("ASC 326"). ASC 326 impacts the impairment model for certain financial assets by requiring a current expected credit loss ("CECL") methodology to estimate expected credit losses over the entire life of the financial asset. Under the guidance, the Company has the ability to determine that there are no expected credit losses in certain circumstances (e.g., based on the credit quality of the customer).

The allowance for credit losses is based on the Company's expectation of the collectability of financial instruments, including fees and other receivables utilizing the CECL framework. The Company considers factors such as historical experience, credit quality, age of balances and current and future economic conditions that may affect the Company's expectation of collectability in determining the allowance for credit losses. The Company's expectation is that the credit risk associated with fees and other receivables is not significant and accordingly, the Company has not provided an allowance for credit losses at December 31, 2023.

Income Taxes

As of December 31, 2023, management has determined that the Company has no uncertain tax positions that would require financial statement recognition. The determination will always be subject to ongoing reevaluation as facts and circumstances may require.

3. Regulatory Requirements

The Company is subject to SEC Uniform Net Capital Rule 15c3-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. The Company does not have any obligation, direct or indirect, to reimburse or otherwise compensate its Parent for any or all shared costs paid on its behalf. These costs have not been recorded on the books of the Company.

The terms of these arrangements may not be the same as those that would otherwise exist or result from agreements and transactions among unrelated parties.

The General Securities Principal of the Company owns 80% of the Parent company.

16 Points LLC

Notes to Financial Statements December 31, 2023

5. Concentrations

All cash deposits are held by one financial institution and therefore are subject to the credit risk at that financial institution. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and does not believe there to be any significant credit risk with respect to these deposits.

6. Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated events or transactions that may have occurred subsequent to December 31, 2023 and through the date the financial statements were issued and determined that there are no material events that would require disclosure in the Company's financial statements.
